Kewaskum Area Running Group offers support and inspiration

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
EDITOR

In January 2020, Heather Lettow wanted to start a group in the Kewaskum area to run monthly 5K runs.

She invited some friends to join the group. She hoped that it would provide accountability for everyone's individual exercise routines.

Jessi Steinert joined the group shortly after it started and offered to co-run the effort, and the idea really blossomed. More and more people joined the group. They were enthusiastic about the monthly 5K challenge.

Then, in March 2020, covid hit.

Everything in the world seemed to stop. Except for the running group.

"That's when things really took off. People were unable to attend events and were limited socially, so we started offering monthly challenges and virtual running events. It was a hit! We started to really bond as a group, and running helped our sanity," Lettow said.

Wanke enjoys Honor Flight

BY ANDREA HANSEN ABLER
REPORTER

Dundee's Dave Wanke was one of 60 veterans who took off Saturday, Aug. 28, on the first Stars and Stripes Honor Flight since the COVID pandemic hit. Flights were suspended for about a year-and-a-half while the country tried to learn how to deal with the pandemic.

Dave went on the Honor Flight with his guardian and niece Chris Wanke. The two had a great time and had fun reminiscing about Dave's years of service.

Service History

Dave was a member of the 728th Military Police Battalion during a portion of the Korean War. He was in Korea from June 1953 through October 1954.

How he got to Korea was a funny story. "After basic training, I was supposed to report to Fort Lewis (in the State of Washington)," Dave said.

A hunting success

BY ANNE TRAUTNER

Matthew Buss shot an 11-point buck with his crossbow on Sunday, Oct. 24.

It was the first time Matthew ever went hunting. And he got the deer with his first shot.

But Matthew had been preparing for his big day for a long time.

Lots of practice

Matthew, who is now 18, has watched his dad, Scott Buss, hunt for years.

"He has been with me when I hunted since he was probably 4 years old. He always sat with me," Scott said.

Scott never imagined back in those early years that Matthew would ever be able to hunt himself. After all, Matthew has Down syndrome.

But a couple years ago, someone from the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) told Scott that there are a lot of kids with special needs who hunt.

"You can mentor him his whole life. As long as

Happy Veterans Day

Dear Reader,

Every year on November 11th Americans honor Veterans Day, a day set aside to thank those military veterans who fought on behalf of this country. Our veterans served in the United States Armed Forces representing the democratic ideals for which this nation stands. Freedom stands out as one of those and has always been worth fighting for.

These days in so many parts of the world people are under surveillance and not able to speak freely or listen to information other than what is fed to them. In essence, they are unjustly subjugated to the whims and will of a few. America is different because we are free to go about our lives unencumbered by dictators.

Let's all pause for a moment and celebrate those men and women who once served or are now serving in our military. They deserve to be commemorated because some have given a part of their lives while others have made the ultimate sacrifice in service to America—truly helping to keep it "the land of the free and the home of the brave".

Death investigation

On Friday, Nov. 5, at 3:57 p.m., the Washington County Sheriff's Office 911 Communications Center received a cellular 911 call from a male individual who indicated he wanted to commit suicide. The despondent caller would not provide any other details, but communication officers were able to determine the caller was outside and at a residence in the Town of Polk. Sheriff's deputies responded to the home.

The preliminary investigation suggests two sheriff's deputies arrived nearly simultaneously and located a male individual sitting underneath a grove of pine trees on the edge of the property, adjacent to the right-of-way. Deputies began talking to the man when one deputy observed a firearm in the man's hand. Within moments of the deputy telling the man to drop the gun, the man tragically took his own life.

Since sheriff office personnel were on scene and speaking with the man at the time of the incident, the sheriff's office requested the West Bend Police Department conduct the primary investigation. This procedure maintains transparency with the public by having an independent investigation into the facts of the case.

The sequence of events this afternoon resulted in the death of a young Washington County man. The incident illustrates the tragic consequences of mental health issues in communities and the challenges public safety face. Although the sheriff's office is not naming the victim, it asks that you keep the family in your thoughts as they grieve the loss of a loved one.

Any inquiries about the case should be directed to the West Bend Police Department as the lead investigative agency.

New farming feed mill in Allenton to hold grand opening on Nov. 13

Farmers' Grain & Feed, a division of West Bend Holdings and a leading Wisconsin feed producer, has announced the grand opening of its new state-of-the-art feed mill located at the corner of state highways 175 and 33 in Allenton.

The grand opening event will take place on Nov. 13 from 10 a.m. until 3 p.m., and will include guided tours of the brand new facility, a cookout lunch and interview availability from key members of the Farmers' Grain & Feed team. Their current mill in downtown Allenton will officially cease operations on Nov. 12 at 5 p.m.

"We designed our new mill for consistency and efficiency, using the latest technology and automation," said Tim Kreilkamp, president of Farmers' Grain & Feed. "With this new operation, we can now serve more customers, and we can serve more consistent, quality feed to our current customers as well. That means healthier cattle and better business for our customers."

The new feed mill will continue the Farmers' Grain & Feed operations, which include dairy nutrition consulting, as well as grinding, rolling, roasting and developing custom feed mixes for farmers. They also sell small farming supplies and animal health products.

"Even though this new mill is a similar size to our current one, because of the automated features and optimized design, we will be able to do about double the production," Kreilkamp added.

he hunts with you, and you are there with him the whole time, you can let Matthew hunt, as long as you, his parent, are comfortable with it," the DNR representative told Scott.

So, Scott decided to teach Matthew how to use a compound bow. But although Matthew was able to pull the bow back, he was not strong enough to shoot it with the force required to harvest a deer.

Scott reached out to the DNR for advice, and a warden recommended that Matthew try using a crossbow.

"So, we bought Matthew a crossbow for his birthday two years ago," Scott said.

Since then, Scott has been working with Matthew, teaching him how to use the crossbow.

"First I did a lot of safety training with him. And then he had lots and lots of practice," Scott said.

The hunt

Finally, Scott felt that Matthew was prepared to hunt. So, on Sunday, Oct. 24, he brought Matthew hunting for the first time on their property in Montello.

The two hunters, father and son, climbed into their hunting blind at 6:30 a.m.

They sat quietly and waited for about an hour.

Then, at about 7:30 a.m., they saw the buck. It was a big one, with 11 points. They waited for the buck to walk within range.

Scott got Matthew all set up for the right moment. Then, as the buck walked closer, Scott told Matthew to start aiming.

Finally, he told Matthew, "If you are ready, go ahead."

Then, the deer turned sideways, and Matthew shot. It was a perfect shot.

"The deer didn't run very far, maybe 40 yards through the field, and that was it," Scott said with pride.

The whole thing happened quickly. Matthew shot the buck at about 7:45 a.m., just an hour and 15 minutes after the hunt started.

"It was an 11-point buck; it should have been a 12 pointer, but one of the points broke off. Still, it was an 11-pointer, which is awesome – It is bigger than any deer that I've shot," Scott said. "It was Matthew's first time bow hunting with his crossbow after two years of safety training and practice, and it finally paid off for him. We are so proud of him."

Making memories

Matthew will be able to remember his remarkable first hunt; his parents are having the buck mounted.

The hunt was a nice touch on what has been an incredible year thus far for Matthew.

Another highlight this year for Matthew, who is a senior at Kewaskum High School, was scoring a touchdown during a special exhibition play during the Kewaskum High School football game against Kettle Moraine Lutheran on Sept. 3.

"That was awesome, too. It was just incredible," Scott said.

It was especially great for Matthew because football has always been his first love. He gets that passion for football from his mother, Terry Buss, according to Scott.

Now, in addition to being a football player, Matthew is also a hunter.

On the day he reported to Fort Lewis, his cousin was also there shipping out to Korea. "I was coming in and he was checking out," Dave said.

When Dave got there, the line for checking in was very long (about a half mile according to Dave). He figured with that line, he would never get to see his cousin before he shipped out.

Then, there was a scuffle at the front of the line where a soldier probably tried to sneak into the line, Dave thought.

"Well everybody broke the line and ran up there to see what was going on," Dave said. "I did too, but I took my duffle bag with me and when it was all over, I was the first in line. So after all that, I got checked in and was able to see my cousin."

Because of this scuffle and Dave being able to move to the front of the line, he was able to go to Korea. There was a quota of military police being taken to Korea and the rest were going to Japan. So he got to go to Korea because of that fight and the fact that Dave was the only one who thought to bring his stuff with him when checking out the fight.

"I was third in command (in his MP group in Korea)," Dave said. "I was Sergeant of Guard."

As part of the military police in Korea, Dave was on the Board of Governors with the NCO Club. Dave's participation in this club left him with some very unique responsibilities.

"I was in charge of hauling the girls, or women, for our dances," Dave chuckled. "That's what my job was."

He would take a "deuce-and-a-half" (2 1/2 ton) truck into town and find girls to bring back for the dances. They would fill the back of this truck.

His unit had four of those types of trucks and Dave was in charge of all four of them.

At his camp, the soldiers lived in huts that would fit about 30 soldiers in it. It was a little bit tight and cramped in there. Because Dave was an MP, he had different quarters that were a bit nicer and not so cramped.

"Being an MP, you had your privileges," Dave said.

Dave was drafted into the Army. His group was stationed with the 101st Airborne unit. It was funny that his military police unit was stationed with the Airborne because that is what the Army had wanted Dave to do when he was drafted, but he wanted to be an MP.

He admitted that his interest was in serving his time and then getting out of the Army. Dave wanted to get home so he could start a family and get on with his life, which is just what he did.

Dave started his own construction company, which won a lot of acclaim over the years. "I must have built about 1,000 houses around Milwaukee," he said.

Honor Flight

Dave's Honor Flight was held on Saturday, Aug. 28. It was something that Dave and Chris had been talking about for a few years.

"I've been at fundraisers for it," Chris said. "We've been talking about this for years. I filled out the application after COVID."

Chris and her husband picked Dave up on that Friday and had him stay overnight at their house. They didn't stay up very late because they had to be ready to leave the house very early.

"We got up at 2:30 a.m. because we had to be at the airport by 4:30 a.m.," Chris said.

Normally the groups fly into the Washington, DC airport. This was changed for this year and had the planes fly into Baltimore and then drive to DC.

They only had about one-third the number of people on the plane as a normal Honor Flight (102 people total on two planes). The buses were also not as full as they normally would run them. This was a COVID precaution and it made it a lot easier to load and unload the planes and the buses.

Not only did it make it easier to move around, it gave them some extra time too.

"Because the numbers were so low, we got to about three more monuments than they normally do," Chris said.

"We saw everything," Dave said.

As with any Honor Flight, the group went to Arlington National Cemetery, the World War II monument, the Vietnam Memorial Wall, the Korean monument and many more.

"I was surprised by the size of the statues," Dave said.

Dave admitted that he wondered why they just didn't look at the monuments on television. He thought that would be just as good as in person. That was until he got there and saw everything and was in amazement.

The only bad thing about the trip was the weather. "It was 100 degrees," Dave said.

They had a very hot day to be walking around Washington, D.C. Organizers made sure the Veterans and their guardians were drinking enough water throughout the day.

On the flight home, they surprised the Veterans with the popular "Mail Call." Each Veteran received a packet of letters and cards from family members and some from people they didn't know. Dave still had his more than a month after the flight.

Upon landing back home in Milwaukee, they had a lot of people there to greet them.

"They had all those military people saluting us," Dave said. "They really made you feel important. Everyone treated us so well. It was a great trip."

The entire experience was something that neither of them would ever forget. It was more than they could have imagined from start to finish.

"I could only describe it as life-changing," Chris said. "Everyone should go. It was amazing."

New scholarship available for first responders

Western Governors University (WGU) is launching a new scholarship to show appreciation for first responders – including EMTs, police officers, firefighters, corrections officers and others – who have demonstrated unprecedented selflessness and commitment in serving area communities as they carried out their duties throughout the COVID-19 pandemic. The fully online, nonprofit university plans to award up to $80,000 in scholarships to area first responders – and their spouses – who are interested in furthering their education.

Each "First Responder Appreciation Scholarship" is valued at up to $4,000 per student and will be applied at a rate of $1,000 per term for up to four terms. The scholarships are available for new students enrolled in any of WGU's more than 60 degree programs in business, information technology, K-12 teacher education and health professions, including nursing. The scholarship application is available at www.wgu.edu/firstresponders and will be open through June 30, 2022.

"First responders make countless sacrifices on a daily basis to protect our communities, uphold the law and save lives," said Dr. Angie Besendorfer, Regional Vice President of Western Governors University. "While we can never fully repay the debt of gratitude we owe our first responders, we at WGU hope that this scholarship offering can help provide those first responders and their spouses who are considering going back to school an even more affordable path to earning their degrees."

Designed to meet the needs of busy adult learners, WGU uses a competency-based education approach to learning, enabling students to take advantage of their knowledge and experience to move quickly through material they already know so they can focus on what they still need to learn. Students complete their programs by studying and taking tests on schedules that fit their lives, advancing as soon as they demonstrate that they have mastered subject matter. The flexible format is perfect for those in full-time, demanding fields, like first responders.

For more information about WGU or available scholarships, visit wgu.edu.

The Kermis and a Coin

BY KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

A circular item laid somewhere in the midst of soil, gravel, rocks and what some would consider clean fill. I picked it up on an April day this spring, and realized it was a coin. There was no monetary worth to this currency, but she was rich in history. Once I was able to read it, I got chills from luck, appreciation and what's ever on the other side. Only one person ever taught me on this Dutchman of Ashford, whose name is on the trade item. It took the fall to realize that the token, which was good for five cents "at the bar" of William Leisses, filled in answers on the Kermis.

Enter Wilhelm Leisses

Wilhelm Leisses is Dutch if you ask Benny Hall, William's great grandson and honey connoisseur. Benny's dad was Florian Hall, whose mom was Agatha Leisses Hall. Agatha was the daughter of William Leisses of the bar token. William's name on his grave marker is "Wilhelm," and is used the rest of the article.

What we know about Wilhelm was that he was associated with the cheese factory in Ashford in the late 1800s. Records also indicate that he was the postmaster of Ashford in the 1890s. His name on records has a tendency to be misspelled, as a cursive L in Leisses could be confused as an S. He married a Regina Berg; they had three children which lived to adulthood: Agatha, Albert and Olive. Wilhelm passed away abruptly in 1900.

There is a lot of information we don't know in regard to Wilhelm. The cause of his death wasn't discussed much with the family afterwards. Benny Hall said that was still unclear. In addition, a veteran's marker is on his grave, but it is not certain where his military service extended. Born during

In the 1890s, the Farmer's Home was a hotel and saloon that was in the main road through Ashford (today Highway 67). Benny Hall provided the picture, which is photocopied. (The west side of the building is unrealistically slanted given to the recopying of the picture.) Anyone aware of the original image would be great to hear from. This probably ran in the Campbellsport News decades ago, and the credit read: "...picture was taken around 1893 of the William Leisses Hall, now the Ashford Tavern and Dance Hall. Vince Schmitt PHOTO, SUBMITTED BY LEO ZEHREN."

This 1910s postcard is a close up picture of Rafenstein's Tavern, which had recently been remodeled with an upstairs extension on the dance hall. A closeup of the pillar farthest right shows a sign for Star Brewery out of Lomira. Reflections in the upper left hand corner are from the developed postcard.

St. Martin's has transitioned in shape over its 170 years. The postcard, a shoutout to the German's "Kirche" (church), is postmarked 1907, courtesy of Johnson's Post Card Works from Waupun. Fast forward to a view from the Johann Leisses (d.1912) monument on the southeast side of the church, looking north. the Civil War, his options of service would be military force on Native Americans of the late 1800s or the Spanish American War of 1898, but by the latter Wilhelm was in his late 30s. His ownership of the tavern in Ashford is vaguely defined. We don't know when his era started. It seems to be his by the 1890s for certain.

The bigger question is whether Wilhelm is Dutch. His father Johann was born in the 1820s, and came to America through Amsterdam, which Benny points as evidence he was Dutch. In contrast, if he was German he would have left port at Hamburg, Germany.

When Johann Leisses died in 1912, outlasting his son by over a decade, the death notice mentioned "a pioneer settler of Wisconsin" passed by his daughter, Mrs. Charles Wagner, in Ashford Township. Find A Grave's website is more specific, and notes that Johann, the first Leisses in Ashford, came from Hollenfels, which is within the canton (district) of Mersch within Luxembourg. Luxembourg is small, and there are only two cantons today which don't touch a foreign country. So Johann was in the heart of present day Luxembourg.

The problem is one could probably call the Leisses Luxembourger, German or Netherlandish. The family summation matches 1800s maps of Europe, because Luxembourg was known as the Catholic Netherlands. It is assumed they spoke German within Ashford. Johann was born in "Luxembourg, Germany," according to the Fond du Lac Commonwealth Reporter's coverage of his death.

Looking at a map is very important in regard to where the Leisses came from as Luxembourg touches France, Belgium and Germany. It is only about 220 miles to get from Johann's hometown to Amsterdam. At the time of publication, less information was available on Johann's wife (Wilhelm's mother), Maria Blasius Leisses, as she had already died in 1880.

"Na Buba na bald is Kirmess"

The Leisses story is one of a cultural merger within Ashford. They apparently were Luxembourgers who consider themselves Dutch and spoke German. Here's an example of this cultural mixture in the center of Ashford Township 111 years ago, as we celebrate another Kermis this Nov. 14 with chili and chicken dumpling soup at St. Martin's.

There were two headings for what was going on locally in Ashford in the Nov. 2, 1911 edition of the Campbellsport News. The first heading was "ASHFORD," and the subtitle was "Na Buba na bald is Kirmess." There was nothing news related to those two headings after the titles, as the next news story shared that "Frank Thelen and son Michael spent Thursday in Fond du Lac."

The first husband of Regina (Berg) Leisses Thelen Bauer is buried right next to her second husband at St. Martin's Cemetary. Wilhelm Leisses owned the Farmer's Home saloon and dance hall in the 1890s. When he died in 1900, Regina soon married Anton Thelen, whose monument is to the west of Wilhelm's grave in Ashford. Benny Hall, Wilhelm's great grandson, was asked why the two husbands would be next to each other. "Think about it. She bought the plot for her and him [Wilhelm]. So she was gonna get buried next to her husband. Then all of a sudden, her second husband died. So what does she do with him? Put him in her plot. That's my thinking." Benny was open to the fact that there might be other reasons. One worth considering is whether Wilhelm and Anton were close, and that Anton married Regina partially for this reason after Wilhelm's death. In this context, they may have been buried next to each other because of their friendship. PHOTO BY KARL MCCARTY

When you said “Kirmess” in 1911 you said it all. German was the language in Ashford in the early 1900s, but there are qualifications to the meaning of the aforementioned phrase. “Na buba” is better spelled today in German as “na bube,” meaning “well boy.” The 1911 ‘buba’ could technically be a spelling error, but if read as written, is then both spoken and phonetically accurate. “Na bald” means soon, but by the time the paper used “is,” the heading went back to English. Any true German knows “is” is “ist” auf Deutsch. More initially confusing, “Kirmess” may be spelled as if it were Dutch. Is this original spelling of the word tied to Wilhelm Leisses running the tavern which held the event?

The Kermis (today's Ashford spelling) has a different origin. But anyway you spell it, kermis is basically a European mixture of “church” and “mass,” as typically a church service is given in honor of the saint in celebration.

Those who knew Ashford in the mid-1900s will explain the colloquial dialect was convoluted. Ashford wasn't just German, but also English, in what became a unique vernacular. Think about what it would be like to be speaking German at St. Martin's School in the 1920s, but an Ashford family subscribing to a local paper written in English (if they subscribed).

Those who know Ashford well know that those in the 1930s spoke German. But the geography of ancestors is layered just as much as the Leisses family. Some point out that the settlers of Ashford were Alsace-Lorraine, a region flipped between France and German in the world wars. Along with the French perspective, it has been argued that the common barn of the area with an overhang was a “French style” barn. However, it's apparent if they were French, they spoke or understood German.

So did Wilhelm Leisses speak German? Benny concluded yes, but qualified the location in which the family came from. “First of all, if they lived that close to the border [of Germany], they could probably speak French, German, Dutch. Whatever. They could do it all. And in those areas, depending on where you came from. It's just like down south, everybody had their accent. They spoke it with their accent .... So you could tell where they were from, and it didn't always sound right. And that's why the spelling is so off.” He said it is “what we call PLUT Deutsch versus High German.”

Benny pronounced it as “Plut,” but linguistics spell this a “Plautdietsch” or an “East Low German” a “Plattdeutsch” or a “Neiderdeutsch.” Because spelling was not a concern for old Ashford, we'll go with the “plut.” Benny used the Thelen family as a great example of understanding this localized dialect in the mid-1900s of Ashford. Any comments and additions to this language's history is appreciated, and needs to be documented for this spoken history is fading quickly. Fittingly, Wilhelm Leisses (an alleged Dutchman from Luxembourg, Germany) spelled his name on the coin in English (William). Benny noted that his grave probably says Wilhelm because it accustomed the cemetery stone matching the baptismal name.

“The Hall” in Ashford

In last week's article on the Kermis, it was clear modern day memories can extend to loved ones passed who had recalled the tavern and hall around 1910 in Ashford. We now can get into the 1890s and include more detail.

Previously trapped on the era of Rafenstein's owners, it was time to check Roderick Reese's records published on the Village of Campbellsport's website. His notes on the settlement of Ashford and its businesses are in R-023, an online document. Reese's work was likely done in the 1970s and 1980s. Accordingly (p.28), Frank Thelen purchased 50 acres in Section 17 in 1850 and established a saloon. “It is on the north side of Highway 67 in Ashford. This was the first saloon in the Town of Ashford.” There is a big jump to “Mrs. Antone Thelen” who Reese cites as owning it in 1906. Then “Lowrenz Rafenstein” (Lorenz is the first name on his headstone—1872-1935) had a “Hotel & Saloon” starting in the same building as 1907. Rafenstein's is more common with those in their eighties today, and is verified by many. Ownership turns to Frank Fell in 1925, then his wife Clara in 1933. Michael Schill took over in 1937. All of the above in this paragraph comes from Reese's records.

Condensing those alive today to tell stories, they recollect that Rafensteins ran a great Kermis for their grandparents or parents. They also recall a party to behold in the 1940s and 1950s, and one that continued with John and Paula Fleischman once they took ownership and revived the Kermis in the 1950s and 1960s. But there is a gaping hole of documentation of what happened in the old days prior to “Mrs. Antone Thelen.” This is where Willhelm Leisses comes back into play.

The Farmer's Home

Reese's reference to a “Mrs. Antone Thelen” is a direct tie to Leisses. Benny Hall's family history includes documentation of a “Farmer's Home.” This dance hall and tavern is the same building that stands open today on Highway 67, where the Kermis was consistently held in the first half of the 1900s. Wilhelm Leisses ran this tavern by the 1890s, and Benny has a copy of a photo that is connected to his “Uncle Vinny,” Vincent Schmitt, who spent a great deal of time tending to St. Martin's Cemetery. Schmitt's photo of the tavern is dated 1893, and corroborates with other pictures of the tavern later owned by Rafensteins.

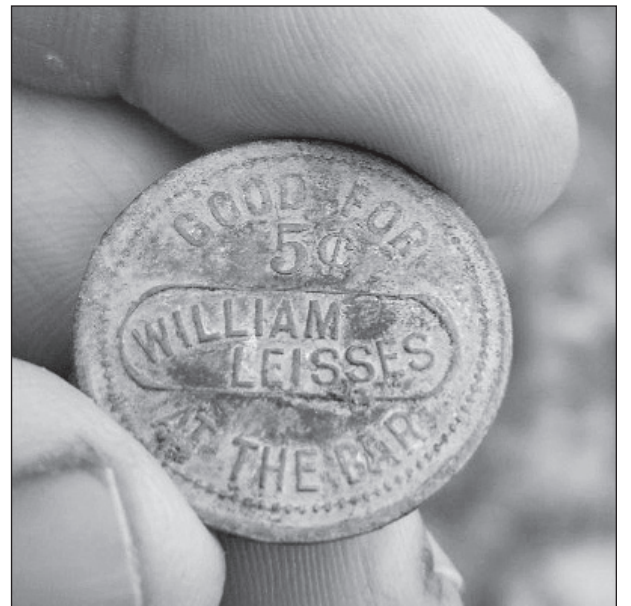

When Wilhem Leisses died in 1900, his wife Regina must have retained ownership of the bar. She apparently stayed in the tavern, and soon married an Anton Thelen. She and Anton had one child who died, and soon Anton died in 1903. This left a “Mrs. Antone Thelen” to pass on ownership to the Rafensteins according to Reese's records.

We know that Joe Serwe (1863-1942) said the tavern held the same Kermis going back to the 1890s. Therefore, at this point we are left to wonder who owned the tavern before Leisses. Did he buy the tavern from the Frank Thelen who established the saloon around or after 1850? Anton Thelen died (1871-1903) at age 32. His father was a “Franz Thelen” (1820-1881), according to the website Find A Grave.

This may conclude full ownership history of the tavern, given “Franz Thelen” (website) is probably the same “Frank Thelen” (Reese's records) who established the bar. Because he built the bar, his life was probably dedicated to it until the end. He was only about 60 when he died, and his son Anton was too young (9 or 10 at the time) to take over the business. It may be at that point that Wilhelm started to take over the tavern and hotel. In theory, Wilhelm was older than Anton by 10 years, potentially being a close mentor to Anton. Clearly after Wilhelm died Anton was associated with the tavern, given Wilhelm and Anton's same widow owned the tavern in 1906. This would make even more sense if Anton's dad had built the bar Anton himself worked back into.

There's at least one person who could vouch or counter the connection to the Thelens and Wilhelm Leisses mentioned above. And that's the man who lost the bar token in rural Ashford Township more than 120 years ago. It's a wonder if the coin came out for use on the night of the “Kirmess.”

KEWASKUM'S DAYS GONE BY*5 Years Ago*Nov. 17, 2016

On November 11, students from Kewaskum High School and Kewaskum Middle School gathered in the high school's fieldhouse to honor veterans. With speeches, songs and a military gun salute, the crowd showed its gratitude for the service and sacrifice that the veterans had made. Following the event, students lined up to shake hands with the veterans.

To prepare for hosting veterans on November 11, the Kewaskum Key Club raised funds for the Stars and Stripes Honor Flight. The Key Club's fundraiser consisted of selling paper airplanes for $1. After purchasing the airplanes, buyers decorated, signed and wrote notes of gratitude on the planes, which were then displayed in the KHS fieldhouse November 11. In all, the club raised $910 for the Honor Flight.

Allen Schoofs of Kewaskum had the opportunity to go on the Honor Flight. He was one of 92 veterans on that trip. Allen was drafted into the Army in 1951 at age 20. He received his honorable discharge on March 18, 1953. Although most of the letters for Allen during Mail Call on the Honor Trip came from family members, there were some from school children that Allen had never met. That reminded him of when he was in Korea and he'd received one or two letters from school kids now and then. Allen figured it was part of their education, but he appreciated getting those letters and said it helped morale.

The board expects to pass a resolution for the initial loan at next month's meeting.

lage officials will now have two years to hammer out a zoning ordinance for the area. The township is still responsible for issuing all conditional use permits, variances and appeals. However, building permits in the extraterritorial zoning area must be approved by the village's building inspector prior to the issuance by the township.

Extreme Makeover: Home Edition on November 19 will be the airing of the Koepke family's home. Thousands of volunteers and spectators had visited the Dundee area when the work was taking place September 28 through October 6. The Koepke home had been nominated by the community because Matt Koepke did so much for the community. Matt passed away from a rare form of cancer several weeks before the demo of the old home and rebuilding of the new 4,000-square foot house and gardening shed was done.

A small defect of sewer lines in the Potawatomi Prairie Subdivision brought to light this past summer by village engineers has reached a resolution. That resolution leaves the developer and his hired construction company on the hook for replacing the line if problems persist in the next five years. Eleven of the 17 segments of the sewer line have a slope less than the minimum standard set by the village, which is .22 percent. The contractor has been making corrections since the finding and the line has improved.

The late Ruben Oppermann of Kewaskum will be honored by Bob Bonenfant, the morning man and program director at WBKV radio. The two men often made friendly wagers on the Packer-Cowboy football games. At the time of Oppermann's passing in a car accident, Bonenfant owned Oppermann a couple lunches so Bonenfant promised that if the Packers won, he was free and clear but if the Cowboys won, Bonenfant would dress up as a Cowboy cheerleader in public. Following through on that, Bonenfant will be in Kewaskum on November 18 dressed as the cheerleader. He's asking people to stop by with canned goods and non-perishable food items, which he'll donate to the Food Pantry in Oppermann's name.

The Wimmer Lumber Co. sawmill and two tool sheds on State Hwy. 28 and Mill Road about one mile east of Kewaskum were destroyed in an early morning fire Tuesday. Destroyed with the 34x70-foot one-story frame sawmill were its contents: motors, trimmers, edgers, conveyors, saws, tools, other machinery and supplies, and some sawed lumber. Doors on the building had just been replaced for the winter season. New belting and new saws had also been installed. It's believed it would cost about $100,000 to replace the building and equipment. The fire chief reported that the blaze may possibly have started from a heating block unit in the mil or an electrical short.

The group connected through Facebook, with members helping one another reach new goals. The group is open to runners of all levels – beginners and medal winners alike. Through social media, they encourage one another and share information about various races, such as Abigail’s Run for Endurance.

In April 2020, since many races were canceled due to covid, the group created a virtual 5K. The next month, the runners had a personal miles challenge and a group 5K run. That June brought a team miles challenge.

“We’ve been encouraging one another and doing some amazing things. Starting the group became a place for everyone to be held accountable and share running info. It has grown tremendously,” Steinert said.

But the members have done more than stay fit. They also have raised funds for various causes.

The group supported the KEYS scholarship fund when the 2020 KEYS 5K was canceled. This past February, the group raised over $2,500 for various charities when local businesses pledged $1 for every mile the group ran in the month of February.

Members have done many in-person 5Ks, as well as two 25-mile relays on the Eisenbahn Trail.

“It was really awesome and empowering,” Steinert said about the first 25-mile relay, which was held in July 2020. “We had three teams with five ladies on each. We spent three-plus hours running in the awful heat, but it was so worth it!”

To add variety and interest, one month, they created fun themes for each week, such as “Where in the world am I running?” and a “dress up” theme.

“This group, which we call KARG (Kewaskum Area Running Group), has grown into a positive community of over 150 local men and women who inspire, encourage and celebrate each other’s accomplishments,” Lettow said.

The group is open to anyone in the area who wants to speed walk or run. To join, visit the Kewaskum Area Running Group on Facebook. Runners of all levels are welcome.

Jessi Steinert and Heather Lettow lead the Kewaskum Area Running Group for runners of all levels. The group currently has 165 members who encourage and inspire one another, as well as support various charities. PHOTO SUBMITTED

Lana Weis, the only full-time biker in the Kewaskum Area Running Group, served as the director of the group’s 25-mile relay on the Eisenbahn Trail from Eden to Kewaskum on Oct. 24. The relay had three teams of six runners and eight different exchange points along the way. As director, Weis directed traffic, took pictures and cheered on the runners. PHOTO SUBMITTED

PHOTO SUBMITTED

Students and staff from Holy Trinity in Kewaskum walked on the Eisenbahn Trail and along Fond du Lac Avenue and Main Street for a Soles Walk on Oct. 28. Even though it was rainy, it was a great walk and everyone had fun. All money raised through the Soles Walk will be used to update the school's playground. PHOTO SUBMITTED

Tierney Herman

My name is Tierney Herman and I am a senior at Kewaskum High School. Throughout my high school years not only have I been prestigiously involved academically, but also through many extracurricular activities. On the sports side, I have participated in cross country for three years and girls soccer all four years. I have been involved in various clubs, such as Student Council, National Honor Society, FFA, Key Club and Peers 4 Peers. Being on the executive board for student council has enabled me to make changes within our school and implement ideas that students want. I have enjoyed being part of the culture which I helped to create, and hope to see it continue for years to come. Being involved doesn't leave me with much free time, but when I get a chance I enjoy hiking, camping with my family and spending time with my cousins. As I look toward my future after KHS, I have decided to attend Edgewood College in Madison to pursue my dream of becoming a nurse and also continue my soccer career. I am beyond excited to see what is in store for me, but it is bittersweet to be nearing the close of this chapter in my life. I thank my family, friends, teachers and coaches, who all have helped me throughout the years to accomplish my goals and yet strive for bigger ones.

Matthew Blank

My name is Matthew Blank and I'm a senior this year at Kewaskum High School. Being that this is my last year, I have experienced a lot. From football games, to band concerts, to hanging out with friends, to having college visits and the list goes on. I have experienced many things in high school which I will never forget. Some experiences that have changed my life the most are just being involved in sports and learning the importance of always having a positive attitude and smiling. The sport that has influenced me the most through high school has been football.

Matthew Blank

Football is just something I have always played and loved. But, more importantly, it has taught me many traits that are not only needed in football, but school and the rest of life. Some of those being leadership, responsibility, working hard and owning up to mistakes. Some of the other activities I participate in are basketball and baseball. I'm also honored to say I'm a member of the National Honors Society and have been on honor roll every trimester thus far throughout high school. I work at Geidel's Piggly Wiggly as a bagger and stocker as well. The second experience that I learned was to always have a positive attitude and smile. It didn't take much time for me to learn this because I feel I have always been a relatively smiley and positive person, but you don't realize the importance of having this in your life. Being a positive and smiley person just helps brighten other people's days because if you are smiling and positive, that will rub off on other people you come in contact with throughout your day. After I graduate from high school, I'm looking to go to college and dive into the field of civil engineering with the hope to continue my football career. I can't wait for what the future has in store for me.

Moraine Park to host Manufacturing Training Program information sessions

Moraine Park Technical College providing training for skilled workers through the Manufacturing Skills Academy.

The Manufacturing Skills Academy, also known as manufacturing boot camps, offer students the opportunity to explore a unique career pathway. The manufacturing boot camp is a three-month training program in either Computer Numerically Controlled (CNC) Machining or welding. During the program, students are part of a paid internship with a local employer. After completion of the program, students receive a college certificate and the opportunity to turn the internship into a full-time career.

Information sessions are being held at the Fond du Lac Campus on Dec. 8 at 3 p.m., and virtually on Nov. 17 at 4 p.m.

The boot camp programs are tuition-free. All costs are covered completely by grants and community support.

CNC machining and welding boot camps are scheduled to begin in January 2022, with applications currently being accepted. Interested individuals must participate in an information session to be eligible for the program.

Additional sessions may be added based on interest in December and early January. For more information or to register for an upcoming information session, visit morainepark.edu/bootcamps.

Cathedral Concert planned for Nov. 14

The Fond du Lac Symphonic Band will present its 45th annual Cathedral Concert at St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday, Nov. 14. Concerts at St. Paul's have been held every November since 1976, with the exception of 2020 due to pandemic restrictions. Under the direction of Music Director Dale Shipe and Associate Conductor Jill Wagner, the concert will begin at 3 p.m.

The highlights of this fall's Cathedral Concert include works by John Rutter, William Walton, Arturo Marquez, Morton Gould and Gioachino Rossini.

When one hears the name John Rutter, it is most often in conjunction with his choral works. Paul Noble has done a masterful job in A John Rutter Christmas, taking a variety of John Rutter's Christmas Carols and arranging them for the modern-day symphonic band. William Walton is well known for his composition, Crown Imperial. At this year's Cathedral Concert, the band will perform a different work of Walton's entitled Spitfire Prelude. It is considered one of Walton's finest marches and was written for the 1942 movie, "The First of the Few."

Danzon No. 2 by Arturo Marquez, first published in 2012, with its driving Latin rhythms, is a popular, rousing and infectious work from Mexico. Morton Gould's Ballad for Band is a wonderful work that explores all of the rich sonorities that are possible with a symphonic band.

The Fond du Lac Symphonic Band will perform at St. Paul's Cathedral on Sunday, Nov. 14, at 3 p.m. PHOTO SUBMITTED

Gould's composition was written in 1946, and inspired by African-American spirituals.

La Cambiale di Matrimonio is the first of Rossini's 35 operas, composed when he was 18 years old. Frank Hudson, a good friend of Music Director Dale Shipe, is the arranger of this Rossini overture. Hudson is a retired Major from the United States Air Force.

The final two works are based on Christian hymns. Let the Amen Sound by Travis Cross is a set of variations on the hymn: Praise to the Lord, and Nicaea by William Hines is a setting of the hymn Holy, Holy, Holy.

In keeping with long-standing tradition, the concert will close with the band singing John Rutter's The Lord Bless You and Keep You, with an accompaniment newly-arranged for small wind ensemble by local music educator and composer, Dr. David Thompson.

The concert will be preceded with a 30-minute organ recital by Thomas Heidenreich, who was recently appointed Canon Musician at St. Paul's Cathedral, as well as Organist in Residence at Nashotah House Theological Seminary in Nashotah. Heidenreich completed bachelor's and master's degrees in organ performance at Westminster Choir College in New Jersey, and anticipates completing his Doctor of Musical Arts at the University of Cincinnati College-Conservatory of Music in December 2021.

There is no admission charge for the concert. A free-will offering will be received.

Campbellsport has tough loss against Mayville

BY CLARICE CASE
JOURNALIST

Through the first half of Friday night's Division 5 WIAA level three playoff game, it looked like Campbellsport could rise above Mayville once again.

Back on Oct. 15, the Cougars spoiled the Cardinals' chances at a conference title all their own with an 18-13 win. At the end of the season, three teams would tie for first place in the Flyway Conference: Campbellsport, Mayville and St. Mary Springs.

After Campbellsport and Mayville devastated their opponents in levels one and two of the state tournament, they were set to meet again in round three.

"It's always nerve-racking playing a team twice," shared Mayville head coach Scott Hilbur. "You want to keep the things that work well and try to improve the things that didn't work so well the first time. You never really quite know if they are going to do something different."

The game started hot with Blake Schraufnagel scoring the Cardinals' first touchdown on a 68-yard run. However, the Cougars promptly responded with a 55-yard touchdown by Joseph Gardner.

Both defensive lines kept either team from scoring again in the first quarter, allowing the game to remain tied at seven points.

The second quarter began with Campbellsport in scoring position. Cole Kaehne proceeded to make the touchdown from one yard out. The Cougars bumped the score to 14-7.

Schraufnagel made another 30-yard touchdown at 8:48 in the second. The Cougars managed to stay just above the Cardinals at 14-13.

Kaehne answered for the Cougars again with a short four-yard touchdown, and the second quarter ended with Campbellsport leading Mayville 21-13.

With no loss of energy from the crowd after halftime, Campbellsport started with the ball in the third quarter, but Mayville was quick to regain possession.

After Cadon Hardesty made a catch at the 28-yard line, Schraufnagel ran it in for his third touchdown of the night. The Cardinals shortened the Cougars lead to 21-19.

Gardner would charge down the field for a first and goal for Campbellsport. Campbellsport's quarterback Mitchell McCarty snuck in from the one-yard line for the touchdown. The third quarter ended with the Cardinals still trailing the Cougars 27-19.

Mayville retained possession and was looking to score at the top of the fourth quarter. It was the teamwork by Ty Hockers pushing through for the one-yard touchdown and Schraufnagel running the ball in on the two-point conversion that tied the game at 27 points.

Fired up after tying the game, Mayville's defense stopped Campbellsport from regaining the lead before getting the ball back.

Braedon Vollmer would make the last touchdown of the night leading the Cardinals to victory. The final score was 34-27.

"We knew Mayville was a good program and it was going to be a battle," said Campbellsport head coach Todd Wondra. "It was a great game and atmosphere to be a part of, and, unfortunately, we came out on the wrong end this time."

"It turned into a dogfight, and fortunately for us, we came out on top," said Hilbur. "I really have to tip my hat to our offensive line which has just been playing magnificently this year. It gets better every week."

It was the Cougars' earlier loss against Springs this season that Wondra believes helped his boys see their potential.

"Back in the non-conference games, we didn't know how good we could possibly be," Wondra said. "This team has been undersized against everyone we faced this season, but there was no fear in this group, and they weren't backing down to anyone."

"I am just so proud to see how this team has grown and come together as a family," Wondra added. "Hopefully, being a part of this season and the success we were able to have will make our younger kids that much more hungry to put in the time to hopefully keep CHS football as a contender."

As the Mayville Cardinals advance in the tournament, they will be facing fourth-seeded Belleville on Friday, Nov. 12, at 7 p.m. in McFarland.

Dream Cave

When it comes to man caves, I have a very decent one at my house. For people who don't fully understand what a man cave is, let me paint you a picture of mine. The man cave is a room in the basement that guys refer to as their little sanctuary or escape room. Mine has a bar, couches, big TV, and is decorated with an arsenal of sports memorabilia.

I am very content and satisfied with my man cave but it's always fun to dream big! Sitting in the cave last week watching the World Series and enjoying my surroundings, I had one of those "What if?" thoughts roll into my head. What would be the perfect man cave for me? I came up with a list of things that would certainly make this guy hibernate in his cave.

I am a big bowling fan and would have a couple bowling lanes in my man cave, even those miniature lanes would do. I would also like to have one of those old bowling games where you slid this puck looking thing down the lane and the pins would go up if you hit the right spots. A couple of skee ball games would certainly be fun to have around when you have friends over. There's still a few around the area, Clubbers Bar and Googles Bar in Fondy still have them. Another item that would be fun to have in the cave is a pinball machine, I'd prefer one of the old ones but will settle for any kind.

As you can tell I am a guy that likes to play games and I would most definitely have an air hockey game and a pool table, even a bumper pool table would do. There is another hockey game I like and I'm not sure what they are called. It's a miniature ice rink under a big bubble and you can control moving the players with a handle/stick on the ends, loads of fun for one on one or two on two.

A couple of other miscellaneous items I'd have are a shuffleboard, foosball table, and of course an old-time jukebox that played 45's. I'm not a huge video game person but my man cave would certainly have a couple of my favorites. The Ms. Pacman machine would be a must, the one where you can sit down across from someone and play. There was a baseball game that we used to play at the Sports Page back in the college days, I would definitely search for one of those. Two people could play at a time, one person would pitch and the other would bat and you used mini joysticks. The final addition to the cave would be a horse racing game that I used to play at Ledgerview Lanes. Four people could play at once and you raced around this track on a big screen-very primitive video game from the late 1970s.

Kewaskum football season comes to a close

In a most unusual turn of events, the Kewaskum Indians' football season was brought back to life on Tuesday after a 40-0 loss to top-seed Madison Edgewood on Friday, Oct. 29. The WIAA ruled that Edgewood had used an ineligible player during the season, which in turn forced the school to forfeit its win over Kewaskum and allowed the Indians to advance to a Level 3 game on Saturday night against Columbus.

A dramatic week that included a Tuesday practice that was supposed to be an equipment turn-in day, Edgewood's appeal to the WIAA Board of Control on Thursday and then a judicial hearing for a potential injunction that would reinstate Edgewood on Friday, provided a real-life civics lesson for the players, coaches

Deer donations help Wisconsinites in need

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) encourages hunters to donate Wisconsin-harvested deer to the department's Deer Donation Program to help stock food pantries this holiday season and support residents in need throughout the state.

Since the program began in 2000, hunters have donated over 94,000 deer, totaling more than 3.8 million pounds of venison distributed to Wisconsin food pantries.

Through the Deer Donation Program, the DNR works with partnering meat processors to distribute thousands of pounds of donated venison to Wisconsin food pantries.

"Whether by harvesting an extra deer or donating the only deer they shoot, Wisconsin hunters have the chance to support their communities during the holiday season," said Sarah Wyrick, DNR Wildlife Damage Program Assistant. "We thank all deer hunters, meat processing and non-profit partners who help make this program a success for those in need."

Those looking to support the Deer Donation Program can also do so through a monetary donation when purchasing a hunting or fishing license or a Wisconsin State Park pass.

Food insecurity in Wisconsin

Approximately one in 12 Wisconsin households did not have enough food before the COVID-19 pandemic began in early 2020, and research shows this number continues to rise, according to the University of Wisconsin's Food Security Project.

Additionally, the Wisconsin Food Security Projects reports that food insecurity makes it harder for children to thrive in and out of school, increases the risk of health problems for children and adults, makes it more difficult to manage chronic conditions, and contributes to short-term and long-term stress for children and families.

How to donate Wisconsin-harvested deer

Hunters interested in donating a Wisconsin-harvested deer to the DNR's Deer Donation Program can follow these steps:

- Field dress your deer. Handle the carcass with care.
- Register your deer through Game Reg. Make a note of your registration confirmation number and keep it on hand when dropping off your deer.
- Test your deer for CWD if harvested from a CWD-affected county that requires testing before taking the deer to a processor. To find a CWD sampling location near you to submit samples from Wisconsin-harvested deer free of charge, visit the DNR's "Sampling For Chronic Wasting Disease" webpage. Test results are usually available from the DNR within two weeks.
- Call ahead! Contact one of the participating processors before dropping off your deer to make sure they have space to accept it. More processors may be added later in the season, so check back if you don't see one currently in your area.
- If donating a Wisconsin-harvested deer that is being tested for CWD, inform the processor at the time of the donation and provide your CWD barcode number. The processor will hold onto the donated deer until results are known and before distributing to an area nonprofit.
- Drop off your deer at a participating processor.

Learn to hunt with the DNR's Mentored Hunting Program

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) encourages anyone interested in giving hunting a try to consider purchasing a mentored hunting license.

The Mentored Hunting law allows new hunters of any age to pair up and hunt with an experienced mentor before completing a Hunter Safety course. The two hunt within arm's reach of each other, allowing the mentee to learn and ask questions while enabling the mentor to keep a close eye on safety and provide guidance as the hunt unfolds.

Mentees And Mentors

A mentee may be either:

- Any person under age 12, regardless of whether they have completed a required hunter education course.
- Any other person who has not completed a required hunter education course and is not exempt from the hunter education requirement.

A mentor is an individual who meets all of the following requirements:

- Age 18 or older.
- Is the mentee's parent or guardian, or has the permission of the mentee's parent or guardian. This does not apply if the mentee is age 18 or older.
- Has completed a required hunter education course, or is otherwise exempt* from the hunter education requirement.
- Mentors with the appropriate license and harvest authorizations may carry a firearm and hunt alongside their mentee.

Mentored Hunting Program rules

Mentees must stay within arm's reach of their mentor. Mentees under 18-years-old are not allowed to possess or use handguns for hunting.

Both mentor and mentee must comply with all hunting laws, including season, bag limit and weapon regulations; and proper hunting approvals such as license, permit and harvest authorization must be acquired for the season.

A complete list of mentored hunting program rules are available on the DNR website.

Those interested in mentored hunting must purchase a mentored hunting license through the DNR's Go Wild online license portal. The cost for a mentored hunting license is the same price as a regular hunting license. If the license is the first the individual has purchased for certain species in the last 10 years, it may be eligible for the first-time buyer discounted price of $5.

More information on mentored hunting is available on the DNR website.

More ways to learn

In addition to the Mentored Hunting program, new or interested hunters can participate in the DNR's Learn to Hunt programs that combine classroom and field instruction to learn how to hunt safely and ethically in Wisconsin.

The DNR-sponsored Hunt For Food programs also provide a more in-depth Learn to Hunt experience for newer adult hunters and their families with a focus on sustainable harvest of wild game. For more information and enrollment instructions visit the DNR's Hunt For Food page.

Check It Out!

LORI KREIS
KEWASKUM LIBRARIAN

Yesterday I looked out the window and noticed the green lawn was now shades of orange, red and brown. Most of the leaves had been blown off our trees overnight, and I saw this all through town. When did this happen, moving to autumn so quickly? I know by the calendar we are well into fall, and the colder weather the past few weeks has definitely made me aware of that, but there was one observation that usually signaled the changing season that we missed.

This would be a fall color car cruise with family and friends through the Kettle Moraine. We have done that for many years, and I think this is the first year we did not go. The cruise would begin at our house with people arriving early to chat, drink coffee and discuss our stops. My husband insisted on a printed map for several years until he was comfortable using his sharp memory. Although the GPS on our phones has always been helpful especially when we went off course. For the most part, we stuck with the same route, same stops, and same turnaround.

Many drivers, including my husband and I, would be in convertibles. Once you do a fall color drive in a convertible there is no going back. Nothing can beat the feeling of tilting your head back to see the beautiful leaves unencumbered. It can get chilly and more than once I wore a winter coat, gloves, hat and had a blanket wrapped around me, but I insisted on leaving the top down. Of course, my husband would say it was warm and just be in a light jacket, if any.

This car cruise included a stop at Parnell Tower, and no matter how I was feeling, I would make the climb. The year I was training for 5K's, I raced my brother-in-law up the tower. I can't recall who won but do remember the feeling of exhilaration. Once we witnessed a boy asking a girl to Homecoming at the top. Well, we didn't witness the proposal, but did see the layout and planning he put into it. We hope she said yes.

There were food stops during the cruise. Besides my house for coffee and sometimes doughnuts or muffins, we would have to visit Dundee for a burger and to stretch our legs. At the turnaround, we would always partake in the delicious food at a dive bar. Surprisingly, every year we would come upon their meat raffle and come away with more meat than we knew what to do with. But there was always fun.

I am sorry I missed the fall color car cruise this year and apparently my son is also. Because as I was writing this, I received a message from him that we didn't go this year. Next year we will have to go twice.

Happy fall!

Kewaskum High School presents “Legally Blonde: The Musical”

BY CLARICE CASE
JOURNALIST

Kewaskum High School is performing “Legally Blonde: The Musical” on Friday, Nov. 12, at 7 p.m. and Saturday, Nov. 13, at 2 and 7 p.m. in the Kewaskum High School theater. Tickets can be bought at Geidel’s Piggly Wiggly or in the KHS office. General admission is $10.

Director Perry Scott is in his first year of teaching. He had considered a few musicals for his first production at Kewaskum but decided on “Legally Blonde” primarily because of the message.

For those that have not seen “Legally Blonde,” the natural blonde protagonist, Elle Woods, played by Melody Humphreys, is studying fashion merchandising at the University of California, Los Angeles. She is president of her sorority, and dating frat boy Warner Huntington III, played by Brandon Tietz.

All is well until Warner breaks up with Elle, presumably because she is too blonde, and leaves her to attend Harvard Law. Determined to win back her man, Elle follows him to law school. Along the way, Elle slowly discovers who she really is and her true potential while breaking the blonde stereotype.

Scott thought that overarching message of self-discovery would resonate with his students and the audience. Not to mention this musical has a delightful cast of characters, including two dogs, Rufus played by Ozzie and Bruiser played by Charlotte.

Besides being a fun show with catchy songs, Scott thinks people should come to the shows to support the return of live theater after being on pause because of Covid.

The students have been working hard on this musical since the middle of September. With Scott as a new director, it has been a positive learning experience for both him and his students.

If you would like to see more of what Scott and the Kewaskum choirs have been working on this semester, there are three upcoming events in December.

The middle school will have its choir concert on Dec. 6. The KEYS holiday concert is on Dec. 12 at 5 p.m. Lastly, the high school choir concert will be Dec. 20 at 7 p.m.
