Welcome back to Campbellsport

BY CLARICE CASE
JOURNALIST

The Village of Campbellsport and the Campbellsport Area Chamber of Commerce would like to welcome everyone back to the downtown area on Small Business Saturday, Nov. 27, after months of construction on Highway 67.

Kimberly Keceli, owner of Essence, who is planning the events on Nov. 27, felt just as terrified as her fellow business owners after seeing a few businesses close and struggle with their income as a result of Covid and the construction project.

Village President Dave Krebs and new Village Administrator Charlie Kudy will kick off the celebration with speeches around 9 a.m. on Saturday, Nov. 27. Shoppers will receive free tote bags containing coupons and flyers to be used at participating businesses. They will also receive a passport where if they get stamps from at least six businesses, they can be entered in a contest to win “Chamber Bucks,” which is like a gift card good for use at all chamber businesses.

“I really want to thank all of the residents and businesses for... bearing with us this year,” Kudy said. “We really couldn't have done it without their cooperation. Their cooperation has meant everything to me and the village to be able to get this project done”

Keceli and other members of the chamber knew they would need to promote their downtown once construction was finished.

“We need to let them know that we are here, we have been here, we will continue to be here, and we are awesome in our little town,” stressed Keceli.

Kudy predicts construction will end within the next two weeks. It is the largest project Campbellsport has undertaken. He knows how special it is as a small, rural community to have a brand-new Main Street and infrastructure.

Healing continues after attack by cow

BY GARY FEIDER
EDITOR OF THE SOUNDER

Farm accidents can happen in an instant, as Jessica A. Ramel experienced with a new mother cow more than a year ago.

She sustained serious injuries that caused her wedding day to be postponed twice — and her restorative dental work is not expected to be complete until this month.

She was working at Windy Hill Farms LLC on Cranberry Road in the Town of Scott. The farm is owned by Jessica, her parents, Mark and Debra Ramel, and her brother, Matthew Ramel.

A 30-second encounter

“It was Monday, July 13, 2020,” Jessica recalls. “That was a very busy day — and a very busy time. We were in a big calving stretch — we were going to have 26 calves born in 30 days.”

One of Jessica's jobs on the farm was taking care of newly born calves. Cows that are close to freshening and giving birth are housed in a maternity pen.

The calves are removed from that pen while the new mother cows are milked with a machine to gather the valuable “colostrum” (the first form of milk that has valuable nutrients for the newborn calf).

Jessica had been hauling loads of chopped hay, but around 4:45 p.m. she took a break.

“I'll go into the barn and check to see if there are more newborn calves,” she said.

There was one new calf, so she walked into the maternity pen to pull out the calf.

“I had my eyes on the mother cow and my hands on the calf to pull it out the side gate. I took about five steps and Cow 887 head butted me in the face. That cow had freshened in the morning, but she was still in the pen,” she recalled.

In an instant Jessica was down on all fours. The cow pushed her up against the wall.

“She ended up getting me a corner. She butted me in the chest, ribs and shoulders four or five times, and then she backed away two or three feet,” Jessica said. “I dove out of the corner and started to roll toward the main gate. She turned around and came after me again. She stepped over me and her third step hit my

One-Dimensional Living

Dear Reader,

Sometimes I think I am living this world in only one dimension. I plow through a day addressing patterns, people and routines I've established over time. It is rare that I attempt to pierce the veil of bigger thinking and philosophies regarding the roles we play, and the whys, and the end-game antics to a greater universe of the soul.

Is this world a sanctuary or a prison? It seems to depend on the day. Is there meaning in each moment, or does that appear at certain engagements with certain people in our orbits? It's hard to find a consistent pattern. Is there another dimension of thought we barely scratch that might be reachable to those who seek? That is the quest.

There are many living situations whence we trek this road. Whether single, married, or in some other unique situation, we experience special challenges and charms. In all cases, it seems we are meant to make ourselves whole through interactions with others who are sprinkled in and out of our day-to-day life.

When we transcend to the other side, our souls, once fueled by our bodies, power on to their eternal destiny of being. The one dimension of the curiosities and delights of physical living has been shed, transcended to the ultimate destiny of God. So we hope, so we hope....

He estimates the village spent $2.5 million on its portion of the project, the utilities. The remaining costs are being covered by the state.

Planning for the Highway 67 project began way back in 2013, but construction did not begin until March of this year.

Kudy knows the biggest frustrations with this project have been the disruption to daily life and businesses. Main Street had been ripped up all at once making it difficult to navigate and visit those located on that stretch.

"The biggest thing going forward is that residents, businesses and the village government need to share that Campbellsport is open!" Kudy said.

"Welcome back to Campbellsport," Keceli shared. "Welcome back to small town. Welcome back to the places that have been here for generations. Welcome back."

back. I fought like hell to get her to move off of me.”

Finally, Jessica was able to roll under the gate. “Everything went white and hot, but I never lost consciousness. I knew that I was bleeding, but I didn’t know from where, so I went to the utility room to make a call. I knew my teeth were damaged,” she said.

Her hands were so full of blood that she was not able to dial the landline phone.

“I was shaking too hard to use a touch screen,” she said. “Then I realized I was missing three teeth and another one was very loose. I was shaking so much and getting lightheaded, so I walked outside to the yard.”

Her sister-in-law (also named Jessica Ramel) was driving into the yard with a wagon and the injured Jessica flagged her down.

Soon the whole family was contacted, and Jessica was transported to St. Joseph Hospital in West Bend.

“It felt like a really long drive to get to West Bend. The adrenaline rush, from my body’s fight/flight response, allowed me the strength to get out of the pen and walk into the emergency room. But after about 12 hours of adrenaline going through my system, my body was spent,” Jessica said.

Long list of injuries

The hospital staff evaluated her with scans and a portable X-ray machine, and she also had an MRI.

By 7:30 p.m., she had the list of injuries: two fractures of her nose, upper jaw broken in three places, three fractured ribs and one fracture of the T-10 vertebrae in her back. Her left shoulder was extremely sore.

Next came an ambulance ride to Froedtert Hospital in Wauwatosa, where she expected to undergo surgery that night to repair her jaw.

“They started over with a head-to-toe assessment after we got there around 9 p.m.,” she said.

A respiratory therapist said OK — no oxygen needed. A neurologist examined her spine and said there was no permanent damage. A plastic surgeon arrived around 12:30 a.m. and recommended self-healing, so there was no surgery that night.

A round of doctors came to the trauma unit to visit her at 8 a.m. on Tuesday, and they decided there would be no surgery. It would take a long time to heal up at home (she was back home on Wednesday afternoon).

“It is truly a miracle that with every injury I had I didn’t have any interior bleeding,” Jessica stated.

For about a month, she spent all of her time in a recliner chair. For over six weeks, her meals were liquid or finely cut solids (lots of mashed potatoes and yogurt).

Jessica’s ribs healed up in four to six weeks, her back fracture in six to eight weeks and her shoulder ligaments returned to normal in eight to 12 weeks after some physical therapy. What would take a lot longer to repair would be her dental damages.

In August 2020, she met with Michael S. Kopecky, DDS, a prosthodontist at Cedar Lake Dental Professionals at West Bend.

“That’s when I got the news that this would take a really long time,” she said. “He said it would probably take a year before everything would be done.”

Jessica learned that when her teeth came out, the roots came out, and some bone came out too. She had lost three teeth, and the fourth one that was loose also needed to be removed.

During the first week of September 2020, she met with oral surgeon Dr. John D. Triggs of Milwaukee Oral Surgery & Implants. After viewing an MRI and ultrasound, he told Jessica that it would take another three months for her jawbone to heal enough for bone graft surgery to begin.

She learned that the bone graft would be constructed something like concrete. The ingredients would be pulverized cadaver bone, her own blood platelets, and titanium mesh. Eight tiny screws were used to secure the bone graft. That surgery took place on Oct. 16.

The third wedding date

Jessica and Steven Batterman became engaged on July 18, 2019. Even though they are located only about a half hour drive apart, they met via the FarmersOnly.

Because of a farm accident, Jessica Ramel waited a long time for the day she could wear “that dress” and continue a family tradition. Loretta Heimerl first wore the dress on July 19, 1958, when she married Gilbert Meyer. Then Debra Meyer wore it when she married Mark Ramel on July 11, 1986. com website. Their first date was at Culver’s in West Bend.

Their original wedding date of Sept. 26, 2020, was moved to June 12, 2021, because of the accident — but now they faced some challenges with COVID-19 restrictions. The Amerahn in Kewaskum (their original hall choice) had been sold and was being renovated.

The wedding date was moved again to Aug. 28, 2021. They exchanged wedding vows at Holy Trinity Catholic Church in Kewaskum, and a farm-themed celebration followed at the Turner Hall in Fillmore.

On March 2, 2021, Jessica returned to the oral surgeon to have the titanium wire mesh and screws removed from her bone graft. Titanium screws for her tooth implants were inserted. Next came another four to six weeks for healing.

On June 9, the dentist completed molds for her new teeth. They decided to begin with a plastic temporary bridge, which would allow for some final adjustments, completed on July 13.

“You can keep a temporary bridge for a year,” Jessica said. “Getting it perfect is important because everybody sees your front four teeth.”

Measurement day for her permanent porcelain bridge was scheduled for Oct. 14, and it should be completed on Nov. 23. She will have a lot to celebrate on Thanksgiving Day 2021.

A long time for healing

“I had no idea that it would take that long,” Jessica said. “It has given me a great appreciation for dentistry. I have some really strong bones because of all the milk I drink. And I have a good guardian angel who took most of the blow that day.”

Doctors said that fortunately Jessica Ramel is a young woman in excellent physical shape. She was a track and field competitor at Random Lake High School and UW-La Crosse.

She graduated from UW-LC with a community health education degree in December 2012. Next, she worked for Rehab Care at the Lutheran Home and Harwood Place in Wauwatosa, where she created a wellness program.

“I loved that job and I still keep in touch,” she says. “But then in August 2018 I decided to come back to the family farm.”

Jessica and her husband Steven own a home on Park Street in Theresa, which is a short distance from the Dennis and Laura Batterman Farm. They milk 120 cows in a 50-cow stanchion barn.

Jessica works there most days, but every week she comes back to Windy Hill Farms LLC for a day or two to help where she can. The Ramels have a milking parlor and they have a herd of 145 cows.

“I enjoy working outside and working with cows,” Jessica stated. “I also like driving tractors.”

The Ramels don’t bear any grudges to the cattle involved in Jessica’s accident. They are still part of the herd, and that calf is almost old enough for her first breeding.

Jessica knows that mother cows experience raised hormone levels when giving birth and that’s what caused Cow 887 to attack her.

But the Ramels have changed their practices — now two people must be present when handling newborn calves in the maternity pen.

As the UW-Madison Extension noted in a recent farm safety report: “Most animals tend to be aggressive when protecting their young; be extra careful around cows with newborn calves.”

William Koenen

William Koenen, 78, of Waupun, peacefully passed away on November 11, 2021, at Prairie Ridge in Waupun, with Sharon at his side.

Later he coached youth teams, and followed that by attending every one of his sons' games, and many of his grandson's games. Later, golf replaced baseball as a source of abundant challenges and fun at Old Hickory in Beaver Dam.

Bill served three years in the Army, attending Officer Candidate School and spending a year in Korea. He put in another 24 years in the Army Reserves, retiring as a Lt. Colonel. While doing that, he was a manufacturing engineer at John Deere in Horicon for 27 years. He was an active member of St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Waupun.

Rural Writes

BY G.A. SCHEINOH
CONTRIBUTOR

If you've taken Country Trunk V to Fond du lac, you're aware of the detour on K to get around the section closed just north of the crossroads. They're installing gutter pipes and from the looks of the concrete pieces trucked in, the drainage should be vastly improved.

But while that stretch of road is closed off, it makes for an annoying, to say the least, reroute either way, east or west on K. Since this is heavily populated deer country.

Leastwise, the herds must number something considerable because a few are almost always scooting across the highway.

And, with the hunt starting soon, the deer will move at night. Not a fun commute to work for those of us who are on late shifts. Especially if one has experienced a collision.

But the thought occurs... as long as they're repairing roads, and the president is gonna sign the infrastructure bill today, how about pouring a little of that money into a length of V farther south?

The asphalt surface here in Marblehead is a mess. A couple of bumps that cause a sound just shy of a pistol shot when vehicles, particularly trucks come through, even with empty beds. Which is probably the cause to the effect. Those big gravel haulers are perhaps overloaded; way more than the gross vehicle limit for the roadbed.

How about somebody doing an occasional weigh-in? The gravel dealers are earning a livelihood at the taxpayers' expense - and inconvenience.

We have to drive these same beatup byways.

Been a while since they redid it. Or maybe, just seems so because of the excessive wear and tear. However, if they are in fact overdoing, a few fines might curb the urge to try to run illegally heavy loads. And save not only the road, but also a bit of both resident and vehicle owner frustration.

resigned after a long amount of prayer and consideration on how to best focus his community service and family time.

Nathan Wendelborn was the lone trustee to vote against the motion to appoint Spenner as the new village president. Scheunemann was absent from Monday's meeting.

Spenner, who was the only candidate nominated to replace Scheunemann as president, has served on the Kewaskum Village Board for about eight years. The board voted unanimously for Spenner to serve as chairperson pro-tem to fill in for Scheunemann at Monday's meeting.

Beginning Jan. 1, Spenner will serve the remainder of Scheunemann's term as president, which ends in April 2023. When Spenner starts his term as president, other trustees will likely replace him on village committees and boards where he currently serves, including the Administrative Committee, Park and Recreation Committee, Library Board and Shared Facilities Committee.

The plan is to fill Spenner's vacated trustee position in the upcoming April election. There will be three other trustee positions up for election at that time as well: the positions currently held by Richard Knoebel, Richard Laubach and Wendelborn.

Anyone interested in running for any of those positions should contact the village hall. Candidates can begin circulating nomination papers on Dec. 1; paperwork is due Jan. 4.

"My clients are already seeing benefits from the additional services offered here. From massage, private pilates lessons and athletic training, to health and nutrition coaching, meditation, yoga and sound healing, we offer a little bit of everything for everyone," stated Lori Bersch, owner of Integrative Orthopedic Massage. "Three and a half years ago when I opened this center, I had a vision to fill this space with a network of passionately driven, woman-owned businesses dedicated to health and healing, and this dream has come true. I'm excited to see what the future holds for us all."

The new network of services includes Athletic Trainer Bryana Kudek, owner of Gaining Grit Health & Healing.

To introduce the new businesses to the community, a Holiday Open House will be held on Saturday, Nov. 27, from 11 a.m. to 2 p.m. Gift certificates and first-time client specials will be offered.

Before the open house begins, two informational presentations will be delivered; "Healthy Lifestyle Choices for Pre-Diabetics" with health and nutrition coach Heather Becker, and "Injury Prevention for Runners" with athletic trainer Bryana Kudek. On Sunday morning, a guided meditation and drumming experience will be led by Becca Nedden of Whole Human Wellness & Botanicals. You must pre-register to attend the pre- and post-event sessions. Visit www.integrative-orthopedic.com for a schedule of open house events and links to registration.

Each of the businesses inside the center are independently owned and all services are by appointment only. To learn more about them, please contact them directly.

WASHINGTON COUNTY SHERIFF REPORTSArrest in Anna Severance fatal crash

Charges were filed in Washington County Circuit Court on Tuesday, Nov. 9, in relation to a fatal car crash that occurred around 10:30 a.m. on Oct. 16 at the intersection of County Trunk Z and Pleasant Valley Road in the Town of Polk. A 55-year-old Town of Jackson man was arrested by Washington County Sheriff's Office investigators and charged in Washington County Circuit Court on Tuesday afternoon with three felony charges. The suspect was charged with homicide by negligent operation of a vehicle as well as two counts of reckless driving causing great bodily harm. If found guilty, the suspect faces up to 17 years in prison.

These charges are the result of a several-week investigation conducted by the Washington County Sheriff's Office Accident Reconstruction Team. According to the sheriff's office, the investigation revealed that the suspect was driving westbound on Pleasant Valley Road at a high rate of speed. Witnesses reported that he had passed two cars in a no-passing zone before the collision. Evidence showed that the suspect's car was traveling around 76 mph seconds before impact with the victim's southbound car. The suspect failed to stop at a stop sign even though there was a clear line of sight of the intersection, according to the sheriff's office. The stop sign, as well as warning signs, were well marked, according to the sheriff's office. The suspect said that he did not see the victim's car before impact and was not aware of the stop sign being there. The investigation did not reveal a reason as to why the suspect was driving in a reckless manner. The crash left Anna Severance deceased and her two daughters, ages 7 and 4, with serious injuries. Both girls are recovering from their injuries but have a long road to recovery ahead of them.

"This incident is a senseless tragedy. Two young children are without a mother and will forever live with the horrifying trauma that this crash has left them with. I am thankful to see the outpouring of support from our community and ask that you join me in offering continued prayers for their physical and emotional recovery. No one set out that day to hurt anyone, but the decision to drive recklessly can have devastating, unintended, life-altering consequences in a matter of seconds," Washington County Sheriff Martin Schulteis said.

Delight friends and family with winter-blooming bulbsBY MELINDA MYERS

Give a holiday gift that is guaranteed to bring joy and feelings of well-being. Research by Rutgers University found the gift of flowers generates a smile, elevates the recipient's mood, and provides feelings of happiness that last for days. Amaryllis and paperwhite bulbs make it easy for anyone to enjoy these benefits by growing their own living bouquet of flowers.

Non-gardeners will appreciate receiving an amaryllis or paperwhite gift kit that includes the bulb, soil, and pot. All they need to do is open the box, water the soil, and wait for the beauty to unfurl. Or make your own ready-to-grow gifts by purchasing bulbs and planting them in decorative pots.

Each amaryllis bulb sends up multiple stems topped with flowers that can measure up to eight inches across. Nurturing amaryllis or paperwhites from bulb to bloom requires no experience or special care, but answers to any questions can be found at LongfieldGardens.com.

Are there gardeners on your list? Keep it simple by selecting some winter-blooming amaryllis or paperwhite bulbs and tucking them into an attractive gift bag. While most people are familiar with the classic red amaryllis, there are many other colors and flower styles to choose from. Make your gift extra special by ordering

Three cybersecurity tips to protect yourself

BY TOM KELLY

On Sept. 13, Apple suddenly released an unprecedented, emergency security update after researchers at Citizen Lab discovered that an Israeli spyware group was able to infect Apple products via a critical cybersecurity vulnerability. Before the emergency patch, cybercriminals could use what's called a "Zero-Day exploit" to put malware on Apple products without ever being detected.

Apple had to work non-stop to patch the vulnerability before cybercriminals around the world caught wind of the exploit. But while this particular cybersecurity crisis may have been narrowly averted, it's far from an isolated incident. This year alone saw a massive surge in ransomware attacks, malware and more.

These attacks don't just target businesses and industries; they target individuals too. We all use our phones, social media websites, smartphone apps and other digital services to live our daily lives and share our sensitive information. Today, the security of that information is at risk.

The fact is that cybercrime has been on the rise since the start of the pandemic. As more and more people rely on digital products and services to do their banking, shopping, investing, working, dating and socializing, almost no one and nothing is immune to the growing threat posed by the world's cybercriminals.

But ordinary people can and should take charge of their own cybersecurity and protect the privacy of their data.

Using digital technology doesn't mean you have to sacrifice your safety, security and privacy. But you can't rely on the companies behind the products you use to do all the work for you. Cybercriminals are working around the clock to hack your devices and steal your data; taking careful and proactive steps to protect yourself is key.

It may not be possible to prevent the next zero-day exploit, but you can keep yourself from falling victim to any of the countless cyberattacks launched every day. Here are my three cybersecurity tips.

- Use Two-Factor Authentication and Other Security Protocols

Cybercriminals are dedicated, hard-working and, in many cases, well-funded. They are always trying to find new ways to hack your devices and online accounts.

There's a lot that companies can do to make their products and services more secure. But 95% of cybersecurity breaches are due to human error. If you want to be as secure as possible, you have to take steps on your own to protect yourself.

For most people, that means using things like two-factor authentication or creating unique and difficult-to-guess passwords for their accounts. Some of these security protocols may seem burdensome; but they are simple steps that can have a huge impact.

- (2) Beware of Suspicious Links and Emails

It's easy to focus on the big cyber incidents involving state-of-the-art technology. As scary and significant as these incidents can be, they are far from the most common type of cybercrime.

Most often, cybercriminals rely on a tactic known as social engineering. That means cybercriminals try to manipulate and trick people, rather than directly hack their devices. The only defense against social engineering is vigilance.

Social engineering usually involves a phishing attack, where cybercriminals send emails that look legitimate to try to get people to give up their bank information, volunteer their login credentials or simply download malware. So keep an eye out for suspicious emails; if it doesn't feel or look right, be careful!

- (3) Take Control of Your Data

An emerging threat to everyone's cybersecurity is the internet itself. So many of the websites and services we use, especially things like our social media platforms, collect massive amounts of information about us. Hackers can easily scrape data from these websites

Seven tips for winter storage of outdoor power equipment

After your lawn gets its last cut before winter, it will be time to put away spring and summer outdoor power equipment, like lawn mowers, leaf blowers, and trimmers. What's next? Snow throwers, generators and other small engine equipment need to be readied for winter use. How and when you prepare your equipment for seasonal changes can save you time and money later, says the Outdoor Power Equipment Institute (OPEI).

With record-breaking sales of outdoor power equipment, homeowners are spending more time during the COVID-19 pandemic working or renovating their family yards. This means more people are using outdoor power equipment, and OPEI reminds everyone the importance of proper outdoor power equipment storage, maintenance and safe handling.

"During this very challenging pandemic, we've learned our outdoor spaces are more important than ever," said Kris Kiser, president and CEO of OPEI and the Turf-Mutt Foundation, which encourages outdoor learning experiences, stewardship of our green spaces, and care for all living landscapes. "Our yards, parks and schoolyards are our safe space for connecting with friends and family, acting as outdoor classrooms and offices. Green space also contributes to the health and wellbeing of people, pets and wildlife, and having the right outdoor power equipment to take care of it is key. But preparation is everything -- understanding how to store equipment and get it serviced, how to operate it safely, and how to ready your space to use that equipment."

He added, "Always follow your manufacturer's guidelines, and remember to keep kids and dogs away from operating equipment at all times."

Here are a few tips from OPEI to ensure your lawn mower and other spring equipment will be available for use when warmer temperatures return, and snow throwers and other winter equipment will be ready for use when the snow falls.

1. Review owner's manuals. Re-familiarize yourself with how to handle equipment safely. Lost manuals can be found online. Save a copy on your computer if possible, so it can be consulted when needed. Be familiar with your equipment, and all its features, including how to turn it off quickly and safely.

2. Service all equipment. Before storing spring and summer equipment, clean and service it or take it to a small engine repair shop. Drain and change engine oil and safely dispose the old oil. Service the air filter, and do other maintenance as directed by the owner's manual. Check winter equipment and see if any maintenance and repairs are required.

3. Handle fuel properly. Unused fuel left in gas tanks over the winter can go stale and even damage equipment. Before storing equipment, add fuel stabilizer to the gas tank, then run the equipment to distribute it. Turn the engine off, allow the machine to cool, then restart and run until the gas tank is empty. For winter equipment, buy the recommended type of fuel no more than 30 days before use. Use fuel with no more than 10% ethanol in outdoor power equipment. Use a fuel stabilizer if recommended by the manufacturer. Get more information on safe fueling for outdoor power equipment at LookBeforeYouPump.com.

4. Charge the battery. Remove and fully charge batteries before storing. Don't store batteries on metal shelves or allow them to touch metal objects. Store them on a plastic or wood shelf in a climate-controlled structure.

5. Shelter equipment from winter weather. Store spring and summer equipment in a clean and dry place such as a garage, barn or shed. Winter equipment should be kept away from the elements, but be easily available for use.

6. Prepare, prepare, prepare. Make space in the garage or basement before the weather changes, so there is room to store larger yard items. Clean up the yard of sticks, debris, dog and kid's toys and other items that can damage or destroy equipment. Clear the paths used regularly in your yard, especially during the winter when snow can "hide" things.

7. Have the right weather appropriate extension cord for your generator. Keep heavy duty weatherproof extension cords on hand to use with it. Ensure the length of the cord is necessary to operate the generator a safe distance from the house or building. Never operate a generator indoors, in a garage, breezeway or under an open window.

Local authors hold book signing to benefit Boys & Girls Club

There will be a book signing to benefit The Boys & Girls Club of Fond du Lac on Saturday, Nov. 27, from 9 a.m. until noon at Jack's Team Sports at 179 South Main St. Local authors Steve and Charlene Rose will be on hand to autograph copies of their hope-and-encouragement-filled book "The Peanut Butter Promise: Spreading Hope to Fulfill Your Purpose!" Craft And Vendor Expo to be held Sunday, Nov. 21

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
EDITOR

The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce is sponsoring a Craft and Vendor Expo at Kewaskum Middle School, 1676 Reigle Drive in Kewaskum, on Sunday, Nov. 21, from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. Admission and parking are free.

"New this year is we will have a lot of new crafters this year. There is a lot of new talent, with crafters traveling here from across Wisconsin to be at our show. Over 85 percent of what will be offered at the show will be handmade crafts," said Kelly Goeden of the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce.

The show will feature professional crafters from as far away as Appleton and Greenfield. Altogether there will be 80 crafters and artists at the show.

Shoppers will find a wide variety of goods, ranging from fresh boughs, pine boxes and wooden reindeer to customizable epoxy tumblers, sea glass pictures and clothing. There will be knitted and crocheted items, hats, gloves, homemade cutout cookies, jams, jellies, jewelry, soaps, candles, scarves, purses, nuts, custom signs, welded items, gnomes, healing crystals, skin care, cosmetics, dolls, greeting cards, stickers, books, wooden holiday sleds, birdfeeders, children's clothing, upcycled farm items and sportswear, to name just a few of the items.

"I thought we had a great variety last year, I think we have even more variety this year," said Goeden, who is cochairing the event with Wendi Dreher.

American Legion Post 384 will sell food and refreshments for breakfast and lunch, as well as Regal Ware cookware. Julie's Country Confections will sell kettle corn from a trailer outside the school as well as offer popcorn and sweet treats inside.

In addition, attendees can enter a raffle free of charge to win a grand prize: a purse, scarf, wine and chocolate.

Attendees can also have a chance of winning a Coach purse if they visit Curve In Bar in Kewaskum and Crave in Campbellsport, this Friday or Saturday, Nov. 19 and 20. To be eligible, participants must have a drink purchase at the Curve In Bar and a Food purchase at Crave on Friday or Saturday before attending the Craft & Vendor Expo on Sunday.

Funds that the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce raises from the Craft & Vendor Expo will go back to benefit the community.

"It is a place to get your holiday shopping started and supporting your hometown businesses," Goeden said.

"Come enjoy and support your local crafters, and support your local community," Goeden said.

BBB Scam Alert: Innocent wrong number text? It could be a scam bot!

A new text message scam seems so innocent that it's tempting to reply. But con artists are using phony "wrong number" texts to lure victims into a conversation and falling for a scam.

How the scam works

You receive a text that reads something like this: "Hey is this John? It's Amanda. We chatted on Tinder before when I came to visit my cousin but we never met irl. I'm back in town if you want to meet up this time, are you free?"

If you reply to a text like this, even with a polite, "Sorry, wrong number," the stranger responds anyway, seemingly ignoring your answer. Usually, you'll receive a few compliments and some photos of "Amanda," who appears to be a scantily clad blonde woman. However, as the word gets out about this scam, scammers will change up the names, backstory, and photos.

If you continue to engage with the stranger, who is really a chat bot, it tries to trick you into registering for dating or adult websites. Your new "friend" will encourage you to sign up for a specific website to see more explicit photos, which may involve offering up your credit card number. Considering the dubious nature of this scam, if you hand over your credit card information at any point, you could be putting yourself at risk for fraudulent charges and identity theft.

How to avoid chat bot scams

Ignore texts from strangers. If you receive a text from someone you don't know, simply don't reply. It's the safest route. If you engage with a scammer, even briefly, they will mark your number as active and you could receive even more shady texts in the future.

Block numbers that appear to come from scammers. Unsolicited texts that look like they come from a chat bot or that ask you to click on suspicious links are probably not safe. Block these numbers to prevent scammers from contacting you through them again.

Never give your personal information to strangers. Never share your credit card or banking information, your full name, home address, or social security number with someone you never met in person.

If you've been the victim of a text message scam, report it at BBB.org/ScamTracker. Your report can help expose scammers' tactics so others won't fall prey.

For more information or further inquiries, contact the Wisconsin BBB at www.bbb.org/wisconsin, 414-847-6000 or 1-800-273-1002. Consumers also can find more information about how to protect themselves from scams by following the Wisconsin BBB on Facebook, Twitter, Instagram and YouTube.

some of these less-common varieties.

Elvas is a double white amaryllis with petals outlined in red. As the flowers mature, they gradually open wider and the red highlights become more apparent.

Giant Amadeus features layers of petals that start out white and blush to pink, coral and salmon. The color and intensity increase as the petals open.

For a twist on traditional red, consider Magical Touch. Its cherry red blossoms have broad, ruffled petals edged in white. When the flowers are fully open, they are flat rather than trumpet shaped.

Ruby Star is another uncommon amaryllis. Classified as a papillon or butterfly amaryllis, it has large, irregular-shaped petals in a striking color combination of wine red and apple green.

Brighten dark winter days with the cheery, lemony yellow flowers of amaryllis Yellow Star. Each bulb will send up multiple stems topped with four to six long-lasting flowers.

The flowers of amaryllis Cape Horn feature big, rounded petals in a lovely shade of rose-pink. Each blossom has a white star at the center and a lime green throat.

Most amaryllis bulbs begin flowering eight to ten weeks after planting. Paperwhite narcissus bulbs bloom in half the time and can be grown in soil or a shallow bowl of stones and water. For maximum fragrance, plant Ziva paperwhites. Varieties such as Nir and Inbal produce the same snowy-white flowers but have a much lighter fragrance.

Store winter-blooming bulbs in a cool, dry and dark place until you are ready to plant. Once you pot up the bulbs and place them in a warm, bright location, they will break dormancy and begin to sprout. Watching as the stems emerge, buds develop, and flowers appear is all part of the fun.

Be sure to order a couple extra bulbs for yourself. You will enjoy the stress relief these beautiful winter bulbs provide during the holiday season and long winter months.

Kewaskum Youth Scholarships to add Jerry Gosa Memorial Scholarship

Kewaskum Youth Scholarships Inc. (KEYS) is proud to announce that the "Jerry Gosa Memorial Scholarship" will be added to the annual awards, starting with the class of 2022. The KEYS Board of Directors recently voted to add the scholarship to honor Jerry Gosa, who was the longtime president of KEYS and was involved with the organization for over 35 years. The $24,000 scholarship will be the top scholarship awarded by the KEYS organization and will be paid out in $6,000 increments over four years.

Jerry Gosa

The KEYS Board also increased several existing scholarships and added an additional Tessar Memorial Scholarship in the amount of $10,000. The total amount of scholarships offered to Kewaskum High School graduates this spring will be just under $240,000, with 10 of those scholarships valued at $10,000 or more. Any Kewaskum High senior who has plans to go to college or technical college is strongly encouraged to apply, as some scholarships were not awarded in the past couple of years due to a lack of applicants in certain fields.

Kewaskum Youth Scholarships wants to thank the donors, run sponsors, run participants and community volunteers for their years of support. Because of that support, over $2.7 million has been offered in scholarships to KHS graduates.

Are you interested in a more active role in KEYS? Please email keys.scholarships@gmail.com or call 414-279-6374.

On Friday, Nov. 19, the Campbellsport High School drama club will perform the one-act play "Badger," by Don Zolidis, at the WHSFA State Theatre Festival. "Badger" tells the story of women entering the workforce during World War II, and it takes place at the Badger Ordnance Works in Baraboo, WI. CHS earned the right to perform at the state level by earning high scores at the district and sectional levels of the competition. The full version of the play will be performed for the community on Dec. 18 at 7 p.m. in the Lang auditorium. PHOTO SUBMITTED

Campbellsport High School October Students of the Month

Campbellsport High School is proud to announce their "Students of the Month" for the month of October. All high school students are eligible for this honor. Teachers make their selections based upon attitude, effort, character, interest and achievement as exhibited in the classroom and school community.

Administration, faculty, and staff are committed to developing future leaders in our community. We want to honor those who are striving each and every day to be those future leaders who demonstrate this by their positive actions and behaviors.

Congratulations to Lucas Beck, Cecelia Sukow and Kira Downham for being selected as the CHS Students of the Month in October.

It is with great pleasure that I nominate sophomore Lucas Beck for student of the month for the Campbellsport High School Social Studies department. Lucas is currently in my AP World History class and has made quite an impression on me this semester by constantly demonstrating his enthusiasm for the subject matter. Lucas is a diligent student, very dedicated to his studies and always well prepared for class. He has the unique ability to grasp difficult concepts and the ability to master critical thinking concepts in AP World History. Lucas has high motivation to succeed in his academics and purposeful self-direction to help him conquer his most demanding challenges. Lucas is a very goal-oriented young man and is always well prepared for class. What has impressed me the most about Lucas is his writing ability, especially when it comes to essays and short answer questions. I have enjoyed having him in class and I have no doubt he will have a successful high school career. (Submitted by Mrs. Wahl)

Congratulations to Cecelia Sukow for being selected as the Physical Education Student of the Month in October. As the first quarter draws to a close, I have to find ways to inspire and motivate the students to get the best out of them. However, there is one student who above all needs no motivation or inspiration. Her name is Cecelia Sukow and she is one of the most dedicated students of all the Physical Education students. One story comes to mind that shows her dedication and hard work. We were working on deadlift and she was trying to find her one rep max. As the weight started to add up, she became more and more motivated to get over 200 pounds. She struggled at first, but after a couple of adjustments, she lifted 200 pounds with ease. Then she kept going all the way up to 245 pounds. For a freshman who has never really lifted weights before, this is extremely impressive. This one situation showed her ability to listen, adjust, and her motivation to perform. Congratulations, Cecelia. I am very proud of you. (Submitted by Mr. Batzler)

The CHS Art Department would like to nominate Kira Downham as October's Student of the Month. Kira is currently a student in both my AP Art History and Drawing and Painting classes. Kira missed a week of classes earlier in the quarter, and has been working really hard outside of class to get caught up, which she did! Even though she had to learn a lot of the material on her own, she was still able to complete high quality work. Kira is also an active member in the CHS Art Club this year, and even though she was unable to help paint the windows for Homecoming, she showed up to help clean the windows after Homecoming Week was over. Kira also recently volunteered to help make clay bowls for the Art club "Empty Bowls" fundraiser after school. Kira is an extremely dependable and responsible art student who I can count on and trust. (Submitted by Ms. Nelson)

Stay tuned for November's Students of the Month.

Attention parents, do you have a picky reader at home? Does your child get stuck or lose interest in books? Are you sick of fighting with them to read something, anything! Why not stop into the Campbellsport library and check out our newly revamped graphic novel section? We have books for readers who are just starting out, as well as graphic novels for teens and young adults. These novels are fun and exciting and give a new spin to some of our favorite classics. We would love to help you find something that your young reader will enjoy. As we like to say around here there are no bad readers, they just haven't found the right book.

The Campbellsport Public Library

would like to invite you to bring preschool children ages 3 to 5 to the Library every Wednesday from 10:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. for story time with Mrs. Alison. Each week will feature several themed stories along with a craft and various other activities.

Here's what's coming up:

Nov. 21- Thanksgiving is just a day away! Join us for a special thanksgiving story hour! We will read Bear Says Thanks By Karma Wilson and enjoy a festive turkey craft.

Dec. 1- Who's ready to go on a bear hunt? Join Mrs. Alison for this fun bear hunting adventure. Children may bring along their favorite stuffed animal to join in the morning fun.

Masking for story hour is optional; however, we do ask that you continue to use hand washing practices and your best judgment when joining in the fun. If you have a cough or cold-like symptoms, please stay at home until you feel better.

• During the month of November, stop into the library and cut your fines in half with our food for fines program! Come in to pay your fines and we will charge you only half of what you owe. That money will then be donated to local families in need. (At this time, we are unable to collect canned goods).

• Tinker Tuesdays are back! This free drop-in program is for school age children, or younger children who have a parent along to help them. Join us each Tuesday from 3:45-5:30 p.m. Children and are invited to come tinker with Legos, Lincoln Logs, Brain Flakes, and Zoob and Straw Builders.

• On Nov. 21 the library will be closing at 3 p.m. and will be closed Thursday, Nov. 22, and Friday, Nov. 23, so that staff may enjoy the long weekend with their loved ones.

• Did you know that the Library hosts a Monday Matinee Movie of the Month? If not, here's what you need to know! The last Monday of each month we feature a movie, often we show a newly released one, however we also like to show old favorites. The movie shows at 1 p.m. in the basement of the library. We provide popcorn, and you are welcome to bring your own water or soda. On Nov. 29, we will be showing Disney's Cruella. Starring Emma Stone, and Emma Thompson, this movie is sure to delight and enthrall audiences with a new take on the villain Cruella de Vil. Rated PG-13.

It was a proud moment for Campbellsport and the two families of students Jalen Gellings and Joey Nerat, who signed letters of intent to play college baseball at their respective schools on Wednesday, Nov. 10.

Gellings made his commitment to play for the Madison Area Technical College Wolves, while Nerat made his commitment to play for the Dallas Baptist University Patriots.

The teammates agreed the feeling of signing was “amazing.”

“To be some of the few athletes that have done this here, it’s a blessing to do it,” Nerat said.

Joey’s Father, Brad Nerat, concurred, “We don’t see many events like this in our town, so this is a celebration not just for these two young men, but for our community and our small school.”

“I’m looking forward to playing a sport that I love and having everyone support me through it,” Joey Nerat said. “And just always chasing the dream I’ve had since I was a little boy.”

Gellings is looking forward to creating “more relationships and just having fun, playing ball.”

This moment may mark the beginning of the end of their high school careers, but these two athletes have their senior baseball season to look forward to in the spring.

Last season, the Cougars finished the regular season with eight wins and six losses. Their season ended after a loss to Kewaskum in the WIAA Regional Final.

The Campbellsport team, under the leadership of infielder Gellings and outfielder Nerat, has the potential to experience another successful season and perhaps go further than they did last year.

It's Allen Time

If you haven't got a chance to watch freshmen running back Braelon Allen run the football yet this season, you might want to tune into the Wisconsin Badgers next game. The 17-year old sensation from Fond du Lac High School has set the Big Ten on fire and he's starting to make noise on the national scene.

Allen and the Badgers have won six straight games and sit back atop of the Big Ten West standings after a shaky start to the season. Braelon rushed for 173 yards on 25 carries and scored three touchdowns—all career highs in his first start of the season. Since starter Chez Mellusi went down with a season ending injury two weeks ago at Rutgers, Allen has become the number one running back and he did not disappoint in his first start on the big stage.

Allen's numbers are very impressive for the season since he was the complementary back to Mellusi. Braelon has rushed for 834 yards on 118 carries and has scored nine touchdowns, a dazzling 7.1 yards per carry. The 6'2"-238 lb. true freshmen has rushed for 100 or more yards for a sixth straight game—all Badger wins! Just last spring he was leading Fondy High to an undefeated season, his numbers for the Cardinals were staggering. Braelon rushed for 1,074 yards on 71 carries—a 14.7 per carry average, and he scored 21 touchdowns.

The humble and mature young man was compared to NFL star running back Derrick Henry of the Tennessee Titans. He was actually recruited to Wisconsin as a linebacker or safety, but he grew and lifted like a mad man. Braelon trained hard with Jonny Lion Bridgewater at the Bridgewater Performance facility and eventually caught the eye of Paul Chryst as a potential candidate at the running back position.

Coach P's

Braelon has a Campbellsport connection as his mother Kim Rowe is a former Campbellsport High School graduate. His grandparents Mike and Lori Mayer are residents of Eden. Braelon's two uncles Timmy Rowe and Billy Mayer were both stud athletes at CHS. Tim was an all-conference football player, state runner-up in wrestling and all-state baseball player who played college baseball at Rockford College. Billy was a bruising all-conference running back and a state wrestling champ for the Cougars that went on to be a three-time All-American wrestler at UW-LaCrosse.

I remember watching Braelon wrestle as a freshman at the WIAA State Wrestling tournament; he was a physical specimen. A freshman wrestling 170 pounds at state in Division One, he opened a lot of eyes beating some of the best in the state. I knew right then this kid was going to be something special. With two games left to play in the Big Ten season and a possible Big Ten championship game looming, Allen and his Badgers find themselves back on center stage and certainly in the hunt for a big bowl game.

Lady Cougar bowlers open season with big win over West Bend East

On Monday, Nov. 8, the Lady Cougars packed their bowling bags and headed to West Bend to face the West Bend East Suns, last year's state runner-up and the 2020 State Champs. West Bend East had nine of their bowlers graduate this past spring, but it still has many young skilled bowlers.

The Cougars also graduated a senior who ranks in the top five in the history of Campbellsport Bowling, and that bowler is Amber Thompson. Amber led both the girls and the boys divisions last season in fill percentage.

The new season is upon us and everybody starts back at 0-0. The Cougars have two freshmen on the squad, Amber Ninneman and Taylor Muraski, along with returning starters Kylie Zehren, Brianna Thompson, Hannah Thelen and Paige Jordan.

The Cougars opened up the first game of the season with a 135 to the Suns 114. They came back with two 146's in games two and three while the Suns struggled to make spares rolling games of 111 and 132. The Cougars were now up 3-0. In game four, the Suns put together a 161 to the Cougars' 146 game. In games five and six the Cougars took it up a notch with a 153 and a 155 to West Bend's 146 and 151 to take five games and the match.

The Cougars averaged 142 for the match. Leading the Cougars was Brianna Thompson, who rolled nine strikes and eight spares in 18 frames. Kylie Zehren filled nine of 16 frames to help out, and Paige Jordan and freshman Taylor Muraski both filled seven of 14 frames.

Stats for the match were as follows (strikes-spares-total frames): Kylie Zehren 2-7-16; Taylor Muraski 3-4-14; Hannah Thelen 1-4-16; Paige Jordan 2-5-14; Brianna Thompson 9-8-18; and Amber Ninneman 1-3-12.

LORI KREIS
KEWASKUM LIBRARIAN

In my focus on learning about trends in libraries, I attended a webinar about providing library services for people with dementia. The webinar reminded me of one of my most memorable accomplishments in my library career, bringing dementia friendly programming to the communities that I served. I helped start Memory Cafes in one system and brought them new to another library system.

What is a Memory Café? They are social gatherings that allow people who are experiencing memory loss, along with their caretakers, to come together in a comfortable setting to connect with others going through the same thing. When I held them at the libraries, we had a program along with a social hour. These programs were tailored to people with memory loss and were very well received.

I am hoping to bring dementia related programming to Kewaskum in the new year. I know we have a great memory care center in the village and the ADRC of Washington County has reliable information for those dealing with memory loss. One of the main characteristics of the programming I am looking to provide is reaching out to people with a need that are still living at home with a caregiver. Our community has a growing aging population, so I know there is a need for this type of programming.

Before I bring Memory Cafes to Kewaskum, it would be wise to get an idea of how many residents would partake in this program. I am asking my readers to spread the word. You know somebody experiencing memory loss living at home. It could be a neighbor, someone you sit next to at church, a relative or even a family member in your home. Then let me know. I would love to have a conversation about how the library is providing services for people with memory loss. We do so in the way of mental stimulation, health and financial resources and hopefully soon, social stimuli. I would hope this conversation would lead to additional ways the library can be of assistance.

The one thing I have already started planning for are reminiscence kits. These are ways to connect with someone experiencing dementia and are useful for the person and their caregiver. They recall positive experiences from the person's past and may involve conversations, comfort, relieve boredom and depression and bring people together. I plan on putting these reminiscence kits in circulation in the new year. These kits are theme based and include activities such as DVDs, photos, activity cards, books and puzzles. Some themes may be centered around animals, seasons, decades or food.

If you have an interest in a reminiscence kit, want to find out how I intend on making Kewaskum Public Library a dementia friendly space or looking to continue lifelong learning for people experiencing memory loss, stop on in and let's chat.

Hope to see you soon.

Veterans honored in Osceola on Veterans Day

A free breakfast was available for every veteran and their family at the Osceola Town Hall, W1476 County Road F, on Nov. 11 from 7 to 10 a.m.

Rob, a Marine veteran himself, and his wife, Danelle Rymarkiewicz, wanted to reach out into the community to honor and thank all veterans who have, are or will be serving in the nation's military on this special Veterans Day. Rob, Danelle and a number of volunteers provided scrambled eggs, bacon, sausages, silver dollar pancakes, hash browns, juice, milk, Operation Coffee-of the Campbellsport Marine Veteran Sam Floyd-coffee, and Veterans Day flag or star-shaped sugar cookies from 3 Sweets Bakery in Dundee – an incredible feast!

This honorary occasion began with the Raising of the Flag ceremony performed by Cadet Eli Mumm, after which all stood to sing the National Anthem. Following the anthem, the veterans settled in to consume an incredible breakfast, swap stories and just take pleasure in each other's company. About 25 veterans thoroughly enjoyed the morning, appreciating the heartwarming honor and thanks received for their willing service and sacrifice in defense of our great country.

Rob and Danelle plan to hold the breakfast again next year, God willing, and hope more veterans will venture to the Osceola Town Hall for breakfast and an heartfelt appreciation for their service to our nation.
