

Thanksgiving meal served with kindness

BY ANNE TRAUTNER
EDITOR

A delicious Thanksgiving meal with all the fixings was served to approximately 90 senior citizens on Saturday, Nov. 20.

Members of the Kewaskum High School Key Club served the meal to the crowd, and the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club sponsored the event. The meal, which was served at Kewaskum High School, was open to all local senior citizens, free of charge.

The dinner received rave reviews from senior citizens in attendance. The students who volunteered their time at the dinner enjoyed the experience as well.

“You are making a difference for someone else’s life rather than just focusing on your own. It is especially nice to help the elderly. If they don’t get their turkey dinners because their family lives far away or something like that, it’s nice that they are still able to enjoy traditions and holidays,” said Megan Roehrig, a KHS Key Club member.

A total of 23 Key Club members from Kewaskum High School and nine students in the Builders Club at Kewaskum Middle School volunteered at the event. Both organizations are affiliated with the Kiwanis Club: as students get older the KMS Builders Club feeds into the KHS Key Club, which then feeds into the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club.

Haunted house collects 3,020 pounds of food for pantry

Hunter Sabish, a freshman at Campbellsport High School, recently created a “Terror Shed” haunted house to collect donations for the Kewaskum Community Pantry.

With the help of his friend Kaleb Eggers, also a freshman at CHS, Hunter began working to create the Terror Shed in early August. Together, the friends created numerous creepy scenes to frighten visitors, spending many hours building and putting their ideas together to put on the best “scare.” Many days they worked from 9 a.m. to 11 p.m. to build the Terror Shed.

Luckily, Hunter’s dad, Steven Sabish, is in construction (Sabish Construction), so he was able to build the walls and do the needed electrical work. Kathleen Flynn (Hunter’s stepmom) also put in many hours, helping to build. Hunter’s grandparents, Steve and Luan Sabish, allowed Hunter, with what started out three years ago to use part of their shed, to now have the use of the entire structure for the Terror Shed.

PUBLISHER'S LETTER

Thank Who?

Dear Reader,

Each November we gather with our closest friends and family to celebrate all the gifts bestowed upon us.

After working hard all year to achieve our goals, it is time to lightheartedly celebrate all of the goodness in our lives. We can be thankful we live in America, the wealthiest country in the world, where unimaginable opportunity and rewards are ours for the earning every single day.

And there's more. For those spiritually oriented, God plays the ultimate role in our successes, working quietly in the background to support our every effort. That's where the credit really belongs.

Happy Thanksgiving.

Moving on...

Anne Trautner

I believe that we are all called to make this world a better place.

This can be done in so many different ways: working hard at a job, helping your family and neighbors, praying, volunteering your time, donating money toward a good cause or simply being kind to one another.

Working at the Kewaskum Statesman for the past six and a half years has given me the chance to share many stories of how people have made a positive difference in our community. I have met so many wonderful people, and I have loved working with them. I am grateful for the time I have spent working at the paper, and I hope I have made a positive difference.

A few weeks ago, I was offered the opportunity to begin working as executive director of the Wisconsin 9/11 Memorial & Education Center. It is a position I could not pass up.

I have closely followed the amazing story of how the community came together to create the memorial, and I am very excited to be part of it. In my new role as executive director, I will be developing the education center so that students and residents across the state can learn about the events of 9/11. That fateful day changed our nation, and it is important to reflect on what happened in order to move toward a better future.

In addition, since the election in April, I have been serving as town clerk for the Town of Kewaskum. I love serving the community in this important role.

These are both part-time jobs, but they will fill a lot of my time. So, after the publication of this edition of the paper, I will no longer be working as editor of the Campbellsport News/Kewaskum Statesman.

The new editor for the Campbellsport News/Kewaskum Statesman is Mitchell Keller, who also serves as editor for the Dodge County Pionier. Mitch, who is originally from the Town of Auburn, has family roots in the area. In fact, Keller Street in the Village of Kewaskum is named after his grandparents. Mitch's email is mitchell.keller@mmclocal.com.

We also have a new journalist, Clarice Case. While Mitch will be covering events that happen in Kewaskum, Clarice will be covering Campbellsport news and athletics. Clarice is a 2017 graduate of Mayville High School and graduated from Lakeland University in December 2020 with a bachelor's degree in writing. She can be reached at clarice.case@mmclocal.com.

Please continue to send in story ideas and photos for the paper. Mitch and Clarice are both excited to get to know you and will do a great job sharing your stories. Because they will be working for both the Dodge County Pionier and the Campbellsport News/Kewaskum Statesman, they have a wide area they will be covering, so please be patient as they get to know everyone. And if you know of anyone who is interested in working as a reporter or editor who would like to join their team, please let them know.

As I move on, I can't help but look back and remember some of the amazing stories I have covered while working at the Kewaskum Statesman. Besides the creation of the Wisconsin 9/11 Memorial, I have reported on the Kewaskum School District's building project as the new Kewaskum Middle School building and athletic fields were created. I also have been awed by what a community can do when it comes together as I covered the creation and development of Reigle Family Park, the newest village park in Kewaskum.

I have covered tragedies as well. There have been a number of terrible fires I have witnessed, and I have such appreciation for the volunteer firefighters, first responders and law enforcement officers in our community. On Feb. 10, 2017, I watched firefighters battle a fire that burned through an apartment building on Braatz Drive in Kewaskum. In 2018, I watched with horror as fire spread through the Village of Kewaskum, destroying homes in its path. I watched firefighters battle flames as they ravaged through Westbury Bank in 2019. And sadly, I have reported on numerous families in the area who lost their homes to fire.

I reported on the horrific shootings that occurred in my neighborhood this past February.

And I reported on how the community has tried to make its way through all the challenges of COVID-19.

But mostly, the paper has been filled with good news. I have taken thousands of pictures of students at athletic events. I have visited businesses, schools, nursing homes and farms. I have reported on Honor Flights and shared stories from people's time serving in the military. I truly have loved meeting and talking with everyone.

I have gotten to meet community leaders, as well as county and state officials, including former Gov. Scott Walker and Gov. Tony Evers. But the stories that stick with me the most are the personal stories of individuals who live here in our local community. I have been warmed by how the individuals help one another.

My days at the paper are not completely over. I will continue to occasionally write articles and take photos for the paper. I also am currently working on a project as a volunteer for the Kewaskum Historical Society to digitize the Kewaskum Statesman newspapers. This will offer an opportunity for people to word search the archives, which will help with research and genealogy work.

I firmly believe that newspapers fill an important role in the community. They serve as a watchdog for the community and record history as it happens. Please continue to support your local paper.

Anne Trautner named executive director of Wisconsin 9/11 Memorial & Education Center

Kewaskum Remembers 9/11, Inc., the nonprofit organization responsible for the Wisconsin 9/11 Memorial & Education Center, has announced the hiring of Anne Trautner as its new executive director. The newly established executive director role is a paid, part-time position that ensures the continued operation and maintenance of the memorial, as well as the promotion of resources and events designed to educate Wisconsin residents and students about the September 11th attacks. Trautner has closely followed and reported on the progress of the memorial since 2015 as a journalist for the Kewaskum Statesman. Trautner, the clerk for the Town of Kewaskum and co-author of "Kewaskum, Wisconsin: The Making of a Village," will continue reporting for the Statesman on a part-time basis.

"I am very excited about the opportunity to serve as the executive director of the Wisconsin 9/11 Memorial & Education Center. Creating this memorial has been such an important thing for not only the Kewaskum community, but for the entire state. This center will serve as a primary resource for educators across Wisconsin. Approved lesson plans and learning materials for different age groups ensure that students will learn about the events of 9/11, and how that fateful day impacted and changed our nation. By looking back and learning about the past, we move forward to a better tomorrow," Trautner said.

At the board's November meeting, Gordon Haberman also announced his resignation from the role of board president. Haberman will remain on the board of directors as past president. Former board vice president Fuzz Martin was elected to fill the vacated position. The organization's former fund developer, Kathleen Christenson Fisher, was elected to the position of vice president.

"Gordon has been a dedicated leader since this project started. He has worked tirelessly to bring together the people and resources necessary to build this memorial. The fruits of his labor are evident, and Kewaskum and the state of Wisconsin are better for it. We could not be more grateful for his devotion to this project, and the board is committed to carrying his vision forward. We're also quite thankful that he will remain active on the board," said Martin.

The Wisconsin 9/11 Memorial & Education Center was built to remember the victims, honor those who responded, celebrate the resilience of our communities and country, and educate future generations. The memorial is operated by Kewaskum Remembers 9/11, Inc., a nonprofit 501(c)3 organization. It is located 40 minutes north of Milwaukee on US-45 and WI-28 "The Wisconsin 9/11 Memorial Highway" in the Village of Kewaskum. Learn more about the memorial at <https://wisconsin911memorial.com>.

Rural Writes

BY G.A. SCHEINOH
CONTRIBUTOR

Not too many of us have specific memories of holidays. Especially if the occasion in question is Thanksgiving. Then the celebrations sort of blend together into a general warm feeling spread across many years.

Seems like when we were in school, our teachers spent hours assembling bulletin boards just outside the classroom door with cutouts and lettering, the first notice a special event was coming. Fancy reminders about Halloween, Christmas, Valentine's Day and Easter. These ensured we paid attention to the seasons dawning upon us. As adults, we forget in the rush towards Christmas.

But I remember joy of a different kind when we sat down to the holiday meal in November. Because it wasn't just our immediate family: Mom, Dad and their eight offspring.

No, we were joined in the feast by my father's sister, Luella Marquardt, her husband, Jerome, and their nine children.

Can you imagine the simply divine chaos of four adults and 17 young'uns gathered around a makeshift dining spot; a couple sheets of plywood laid on top the pool table?

As soon as we reached 12 or 13, a small, jigger size glass was placed before us with one swallow of Mogen David Concord wine. Almost a fixture of the day. As much as 9 a.m. church service. Or the turkey, Dad's moist stuffing recipe (with raisins), even cranberry sauce.

Someone always spilled and a rush ensued to keep the wine from staining an heirloom tablecloth passed down from Grandma Alma Gloede. After supper, we kids were assigned cleanup chores; stowing leftovers and washing the dishes. Then we fled outside for games of rough'n tumble football or kick the can.

Miss those big family shindigs. Parents, aunt and uncle, even a few cousins deceased. It'll be smaller festivities this year at my sister's house. But the emotion is the same. Gratitude foremost for the pleasure of time spent together.

The KHS Key Club and Kewaskum Kiwanis Club have joined forces to offer the Thanksgiving meal for local senior citizens over the past several years, although last year the meal was not offered because of the COVID-19 crisis.

A highlight this year was singing "Happy Birthday" to Kewaskum resident Roger Strack, who turned 90 on Nov. 19.

Numbers were up this year, compared to when the meal was offered in 2019, when approximately 70 meals were served, according to Emily Garbisch, an English teacher and Key Club advisor at KHS.

Key Club membership is also up this year, with over 65 current active members. The club, which strives to build service, leadership and character, helps at various events throughout the year. For example, the club just finished a food drive, in which 464 food items were collected for the Kewaskum Community Pantry. Key Club members volunteered their time at the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club's Turkey Shoot in October. Next month, the group will help Santa write letters to children. The club also plans to collect tabs from soda cans to raise funds for Children's Hospital of Wisconsin this winter, and during the spring, the KHS Key Club is looking forward to bringing back the Super Soup Social.

Garbisch said the Key Club members have been outstanding. When she told the club that volunteers were needed to help with the Thanksgiving meal, within 20 minutes, the signup sheet was filled.

"The students did an amazing job. There were a lot of thank yous from everyone who came," Garbisch said.

OBITUARIES

Frederick A.E. Boehlke

Frederick "Fred" A.E. Boehlke, 79, of Kewaskum, passed away on Tuesday, November 16, 2021, at Clement J. Zablocki VAMC in Milwaukee.

He was born at home in (Freistadt) Mequon, on December 21, 1941, the son of John H. and Erna C. Bartel Boehlke. He was baptized December 28, 1941, and confirmed in his faith on March 25, 1956, at Trinity Lutheran Church, Mequon. Fred served in the United States Army, from January 29, 1964, to November 2, 1967, serving in the Philippines and Thailand. He married his beloved wife and partner, Arlene A. Kannenberg, on May 10, 1969, at David's Star Lutheran Church, in Jackson. He was a member of St. Paul's Ev. Lutheran Church, in Mt. Calvary.

Fred was the Supervisor of Buildings and Grounds for Hustisford and Kewaskum School District for 30 years. He was a member of the Wisconsin Society of Ornithology, Cornell Lab of Ornithology and American Legion Post 384 in Kewaskum. Fred enjoyed traveling, birding, attending his grandchildren's sporting events, and outings with his family and friends.

He is survived by his loving wife of 52 years, Arlene Boehlke of Kewaskum; his son, Jonathan (Melisa) Boehlke of Oshkosh; his daughter, Jennifer (Patrick) Bobb of West Bend; his grandchildren: Mackenzie Boehlke, Parker Boehlke and Iterion Boehlke; and his siblings: Neal Boehlke, Leona Lund and Carolyn Abbiehl.

He is preceded in death by his parents and his siblings: Raymond Boehlke, Lillian (Donald) Otting, John F. (Virginia) Boehlke, Margaret Groth and Alvin (Barbara) Boehlke.

Visitation: Friends called from 1-3 p.m., on Sunday, November 21, 2021, at St. Paul's Ev. Lutheran Church, W2090 Hwy 23, Mt. Calvary.

Service: Funeral Services were held at 3 p.m., on Sunday, November 21, 2021, at St. Paul's Ev. Lutheran Church, with Rev. Robert Oberg officiating. Burial took place at 11 a.m. on Monday, November 22, 2021, at Lutheran Memorial Cemetery in Kewaskum.

Memorials in Frederick's name may be given to St. Paul's Lutheran Church or School, Mt. Calvary, or Winnebago Lutheran Academy, Fond du Lac.

Special thanks to the Doctors, Nurses and Hospice Staff at Clement J. Zablocki VAMC for their care and compassion shown to Frederick and family.

Jerry Kleinke

Jerry Kleinke of Port Washington passed away at Lawlis Family Hospice Center in Mequon Thursday morning, November 18, 2021. He was 83 years old.

Jerry was born in Fond du Lac on July 7, 1938, son of Wilbur and Marie Oppermann Kleinke. He grew up on the family farm in New Fane and attended local schools, graduating from Kewaskum High School, Class of 1956.

On December 13, 1975, Jerry was united in marriage with Jean Schultz at St. John's Lutheran Church in Port Washington. Together they raised four children. Mr. Kleinke was a machinist at Bolens Mfg., retiring in 2008, and later took on a position at Port Washington High School as a custodian.

A faithful member of St. John's Lutheran Church in Port Washington, Jerry had served as an elder, a deacon and an usher. He was a longtime member of the Port Washington-Saukville Jaycees. Jerry enjoyed working outside, playing baseball, shooting darts and playing cards... especially a good game of sheephead! More recently, he loved spending time with his grandkids. His family will always remember Jerry's love of sweets and his optimistic outlook on life.

Those left to cherish his memory include his wife, Jean; children, Daniel (Michele) Bichler of Random Lake, Cherie (Steve) Ewig of Port Washington, Phil (Lisa) Kleinke of Campbellsport and Scott Kleinke of Jackson. He is further survived by grandchildren, Zach Kleinke, Amanda Bichler, Brad Bichler, Alysia Gibes, Hunter Kleinke and Taylor Kleinke; great-grandchildren, Xavier and Scarlet Kleinke; sister, Welda (George) Simousek of Sun City West, AZ; brothers, Jim (Dianne) Kleinke of Hot Springs, AR and John (the late Diane) Kleinke of Fond du Lac; nieces, nephews, other relatives and many friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents. Funeral Services will be held at 11:30 a.m. on Saturday, November 27, at St. John's Lutheran Church 217 Freeman Drive, Port Washington. Rev. John Klieve will preside. Jerry will be laid to rest at Union Cemetery, Saukville later that afternoon.

The family will receive visitors at the church on Saturday from 9 a.m. until services begin at 11:30 a.m.

If desired, memorials are suggested in Jerry's name to St. John's Lutheran Church Port Washington or the Parkinson's Foundation.

Jerry's family wishes to thank the Aurora Medical Center and Lawlis Family Hospice Center for the exceptional care they provided to Jerry.

Eernisse Funeral Home is assisting the family with arrangements; online condolences may be left at www.eernissefuneralhome.com.

Ethel Kathryn Knoeck

Ethel Kathryn Knoeck (née Walters), age 93, of West Bend passed peacefully on Wednesday, November 17, 2021, with family by her side.

She was born on May 28, 1928, to Joseph and Edna Walters. She was born in Chicago and lived there until moving to West Bend with her mother and brother when she was a young child. Along with being a wife and mother, Ethel worked as a library aide for many years sharing her love for books with students in the Kewaskum and West Bend schools.

Ethel was a long time member of the "Red Hat Society". She enjoyed the luncheons and gatherings while sporting her red hat. Around the kitchen farm table, Ethel was known for holding the queen of clubs until the final hand during a game of Sheephead. As a resident of Cedar Bay Health Care Center, Ethel was comforted by praying the daily rosary. She enjoyed reading mysteries and watching them on PBS, playing bingo (and winning many of the prizes!), singing in the choir, playing the handbells, and tooling around in her wheelchair making sure everyone was doing their job.

Ethel met Oscar Knoeck, Sr. one day when he stopped by to deliver milk to her house. They soon fell in love and married on June 30, 1948. Oscar passed away on their 55th wedding anniversary (June 30, 2003).

Ethel is survived by her children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren, as well as beloved relatives and friends.

Oscar (Maren) Knoeck, Jr. of Iola

Tracy Knoeck of West Bend and her children, Amber (Gordon) Winker Glidewell (and their children, Damian and Jordy), Rusty Winker, Bianca Romero Knoeck, and Jose' Romero Knoeck;

Sandra L. John

Sandra "Sandy" L. John, (nee Staab), 81, of Kewaskum found peace with the Lord on Wednesday, November 17, 2021.

She was born on June 18, 1940, to the late William and Jean Staab. On October 18, 1958, she was united in marriage to Ronald C. John in Milwaukee.

Sandy was a CNA for many years, and devoted her life helping people. She was a member of the Church Veterans and the Red Suspenders. Sandy and Ron loved traveling and have visited many states. She spent a lot of time in the kitchen cooking and baking, and her breads will be missed. Sandy especially enjoyed spending time with her family and friends, and will be dearly missed by all who knew her.

Those Sandy leaves behind to cherish her memory include her loving husband of 63 years, Ronald John; three children, Julie (Kurt) Allison, James (Jenny) John, and Jeff (Sandy) John; eight grandchildren, Ryan (Shannon) Allison, Kyle (Kari) Allison, Justin (Jamie) John, Katie (Cody) Nichols, Alley (Colton Roesel) John, Kasey (Fredrick) Turnes, Nicholas (Ashley) John, and Amberly (Tanner) St. Mary; 13 great-grandchildren; a sister, Susie; two brothers, Billy and Richard; two sisters-in-law, Candy Kluss and Marilyn Meylor; many nieces, nephews, other relatives and friends.

In addition to her parents, she is preceded in death by her three sisters, Shirley, Patty, and Marilyn.

A private family service in remembrance of Sandy will be held on Tuesday, November 30, 2021, at 10:30 a.m. at Peace United Church of Christ.

Her devotion to helping others, she donated her body to science.

Richard Otto Backhaus

Richard "Richie" Otto Backhaus, age 86, passed away on Monday, November 15, 2021, at the Samaritan in West Bend.

He was born on September 28, 1935, in Kewaskum to Herbert and Selma (nee Miller) Backhaus. He is known in West Bend for owning M&R Bar for 41 years. He enjoyed hunting, fishing and trap shooting. He loved his Packers and especially the Brewers.

Richard is survived by his three children, Rashelle (Scott) Wiedmeyer, Kevan and Ryan; his five grandchildren; other relatives and friends.

Richard is preceded in death by his loving wife, Marilyn; grandson, Aaron; his parents; three sisters and two brothers.

A Funeral Service was held at 5 p.m. on Tuesday, November 23, 2021, at the Phillip Funeral Home Chapel (1420 W. Paradise Dr., West Bend) with Pastor David Schoob presiding. Visitation was at the funeral home on Tuesday, November 23, from 3:30 p.m. until 4:45 p.m. Private Interment at Washington County Memorial Park.

In lieu of flowers, memorials are appreciated to Trinity Lutheran Church (140 N. 7th Ave., West Bend).

The Phillip Funeral Home of West Bend is assisting the family.

With the building referendum approved during the November 8 election, the Campbellsport School District is getting ready to move forward on the project. Plans have started for the changes to the middle/high school building. The goal is to start the project this summer after school is out.

Wisconsin's Restorative Justice Program is designed to help victims and offenders through tough situations. One area family has found out about this program's benefits first-hand. Tim and Jelaine Scannell utilized this program with Carly Ottery and the University of Wisconsin Law School. There were several meetings during a two-year span. Everyone going through the program is advised that no result is guaranteed. In addition to the article about Restorative Justice and why the Scannell family and Ottery were involved, there was a letter published that Ottery wrote taking sole responsibility for a crash that killed three (including Caitlin Scannell) and injured five others on February 4, 2012.

The Campbellsport Lions Club donated $2,000 to the Campbellsport Public Library for the purchase of computer equipment.

Fond du Lac County is proposing to reconstruct Fond du Lac County Highway S from Riverside Drive to County Highway DD in the unincorporated Village of New Fane. The project will primarily be constructed within the existing road right of way.

Students of the Month for Campbellsport Middle School include Kovi Hermann, Braden Heltemes, Lily McClanathan, Tristen Hildebrand, Jaiden Peterson, and Samara Kreuser.

The Lady Cougar bowlers traveled to Port Washington to open the 2016-17 season and defeated last year's conference champs three games to two. Overall, the team has four victories and no losses.

Campbellsport's girls basketball team is 2-0 to start the season, with victories over Cedar Grove and Mayville.

On November 25, the Partners of the Dundee Mill and Park received a $14,225 check from Extreme Makeover Home Edition. The amount covered the expenses of the mill's turbine removal, repair, and reinstallation. The turbine is now able to generate electricity, the park is beautified, the water wheel is turning, and the pond is restocked for regulated fishing.

Grandparents Day was celebrated at Campbellsport Elementary School on November 10.

With the talk of the area for the past two months being Extreme Makeover: Home Edition, the faculty at Campbellsport Junior High School decided to take advantage and have the students do their own version of extreme makeover. Extreme Classroom Makeover will take place in December. According to teacher Kim Hatch, the school tries to do a project that involves the entire school. The staff was trying to find a project and the classroom of social studies teacher Steve Hamm was chosen.

Members of the Campbellsport Village Board approved the 2007 budget during a special meeting. The budget passed with Michael Yahr and Ken Schwartz voting no.

A check for $1,000 (half of the proceeds of the annual Halloween Caper) was presented by the Campbellsport Chamber of Commerce to the Campbellsport High School FFA.

Eighteen members of the Campbellsport 4-H Club participated in the Fond du Lac County 4-H Music Festival on November 27.

The Campbellsport Women's Club donated $3,000 to the Campbellsport Public Library. Funds were used to install a privacy door near the elevator and exterior exit door.

Steve Rose and Mike Janse finished third in the overall 40+ Open Division of the State Doubles Racquetball Tournament that took place earlier in the month.

A son, Carson William, was born November 15 to Carson and Stacy Hardesty of Campbellsport. A son, McCoy John, was born November 18 to Michael and Amy Timblin of Eden.

Ruth E. Wendlandt, 95, Fond du Lac, passed away November 21. Robert V. Mock, 73, Cascade, passed away November 23. Ben Graham Derge, 13, Kewaskum, passed away November 22. Sr. Rita Konitzer, 86, Campbellsport, passed away November 20. Ronald J. Schmitt, 68, Plymouth, passed away November 19. Albert J. Mand, 88, Malone, passed away November 26. Lyle J. Thome, 69, Malone, passed away November 21. Clarence Herman Steiner, 89, Fillmore, passed away November 23. Rosemary Francis Henke, 76, formerly of St. Cloud, passed away November 27.

On November 15, fire consumed about 80 acres on the DNR property known as the Jersey Flats near New Prospect at the intersection of County SS and G. The cause of the fire remains under investigation.

The bridge on Highway W north of Campbellsport is now open to traffic. The project met the schedule of 33 working days to be completed.

The always community-minded St. Joseph's Convent has stepped forward once again. This time, land was made available for a momentarily stalled library project. When land was surveyed in 1981 for the project, a mistake reduced the size of the lot by nearly 30 feet so there wouldn't have been enough room for a parking lot. The land donation by St. Joseph's has eliminated that problem.

Jeff Dickmann, bowling in the Merit Star of the Game Tournament, has advanced to the National Finals. He finished first in the state by rolling games of 170-207-212. Nationals will be held December 12 and 13.

Four years ago, departmentalized classrooms for science and social studies were instituted for fifth and sixth graders. It was deemed successful. However, midway through the first nine weeks of school this fall, Administrator Bertone and Principal Connie Strand said they assessed the situation and changed to self-contained classrooms. According to furious parents, who were not asked for input, grades of their students suffered. At the school board meeting, parents attended and asked for proof of failure. After much discussion, it was decided to return to departmentalized system for the balance of the year. A committee will be formed to study input.

Robert Krug, Jr., 59, Waukesha, passed away November 11.

There will be a 72-cent increase in the tax rate for village residents to meet the 1972 budget, according to preliminary figures released at the budget hearing Monday night. The final budget is set to be adopted December 6.

Board members of the Joint District 23 were in North Fond du Lac to observe and discuss common problems with the North Fond du Lac School Board during its monthly meeting on Monday night. After the meeting, the two boards discussed common problems. An invitation has been issued for the North Fond du Lac school board to attend a Campbellsport meeting in the spring; the date has not yet been confirmed.

The Cougar basketball season got off to a good start for new Coach Larry Hilgendorf as Campbellsport posted a 62-50 non-conference win over Random Lake and a 71-62 Flyway Conference victory over Brandon-Rosendale.

Syl Bassill is one of 32 municipal employees from 24 communities attending a 24-week course in water quality control at the Moraine Park Technical Institute in Fond du Lac.

Dr. R. Huspen, local veterinarian, will meet with all Cub Scouts on November 30. He will talk about pets and pet care, which is Wolf elective No. 14, and about farm animals, which is Bear elective No. 15.

Joseph Schill, who recently succeeded Nick Kohn as proprietor of Shill's Hall in Elmore, has had the interior of the hall remodeled and enlarged. The check room was moved to the first floor and the orchestra stage placed where the checkroom was formerly located. The opening dance was held last Friday and was a crowning success with many from the village attending and reporting a good time.

A very enjoyable program, pound and candy sale was given at Woodside School, Eden Dist. No. 7, last Friday, under the direction of Miss Veronica Braun, the teacher. The program consisted of many recitations, a few drills, and a few songs. The proceeds of the sale, which amounted to $38, will be used for purchasing equipment for the school.

Glen Valley School will give a motion picture entertainment and Victrola concert at the schoolhouse November 26.

KEWASKUM'S DAYS GONE BY

5 Years Ago

December 1, 2016

A Wisconsin Department of Revenue (DOR) official identified concerns with levying an extra tax against owners of nine undeveloped parcels in Kewaskum's Utility District 3 (UD3). Members of the village board voted Monday night to rescind a resolution it had passed two weeks earlier to levy an extra $48.83 per $1,000 of assessed property value on the nine properties within UD3 that do not have an agreement with the village to develop the land. The village board had created the UD3 tax to cover a shortfall in the village's Tax Incremental Finance (TIF) District 2, which was created in 2005 to encourage growth in the village. At that time, the village invested $8 million to extend sewer and water services into the area. Since about 2011, the TIF has not been able to pay for itself, so taxpayers of the village have been lending money to the district. In 2016, village taxpayers will contribute $335,304 to cover the TIF debt.

On December 4, the Kewaskum Chamber of Commerce's annual Christmas Parade will stroll down the festively decorated Main Street. The theme for this year's parade will be Peace, Love and Candy Canes. Children's activities will be held, Santa will visit, and cookie boxes can be purchased. Participants will then go on a scavenger hunt to 20 businesses along Main Street to fill their boxes with a variety of Christmas cookies before the parade.

Local elector Cal Joseph Bowe Jr., 24, reportedly cast votes in both the Village of Kewaskum and the Town of Farmington on Election Day. If convicted, Bowe could face a Class I felony,

What was Lost (17): A Quest for Trail Marker Trees

BY KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

There are still some trees bent by the Indians in Fond du Lac County. How many remain is a mystery. For those who appreciate history, few artifacts can compare to the living relics of Native Americans. Trail marker trees came in the form of manipulating tree trunks to function as highway markers on the foot-trails to the Ledge, Horicon Marsh and sacred sites throughout Fond du Lac County. This article is dedicated to the watchful eyes of the forest. Perhaps more of this arbor art will be found before it is lost.

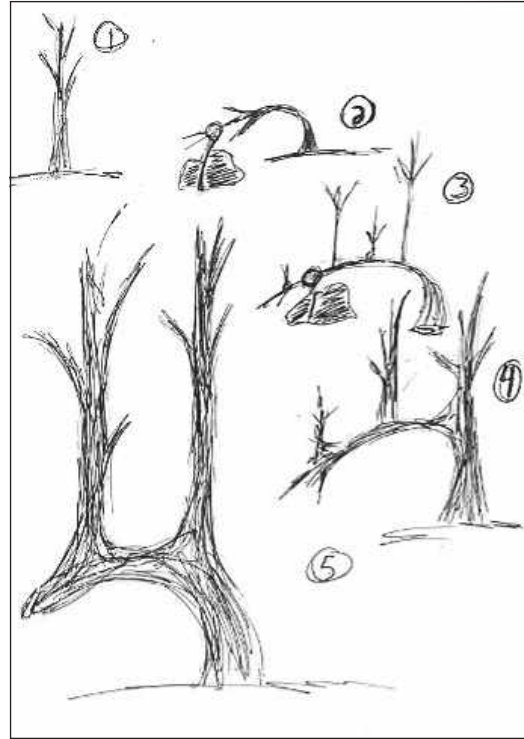

Theories on Construction

In examining how Native Americans bent

these trees, one must understand that trees cannot be bent after a certain time, as they will snap if the trunk is too thick. For example, a 20-year-old oak tree will break if its trunk is shaped like the following image description.

The drawing that accompanies this article is in five stages. (1) A bendable sapling is chosen, ideally with a trunk from a half inch to two inches in diameter. Once chosen (2), the tree is bent. Assuming it's about five to seven feet tall, the tree can be tied around three quarters up from the base with vines. The image depicts vines tied around a significant sized stone. In this area of Fond du Lac, Washington and Dodge counties, wild grape vines are perfect and plausible for naturally maintaining the

See TREES page 8

This rough sketch merges images and arguments in Dr. Raymond Janssen's 1941 piece in Scientific Monthly on trail marker trees. He suggests trees were bent and held in position "by hitching with rawhide" (p.24). This drawing gives a different perspective by using vines wrapped around the upper stem and a heavy stone to keep the young tree bent (stages 2 and 3).

which carries a fine up to $10,000 or imprisonment not to exceed 3.5 years, or both.

Kewaskum village night parking and emergency parking restrictions go into effect December 1. The restrictions continue until April 1. The owner of any vehicle is responsible for payment of citations whether or not he or she was operating the vehicle that is not compliant with the restriction.

The colorful pins and magnets that students in the elementary schools of the Kewaskum School District have created are more than attractive pieces of artwork. Each small sculpture provides food for those in need in the Kewaskum area. They are being sold, and all the proceeds are going to the Kewaskum Community Food Pantry.

In a collaborative effort to observe how assisted living facilities are run in America, Arafat Kahar visited Kettle Moraine Gardens. He is from China and visited Kettle Moraine Gardens after meeting with the State Bureau of Assisted Living and the Wisconsin assisted Living Association in Madison. He stated that he is taking home with him many great ideas and techniques. Kettle Moraine Gardens administrators also learned new practices that may benefit their residents.

Melissa Schneider and Tyler Schellinger are the Kewaskum Kiwanis November Students of the Month.

Willie and Jeanne Goeden of Goeden's Auto Body in St. Michaels will serve as parade marshals for this year's Kewaskum Christmas Parade. The Goedens began their business over five decades ago.

Ralph E. Klein, 84, West Bend, passed away November 24. Thomas G. Strachota, 63, West Bend, passed away November 21.

15 Years Ago November 30, 2006

The Kewaskum Village Board quickly approved a balanced $2,521,062 budget. Only one taxpayer was present at a public hearing held November 27. The hearing closed within 10 minutes of opening. Taxpayers can expect to receive their tax bill around December 9. Overall, the tax levy increased by $235,802. Taxpayers will pay a total of $20.28 per $1,000 of equalized value. Taxpayers will see a 10 percent increase in their sewer bills in 2007.

Exciting things are planned for the upcoming New Year by the Kewaskum Public Library. After the new year, the library is set to enter into a new consortium that will increase the borrowing power for patrons. Already in place is the library as the village's first wireless internet hot spot, something that had taken two years to accomplish as Kewaskum's library had to get permission from the consortium due to the T-1 line provided through it.

A summer project that saw a Town of Wayne cemetery receive a facelift has been completed. Town officials worked 2-1/2 days removing brush, repairing grave stones, leveling the ground of sunken graves, and re-seeding Skyline Drive Cemetery, which had not been worked on since the 1950s. The project cost the taxpayers $2,200. Regular maintenance will now be done on the cemetery.

The Kewaskum School District and Viterbo University announce an innovative partnership to deliver graduate classes to Kewaskum teachers. The partnership is called Kewaskum University. Held on the Kewaskum campus, the classes are offered tuition-free and year round to Kewaskum teachers.

Town of Scott supervisors have been notified that R&J Partnership, located in the neighboring Town of Farmington, will discontinue spreading the chicken manure from its commercial chicken farm. Instead the company will initiate a new process that converts the manure into compost. This will not eliminate the entire odor, but it's hoped to make it more bearable.

Diane Lemke, Thrivent Congregational Chairperson of the North Washington Chapter #30068, presented a $528 check to Kewaskum Fire/Ambulance member Sandy Hahn and Fire Chief Mark Groeschel. The chapter matched funds raised at the recycling fundraiser Memorial Day weekend in Kewaskum. Monies will go toward safety jackets worn by the ambulance crews to be more visible during emergency calls.

December 3 is the date of the annual Kewaskum Christmas Parade.

J-Stop Citgo and Convenience Store opened for business November 16. Owners Jim and Judy Thull reside in the Town of Farmington. Their three children are involved, with Jonathan managing the store, Joanne working in the store and Julie assisting with the accounting.

A daughter, Michaela Elizabeth, was born November 17 to Merrilu and Michael Wright of Cascade. A daughter, Lyvia Mae, was born November 15 to Keri and Matt Lehn of Kewaskum.

Ben Graham Derge, 13, Kewaskum, passed away November 22. Clarence Herman Steinert, 89, Fillmore, passed away November 23. Lawrence Edward Wiedmeyer, 72, West Bend, passed away November 22.

25 Years Ago November 28, 1996

During a marathon three-hour session, the Kewaskum Village Board unanimously approved the $1,657,289 budget for 1997 during the budget hearing. There wasn't a single taxpayer in attendance. The tax levy will reflect an increase of $49,598 or 8.6 percent. Equalized value went up 4.8 percent and the assessed value only 2.9 percent while the state assessed property and personal property decreased 2.2 percent.

The annual Christmas parade is scheduled for December 8.

An 84-year-old Town of Addison man was injured following a propane gas explosion and barn fire on CTH WW. He had finished repairs to a propane gas furnace inside the barn and ignited the furnace, which then exploded. Felix J. Heilmann was transported with second degree burns to his face and third degree burns to his hands. The two-story wooden barn was completely destroyed.

Nostalgia buffs will enjoy visiting the 1880s at The Olde Cascade General Store and Delicatessen. Charm and old fashioned hospitality are dished up alongside a variety of deli cuisine at the store located along Highway 28 in Cascade.

Sue Daggett of Kewaskum and a senior at Illinois State University, earned an All-American title at the NCAA Cross Country Nationals held in Tuscon, Arizona, on November 25.

The 1996 awards banquet for the Interstate Racing Association was held November 16. Don Goeden of Kewaskum had been the 1995 IRA Rookie of the Year. For the second year in a row, he received the Best Appearing Car Award for his red and gold #27G. Goeden finished fourth in the IRA standings with 2,475 points and received a trophy and check for his efforts. He also received honors in winning the All-American Heat Award, finishing first in 11 heat events and was recognized for posting a few fast-qualifying times. He and two others received most improved driver awards.

Harvey L. Kamrath, 74, Town of Theresa, passed away November 20. Carl W. Benike, 81, West Bend, passed away November 22.

50 Years Ago November 26, 1971

The Village of Kewaskum and the Statesman office have received word that more than half of the cost of the village's addition to its sewage treatment plant will be covered by federal and state aids. The State Department of Natural Resources press release stated the state will cover 20 percent, $90,975, and the federal will cover 37 percent, $171,010.

Barbara Bade of Kewaskum is a member of the Ripon College Symphonic Wind Ensemble. She plays the clarinet.

Ray Gremminger of Kewaskum became the most recent member to enter the ranks of the Regal 25-Year Club.

More than 800 students and coaches from 47 schools in eastern Wisconsin took part in the fifth annual High School Forensic Worship sponsored by the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh speech department on November 13. Barbara York, director of forensics at Kewaskum High School, took part in the workshop.

A car driven by a 16-year-old Kewaskum male, struck a cow on CTH DA near New Fane last Friday. The cow was standing broadside in the road and the driver was unable to stop in time to avoid hitting the animal, which later died. Damage to the car was estimated at $700.

Pfc. David M. Dreher left November 1 for Washington, from where he was sent to Vietnam after spending a month's leave at home with his parents and other relatives in Kewaskum.

The Kewaskum Indians opened the basketball season with a non-conference game at Plymouth last Friday night and came home with a 76-67 win over the Panthers.

Twenty-eight football letterwinners of the 1971 Kewaskum Indians team have been announced by Coach Joe Harlow.

This postcard dates before 1950 and was made available by SOHIO (Standard Oil of Ohio). Its description: "Indian Trail Marker located only a few feet off Route 23 (on right side of road going north) 2 1/4 miles north of Upper Sandusky. Truly a freak of nature. This elm tree continued to grow after it had been broken by Indians to serve as a guidepost along the trail leading to Crane Town the last Indian settlement in the state. Of the few such markers remaining, this is the outstanding example. Many of our highways now follow the trails laid down by the Indians long before our pioneers knew there would be an Ohio." For clarification, recognize it is now clear such trees are not broken, but bent at a young age. POSTCARD COURTESY OF KARL MCCARTY

This postcard had a postmark from Campbellsport in 1911. It was titled: "Arched Tree" -The Gateway to Forest Lake, Wis." It was likely a photo of what was once Forest Lake Resort. A tree bent in this shape is unlikely to be a trail marker tree, as the bend should be more defined running parallel to the ground within the first three to six feet off the soil. However, not every tree bent by natives bent as planned. Thus, it is possible some bent tree's ties were broken, and this is a questionable trail marker tree. POSTCARD COURTESY OF KARL MCCARTY

This postcard of Washington Park in Cheboygan, Michigan was titled "Apple Tree Bent when Young by Indians." It serves as evidence of the numerous tree species Natives would use when bending trees for trail markers. POSTCARD COURTESY OF KARL MCCARTY

This postcard was made by the E.C. Kropp Company out of Milwaukee, likely around 1910. It was titled "The First House in Fond du Lac, Wis. (Built in 1837)." It is a reminder of the era in which European settlers established the area. In the decade before Wisconsin statehood, a concentrated and intentional line of trail marker trees extended in portions, or all, of Fond du Lac County. When was the last tree bent by natives in this county? This question is up for debate, but it seems plausible it is around 1850. However, there are tales of natives squatting on land till the late 1800s. Did these natives attempt to still bend the trees before they were removed? POSTCARD COURTESY OF KARL MCCARTY

Because trail marker trees were already deteriorating by the mid-1900s, old publications can fill enormous gaps. The Scientific Monthly (July 1941) included a detailed essay by Dr. Raymond E. Janssen (p.22) titled "Living Guide-Posts of the Past." It is a reminder that some of the most important historical literature comes from old sources. PHOTO BY KARL MCCARTY bent position of trees. And it is suggested that this was the case for trail marker trees by the Horicon Marsh. It is possible that dirt was also piled on the tree rather than tying vines to a weighted or staked object. For example, some trail marker trees have a double root system, in which the tree's original leader re-rooted into the ground. Yet another option is to weigh down the tree with a log, as this can happen naturally in the forest to begin with. Various other theories of how trees were bent also exist.

After a few years of intentional bending, competition among new leader branches develop (3), and some of these leaders are trimmed after the tie-down is no longer necessary (4). After the finished product is shaped (5), all the tree needs to do is grow. The original leader that is bent parallel to the ground has atrophied, often creating an "elbow". In this example, the tree shown has two new leaders as the original that was bent withers in time. However, there are some trees with three new leaders, and others with only one. Every tree bent by Indians is a unique piece of history, nature, and art.

How old are these trees?

Trees bent by Indians, if they survived to this point, likely need to have been shaped at least 170 years ago. Wisconsin statehood was 1848, with traveling natives still spotty on the land until the early 1900s. In between that time period, the tribes were increasingly unwanted on private land. In this transitory period of Indian Removal, it would have been hard for a Native to maintain the human made contraptions which bent young trees, as landowners could likely have undone what they saw as a native intrusion on what had become their property. Therefore, successfully bent trees would have been growing in the mid-1800s or earlier. Preferably, such marker trees remaining at this point may have to be over 200 years old. That being said, sources indicate Native American squatters may have stayed in the area until the late 1800s, so if squatters were tolerated they may still have tried to bend trees.

It would not be unheard of for the tree marker to be 300 or more years old if it survived. Although it was not a marker tree, the Charter Oak on the Connecticut quarter allegedly lived at least 700 years. It's a wonder where the oldest surviving trail marker tree living in Wisconsin is. However, it would be interesting if the stress of bending a sapling impacts the overall life of a trail marker tree.

Where are these Trail Marker Trees?

A continued theme of Native American sites is that their survival was dependent on being remote from settlers. Trail markers were all over the Great Lakes region, and in some cases were only hundreds of feet apart to the next beacon.

A pivotal publication that links us to the past is the July 1941 edition of "Scientific Monthly." Dr. Raymond E. Janssen, a geologist from Evanston, Illinois, wrote in detail of such trees in an article titled "Living Guide-Posts of the Past." He reported on a trail marker chain of trees linking for miles, including one running through Highland Park, Illinois: "Thirty years ago there were eleven markers along this route-today only seven remain." In that trail the closest consecutive marker trees were 200 feet apart, others were a half mile to the next bent tree.

The trees still surviving avoided development or intentional destruction from those who were ignorant to their meaning. This means the trees that made it are likely on more remote land today: probably wetlands and woods never timbered. For those who own land that are private patches, consider looking for these trees.

What do they Mark?

Where the trees point toward is up for debate. Many seem to be geographical markers or essential old foot highway signs. But there are stories where other trees marked special places worthy of peace, reflection or spiritual significance.

For example, one story near the Washington/Fond du Lac County line is of a tree that was near a cave. It was a maple, and likely bent to honor the location. Caves were often a safety net in bad weather, and seen as a gift from the Creator in terms of material to quarry. That story tells of a bent tree that was at this cave and quarry location before settlers intentionally destroyed it along with the cave. The tree is long gone, and the blown-up cave would now be collapsed and buried under ground.

It is possible some of these trees were reflective or honored the dead, or maybe they mark where their loved ones are buried. Some might say the markers might be sacred themselves. The Fond du Lac and Washington Country area is in the effigy mound region that runs over to Prairie du Chien. With all the Native American mounds in the southern half of Wisconsin, it would be interesting how these trees may have related to those sacred sites. Other trail marker tree locations might be references to rivers and geological formations along the trail.

Yet another possibility is that natives buried their stone tools, in what some call a "cache" if you found them today. Obviously, the Indians wouldn't have buried them by the trail marker tree, but the tree would have been a mental reference to how close the tools were buried.

Another use would be council fires and meeting locations for Indians to discuss war or strategy. Different cultures need safe places for opposing sides to meet, such as one designated for neutrality. Stories suggest that there were locations in this area where natives must have met safely, no matter their differences. For example, the Potawatomi own the land of Bob Krug in Ashford Township. To conclude just one tribe met there would be ridiculous given the intermarriage of tribes, subsequent alliances, and the necessity for tribes to have a meeting location to meet their opponents or those in a tenuous diplomatic situation. It appears the intricacies of the former Krug property (rock formations and petroforms) provided a meeting place for more than just the Potawatomi.

These trail marker trees are very important signs of the past. There are not many Native American sites that have survived the modernization of the last two hundred years, but there are trees bent by natives which have survived to today. Keep your eyes open for them when you are in the forest.

Campbellsport Angel Tree 2021

Remember us saying last year: "That sometimes bad things have to happen, so good things will"

If that is true, a lot of good came to the Angel Tree in 2020. Covid forced us to rethink the process. We were able to open up the "Angel Tree" (Christmas Gifts for Needy Families) participation, by offering it at more locations.

We had Angels selected at St. Matthew, the Campbellsport Library, Ty's Place and Blue Door. Thank you to all those locations for stepping up last year. Angels will again be available at those locations.

For 2021, we are going to manage Angel Tree the same as we did last year. Angels should start being available at the same locations by Nov.22. Timing is dependent on when Referrals are being received. Angels will be available as soon as referrals have been received and contacted.

Angels can be selected and signed out at those locations. Please wrap the presents and attach the Angels. Please place Gift Card Angels and the cards, or money for the cards, in an envelope and seal.

Gifts will only be returned on two weekends. Gifts and Gift Cards and/or Money donations are to be returned on: Dec. 4 and Dec. 5, and Dec. 11 and Dec. 12; from 10 a.m. to 12 noon.

The Gift Return Location is: St. Matthew Parish Center on Mill Street. Volunteers will be available curbside for your gifts drop off.

Last year, we helped families with clothing, food, household items and cleaning supplies, some gas cards and, of course, toys. Our referrals came from everywhere: Salvation Army, St Vincent de Paul, Social Services, Pastors and schools. All for people in need of help.

Angels (gifts) were shopped, wrapped and returned on time.....

And the best part, COVID found a way to get the entire Community involved. We did it differently; and it was wonderful!

We received comments everywhere that Campbellsport appreciated the opportunity to be more easily involved, and to see how it really worked. So it appears we happened on a new plan, a new way to operate, and we are off and running for Christmas 2021.

Outdoor Candy Cane Hunt at St. Andrew Lutheran Church

St. Andrew Lutheran Church (7750 State Hwy 144, West Bend) will be holding its second outdoor Candy Cane Hunt on Friday, Dec. 10, 6-8 p.m. Attendees will be invited to visit stations along illuminated trails throughout the church's property to learn what the different parts of the candy cane teach us about Jesus. At each station, children will be invited to find hidden candy canes. Cookies and cocoa will be served. Wagon rides will be offered if weather permits. Because much of the event is outside, attendees are encouraged to dress for the weather and bring flashlights to use along the trails between stations. The event will run continuously between 6 and 8 p.m., so attendees may arrive when convenient during that time.

Please contact the church office at standrewchurchwb@gmail.com or (262) 335-4200 with any questions.

Kewaskum Kiwanis Club extends thanks

The Kewaskum Kiwanis Club would like to recognize Twisted Pair and Local Press Burger Bar for donating to the Kiwanis Club Turkey Shoot, which was held in October. Their support is very much appreciated, and proceeds from the event benefit the community.

dedicated to scaring guests helped out also, especially when "show time" arrived. The Terror Shed was open to the public on Friday and Saturday nights through the month of October. There was even a "blackout" event the first weekend of November.

The Terror Shed brought in people from all over (Milwaukee, Sheboygan, Plymouth, Hartland, West Bend, Oshkosh, Neenah, Hartford, Fond du Lac, Kewaskum and Campbellsport...to name a few). In total, 1,437 people went through this year's haunted house.

"It was bigger than any of us imagined, requiring us to get more people to help so that it would run as smooth as possible. Each week was a learning process for the next week," said Hunter's grandmother, Luan Sabish.

The extra work paid off. To enter the Terror Shed, visitors brought donations of canned and nonperishable food items. This year's scare seekers brought in a staggering 3,020 pounds of food for the Kewaskum Community Pantry.

Everyone who helped with the Terror Shed volunteered their time. Their efforts received rave reviews from visitors.

"Thank you so much for making his first haunted house experience a great one! It was so much fun. Great ideas! You guys did such a great job and for a good cause. I'll be putting this on my list of haunted houses to do annually," one woman wrote after bringing her son to the Terror Shed.

Hunter, on behalf of the Terror Shed haunted house, would like send out a huge thank you to everyone who volunteered their time to help, those who donated and those who came and supported him and the rest of the "SkareKrew" to make the Terror Shed a huge success and therefore providing the ability to support the Kewaskum Community Pantry.

"Thank you to all the kids who gave up their Friday and Saturday nights to be part of the 'SkareKrew.' Without all of you, the Terror Shed wouldn't have been able to get the awesome five-star reviews that it got," Hunter said.

Members of the "SkareKrew" volunteer their time to work at the Terror Shed haunted house in order to raise food for the Kewaskum Community Pantry.

brings to her students and families.

"iPads have been a huge part of my classroom and teaching style to allow my students to show what they know, communicate, and practice academic and everyday skills at school. I am very excited for my families to now have these opportunities at home and in the community," Wade said.

According to Wade, iPads offer children on the autism spectrum the ability to communicate with others, something they were not previously able to do.

"There are a couple different things that I do on the iPads. I have a few kids who communicate with an app on the iPad. It offers a voice for them. They click on the different icons and navigate through different pages to express themselves. I also use apps a lot for writing or spelling. If a kid can't write with a pencil, I have them use a drawing app on the iPad," Wade said.

Most importantly, the iPads give a voice to the voiceless, according to Wade.

"There is a lot the iPads can be used for and a lot they can do. But I guess the biggest thing is for the kids to be able to express themselves. A lot of times, if I ask a student a question, they just kind of sit there and they don't always answer. So, it's giving them the opportunity to voice themselves and express their wants, their needs," she said.

The iPads are incredible tools for children on the autism spectrum because they are adaptable and accessible. From communicating wants and needs to learning language and math to calming behavior, an iPad can transform a child's ability to interact with the world around them, according to Kiwanis International.

Wayne Sargent and Gary Gavin represented the Kewaskum Kiwanis Club in donating and handing out the iPads to the Campbellsport students.

"The Wisconsin Kiwanis Clubs have now given away more than 1,300 iPads to families throughout Wisconsin. Kiwanis continues to raise money for children to fulfill the needs and wants of children. One hundred percent of all money raised goes to help the children in and around our community," Sargent said.

DHS recommends COVID-19 vaccine booster dose for anyone 18 and older

The Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) supports the recommendation that anyone 18 and older receive a booster dose of COVID-19 vaccine at least six months after having received their second dose of the Pfizer-BioNTech (Pfizer) or Moderna vaccine. All adults are now eligible to receive booster doses, and booster doses are strongly recommended for everyone 50 and older, who are at the greatest risk for severe disease.

“The approval of vaccine booster doses for all adults is an opportunity for more Wisconsinites to get additional protection from COVID-19,” said DHS Secretary-designee Karen Timberlake. “The COVID-19 vaccines are an important tool for preventing the worst outcomes and slowing the spread of COVID-19, which is essential as many folks plan to gather together for the upcoming holiday season. We encourage everyone ages 18 and older to join the over 840,000 Wisconsinites who have already gotten their booster or additional COVID-19 vaccine dose.”

Today’s decision by the CDC extends eligibility for a booster dose to everyone 18 and up at least six months after they received their second dose of Pfizer or Moderna. People who got the Johnson & Johnson COVID-19 vaccine are also eligible for a booster dose of any of the available COVID-19 vaccines. For the people who got the Johnson & Johnson COVID-19 vaccine, booster shots are recommended by the CDC for those who are 18 and older and who were vaccinated two or more months ago.

The CDC’s recommendations now also allow for mix-and-match dosing for booster doses. Some people may have a preference for the vaccine type that they originally received, and others may prefer to get a different booster.

“Getting everyone vaccinated continues to be our top priority for preventing serious illness and death from COVID-19,” said Dr. Ryan Westergaard, Chief Medical Officer and State Epidemiologist for DHS. “Too many of us remain unprotected going into the winter season. Getting a booster dose when it’s time to do so, and continuing to get our children 5 and older vaccinated will slow the spread of the virus and save lives.”

Getting vaccinated is about protection. Given that evidence suggests immunity is waning over time for some people who were initially well-protected by the vaccine, the booster dose can strengthen and extend their protection against infection, serious illness, hospitalization, and death from COVID-19.

To find a COVID-19 vaccine provider in your community, visit Vaccines.gov, or call 211 or 877-947-2211. For additional information about booster doses, additional doses, and help accessing your COVID-19 vaccine record to determine when you may be recommended for a booster, visit the DHS Additional Doses and Booster Doses webpage.

With the high-level of disease transmission in Wisconsin, DHS continues to urge everyone who is not vaccinated to get the COVID-19 vaccine, and for all people to add additional layers of protection including masking up indoors, staying home when feeling sick, and avoiding large indoor gatherings.

SSM Health Greater Fond du Lac Region turkey donation to benefit area families

SSM Health Greater Fond du Lac Region (previously Agnesian Health-Care) is donating more than 600 turkeys to benefit families in Fond du Lac and surrounding communities during the Thanksgiving holiday.

For the past six years, the SSM Health Greater Fond du Lac Region provides a free turkey to all of its employees, volunteers and providers to enjoy at Thanksgiving or other time. They have the option to donate their turkey for distribution to area food pantries.

On Nov. 12, turkeys were given to 17 non-profit organizations in Alto, Brandon, Fond du Lac, Green Lake, Oakfield, Ripon, Waupun and other surrounding areas. In addition, the turkeys will help feed veterans this holiday through the Catholic War Veterans and the American Legion.

“Each year, we enjoy and appreciate the opportunity to share this special gift with our employees, volunteers and providers to show how much we value their dedication and commitment to serving our patients, residents and their families,” said Dawn Vandenberg, regional director for Mission Integration. “We also know that there are many individuals and families that are struggling to make ends meet, and if these turkey donations can help in some way, we continue to fulfill our mission by meeting these needs.”

Love Lights for the Holidays Tree Lighting

You can still help light up the holiday trees at Mill Pond Park in Campbellsport. Love Lights for the Holidays are on sale now until Dec. 1. You may purchase a Love Light for $5 each to remember anyone you wish this holiday season by contacting Shirley Simon at 920-979-8704.

Last year the tree lighting ceremony was held at the beautiful gazebo due to COVID-19. The event was blessed with cooperative weather. This year the tree lighting ceremony will again be held at the gazebo, weather permitting. If there is inclement weather, the ceremony will be held at the Campbellsport Fire Station.

The tree lighting event will begin at 6 p.m. on Saturday, Dec. 4. There will be a brief ceremony with a chime rung for each name read. Then the ceremony will proceed to the front of the trees, with a moment of silence. Then there will be a vigorous countdown to flip the switch (hopefully with no technical difficulties this year) and light the Community Love Lights for the Holidays trees with all our love for all the people we are remembering this holiday season. The ceremony will conclude with singing joyous Christmas carols.

Please use cautionary measures for COVID-19 at your discretion. Also, use caution when walking out to the trees. Due to the highway construction, the ground surface is uneven.

Thank you for your support. And keep the Love Lights burning in your heart not only for the holiday season, but throughout the New Year! The trees will remain lit throughout the holiday season.

Gov. Evers enacts Law 84 updating marriage document requirements

Changes go into effect July 1, 2022

In a show of support for increased customer service to Wisconsinites seeking marriage licenses, Governor Evers signed Act 84 on Nov. 5, which amends the current law to make certain the chain of records is maintained, ensures accurate information is utilized on marriage licenses and allows the filing of a marriage license in any county. “Washington County applauds the governor for signing Act 84 into law and remains committed to offering all Wisconsin residents a seamless and straightforward process for all government service delivery,” said County Executive Josh Schoemann.

“This new law would not have been possible without the efforts of our Register of Deeds Sharon Martin and County Clerk Ashley Reichert. I commend their commitment and dedication to this important service.”

“From the moment this marriage license legislation was brought forward, I knew just how beneficial this would be to our constituents, said Washington County Clerk Ashley Reichert. “With any service that we offer, we should always strive to provide the most convenient and best customer service experience for those that we serve; this legislation does just that. I am proud to have been able to provide support from not only my office, but our county board for this extremely beneficial legislation and look forward to implementing this in July of 2022.”

Ashley Reichert, Washington County clerk

Specific amendments to the current marriage license application law will include the following:

- Allows parties, resident or nonresident, to obtain a marriage license in any county of the state;
- Extends the validity of a marriage license from 30 days to 60 days;
- Applicant only supplies Social Security Number if they have one;
- Applicant can present a Real ID in lieu of a birth certificate;
- If the documentary proof presented is not satisfactory, the county clerk will notify the applicant they have the right to request a judge to review the submitted material;
- Reduces the waiting period for a marriage license from five days to three days;
- Permits those in active military service of the United States the presence of only one competent adult witness, other than the officiant, to be listed on their marriage license.

Washington County Tavern League donates cold water rescue suits to fire departments

The Washington County Tavern League has donated over $21,000 for ice water rescue suits so that all 13 fire departments in Washington County would receive two suits with support equipment.

The suits, which can be used year-round for any water rescues, are designed to initiate a cold-water rescue for victims who are not submerged. Rescuers who arrive on scene prior to a victim being submerged in the water can use these suits, which are designed to be buoyant enough to keep a rescuer and victim above water. In open water, the suits can assist with marking search points for the dive team, serving as human buoys acting as points of reference.

For safety reasons, it is recommended that each department have a minimum of two rescue suits: one for the rescuer and one for a backup person for the rescuer. The suits are buoyant, so the rescuer does not need to know how to swim.

Although some of the fire departments already had rescue suits, others had only one or not any at all prior to the donation.

On Thursday, Nov. 11, at a Washington County Fire Chiefs Association meeting, each department received two lifesaving suits and accessory equipment from the Washington County Tavern League. In attendance were members of the Kewaskum School District exceeds expectations on district report card

The Wisconsin Department of Instruction (DPI) has released the 2020-21 District Report Cards, and once again the Kewaskum School District achieved the Exceeds Expectations category.

"I'm so impressed with how well our students have done over the past couple of years. It's a testament to the work our students, staff, families and leadership have done to ensure that our expectations have remained high. I couldn't be prouder of how well we have overcome obstacles and are moving forward," said District Administrator Dr. Mark Bazata.

As a whole, the Kewaskum School District performed above the state average in the areas of Student Achievement and On-Track to Graduation.

"We continue to focus on preparing each student for their next personalized step. The report card is one of many metrics used to gauge our level of success. We have quite a bit to celebrate from our report card, but we will remain dedicated to continuous growth and improvement," said Curriculum Director Jake Flood.

The DPI generates a School Report Card and District Report Card for every publicly funded school and district in the state. The report cards are intended to help schools and districts utilize performance data to target their improvement efforts so that students are prepared for their next educational step.

The current school report card is primarily based on last year's performance during the 2020-21 school year. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, DPI encourages caution when interpreting scores and ratings on the 2020-21 report cards.

At the foundation of the report cards are four priority areas. Schools and districts receive a score for each priority area:

- Achievement - proficiency in English language arts (ELA) and mathematics on the annual state assessments.

- Achievement - proficiency in English language arts (ELA) and mathematics on the annual state assessments.

- Growth - year-to-year progress in ELA and math achievement.

- Target Group Outcomes - outcomes for students with the lowest test scores: the Target Group.

- On-Track to Graduation - reliable predictors of how successful students are progressing toward completing their K-12 education.

The priority area scores are aggregated into an overall accountability score, from 0 to 100. This score is displayed on the front page of the school or district report cards. It is important to note that the 0 to 100 accountability score is not a "percent correct" measurement. Based on its score, a school or district receives one of five rating categories, from Fails to Meet Expectations to Significantly Exceeds Expectations, as well as corresponding one to five stars.

All public report cards can be found online at <http://dpi.wi.gov/accountability/report-cards> along with resources that explain the report cards.

KMS students compete in Lego League Robotics Tournament

On Saturday, Nov. 13, 10 Kewaskum Middle School students participated in the Lego League Robotics regional tournament held at Lakeshore Technical College in Cleveland, Wis. The team participated in two events – the innovation project presentation and the robotics competition. To prepare for the competition, the team met twice a week after school for about two months.

In the innovation project presentation, students used a skit to present their idea on how to help reduce traffic accidents on highways. The team came up with the idea of a digital speed limit sign that automatically reduces speed limits gradually by sensing weather and other traffic-related issues on the road ahead.

In the robotics competition, the team, Kargo Speedsters, programmed a Lego Mindstorm EV3 robot to autonomously move on a preset field to complete missions designed to simulate real-world cargo delivery situations. The goal was to successfully complete as many of the 17 missions as possible in two-and-a-half minutes, with each mission earning a specified number of points if completed successfully. Each team got three tries, keeping its highest point total.

While the team did not move on to the next round of competition, the team members learned a lot and performed admirably, having a great deal of fun in the process.

KHS girls basketball claims wins over Omro and CHS

The Kewaskum High School girls basketball team kicked off its 2021-2022 season on Nov. 16 in Omro. Junior Madi Dogs put together a solid first half, scoring 14 points and grabbing 10 rebounds to help lead the Indians to a 30-17 advantage at halftime.

Omro never could cut into that lead, and the second half was more of the same and it wasn't long before the lead grew to 20. Lone senior Annie Christenson overcame early foul trouble and still managed to drop a dozen points. Dogs finished with 20 points and 12 rebounds on 75 percent shooting from the field, and junior Morgan Adams chipped in with 10. When the final buzzer sounded, Kewaskum had a 59-36 win.

Kewaskum's home opener was on Thursday, Nov. 19, against the Cougars of Campbellsport. The Indians showed their dominance early in this game. The Indians full-court pressure seemed to be too much for Campbellsport as they turned the ball over 26 times in the first half. Christenson and Dogs combined for 24 points in the first half to give the Indians a 36-9 lead going into the break.

Kewaskum's half-court defense was just as impressive in the second half. Campbellsport had a difficult time getting quality shots off against Kewaskum's smothering defense. Dogs led the attack with 20, Christenson finished with 17 and Adams 11. Junior Julia Steger helped out with a career-high 14 rebounds, including 10 on the offensive end, and junior Grace Leithesier had six assists in limited time due to early foul trouble. Final score was 63-15.

Campbellsport has moved to the Flyway conference this year, so this will be the only time these teams will face each other this season. Look for this rivalry to continue on as non-conference battles in the future.

The 2021-22 Indians return many key players from last year's team, including returning First Team All-Conference Madi Dogs and Honorable Mention All-Conference Annie Christenson. Both girls are off to solid starts.

Ben Wolf, 18, had not harvested a deer gun hunting in seven years. He ended the streak on Nov. 20 with his 30-06 that he received as a graduation present from his stepdad, which he got from his dad. At about 4:20 p.m. Ben used the gun to shoot a buck in Washington County that was 75 yards out. It was the first time the gun had been shot in 24 years. Once Ben and his dad got by the buck, Ben saw a doe and shot it with a 260-yard shot. The doe ran about 60 yards and toppled over. Ben is the son of Ed and Julie Wolf and Scott and Stacy Nelson.

CORNER

I must be in the front row

Who can ever forget the classic beer commercials with Bob Uecker when he thought he was going to be seated in the front row because he was a famous celebrity. Turns out the usher has him sitting in the rafters, thus coining the phrase "I must be in the front row."

Well, last Thursday evening I took my wife, my daughter and her husband to a concert at the Riverside in Milwaukee. We went to see the band Chvrches and being the good dad, I treated to front row seats for the show. The tickets were a little pricey but a late birthday present for my daughter.

This was the first time I actually sat in the front row for a concert, I know amazing considering I've been to hundreds of concerts in my life. The show was so electric and being so close to the stage and band was a total adrenaline rush. With us all being short people, it sure was nice not having anybody in front of us blocking our view.

The band Chvrches is from Scotland and has a very unique sound, I compare them to a modern-day ABBA on steroids. I first saw this band with my daughter and one of her friends at Summerfest a few years ago and we actually scored VIP tickets and watched from the front row but had to stand. I have been in the front row for concerts before but always standing. I saw the Eagles back in 1977 on the Hotel California tour at Milwaukee County Stadium. We had field passes and one of my buddies and I wedged our way to the front row for a couple pictures. I've been close to the stage for some Waterfest acts in Oshkosh like Joan Jett, Starship, The Guess Who, America, and Huey Lewis & The News.

Just something special about being close to the stage and seeing the stars and celebrities up close. Plus, you never know if you're going to get a guitar pick thrown your way or a drum stick from the drummer. One time at a Bruce Springsteen concert at the Bradley Center they body passed "The Boss" out into the crowd, and he was within touching distance of us.

I have been in some pretty good seats up close for some big acts. We took my dad to see Franki Valli & The Four Seasons at the Riverside and had eighth row tickets. We took the kids to see Loverboy, Pat Benetar and Journey at the Bradley Center and sat about 12 rows from the stage - I couldn't hear for days! My wife and I saw Jimmy Buffett from the 15th row at Summerfest, which was quite the treat. My best seats ever for an Alpine Valley concert was 20th row to see the legendary band The Doobie Brothers; that was a cool experience because they were making a video for MTV.

Lady Cougar Bowlers pick up second win of the new season

On Monday, Nov. 15, the Lady Cougars traveled to Pioneer Bowl in Richfield to take on the Hartford Orioles. Both teams had graduated their anchor bowlers from last season, Josie Parr from Hartford and Amber Thompson from Campbellsport. Both teams are in the reorganization stage but that night the Cougars adjusted a little faster.

The Cougars opened up with a respectable 159 on a very oily lane pattern and won the first game. The next three games the Cougars had spare shooting challenges, but Hartford had a few more challenges and after game 4 the Cougars were up 4-0. In game 5 things, started to click for the Cougars. The Cougars rattled off 165, 171, 139, 138 and 192 their last five games to win all nine games and the match.

The Orioles also picked up their pace and started bowling well but they couldn't quite keep up with the Cougars losing every game by about 15 pins. Hats off to the young Orioles for a gallant effort and a great attitude.

Another good team effort was put forth by the Cougars. Freshman Taylor Muraski put on a great performance, filling 12 of 18 frames. Brianna Thompson led the team, filling 16 of 18 frames, throwing 13 strikes along the way. Paige Jordan filled nine of 18 frames, Kylie Zehren filled eight of 18 frames and Hannah Thelen filled five of 18 frames.

Stats for the match were as follows: (strikes-spares-total frames): Kylie Zehren 2-6-18; Hannah Thelen 4-1-18; Paige Jordan 6-3-18; Taylor Muraski 2-10-18; and Brianna Thompson 9-7-18.

Thanksgiving is an important holiday for me. Besides the food, family and time off, the main reason it is important is because I am usually the host. I don't know why this job fell to me with all the people in my family, but ever since I was 19 and a young bride, I provided Thanksgiving dinner for family and friends. There were a few exceptions, but for the most part, Thanksgiving is at my house, and I do just about all the cooking.

I like hosting for the holiday, which is unusual for me because I don't like a lot of people in my home. I used to have a door mat that had the Tasmanian Devil on it and said, "Go Away." It is a good thing my family ignores me and comes anyway. There were a few occasions when I wished I didn't open the door to them. One I call the "Appetizer Thanksgiving." A family member insisted on everyone contributing and bringing appetizers. I was against it, because I thought they would not be hungry for the food I was preparing. That was also the year we had a large amount of people, so many that we needed extra tables and my brother-in-law brought a large door to stand in for a table. I had made a 25-pound turkey and double the trimmings I usually make, and I was right. I served dinner at the expected time and people said they were stuffed from the appetizers. Now, I am usually a calm person that doesn't fly off the handle, but I had a tantrum and went upstairs to my room crying. It didn't help that I was also pregnant with my son. After some time, my husband soothed me and when I came back downstairs, my family were all eating the dinner, probably overeating, but I didn't care that day. After that, I will not allow appetizers at my Thanksgiving feast.

I have had a few mishaps, such as dropping the turkey one year. Don't tell anyone but it occurred in the kitchen, and my husband and I picked it up and served it. Shhhh. It was fine. I always clean my house spotless, including floors when I am expecting company. There was one time when I tried making sausage and chestnut stuffing and it was a total flop. I don't think I cooked the chestnuts first. Maybe I recall a relative breaking a tooth? I have experimented with unusual dishes. One that stands out is a chocolate pumpkin ice cream pie. The flavors did not mesh. I now stick to traditional foods and people are appreciative.

Of course, the best part of my Thanksgivings is not the food but welcoming family and friends to my home. This year there will be 15 of us, relatives from across the U.S. will be joining us, and I look forward to a full house and full stomachs this year.

Happy Thanksgiving.

Tavern League, Washington County Dive Team and Washington County Fire Chiefs Association.

During the meeting, all the entities involved used the opportunity to thank the Washington County Tavern League for its generous donation and continued support of purchasing lifesaving equipment that could benefit anyone in the county or surrounding counties where one of the 13 fire departments may respond.

“We greatly appreciate the tavern league,” Kewaskum Fire Chief Mark Groeschel said about the donation at the Kewaskum Village Board meeting on Nov. 15.

The Washington County Dive Team started approximately 18 years ago after a snowmobiling accident on Big Cedar Lake that left 21-year-old Michael Mann dead from a drowning accident.

On Jan. 21, 2003, Mann and his friend fell through the ice while test-driving a snowmobile. At the time, the closest dive team took more than two hours to arrive on scene. Three months after they accident, the Washington County Board approved startup funding for the Dive Team that consists of members from the Washington County Sheriff's Department and several fire departments across Washington County.

To provide fundraising support for the dive team, the Mann family created the Washington County Dive Association, and the Washington County Tavern League has been a significant supporter of the association for more than 10 years. In 2018, the county league donated more than $6,500 for a water rescue raft that assists in water, ice and remote snow accidents when people need to be towed from an emergency. As recent as this past winter, the water rescue raft was used to assist in the rescue of victim clinging to the ice on Pike Lake.

The Washington County Tavern League donated over $21,000 so that every fire department in Washington County could receive two cold-water rescue suits. PHOTO SUBMITTED
