Kings Again, Campbellsport Wrestling Wins Flyway Tournament

Program earns 42nd conference title in CHS history as Lomira and Mayville log individual champs

DAN HEISDORF
ASST. WRESTLING COACH, CHS

The Campbellsport wrestling team traveled to Laconia and won the Flyway Conference wrestling tournament last Saturday. The Cougars scored 244 points, outlasting Lomira which finished second with 232 points.

The Lions led the way with 10 finalists, while the Cougars had nine. Campbellsport led with five champions, while the Lions had four.

This was Campbellsport's 42nd conference title, which put an end to Lomira's decades-plus-long-run as the finest of the Flyway.

Drake Muellenbach would get Campbellsport's first title at 120 pounds. After receiving a bye, he pinned Noah Reither of St. Lawrence Seminary putting him in the finals against Aiden Lynch of Laconia. Muellenbach wasted no time putting Lynch to his back and pinning him in 1:33.

At 132 pounds, the Cougars' Ostin Blanchard, ranked fourth at 126 pounds, wrestled up a weight class to go after two-time conference champion Bryce Crowley of Omro who is also ranked third in the state at 132.

To start, Blanchard also received a bye and then earned a 22-9 major decision over Evan Casper of Lomira to set up the biggest match of the day against Crowley.

Blanchard got a first period takedown, but Crowley would tie it up 2-2 with an escape and an illegal-slam penalty-point. In the second period, Blanchard got an escape and another takedown, while Crowley got an escape to make it 5-3 entering the third. Crowley would choose down and eventually got an escape, but Blanchard played great defense and held on for the thrilling 5-4 win.

At 138 pounds, Sam Koth also wrestled up a weight class and had an amazing day. After a first period pin, Koth would wrestle Carson Fulton of Winnebago Lutheran. Fulton beat Koth in the

Scoles, Soyk Earn Conference Titles for Kewaskum Wrestling

Brent Krejcarek was named runner-up in the 106 weight-class

Three Kewaskum Indians wrestlers battled for a East Central Conference title last week Saturday in Plymouth, and Braeden Scoles (160) and Dylan Soyk (195) each were named champions after a full-slate of action just north of the Kettle Moraine Forest. Brent Krejcarek finished in second place in the 106.

Scoles had a bye in the quarterfinals. He pinned Jackson Pickardt of Plymouth in 1:48 in the semis, which set up a finals match with Waupun's Isaac Glewen. Scoles was no match for Glewen, and the Kewaskum wrestler pinned his opponent in 1:48 to earn the 160 title.

Soyk also enjoyed a first-round bye. In the semis, Soyk quickly pinned Jordan Perkins of Ripon in the first period to earn his spot in the championship match. In the final, he battled Winneconne's Dylan Krings for all three periods before earning a 9-4 decision in a fitting conclusion for a championship match.

Kewaskum took second place as a team behind

Winneconne. The Indians scored 134.5 points.

Due up, Kewaskum will compete in the WIAA Regional in Campbellsport on Saturday, Feb. 12.

Brent Krejcarek of Kewaskum participates in the first place match for the 106 weight-class at the East Central Conference Tournament in Plymouth last Saturday. Krejcarek fell in the first period, but earned a second-place finish as a result.

Lost Worlds

Dear Reader,

What do you look at when you see an old photograph of a girlfriend that you once knew long ago? She has a sweet smile on her face and long curly hair. Her face beams with happiness and the innocence of dreams about to come true.

Ah, to believe in the promises of a youthful romance. But time overtakes us, swallowing our youth and bending our shoulders. We don't notice the gradual stages of growing old, until one day it hits. If only we could recalibrate and relive some of those younger years knowing what we know now.

One thing I'm sure of is that I would choose again that girl with a sweet smile on her face and long curly hair. Happy Valentine's Day.

Not rightly sure if the groundhog saw his shadow on the second. Cloudy as all getup round these parts. Of course, it's more than spitting distance from here to Sun Prairie or Puxatawney, Penn. where those two critters do their guessing.

But we all know it's a load of hog hooey anyway. Just old wives tales. Not unlike the Bohemian okolo mesice, ring around the moon. Which they think means a change in the weather.

A surer sign of spring's approach is when Gilles in Fond du Lac opens their drive-in. By the time you read this, it'll have happened – on the 8th. That will be a crazy day with just about everybody and their brother... jamming the parking lot for a taste of custard. A&W won't be far behind. Near enough a race to see who opens first.

For me, leastwise there's an even better yardstick. Later this month MLB begins again with their training camps in Arizona and Florida, the Cactus and Citrus leagues. Won't be too much later, they start playing exhibition baseball. Can opening day be far behind?

Back when I worked in a restaurant, we had a skeleton crew because almost everyone headed down for the game. And that was when the Brewers played in County Stadium. Where fans braved the weather. Because April, as T.S. Eliot said, is the "cruellest month."

But we Wisconsin folks are a hardy breed, from good immigrant stock – Irish, Germans, Polish and other Slavs. Who else would have the wherewithal to attend a Packer playoff shot in January? By the time the calendar's passed the official beginning of a warmer season, we're all in for the outdoors.

Still, if you wanna be really sure, look to nature. Not the return of the geese on their long haul to Canada. Spot a robin. He's one of the best reckoners around.

Fond du Lac Area Foundation Welcomes Horicon as Regional Affiliate

The Fond du Lac Area Foundation proudly welcomes the former Horicon Area Foundation and its family of funds as a regional affiliate.

The Horicon community brings a half dozen funds totaling $1 million to the Fond du Lac Area Foundation.

“For 35 years, Horicon’s admirable charitable endeavors have strengthened their area. We are humbled and excited to form an affiliation with this great organization, the Horicon community, and their generous benefactors,” said Joe Braun, executive director of the foundation.

In 1986, the Horicon Community Development Corporation organized and chartered the Horicon Area Foundation through which public-spirited citizens could make lasting gifts for the long-term needs of the community.

“The Horicon Area Fund as administered by the Fond du Lac Area Foundation professional staff will help the Horicon community to have a philanthropic focus for the future. I am grateful for the many donors to the fund during these past years and hope that continuing generosity to the Horicon Area Fund will remain a valuable resource to the Horicon community,” said Frederick F. Schwertfeger, former president of Horicon Area Foundation.

The former Horicon Area Foundation chose to become a regional affiliate and move its family of funds under the umbrella of the Fond du Lac Area Foundation for the benefit of full-time, skilled staff. The Fond du Lac Area Foundation will accept, process, and administer gifts, distribute annual reports to fund holders, and provide marketing and development support.

Additionally, Horicon and Fond du Lac align in their overarching goals.

A primary goal for Horicon has been and continues to be the wise distribution of grants for community philanthropy. This affiliation assures donors that gifts received and grants distributions made through the Fond du Lac Area Foundation are based on the following principles:

- Meeting the greatest local needs;
- Guarantee flexibility;
- Permanent administration of funds;
- Obtaining maximum tax advantages for donors;
- Perpetuating legacies through memorial funds and honorarium gifts;
- Simple gift-making process.

Braun said, “We are grateful for Horicon’s belief in the Fond du Lac Area Foundation. We will work hard to not only continue, but also support growth of philanthropic presence in the Horicon area.”

Led by local board advisors, regional affiliates of the Fond du Lac Area Foundation share a vision to inspire philanthropy and invest in their unique communities. The Fond du Lac Area Foundation supports the work of regional affiliates by engaging fund holders and donors, managing funds, and facilitating grantmaking. Together, Fond du Lac and their regional affiliates provide philanthropic solutions to address community issues and invest in the important work of local nonprofits.

The Fond du Lac Area Foundation manages more than $70 million in assets and nearly 475 funds created by individuals, families, and businesses. For more information, please call 920-921-2215 or visit the Fond du Lac Area Foundation website at www.fdlareafoundation.com.

Kewaskum STATESMAN

Carol Jean Oestreich

Carol Jean (Williamson) Oestreich, 61, went home to be with her Heavenly Father on February 6, 2022, at SSM Hospital in Fond du Lac with her children and family by her side.

Carol was born on February 27, 1960, to Jack and Lois Williamson in Fond du Lac.

Carol was the most wonderful, loving, caring person who would give you the shirt off her back. She always had a big smile on her face no matter what. She was one of the hardest workers; she would never leave something undone and would never quit anything she attempted.

She was a true believer in Christ and the salvation of the Lord Jesus Christ. She taught Sunday School for many years at St. John's Church in New Fane as her children were growing up. Her best moments of being a Sunday School teacher were watching and listening to the children recite their Christmas verses at the Christmas Eve service. Later in life as her and Brian changed churches to the Alliance Church of Campbellsport, she continued to do the Lord's work as deaconess for the church.

Carol grew up as a foster child and was in many homes in her younger years. When she turned 16, she moved in with her father and lived with him until she married Brian. She always put her dad's needs in front of her own.

She worked for Bandag Tire in North Fond du Lac for many years.

On May 6, 1989, she married the love of her life and soul mate, Brian Oestreich.

Carol's whole life revolved around her children and in the last few years, her grandchildren. Especially as her children were growing up through grade school, high school and college. She loved going to all of their many sporting events to help cheer them on.

Carol also drove school bus for Johnson Bus for over 10 years. She loved watching the faces on the children as she handed out treats at certain holidays to the kids on the bus. In addition to driving bus, she was a teaching assistant for special needs at Campbellsport High School.

Carol was an AEMT and fire fighter for the Campbellsport Fire Department for 15 years.

She was a Certified Nursing Assistant and Hospice Volunteer. Carol was currently working for the State of Corrections at DOC in Waupun as an intake medical records provider.

Carol loved the outdoors, she loved to walk after work for five or six miles every day. She attempted the Frozen Otter three times and at the age of 56 she put in 48 miles in 18 hours through the Kettle Moraine State Forest, in the cold snowy third week in January.

She loved deer hunting and going up north to their cottage to enjoy the peace and quiet and hikes through the woods.

Carol loved to read books, she could read three or four books at the same time. Anything to do with the Civil War always drew her in.

She loved to cook and have large family meals at Thanksgiving and Christmas. Many Sunday morning brunches were enjoyed by her family.

She also enjoyed riding her motorcycle until she broke her wrist while walking and could not handle her motorcycle anymore. She loved her 66 Charger, which has been a 28-year project even though she never got to drive it before she passed away.

Carol will always be remembered as having a smile on her face and a large loving heart.

Carol was an organ donor and as she has always been a giving person, she has donated her organs to help others to continue on in life.

She is survived by her husband, Brian; five children, Ruby Oestreich (Steven), Trisha Oestreich (Richard), Beau Oestreich, Kara Kelley (Clark), Brooks Nelson (Jeanine); three grandchildren, Della Kelley, Harris Overton-Nelson, Theo Overton-Nelson; her sister, Harriet Racicot (Steve), John Weigel (Tanya), Michelle Walters-Perronne (Brent), Tamara Weigel-Hass; her nieces and nephews, Hannah Racicot (Benny), Jeanette Majano (Melo), Joel Racicot, Eric Walters (Tina), Devin Walters, Cody Weigel, Logan Weigel, Sophia Hass, Olivia Hass, Frankie Hass; foster father and mother, Don and Linda Kimpel.

Carol was preceded in death by her mother and father, Jack and Lois Williamson.

The Oestreich family would like to thank the Campbellsport Ambulance Crew, Fond du Lac City Paramedics, and all the staff in the ER and ICU at SSM hospital in Fond du Lac for their professional and caring services provided to both Carol and family members through this difficult time.

Services will be held at Campbellsport Alliance Church, N1876 Co Rd V, Campbellsport, WI 53010 on February 12, 2022, with visitation from 9 a.m.-12 p.m. followed by a service of remembrance at 12 p.m. and meal to follow.

Building Girl Entrepreneurs One Cookie at a Time

It isn't every day that you can buy something delicious and sweet to eat knowing you are helping build the next generation of girl entrepreneurs, but that time is coming soon. Girl Scouts kicked off its 105th cookie sale in early January, and is offering a brand new cookie: Adventurefuls, in addition to the classic favorites this year. The Girl Scout Cookie Sale not only teaches girls essential entrepreneurial skills, but the earnings also power service given by Girl Scouts to those in need right here in our area. With each box you purchase, you are investing in the community and helping prepare girls for a lifetime of leadership and success.

Nearly 2 million Girl Scouts participate in the cookie sale each year, and all of the proceeds raised—100 percent—stay in the local area. Troops and girls use their proceeds for community projects and a variety of badge activities or trips that build girls of courage, confidence, and character who make the world a better place. Girl Scouts earning the highest award, the Girl Scout Gold Award, rely on the Cookie Sale proceeds to fund their 80-hour community service projects. Councils use cookie proceeds to power amazing experiences for girls through support to volunteers, camping experiences for girls and financial assistance to girls in need.

"The Girl Scout Cookie Sale is a quintessential Girl Scout experience, right up there with community service, attending camp and earning badges. The important business and financial literacy skills girls learn through the program are proven to build their leadership skills and position them for success in the future. When you purchase cookies you are helping girls power their Girl Scout experience and you're supporting female entrepreneurs," said Denise Schemenauer, CEO of Girl Scouts of Manitou Council.

In addition to the classic favorites this year, Manitou Council Girl Scouts will be selling a brand new cookie: Adventurefuls. Girl Scout Adventurefuls are an indulgent brownie-inspired cookie with caramel-flavored crème and a hint of sea salt. Adventurefuls will take cookie lovers on a delicious taste adventure just like Girl Scouts go on their own amazing adventures through the Girl Scout program.

Girl Scouts will creatively and safely sell cookies door-to-door and at booth sales. Digital sales through the Digital Cookie® platform, a web-based addition that allows girls to take their cookie businesses online, will be extremely useful this year, when selling in-person might be more challenging. The Digital Cookie platform continues to bring Girl Scout programming into the future by providing girls with business, online marketing and technology skills that prepare them for 21st century leadership.

LORI KREIS
KEWASKUM LIBRARIAN

The first library established in the seventh century BC was a repository of knowledge. Archival documents, scholarly texts and works of literature, were kept in this establishment located in ancient Middle East and people were not allowed to take them home or else face the wrath of the gods. Libraries did not start circulating materials to the public until 1725 when the first circulating library was opened in Scotland and offered readers the chance to get their hands on books they could not afford to purchase. Many libraries were for-profit businesses at the time and lent books for a fee.

Libraries have evolved in many ways; one difference is how materials are circulated. Many patrons are used to checking out books, music, magazines, and DVDs from our library. We also have Wi-Fi hotspots and previously have had Kindles and other e-readers available for our patrons to take home. We no longer have the Kindles, but back then we were circulating things, as a Library of Things. This idea to circulate non-traditional objects has been around about 50 years, with tool libraries and seed libraries and more.

I have had an interest in this trend of having item available for checkout that could be construed as unusual. My setback was space. With 3,500 square feet of library space and every inch in use, there is not a good place to store or display a Library of Things. Late last year, we cleaned the workroom and got rid of many old, unusable items and lo and behold, a shelf was emptied! Now I am still limited in space and cannot add larger items to our Library of Things collection. You won't see crockpots, telescopes, or kayaks in our catalog, but we do have an assortment of items that you can check out for a week which I plan on adding to as space and budget permits.

First, I have several items aimed at people with memory loss. We have a 35-piece puzzle, tactile squares and reminiscence cards all proven to help people inspire conversations and connections. Under the baking category, there are cake pans of varying designs and cookie cutters. This is so helpful when you are planning a themed party and don't want to purchase these special items. All we ask is that they are returned clean and dry. Right now, we have dinosaurs and a crown, but check back for more varieties. For children, look for coding kits such as Makey Makey and a loom and pom pom maker. If you looking to try Pilates but are just unsure, check out our portable Pilates bar with printed exercises. We even have a stud finder which I have used to hang posters at the library. I encourage you to come and check out our binder of our Library of Things and participate in this ever-changing library trend today.

The Campbellsport School District Board of Education took a bold step into the world of technology education when it approved a five-year District Technology Plan at Monday's meeting. The plan was presented by Jeff Baughman, a member of the technology committee. He indicated that the computer-based education has been a fast process with constant upgrading. The plan carries a $300,000 per year price tag, which is three-and-one-half percent of the budget, according to Administrator Joe Bertone.

Dale Grahl will continue as chief of the Eden Fire Department. Dan Grahl was elected secretary/treasurer at the annual meeting. Ed Costello was appointed first assistant chief and Paul Tibbetts second assistant chief by Chief Grahl.

Following the appearance of a group of 10 students at the meeting of the school board of Jt. District 23 on Monday night, it was decided that the dress code would be used as a guide rather than an unworkable order. A number of parents have, by personal visits or phone calls, also indicated a desire for guidelines.

As expected, the Cougars are again champion wrestlers of the Flyway Conference, garnering 130 points to win the title in the conference meet held last Saturday at Lomira. Individuals winning their weight classes included Bruce Bowe, Dennis Kelly, Mike Bowe, Louie Sipple, and Dan Witkowski.

Bruce Bessor of Bruce Bessor & Associates of Milwaukee and Chicago gave a presentation to the village board on his proposal to build a three-unit complex of 24 one-bedroom apartments for the elderly only. He was referred to the zoning committee.

Not to tarnish the opening of the new gym, the Cougars put together one of their better basketball games of the season last Friday night and defeated Horicon 80-63.

Snow is still being moved by local householders and village employees from the big snowstorm of last week that practically isolated the village for two days. Snow fall reached record proportions by Wednesday evening; by Thursday, there was nothing but large drifts. Train and bus service into the village was non-existent for nearly two days. Twenty-four hours after the last flake hit the ground and the wind had subsided, Floyd Bauer had roused his crew and soon part of Main Street was cleaned of all snow.

Damage to electric distribution lines during the recent blizzard was widespread. The nature of the damage was not particularly serious, and repairs could have been made in short order, but it was impossible to get to the spots where trouble had occurred. due to blocked roads.

Jake Kleinhans announced that he is not a candidate for the office of village supervisor-president, per rumor being circulated in the village, unless there is no other seeker for the office.

Harriet Hodge, 56, Campbellsport, passed away Wednesday.

Residents living at the apartment complex at 222 Braatz Dr. lost their homes after fire broke out in the apartment building on February 10. Seven of the eight apartments were occupied, but all residents were evacuated safely from the building. One Kewaskum firefighter suffered a serious medical condition on the scene and was transported. Another was treated on the scene for smoke inhalation. Two cats were found alive after the fire was extinguished, but multiple cats did not survive. No smoke detector sounded in the apartment where the fire originated. There was substantial fire and water damage to the eight units. The cause of the fire was still under investigation as of press time.

Many neighbors offered shelter and warmth to those who lost their homes when the fire occurred. Doors at Kewaskum schools would have been opened to the residents if the residents had needed a place to stay. Area businesses and schools took up collections to provide the families with clothing and supplies. During a basketball game the night after the fire, $700 was collected for those affected. At their Monday night meeting, school board members pledged to match that $700 with their own money.

A Heroin Highway Lecture Series was held at Moraine Park Technical College last Thursday. Attendees learned clues to look for regarding drug or alcohol use in teenagers. A mock room was set up with items hidden that could pertain to drug or alcohol use and attendees were allowed to "ransack" the room. Some items that surprised people were shoelaces and belts, which can be used as a tourniquet for shooting up; and a bottle of vanilla extract, which can be ingested in order to get buzzed.

The Kewaskum Statesman will sponsor a candidate forum for the Kewaskum School District Board of Education election. The public is encouraged to submit questions they would like asked at the forum. There are five candidates running for three positions on the school board. They include incumbents Jay Fisher, Troy Hanson, and Sue Ann Miller as well as Bradley A. Petersen and Gregg Denman.

Kewaskum Middle School students will present Honk! this weekend.

The Kewaskum Noteables performed February 4 in New London. The group placed second in its division at the competition.

Farmington Elementary School students participated in a Sign-A-Board community service project to support Washington/Dodge County Habitat for Humanity. FES families responded enthusiastically and generously, raising $500. They purchased a board for each class to decorate and sign as well as the 6,525 nails needed to build a Habitat for Humanity home, and still had some money left over to purchase other materials and supplies needed for the project.

Eric Bauer, Braden Maertz, Adam Bruss, and Alex Deheck have advanced to Sectional wrestling.

Kewaskum High School wide receiver Brady Hanson is on the roster for the Wisconsin Football Coaches Association's 2017 All-Star Games. The games will be played July 15 at Titan Stadium on the UW-Oshkosh campus.

Residents in the Town of Farmington will have a chance to speak their minds regarding a change in the town's commercial zoning land uses. A proposal by Arnold's Environmental to store septic waste on the James Degnitz farm is the reason for the change. Degnitz previously used the storage tank for animal waste associated with his dairy farm, but he no longer needs the 435,000-gallon storage facility that was built in 1976. The stored waste would be spread on Degnitz's fields and in other communities when weather permits. Arnold's must meet three required codes by the DNR.

Next Tuesday, voters will narrow the field for the state's top court position as there are presently three candidates and only two can appear on the April ballot. The candidates include Washington County Circuit Court Judge Annette Ziegler, Madison Civil Attorney Linda Clifford, and Oregon Defense Attorney Joseph Sommers.

A Washington County jury convicted John Brayshaw, 58, of 18 counts of failure to support a child. The former Town of Farmington resident owes his ex-wife over $260,000 in child support for his two children from the last 10 years. He will be sentenced April 19 and faces more than 60 years in prison.

Cayden Dwyer, a second grader at Kewaskum Elementary School, has qualified for the USASA Nationals, which will be held in Lake Tahoe in April. He began snowboarding at age five.

The Kewaskum High School Boys Basketball Team ended a six-game losing streak by beating Kiel 49-41.

Nine members of the Kewaskum High School Wrestling Team have advanced to Sectionals.

The Glacier Inn, one of Kewaskum's most historic landmarks, will be under new ownership as of February 21. Marlene and Bob Nagel, who took over the restaurant in August 1994, announced the building has been purchased by Kewaskum native Gary Gavin. The sale is due to health reasons. Gavin plans to completely remodel both levels of the building's interior, which is expected to take about two-and-one-half months.

As of January 4, the Kewaskum Post Office operation has been under the supervision of a new postmaster. His name is Ed Wanta. He resides in Richfield and was transferred to Kewaskum from the Cedarburg Post Office, where he served as supervisor for four years.

The Kewaskum School District voted to allow taxpayers a say in purchasing land for future district building projects during Monday night's school board meeting. The referendum will be placed on the ballot for the April 1 spring election, asking residents to approve authorizing the issuance of general obligation bonds in an amount not to exceed $600,000 for the sole purpose of purchasing land.

A power failure which lasted almost two hours early Saturday evening in Kewaskum and the surrounding area left approximately 1,200 customers without light, heat and power in very cold weather. Officials of the Electric Co. said the failure was attributed to a circuit breaker blowing up at the St. Lawrence plant on a highline transmission. For the most part, the outage occurred from 5-7 p.m., but some malfunctions were not corrected until about 8 p.m.

A new salary and wage scale for municipal employees that reflect an increase of five percent over the present pay scale was approved by the village board at Monday night's meeting. The percentage of increase is less than one year ago when pay hikes averaged nine percent. The new pay scale is retroactive to January 1.

When the Kewaskum High and Junior High bands perform February 15, the theme will be patriotic composers of America.

There will be a bus available for interested spectators to see Clark Eichstedt, former Kewaskum High School star and Scenic Moraine all-conference player, play with the St. Norbert's College basketball team against the University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee on February 14.

Lawrence Galabinske, Jr., 30, a Kewaskum trucker, was injured after being pinned under a semi-trailer tractor over an hour in sub-zero weather on Friday evening. The tractor apparently slipped off a jack while he was putting chains on the tires. He returned home from the hospital this week. At the present time, the extent of the damage to his arm is still undetermined. Fortunately, he was wearing heavy clothing and gloves, so he did not suffer any ill effects from exposure.

CHS January Students of the Month

Campbellsport High School is proud to announce their Students of the Month for the month of January. All high school students are eligible for this honor. Teachers make their selections based upon attitude, effort, character, interest and achievement as exhibited in the classroom and school community. Administration, faculty, and staff are committed to developing future leaders in our community. We want to honor those who are striving each and every day to be those future leaders who demonstrate this by their positive actions and behaviors. Congratulations to Emily Brehmer, Mandy Gonzalez, Kaylie Beisbier and Ethan Kohlmann for being selected as the CHS Students of the Month in January.

Emily Brehmer

The Campbellsport High School Science Department Student of the Month nominee is Emily Brehmer. When walking in the door in the mornings, Emily never fails to greet me with a warm smile and a hello, making the start of the day a pleasant one. During class, she exhibits a desire to learn and succeed by actively participating in discussions and asking questions for clarification, showing a strong sense of self-advocacy. She is always quick to help someone if they have questions or need a listening ear, showing kindness along the way. I am so excited to be able to continue to watch her grow in my class. Go Emily! (Submitted by Mrs. White)

Mandy Gonzalez

The Spanish Department would like to recognize Mandy Gonzalez as our student of the month. Mandy is currently taking Spanish V and would be one of only two students who are eligible to take Spanish VI the final year that it will be offered. Mandy is so much fun to have in class and I love starting my day with her. Her outlook on everything is so positive and she gives me a reason to smile every day. Mandy was the student to come up with our current question of the day format which I now use for both Spanish IV and Spanish V. I appreciated the fact that she wanted to improve our communication skills and her suggestion of a theme for the day and coming up with questions on the spot that go with the theme really challenges everyone to think on their feet. Mandy participates fully every single day and I look forward to her comments and questions which are always quite entertaining. I think the best part about starting my day with Mandy and this Spanish V class is that everyone gets along so well and can work together despite the fact that they may not belong to the same friend group outside of class. I appreciate the maturity mixed with a huge dose of goofiness that all the girls bring to the class. As for Mandy individually, I can't even think about her without smiling! My favorite memory about Mandy so far this year in class has nothing to do with Spanish. There was someone in the hall that was having trouble opening a locker and we were going through some questions at the time in class. Mandy really was trying so hard to focus and participate, but I could see that she felt bad about the person not being able to open the locker. She finally asked me if she could go out in the hall to help. It was just the nicest gesture and for her to be so concerned for a student that she didn't even know tells you a lot about the kind of person she is. Sometimes it is the little things that stand out the most. Gracias Cálida por ser una de mis personas favoritas - siempre me haces reír y sentirme mejor con el mundo. (Submitted by Mrs. Ellenbecker)

Kaylie Beisbier

Kaylie Beisbier is the high school English department's student of the month for January. Kaylie is a person who excels in many different areas and who does not limit herself to only one area of interest. She is an athlete, a musician, and most importantly, a great student. English is a subject that requires students to master a wide variety of skills, ranging from more personal, intellectual areas like language and reading to external skills like writing and public speaking. Kaylie has excelled in all areas of English class (and all of her classes, for that matter). Kaylie is also a hard worker and a willing contributor to the success of others. She helps other students in need and works well in group settings. For these reasons and many more, Kaylie is the English department's student of the month. (Submitted by Mr. Schmitt)

Ethan Kohlman

The FCS department would like to nominate Ethan Kohlmann as student of the month. Collectively, the CTE department agrees that he is very deserving. Ethan has shown immense progress in many ways throughout his high school career, but this year, especially, he has gone above and beyond as a leader. Ethan works extremely hard in school and sports, outside of his other responsibilities. Ethan is an exemplary and model student - always turning in quality work and always using his class time efficiently and effectively. Ethan also focuses on and values his classes; he is never distracted by or using electronics when he shouldn't be, and demonstrates a clear, daily, appreciation for learning. These are rare attributes of other Brianna follows in her sister Amber's footsteps who did the same thing last season. Brianna will be going to the State Singles Tournament to be held from March 4-6 in Appleton.

Good luck to the Cougars and to Brianna!

Improved Cougars Talk of the Flyway

The CHS boys basketball team is having a renaissance year as the team sits in second place in-conference

CLARICE CASE JOURNALIST

For those close to the program, the Campbellsport Cougars' success, this season, in boys' basketball comes as no surprise: The past few seasons, after several years near the bottom of their conference standings, CHS has improved steadily each campaign under head coach Jordan Dreikosen.

But, perhaps, no one quite saw the explosion of talent that has rewarded fans of Cougars basketball all season, as the Gold and Blue are just one game behind Flyway-leading St. Mary's Springs with several opportunities, yet, to draw even or take the lead from the Ledgers.

This year's glory really started last fall after the Cougars found success on the gridiron: Campbellsport football made it all the way to Level 3 of the Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association (WIAA) Playoffs – their first appearance as a program to that depth of the post-season – and have continued to find prosperity on the parquet.

Under the direction of second-year head coach Jordan Dreikosen – a 2015 CHS grad – the Campbellsport varsity boys' basketball team is currently in second place with a 7-3 conference record and 13-3 overall.

Dreikosen believes the biggest difference between this season and the last is experience.

"We have a lot of guys back from last year and the experience, the maturity and the growth the boys have showed is just unbelievable," he said.

Junior Mitchell McCarty, who has been a leader in scoring and rebounding for the Cougars throughout the season, said he and his teammate's history of playing basketball with one another is finally paying dividends.

"This is this group's second year of all playing together, so we have a good understanding of how each other play and where they are the most successful," said McCarty.

Senior guard Jalen Gellings added that, in many ways, the learning experiences last year have helped the team this season.

"We were a young team last year just trying to prove that we were a solid team with a lot of heart," he said.

In his first season last year,

The Kewaskum girls basketball team traveled to New Holstein on Feb. 1 for a marquee-matchup between two teams that combined for only five losses. To make things even more challenging, the Indians were without starters Julia Steger (injury) and Annie Christenson (illness), and yet, it was Kewaskum outlasting the Huskies, 57-52.

New Holstein, which feature one of the top scorers in the state – junior Grace Schisel, who averages 25 points-per-game – jumped out to an early 9-1 lead as the Indians took a little time to figure out how to defend the early pick-and-roll action.

Kewaskum started figuring out New Holstein's half-court trapping defense and was able to get some easy baskets and, eventually, took a 27-25 lead into the break.

Kewaskum went on a nice run at the beginning of the second half, and Julia Steger, left, smiles to the applause of the audience at the Kewaskum Field House after she and her "Biggest Fan" completed a halftime skills show. Steger and Kewaskum held off Kettle Moraine Lutheran at home to secure an 8-1 East Central Conference record. The Lady Indians, as of print time, were 18-2 overall this season and ranked fifth in the WIAA Division 3 rankings.

Junior Madi Dogs displayed her dominance on both ends of the court, as the versatile guard finished with 16 points, nine rebounds and three steals. Her play in the second helped to push the lead to double digits for the Indians.

A few late three-pointers from junior Haley Butschlick, and free throws from junior Morgan Adams, helped ward off a late rally by the Huskies, and Kewaskum escaped with a 57-52 victory.

Defensive Slog Favors Kewaskum

Two days later, Kewaskum had "round two" with conference rival the Kettle Moraine Lutheran (KML) Chargers.

KML had been playing quite well leading into this game, and proved to be one of the best defensive teams the Indians have faced this season, but it was still Kewaskum on top at the end, 37-29.

Kewaskum turned the ball over 12 times in the first half, which resulted in the Indians facing a halftime deficit of one point.

"KML shoots a lot of three pointers," said Kewaskum head coach Russ Thull. "They can heat up in a hurry if you give them open looks. They knocked a few down in the first half, and when they were missing, we weren't doing a good enough job rebounding those misses."

The story that turned the tides in the second half, though, was the defense of Kewaskum.

The Indians had consistently been holding opponents to significantly lower scores than each team's average: They held New Holstein 20-points under its average without two starters and, in the second half of the KML game, Kewaskum dug in and made it extremely difficult for them to score.

KML made it interesting with a late three-point make, but, ultimately, Kewaskum buckled down and maintained a commanding lead for the eight-point win. This season, it was the first victory for the Indians in which they trailed at halftime.

The duo of Dogs and Christenson shouldered much of the offense, as Christenson finished with 10, and Dogs finished with 13 to go along with 15 rebounds.

Next up for the Indians is Waupun on Feb. 11. They hosted Berlin after print time on Tuesday, Feb. 3.

If the Indians were to win both games, they would be tied for first place in the East Central with Waupun.

Postseason seeding will take place on Saturday, Feb. 12, with early projections placing Kewaskum as a two-seed, but possibly as high as a one-seed: A win at Waupun on Friday could, feasibly, give the Indians a shot at spot number-one.

Dreikosen said there weren't really any expectations of the team, and they were projected to win just two games.

Besides exceeding Dreikosen's expectations to grow and mature this season, the team also set four goals: They want to become the conference champions, rank in the top ten teams in the state, compete for the gold ball and, most importantly, but most simply, win.

"The key to our success has to be that we have been working hard since the first practice," Gellings said. "As a team, we love to compete with each other and make each other better. Another one is our chemistry on and off the court. It doesn't matter who is on the court, we all can play together at 100%."

And that chemistry was something Dreikosen was fortunate enough to witness develop from its beginnings.

"It has come full circle for me," Dreikosen said. "When this senior class was back in elementary school, fourth and fifth grade, I [was] in high school playing for the varsity team and [working as a referee for] their games back when they were eight, nine years old."

Now their coach, Dreikosen has had the opportunity to make a bigger impression on these boys. Besides his mention of discipline and hard work, McCarty and Gellings agreed coach Dreikosen has taught them trust, leadership, respect and how to battle through adversity.

But the student athletes have not been the only ones learning this season.

"I've learned that it takes a lot of work to be successful," Dreikosen said. "A lot of long nights, sleepless nights, a lot of preparation and a lot of scouting. To put it all together, it's so worth it. Just to see the kids being happy with each other, having fun together and building relationships is pretty much the reason I coach."

One of the team's proudest moments of the season was beating the Mayville Cardinals, which they managed to do twice this season. Mayville, in the pre-season, was a favorite to win the conference along with St. Mary's Springs.

"We had that one marked on the calendar since they were one of the better teams in the conference," McCarty said.

Gellings added that, to be the best, you have to beat the best.

Campbellsport Area Jaycee Annual Youth Fisherre

Saturday, Feb. 5 | Lake Bernice | (ALL PHOTOS BY BREANNA RICE)

Wipeout! These gents take a tumble while attempting to get a lift. While everyone was fine, the same can't be said for the full contents of that mug.

Chelsea and her pa try to handle this big catch on Lake Bernice last weekend. The Campbellsport Area Jaycees held their annual fisheriee in Elmore, with dozens of young fishers participating.

When the fish weren't biting, the youths found other ways to stay busy.

AN Outdoorsman's JOURNAL

Clark County Squirrel Hunt

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

I have often written about the 50 falls in a row that I have hunted deer in northern Juneau County while camping with family and friends; and how four people evolved from a tent to 25 people putting up a steel pole barn for two weeks on public land and than taking it down.

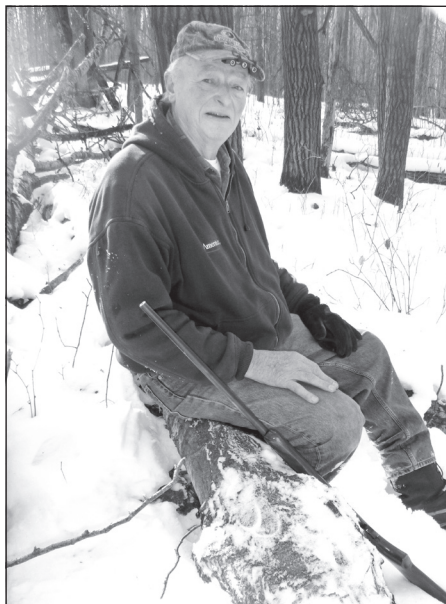

When it was just my father – the late Robert Walters – my brothers – Tom and Mike – and then Jeff Moll, we would camp next to some Milwaukee guys that were very tough and a whole-heck-of-a-lot-of-fun. Those guys were Lynn Halboth, Tony Wagner and the late Larry Sowle.

All three of my eventual pals are about 14 years older than me and took me under their wing when I turned 18 and would stay at camp after my family left. I cannot write about all of the things they taught me or about all the places that they took me, but, exactly 50 years later, we are still great friends (R.I.P. Larry!).

So, what am I getting at here?

All three of these guys ended up living in Clark County near Willard, and I had not seen them since covid hit, and so, we needed an excuse to laugh a lot.

I came up with a dandy and that was that I could hunt squirrel on Lynn's 116-acres of pure paradise, and at night we could socialize.

In all honesty, Tony, Lynn and I have a great connection. When I arrived today, every squirrel in Lynn's woods was safe, as the three of us sat in Lynn's kitchen and talked and laughed for a long time.

Next, we headed over to JJ's Bar and Grill for a top notch fish fry, and then we went over to Willard where my good friend Dean Lesar, a.k.a. "Shoe", a long time publisher of The Tribune Record Gleaner, had purchased Freddie's Bar, and we had a great time speaking with a lot of good people about hunting, fishing, farming and everything in between.

SATURDAY, JAN. 29

I don't know if you are aware of this, but squirrel are not very active on cold January days.

This morning, I would be carrying my Remington 597 "22" and Lynn would be shooting a Winchester single shot 22.

We were both in kind of rough shape and right away Lynn got his UTV stuck in a snow drift, then, he realized the four-wheel drive wasn't working.

Next, we had to walk a very long ways across a field that had some pretty deep snow drifts that my old pole-climbing buddy (Lynn was a linemen for AT&T) did not like. Once, he fell over in a snow drift, and it was pure luck that he got upright.

So, we hit the woods that is chalk full of deer and squirrel sign but all the squirrel are hiding on us.

Eventually we made it back to Lynn's home without firing a shot and, after a snooze, I hit the woods by myself.

No squirrel action and back to camp at dark; zero festivities tonight.

SUNDAY, JAN. 30
HIGH: 21, LOW: 4

I am a cured man; was wandering the woods at first light and, to be perfectly honest, loving it.

When I was a young boy, I was as good a squirrel hunter as you could find. Five kids living with just a dad; I made the 22 and the forest my best friend. I kept having those memories this morning, and I also loved exploring the winter version of a Wisconsin forest with heavy wildlife signs.

My first real action of this three-day hunt came with five squirrels in a group of oaks, and I am glad I was not being videoed as I was missing.

I explored further into the forest and saw gray-on-white, or "squirrel on snow." I did my sneak and the dang squirrel kept going on the other side of the oak tree. I was patient, and after 15 minutes, it stuck it's head out, and I sent him to the frying pan.

I felt like I just threw a touchdown pass for the Packers.

I kept exploring and, once again, I saw gray-on-white. I did a sneak, played the same game, took a shot and, out of the old oak tree, tumbled squirrel number-two.

At this point, I' m thinking: Who needs Aaron Rogers? I can handle the job.

My last last squirrel was the best, yet.

I saw it running on the snow one hundred yards away. It climbed a tree. I made a sneak; in all honesty it was a 50-yard shot. I figured, what do I have to lose? – I am already the next quarterback to take the Packers to the Super Bowl.

I squeezed the trigger and, walla, we just won the Super Bowl.

Lynn still has not recovered from Friday night and told me he will call when I can make my next visit!

“We wanted to prove to the conference that we are going to be a tough team to beat,” he added.

A tough team to beat is right – as of print time, the Cougars have lost just three games, and none of them consecutively – but it is even tougher to find a team as special as this one.

“I have good kids, and they’re so respectful, they’re very competitive, they fight for one another, they fight for the coaching staff and they fight for me,” Dreikosen said, acknowledging that the most important thing about playing high school sports is the lessons learned that can be applied outside of school. “All I can do in return is double that and give even more back to the program. I just feel very honored that I was chosen to coach these young men.”

Gellings, one of the team’s senior leaders, mirrored the statements of his coach.

“I love my boys, and the coaching staff,” Gellings said, noting the relationship between player and coach is a two-way street. “I wouldn’t want to play with any other team. I would also like to thank coach Dreikosen

Cougar Mitchell McCarty elevates for a short jump shot against Mayville. The junior big has been on a tear this season – he’s averaging roughly 16 points and 12 rebounds per contest. He tied for the game-high (15 points) and had a game-high rebound tally (16) in the win last week over the Cardinals. CLARICE CASE PHOTO for being a role model in my life, and always having my back even though we don’t always agree.”

The seniors, including Gellings, will have four games left in their final regular season, with the next three contests being played on the road.

The Cougars will return to the friendly confines of Campbellsport High School for their last game of the season, which will be against the Springs Ledgers on Thursday, Feb. 24.

The implications for the top-spot in the Flyway could be enormous.

“I feel like this is one of the greater seasons that the Campbellsport people have seen in a while,” Gellings said. “I’m proud of where we are at the moment, and we are looking to keep winning.”

dual 9-1 early in the year.

Koth was down 8-7 late in the third and got a reversal with 15 seconds left and was able to ride out Fulton for the win. In the finals, he was up against Alex Faber of Lomira, who also beat Koth a few weeks earlier, 10-4, in the dual. Koth used two takedowns and two escapes, plus some smart wrestling, to beat Faber 6-3 for his title.

Also wrestling up a weight class was JJ Ksioszk at 145 pounds. JJ used a tech fall and a first-period pin to set up a rematch with Brandon Faber of Lomira who beat Ksioszk 4-2 in the aforementioned dual. Ksioszk would not be denied this time as he dominated the match, getting two takedowns while putting Faber to his back twice, to earn a 10-4 decision to earn his conference title.

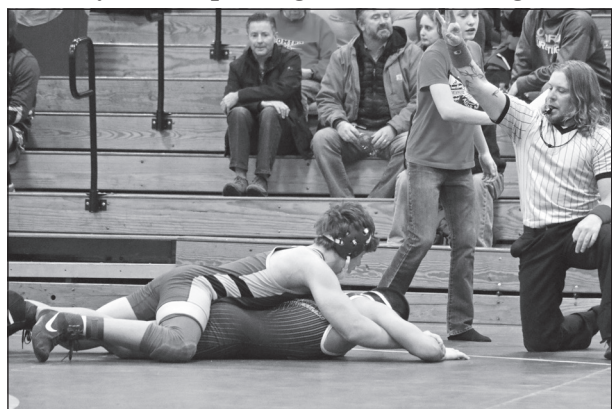

Campbellsport’s final title came at 220 pounds where Joseph Volz had a bye first round and then got a first period pin of AJ Reha of Lomira. This set him up against the number one seed: Aiden Last of Laconia.

Volz would use a second-period takedown to take Last to his back and pinned him in 3:11 to earn his title.

Karsten Krueger would get a bye at 106 pounds and then earn a hard fought 8-7 decision over Marshall Hanke of Lomira to earn his trip to the finals. In the championship match, Krueger got the early takedown and put his opponent to his back a couple times and even led 8-4 after one period.

In the second, however, Krueger shot in at Hanke but got caught with a head grab. Hanke made the most of opportunity, and pinned his opponent for the gold.

At 113 pounds, Cougar Chris Meyer would also use a bye and a pin to get to the finals against a familiar foe: Oscar Lopez of Lomira.

With the score tied in the second period, Lopez would use an escape and then, in the third period, a reversal and penalty point gave Lopez a 6-2 advantage over Meyer, which is how the match would end. This was the third time Lopez defeated Meyer.

Brody Nolan, at 126 pounds, would use a pin and a technical fall to earn his trip to the finals wherein he ran into Bryce Britton of Laconia. Brody would get caught in a rat poison and would eventually get pinned and finish in second place.

Campbellsport’s last finalist was Brock Bentz at 285.

Bentz would get a pin in the first round and then hit a beautiful head throw against Payton Bakri of Winnebago Lutheran to get a trip to the finals. Brock would have to face state-ranked Zach Pust of Lomira, and Prust pinned him in the first period.

From Lomira, in addition to Prust and Lopez, Turner Wagoner (152) and Logan Neitzel (182) earned conference championships in their respective weight classes.

From Mayville, Zane Vetter (195) was the lone Cardinal to earn a conference title.

This Saturday, Feb. 12, the Cougars will host the WIAA Regional Tournament. Wrestling will start at 10 a.m., and Campbellsport will be joined by Kewaskum, Lomira, Mayville, Watertown Luther Prep and Lake Country Lutheran. The top two individuals at each weight class will move on to sectionals.

Should any local team win the regional title, that squad will wrestle in Omro on Tuesday, Feb. 15, at the WIAA Team Sectional where four teams will dual for the right to go to WIAA Team State.

students his age. Above all, though, Ethan's personality is what sets him apart. Ethan's leadership skills are outstanding; he takes initiative in class to help lead by example, he will start class activities without prompting, and constantly offers to help in whatever way he can. Often, Ethan also does these things without even being asked. Ethan is super courteous and respectful and is a kind and cooperative classmate to any peers. He will work with anyone without complaint and does his share of the work and helps others if needed. This sincere and genuine consideration for others is such a rare and admirable characteristic. Ethan brings so much positivity and joy to our classes, and he has a great personality. Ethan never appears he is the perfect candidate for student of the month. (Submitted by Mrs. Meyer)
