On Travel

Dear Reader,

The world offers a full menu of locations to visit. In fact, the menu is too full for even the longest of lifetimes. Thus, travelers, even the most ambitious ones, are compelled to be choosy about where they want to go. One might want to go to one of the poles, north or south; or go to Narvik, Norway, the Land of the Midnight Sun; or Machu Picchu, once believed to be the center, the "bellybutton" of the world by the Incas. These, like a multitude of places in the world, all emote a unique cachet of experience that is worth the effort.

When prioritizing the select "must-see" spots that are worthy of being near or at the top of the list, one might want to consider Granada and Santiago de Compostela, both located in Spain.

Granada offers a wealth of history, literature (Washington Irving – "Tales of the Alhambra"), and bewitching scenery, some man-made and some natural, that will inspire and leave an indelible impression on one's mind.

Santiago de Compostela, the city of Saint James and "a field of stars", offers a spiritual awakening that can be further nurtured through sharing with a loved one. One may make a pilgrimage there from 500 miles or 50 steps depending on health, will and stamina, and with the guiding force of the Holy Spirit will stamp the soul with a vision forever imprinted.

Travel is an art. Those who have trod on the dusty roads, climbed on the steepest mountains, and deftly maneuvered through the busiest of metropolises know that. Some of the finer techniques and concepts that can help a traveler experience success are:

1. Know thyself and how you operate.
2. Be aware of others you meet and sensitive to different languages, mindsets, and cultures.
3. Never go the entire way alone; life is a shared experience for it to be meaningful.
4. Always put your travel companion and his or her needs first.
5. Research and learn prior to, during, and after the journey.
6. Keep a journal since "the faintest ink is more powerful than the strongest memory."
7. Be authentic and true to yourself with all who you encounter.
8. Keep an awareness about you to avoid the danger of the elements and bad actors.
9. Prepare with care yet also be ready to be flexible since sometimes life presents unexpected opportunities.
10. Make merry and have fun each day and night.

This is just a starter-list of places to see and a manner in which to see them. It undoubtedly warrants many additions that each traveler will make while developing a list of one's own. At the final sunset, hopefully in learning so much about the how the world goes around, we will have spent more vibrant, compassionate and dynamic lives enriched by all of God's majesty and gifts He bestowed upon us.

G.A. SCHEINOHA
CONTRIBUTOR

First breaking in a wave that rolled across the nation from west; Seattle and LA to east, they became standard fixtures on sitcoms such as Friends (Central Perk) and Frasier (Cafe Nervosa). They, of course being coffee houses.

Still, despite the explosion of them in Fond du Lac over the last couple decades, these aren't something you'd expect to see in small towns such as Kewaskum or Campbellsport. Usually a local diner; Fussy Feebies or the Eden Cafe served that purpose. Yet here they are.

The Coffee Corner Bistro in Kewaskum was established, as a sign announces, in 1995. Blond furniture against spackled wall, pale above dark with painted tin ceiling rouses an atmosphere rivaled only by the aroma of a freshly brewed pot of joe.

At the Blue Door Coffee Company in Campbellsport, the digs have that deliberate simply finished look with an open ceiling (visible HVAC pipes) suspended above and beyond the brick and slanted panes display case. Off towards the side a large overhead door with glass panels gives a good gander at the streetlife; a steady stream of traffic bound towards or from lower town.

What better place to meet friends or family and reconnect during increasingly hectic hours of busy daily routine? Seems time gets away on all of us. Not to mention the ceaseless demands for our attention. Especially if you're tied to one of those ever present links to the outside world; a cell phone.

Take a load off at one of the glass topped tables built from 2 by 4 studs. Or cruise by the drive up window. Sometimes, just a few minutes spent either with company or alone in such quaint surroundings are enough to release all the pent up feelings of a day which has got up and gone wrong from the start. Now isn't that a whole sight better?

American Legion Auxiliary to Collect Pop Tabs for Earth Day

The American Legion Auxiliary Unity 384 of Kewaskum is currently collecting the tabs from aluminum beverage canned goods.

Each year, from April to April, the Auxiliary collects the tabs, which in turn are recycled on Earth Day (April 22). The money from the tabs is given to the Second District of the American Legion Auxiliary. The money collected from all Wisconsin units is donated to the Burn Center or to Children's Hospital in Milwaukee.

Please help the Legion Auxiliary and snap off tabs. Drop off your tabs by April 19 at the American Legion Hall, 1538 Fond du Lac Ave. in Kewaskum, or at Gwen Dreher's house, 1107 Fond du Lac Ave. near the Kewaskum Fire Station.

The American Legion Auxiliary appreciates all contributions.

FDL Symphonic Band to Present 41st Annual Spring Pops Concert

Under the direction of Music Director Dale Shipe and Associate Conductor Jill Wagner, the Fond du Lac Symphonic Band will present its 41st annual Pops Concert on Saturday, April 23, at 7 p.m. at the FDL High School Performing Arts Center, 801 Campus Drive.

The concert will feature guest artists, Kyle Megna and the Monsoons, in the premiere performance of "I Never Can Say No," written at the symphonic band's request for the band and the Monsoons by noted Wisconsin composer John Harmon. Based in the Fox Valley, Kyle Megna and the Monsoons were named the 2017 and 2018 Wisconsin Area Music Industry (WAMI) Alternative Rock/Rock Artist of the year and 2018 Male Vocalist of the year. A widely-commissioned composer, Oshkosh native John Harmon has composed music for the Milwaukee Symphony, Duluth Symphony, Santa Fe Chamber Orchestra and many others. A 1957 graduate of Lawrence University, in 1970 he returned to Lawrence to develop and direct its new jazz studies program, and in 1974 he was co-founder of the critically acclaimed, contemporary nonet, "Matrix," with whom he recorded five albums. His music contains elements of jazz, as well as Americana and Native American influences.

The symphonic band's own Kurt Shipe will be featured trumpet soloist in "A Tribute to Harry James." Currently a resident of Oshkosh, Shipe studied music at the University of Wisconsin-Eau Claire. He is a member of the Madison-based 132nd Wisconsin Army National Guard Concert Band and director of the 132nd Army Band's Jazz Ensemble. Shipe freelances on trumpet with a variety of regional groups, including Vic Ferrari, Wifée and the Huzzband, Kyle Megna and the Monsoons, Stephen Cooper and Nobody Famous, The Jazz Orgy, Sly Joe and the Smooth Operators, Water City Jazz Orchestra, and Unity the Band.

There is no limit to the number of volunteers you can thank.

KEWASKUM POLICE BEAT

March 23 to April 5

The following was provided by Kewaskum Police Department (KPD) Chief Tom Bishop:

March 26 – Rescue Call – Officer Novobielski responded to a residence for a male party who was unable to breathe. CPR was started and other life-saving measures were implemented until rescue personnel arrived and took over the scene.

April 3 – Disorderly Conduct – A female contacted police because her sister wouldn't leave the residence after they were involved in a physical altercation with each other. The sister did leave prior to police arrival. Both parties declined any enforcement action.

April 3 – Domestic Disturbance – KPD was dispatched to a residence on Timblin Drive for a fight between a mother and her daughter. Upon investigation it was discovered that the daughter and the mother were fighting over keys to a vehicle. The daughter pinned her mother on the recliner in an attempt to get the keys. Mother did attempt to push her daughter off but was unable to, resulting in marks and bruising on the daughter. The daughter was arrested for disorderly conduct, domestic abuse related, as well as being placed on a hold by Probation and Parole.

April 3 – Domestic Disturbance / Fleeing an Officer – KPD was dispatched to a residence on Timblin Drive to take a report of damage to property. The caller's boyfriend was angry at her and broke off kitchen cabinet doors, broke a kitchen drawer, punched dents into the refrigerator and freezer, and punched a hole into the wall. He also smashed a phone. It was reported that he left in a blue pick-up truck with a ladder rack and black tool boxes on the back. The officer cleared the scene with an "Attempt to Locate" put out to area agencies to locate the suspect and bring him into custody.

Approximately 40 minutes later, KPD was called back to the residence as the male party had returned and left again. It was reported that he may have obtained a firearm. While in route to the residence, Chief Bishop located the suspect's vehicle at the Kewaskum Citgo on Fond du Lac Avenue. Chief Bishop activated his emergency lights and approached the driver's side window of the truck, ordering the driver to put the truck in park and exit the vehicle. The driver initially complied, but then put the truck in drive and sped off west bound on Clinton Street. Chief Bishop pursued the vehicle until terminating the chase due to the suspect's high speeds and reckless driving.

The suspect, David Styve, was later apprehended and charged with crimes in Fond du Lac County. Charges have been requested in Washington County for Criminal Damage to Property and Disorderly Conduct, both Domestic Abuse Related, as well as Fleeing and Officer. Numerous traffic citations will be issued as well.

Fifth, there is the question of what is a "donation" to the church versus a church due. One social aspect of the document is the decision by St. Kilian Church to publicly list the church dues paid. This includes the decision to list those who had not paid their dues. One argument in favor is the public pressure likely increased cash flow into the church, and sustained the small parish longer than others. However, there is the element of public shaming argued by others in what some see as an intentional decision to list those who donated a lot, those who donated the minimum, and those who hadn't paid.

Lastly, this document is courtesy of Fern Bonlender Ryan (1934-2019), my grandmother. She was raised outside of St. Kilian and grew up in its parish. She graduated from the eight-grade parochial school in 1948. This 1951 church report was from her father, Ervin Bonlender Sr. (1900-1972). She saved this record when she moved to Eden after marrying Karl Ryan and joined St. Mary's parish. It is important to credit those who saved historical items, and their decision to save artifacts is an indication of what is valued. Just like checkbooks and financial reports.

5 Years Ago

Kewaskum Elementary School has been recognized as a Title I High Progress School. This is the second year in a row a Kewaskum school received a School of Recognition Award from the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction. District representatives will receive the award during a ceremony scheduled at the State Capitol on May 1.

An article was published about Larry Ammel. He had passed away earlier in the week. Ammel had been a longtime band director for the Kewaskum School District. He founded numerous community organizations such as the Kewaskum Big Band, the Kewaskum Area Arts Council, the Kewaskum Arts Festival, the Community Men's Choir, and the Music in the Park series.

Members of American Legion Post 384 collected clothing for the Wisconsin Veterans Home in King. With hundreds of pieces of clothing donated, an entire pickup truck was filled.

Bob Lenz, an internationally-known speaker with Dignity Revolution, spoke to students at both Kewaskum High School and Kewaskum Middle School. He brought a message of hope for teens dealing with issues such as self-harm, suicide, and bullying. Lenz knows what it is like to be made fun of. He went to a special speech class while in elementary school for a speech impediment and other children said he was retarded, just like his brother, who had cerebral palsy and epilepsy and was intellectually disabled.

Kewaskum School District musicians who qualified for the State Solo and Ensemble Festival will perform at a Honors Recital the pieces they will perform at the State competition.

Language is also being updated so that tattoo businesses must provide proof of liability insurance when they fill out an application to open a shop. Until now, Alter-Ego Tattoo Studio was the sole tattoo studio in Kewaskum. Now Georgiana Reichard can open a studio.

Area businesses are sought to participate in a Kewaskum Business Expo that is scheduled for May 23.

A house fire on Highway F in the Town of Osceola claimed the life of a 63-year-old rural Campbellsport man. The Fond du Lac County fire investigator does not deem the fire suspicious. With the failure of the school district referendum to purchase land behind them, members of the Kewaskum School Board are still faced with the task of convincing the public something needs to be done to alleviate overcrowded classrooms, address traffic safety issues, and decide what should be done with the vacant Beechwood school. Although board members agreed to an April 23 work session to start the ball rolling, the majority overwhelmingly indicated they would not be pressed to rush selecting one facility model approach to meet a deadline.

LORI KREIS
DIRECTOR, KEWASKUM PUBLIC LIBRARY

We are coming to the end of our East Asia programming made possible by the grant we received from the Center for East Asian Studies. Besides the programming we were able to bring to the community, our collection has been enhanced with quality books about these cultures for children and adults and a nice assortment of films. I would like to highlight the two remaining programs we have scheduled for this month.

The kite workshop has been rescheduled from March and will be held on Saturday, April 23, from 10:30 to 12:30 p.m. I hope the weather will be more suitable for flying kites than it was on the first scheduled day. If not, we will still have the program which can start inside the Community Room. We have a large supply of kite making materials that are appropriate for all ages. This includes the kite base made from Tyvek, a spool of kite line and a tail that can be attached. The kites are undecorated so there will be materials for decorating your kite to make it unique to you. And yes, there will be plenty of kites for every person that attends to make their own. Then go ahead and take your completed kite outside and fly it on the library lawn. We will have several volunteers available to assist with flying, but welcome more kites that would be willing to help. Feel free to contact me or just stop in between now and the workshop on April 23, to sign up to volunteer. Besides the smaller kites from the kits, we will have several larger ones with an Asian theme that will be on display for anyone to try their hand at flying. Whether you are an expert flyer or a novice like me, we hope to see you Saturday, April 23, to fly a kite.

Chinese calligraphy is an art form that originated more than 2,000 years ago. The term calligraphy means "beautiful writing" and is one of the Chinese traditional arts and a written form that unifies the languages spoken in China. We are lucky to be able to bring instructors from the North American Chinese School to teach a class on this beautiful craft. Participants will learn about its rich history, see demonstrations on how to write the special characters and then try their hand at brush strokes of their own. We have authentic brushes and ink and will have special paper to practice on. This class will be held on Tuesday, April 26, at 4 p.m. The target audience for this class is adults and teens ages 14 and older. We are asking for advanced registration for the Chinese Calligraphy program so we can have enough supplies. Please call, email, or stop in to register.

As we wrap up our East Asian programming, we hope you participated in some of it. If not, I hope to see you at the upcoming opportunities to experience one of these special programs.

Revamped Sports Pages Debut Next Week

MITCHELL BRADLEY KELLER
ACTING EDITOR

The weekly Sports Pages of this newspaper are due for a makeover, and I am thrilled to announce that next week, thanks to a very important local sponsor, we are revamping this section in an effort to better solidify our local sports coverage.

While the weather has put a damper on the early going, we are eager to roll our sports content from the first part of the spring seasons.

These “new look” pages will include weekly stats, standings and consistent stories and features.

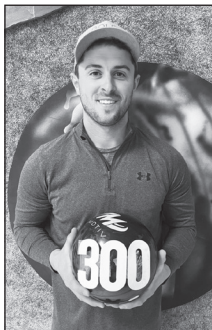

Check back next week to see the new pages and to meet our new sponsor!

February was Short on Days but Not Strikes at King Pin

On February 21, in the Monday Night Uptown League, Chad “Spook” Schmitt had the hottest hand by far. The Great Ice Storm of 2022 that was brewing outside that night couldn’t even cool him off. Not only did he roll a perfect 300 during his first game, but he also smashed the pins the other two games for an 820 series knocking off the Strike-it-Rich Jackpot for $1,895 in the process. He rolled 300 – 245 – 275 to achieve his 820 series. Chad has been bowling for more than 46 years and has been on the Monday Night Uptown League for 28 of those years. He said the only thought he had running through his head during the last ball was to be like his coach, Cary Serwe. These were not Chad’s first honor scores but regardless if it was his first or fiftieth, the moment was made more enjoy-

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

This week’s column is different and tells a heck-of-a-story.

The story dates back to 1989, when I first started writing, and was living in the Canadian bush while I was the camp manager at Chimo Lodge, and it carries on to last week when I went to Red Lake, Ontario, Canada, to visit with former Chimo owners Peter and Elizabeth Hagedorn for Pete’s 84th birthday. I also spent time with my good friends Duane Riddel and Doug Vandussen who have been pals of mine since 1988.

This column was called “North of the Border” back in ‘89, and I wrote for The Poynette Press.

I would hand write it from a bear stand on Friday nights and give it to an American who would mail it once they crossed the border.

SEPTEMBER 1, 1989

I am living at Bear Berry Outpost which is 110 air-miles from Red Lake.

Pete flew me and my golden retriever, Ben, here with about 12 hours’ notice, and my job is to cut all the timber for a 28x24-foot cabin, and then build as much of it as possible as time would allow.

To do this, I would travel by boat from where we had an existing cabin and would tow an empty boat behind me.

Pete did not want me working alone, so he had Zygmunt Wesolowski and Andy Novak as my helpers. Zygmunt was a retired gold-mine worker, and Andy was a retired Red Lake postmaster.

A side story is that Pete was going to Europe with Zygmunt’s son, George, on a long-term hunt and vacation, and Duane Riddel would do check flights to bring in gear and food every Friday.

A typical day: I was the cook and the boss, and we worked hard each day dropping the biggest, straightest jack pine and spruce that we could find, which often was about a mile away from camp.

Everything was hand peeled, and the boats were heavily loaded.

Zygmunt was from Poland and, in 1939, was captured by the Germans when he was 17 and put into a labor camp until 1945. Andy Novak joined the English II Corps after the Germans invaded Poland and saw a lot of action.

Our best timber was on a ridge line, and the entire forest floor had a foot of moss.

Most of my day was spent cutting or loading and unloading boats. Zygmunt ran a saw, peeled and loaded; he was incredibly strong. Andy was a laborer, and a very good man.

On one particular day of cutting, I am by the boats, Zygmunt is on top of the ridge and drops a big jack. I watch it directly fall on Andy, and it appears he is dead and is 100-percent under the tree. Zygmunt is crying uncontrollably. We cut a chunk of jack below and above Andy and lift it off from him.

Andy appears dead.

A minute later, Andy opens his eyes.

10 minutes later: He is back to work.

That foot of moss on the forest floor, no doubt, helped save Andy from getting hurt.

MARCH 2019

Pete Hagedorn is at my house; Selina is in her senior year at Necedah High School.

Pete tells me that he has sold Chimo Lodge and Outposts; though I did not show it, that re-able by bowling with the friends he loves like Rick Serwe. Great bowling Spook!

The following week on February 28, the lanes got hot once again for the Monday Night Uptown League. Hayden Serwe had the hot hand throwing his third perfect game of his career. He went 300 – 235 – 215 for a 750 series. On the last ball of his 300, Hayden stayed as cool as the other side of the pillow as he told himself that this was just another frame as he buried the last strike. Hayden has been bowling for more than 20-plus years and has been bowling on the Monday Night League for eight years. His solid bowling fundamentals are yet another product of his Grandma Janet Serwe’s coaching during his formative junior bowling years. Keep it between the gutters and finish the season strong Haywood!

Pete was 79 and still a bush pilot, but it was time.

One of the buyers was Daniel Wesolowski, Zygmunt’s grandson, who was probably the best bushmen that I ever knew. Daniel could build, plumb, wire and got his pilot’s license just after the purchase.

In 2019, the first year after the sale, the main camp burnt down in a forest fire along with one outpost.

In 2020, covid hit, and there was no season; Daniel and helpers rebuilt Chimo.

Last May, the border was still closed, so another season was in peril.

Daniel actually flew “NPO” –

November Papa Oscar – which was Pete’s Cessna 180 float plane and was a very popular and influential man in Red Lake. In my day, which was more than about 12 seasons, I probably was in NPO for at least 500 take offs and landings.

Last May, Daniel Wesolowski was dropping an aspen tree for a friend, something that he had done thousands of times. When the tree fell, Daniel ran the wrong way and, unlike Andy, Novak did not come out of the hit.

My trip to see my friends this past week was quality time with people that I consider family.

It was very hard to get Daniel Wesolowski off my mind!

Flight For Life Announces New Base in Hartford

Flight For Life has filed a letter of intent with the City of Hartford, to open a new base of operations. The new base will be located at the Hartford Municipal Airport. The exact timeframe has not been identified, but the goal is for the base to be open late 2022/early 2023. This expansion will advance Flight For Life's mission to provide Wisconsin communities with research based critical care transport services, while decreasing response times to the northern service area.

This notice signifies the start of the second phase of Flight For Life's overall strategic plan. This desired expansion project follows the opening of the Burlington, base in November 2021.

"At Flight For Life, our goal is to reduce the timeframe for patients to arrive at tertiary care centers across southeastern Wisconsin allowing them to receive the appropriate care needed," said Leif Erickson, executive director.
