Christmas Parade Brings Tropics to Kewaskum

ANNE TRAUTNER
 JOURNALIST

The scene was festive on Sunday, Dec. 4, as the Christmas parade made its way through downtown Kewaskum.

The crowd cheered as brightly colored floats, bands, llamas and ATVs went by. It was the 33rd annual Kewaskum Christmas parade, sponsored by the Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce.

There were lots of flamingos and palm trees as different groups decorated floats to reflect this year's theme, "Christmas in the Tropics." Each of the approximate 45 entries was carefully scored by judges to determine winners. Judging was based on lights, music, how well the entry conveyed the parade theme and an overall appearance of any-

'Terror Shed' Raises a Ton-and-a-half of Food for Local Pantry

CHS sophomore Hunter Sabish's annual Halloween fundraiser brought more than 2,000 people through a homemade haunted house in the Town of Wayne

MITCHELL BRADLEY KELLER
 ACTING EDITOR

For an annual event dubbed "The Terror Shed Haunted House", readers might expect to find descriptors like: spooky, scary and creepy.

While those terms definitely applied to Campbellsport High School (CHS) sophomore Hunter Sabish's annual Town of Wayne "Terror Shed" – now in its fourth iteration – there were a few additional feelings the Halloween-themed occasion created: joy, compassion and camaraderie.

That's because this haunted house was also a fundraiser, and Sabish – along with his team of friends and family – brought in a grand total of 3,290 pounds of food, which was donated to the Kewaskum Community Pantry.

"This year, 2,084 people went through the haunted house," said Luan Sabish, Hunter's mother and one of his many volunteers for the five-weekend run (from Sept. 30 to Oct. 29).

Kewaskum Library Board Questions Budget

ANNE TRAUTNER
 JOURNALIST

At the Kewaskum Village Board meeting on Monday, Dec. 5, the board approved an amended resolution to request exemption from the countywide library system tax levy to reflect the 2023 village budget that the board approved on Nov. 21.

The Kewaskum Public Library's proposed budget for 2023 had called for $5,311.53 less from the village's tax levy than it received in 2022. At the Nov. 21 meeting, the Kewaskum Village Board voted unanimously to cut the library's proposed budget by an additional $16,000 and reallocate the funds to the village's Department of Public Works.

Kewaskum Library Board President Teresa Meltz questioned the village board about the matter during the public comments portion of the Dec. 5 board meeting.

"As a concerned citizen, I have a question regarding the Village Board meeting on Nov. 21. Early in the meeting there was a public hearing on the proposed 2023 budget for the Village of Kewaskum," Meltz said. "No public comments were made, and the hearing was closed. Later in

Altered States

Dear Reader,

Our minds are altered or adjusted every day as we explore new worlds and the characters residing within. We meet someone hailing from a country we haven't visited, who teaches us a new and noble purpose, one we had not known before.

In some way the mind undergoes a paradigm shift – all for the good. This can happen only if we are open to climbing to a higher level of being. Once we understand something new and are enlightened by it, our past ways of seeing, thinking, and judging are no longer relevant. We constantly strive to shed the old skins to perfect all the imperfections inherent with being human: there's always a better version of ourselves, like a new robe ready to try on.

When life is hard, some choose another path to alter the mind. Alcohol, drugs, and other tempting crutches can pull us back to the lumps of clay we once were. These are two distinct doors that because of free will, we control.

One can rationalize either decision, but it is important to think it over carefully. It's a choice that we ourselves make and ultimately have to live with. Joys and sorrows are a part of each direction. Ultimately it comes down to choosing how we want to live our lives, and to being true to who we are and who we want to become.

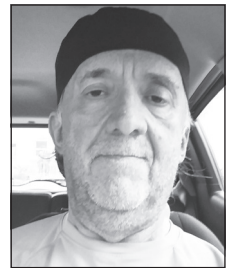

Once we make the choice, it is time to pull out the compass and head out on the journey.

CONTRIBUTOR

In childhood, there are many precursors to Christmas. Once we'd enjoyed the celebration of Thanksgiving with my father's sister, husband and kids – 17 young'uns and four adults round the supper table, there were sure signs the long awaited holiday would soon be upon us.

Grocery shopping included mixed nuts and candy. The annual scrubbing of a red glass dish shaped like a rose with a chrome center stamen slotted for a nut-cracker and picks. Though my older brother often cracked walnuts between his thumb and forefinger, a feat of hand strength bound to impress his younger siblings.

Advent seemed to last forever. It spelled a longish period of Saturday and Sunday drop offs at the former Immanuel Lutheran Church on the corner of Forest and Elm Streets in Campbellsport.

Anyone familiar with that gray slate-sided building and its interior, remembers the two short flights to a basement partitioned off by white cloth curtains into separate Sunday school classrooms. The staircase from the front door to the sanctuary was a steep climb to the swinging door entrance to the worship area. A route we stomped our way up from the basement on Christmas Eve. Despite our teachers reminders not to. As if we needed to affirm to our gathered parents that their offspring were on their way, a rowdy processional.

After practice, we came home to watch "Rudolph, the Red-Nosed Reindeer," crude by comparison to today's animated flicks, on a small black and white television.

Perhaps the most obvious indicator occurred as the village fire department hung ornaments from each lamppost. Especially when they first glowed in the darkness. I was reminded because Eden F.D. just put up their lights. Already lit on late November nights. Which brought those memories roaring back. With a warmth-like smoke up the chimney from a wood stove in the cellar.

Selecting and Keeping Your Christmas Tree Looking Its Best

MELINDA MYERS
CONTRIBUTOR

The hunt for the perfect tree is oftentimes an important part of family tradition. Buy local whenever possible by supporting local Christmas tree growers. Purchasing locally grown trees also reduces the risk of spreading unwanted pests into your landscape. Your local University Extension Service and Department of Natural Resources provide updates on any threats.

Family tradition may dictate your tree choice. Many prefer the fragrance of balsam fir and needle retention of other firs like Fraser, white, Grand, and Noble. Though not a true fir, Douglas fir needles have a wonderful aroma when crushed. White pine lacks the fragrance that many prefer. Its pliable branches only support lightweight ornaments, but the soft needles have less bite than the popular Scots or Scotch pine. This evergreen has stiff branches that support heavier ornaments and its needles hold even when dry.

Check for freshness. A fresh tree will last throughout the holidays. Run your hand along the stem. The needles should be pliable yet firmly attached to the branch. Avoid trees with lots of moss, lichens, vines, broken branches, and other signs of poor care.

Look at the overall shape and size of the tree. Stand the tree upright to make sure it will fit in the allotted space. Check the trunk. It should be straight and the base small enough to fit in your tree stand.

Make a fresh cut, removing at least an inch from the base of the trunk before setting it in the stand. Straight or diagonal cuts work equally well. A diagonal or V-shaped cut may make it difficult to properly support the tree in the stand.

Proper watering is key. Fill the stand with water and check it often. Fresh trees can absorb as much as two quarts of water in the first 24 hours. Keeping your tree stand filled with water is the best way to keep your tree looking its best throughout the season.

Proper selection and care of your Christmas tree will keep it fresh and looking its best throughout the holidays.

Once your tree is in place, you can add lights and decorations. Then take time throughout the busy holiday season to relax with your favorite winter beverage and enjoy the beauty of your Christmas tree.

Samaritan Health Center Resident Urges Public to Take Action

For those who may not know, Samaritan Health Center (hereby known as "Samaritan") is a skilled nursing facility in West Bend.

It has served Washington County residents for nearly six decades.

Imagine that, nearly 60 years of caring for individuals struck down by a stroke, chronic diseases like multiple sclerosis or those whose aging has left them frail and unable to care for themselves.

We need your help.

Samaritan is a county-run facility, and the county board is seriously considering closing it down.

Other options are being discussed, however, cost and debt overshadow those discussions.

This decision would uproot the lives of all who live here. We would be placed anywhere that will take us; even if it is out of the county.

We would be further away from our loved ones.

At this time in our lives, contact with people we love is crucial for mind, body and spirit. Family and friends are important to all human beings. This is what we all live for.

Please imagine this is happening to you, your parents, grandparents or anyone you love.

I realize money does not grow on trees, but I've walked-the-walk of budgets and bills, working full and part-time jobs to pay the bills. When I go out into the community, I see new construction and growth all around. Washington County is vibrant, ever-changing and a great place to live.

My voice is carried by pen, paper and keyboard to spread the word. It is you, reader, who can make the difference in keeping us in the home we so desperately need and want, rather than to scatter us in different directions.

Please help by calling 262-335-4301 to tell your district supervisor we need to keep Samaritan in Washington County.

Debra Kison
Samaritan resident

Law of the Month – Safe Winter Driving

WISDOT CONTRIBUTOR

Winter weather is a regular part of life in Wisconsin and it can lead to dangerous conditions on the roads. It's harder to control or stop a vehicle in snow, sleet, and ice. Last season, winter weather contributed to more than 15,000 crashes that killed 38 people in Wisconsin.

"We remind every driver to refresh your winter driving habits. Re-familiarize yourself with the way your vehicle reacts to slippery conditions," Tim Carnahan, Wisconsin State Patrol superintendent, said. "Recognize that you must slow down and allow more time for your trips no matter how far you travel. Make sure your vehicle is prepared to make it through the winter months."

Safe winter driving is Wisconsin State Patrol's December Law of the Month, as a reminder of the important rules to follow that will protect all travelers this season.

State law requires drivers to travel at speeds that are reasonable and prudent for current conditions. Speed limits are set for when roads are clear and dry, so it may be too dangerous to drive at the posted speed limit in slippery conditions. Many winter crashes and slide offs are caused by drivers going too fast in hazardous conditions.

Snowplow Safety

Snowplow drivers work long hours to clear nearly 115,000 miles of roads across Wisconsin, so it's important for everyone to give them the space they need to get the job done.

When approaching a snowplow that's clearing ice or snow, or laying salt or sand, state law requires drivers to stay at least:

- 200 feet back on a highway with a speed limit more than 35 miles per hour
- 75 feet back on a road with a slower speed limit

Road conditions ahead of a plow are likely worse, so drivers should use extra caution if

C.H.S. November Students of the Month

CAMPBELLSPORT SCHOOL DISTRICT

Campbellsport High School (CHS) is proud to announce their "Students of the Month" for the month of November.

Congratulations to Katrina Ohme (Science), Ava Sippel (Business), Herai Mamutov (Foreign Language) and Jaedyn Burns (English) for being selected as the CHS Students of the Month in November.

Katrina Ohme

The science department nominates Katrina Ohme as Student of the Month.

Katrina is currently taking CAPP Chemistry, but she is also taking Introduction to Physics at a local college. Katrina has to leave chemistry early a couple days a week to make it to her physics class on time, so sometimes she misses a good bit of what we do during the class. But, she has been amazing at keeping caught up while taking these two very challenging science classes, all the while maintaining her usual standard of excellence.

Katrina is a fantastic student of the sciences!

Ava Sippel

The Campbellsport Business Education Department is delighted to nominate Ava Sippel for November Student of the Month.

Ava is a conscientious student who works well with everyone, always tries her best and goes above and beyond.

Ava is a role model for other students by demonstrating the hard work, dedication and commitment that it takes to achieve and exceed her goals.

She is a pleasure to be around, both inside and outside the classroom!

Congratulations, Ava, and thanks for being you!

Herai Mamutov

Herai Mamutov has shown great dedication to learning Spanish. He is already fluent in Russian, English, German and Ukrainian; his desire to interact with the world is inspirational!

He asks great questions and makes strong connections between his linguistic knowledge and cultural experiences.

Herai is also fun to have in class. He has a great sense of humor and works well with all of his peers.

Jaedyn Burns

The English department would like to nominate Jaedyn Burns for their Student of the Month.

Jaedyn has shown on multiple occasions that she understands the value of communication by going above and beyond with both her writing and her public speaking.

She has the strength to deliver a great speech even though she is nervous about speaking, and she is brave enough to speak her opinions in her writing, even as she accepts the risk that she might be wrong.

As her teacher, I see Jaedyn pays close attention to details and is willing to revise her own work in order to make it the best it can possibly be. This is a skill that will help her not only in language arts, but in all of her classes and life, as well.

I have thoroughly enjoyed having Jaedyn in my class, and I look forward to seeing what she accomplishes next.

All high school students are eligible for this honor. Students are nominated by their teachers and then chosen by department.

Teachers make their selections based upon attitude, effort, character, interest, and achievement, as exhibited in the classroom and school community. Administration, faculty, and staff are committed to developing future leaders in our community. We want to honor those who are striving each and every day to be those future leaders, who demonstrate this by their positive actions and behaviors.

U.W.O. F.D.L. Student-Soldier Marches 14 Miles to Campus in Honor of Veterans Day

LAURIE SCHLOSSER
UNIVERSITY OF WISCONSIN OSHKOSH

A University of Wisconsin Oshkosh, Fond du Lac campus student-soldier marched 14 miles to school with a 50-pound pack as he considered his service to the country on Veterans Day.

Matt Toeller left his home in Eden at 5:30 a.m., on November 11, as he made his way on a route that brought him to County Trunk V and eventually to Fond du Lac Avenue/U.S. Highway 45 on the southeast entrance to the city of Fond du Lac. He continued the ruck march with the heavy pack on his back to Johnson Street and finally to Campus Drive.

"I have served in the Army for five years — three years active duty in California and two years here as a Reservist," Toeller said, adding that it was the first time he's rucked to that extent in three years. "I did it for Veterans Day, to get back to the experience, and to sort of relive what it was like just rucking, and to kind of think about how my service to this country matters."

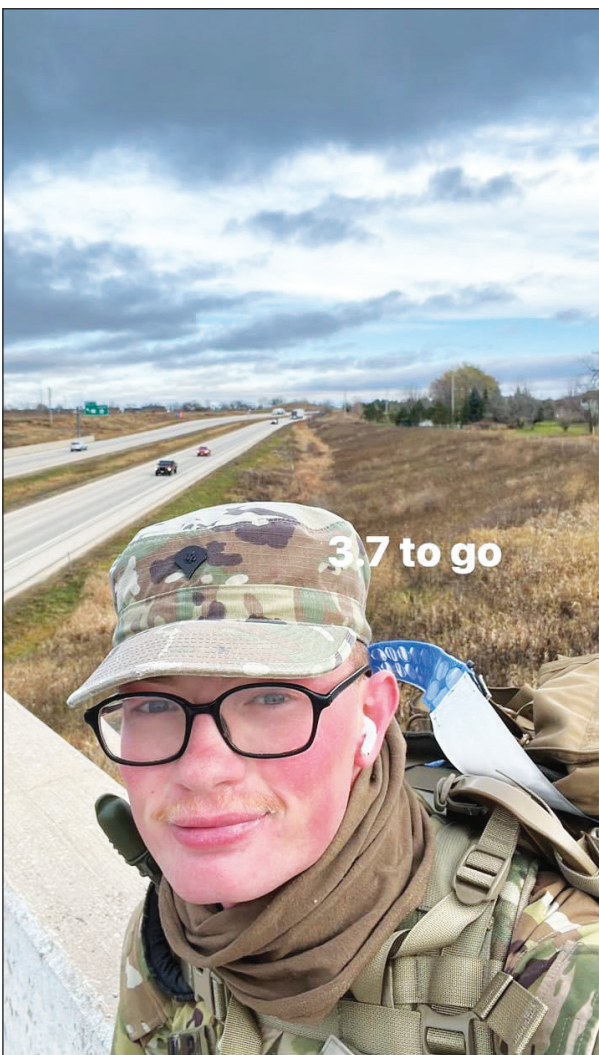

Ruck marching has military origins. Soldiers often carry rucksacks — sturdy backpacks designed to carry heavy loads — as they hike to a destination.

Toeller is in his first year working toward an Associate Degree at the Fond du Lac campus. He is still undecided on a major as he moves toward a Bachelor's Degree.

He earned a diploma at the Challenge Academy at Fort McCoy and a high school diploma from Campbellsport High School.

He began military training at Fort Benning, Ga., as an infantryman, followed by three years at Fort Irwin, considered a top Army training facility in San Bernardino County, Calif. Interestingly, during a portion of his time at Fort Irwin's Armored Cavalry Regiment, he was part of a horse detachment — a special ceremonial unit tasked with preserving the history and traditions of the original mounted Cavalry Troopers—and trained other soldiers in horse-riding.

After his tour at Fort Irwin, he joined the Army Reserve's 102nd MP (military police) company based in Fond du Lac. He trained at Fort Hunter Liggett, a specialized training center in California, to become a military police officer.

The Specialist (E4) is hopeful to earn his Sergeant (E5) rank in the near future.

"Service members like Matt are a great reminder that most of us join and serve of our own accord without the need for recognition or praise," said Aaron Kloss, Veterans Resource Center coordinator. "Rather than asking what he can do to honor veterans or waiting for someone else to take the lead, Matt took the initiative and set a great example for the rest of us to follow."

the meeting, the budget was amended with no opportunity for public comment. This amendment may have elicited some public comments, but the time for public comments had passed. Is this proper procedure? Is this how government works?"

Meltz said that neither the Kewaskum Public Library director nor the Kewaskum Library Board president were told prior to the Nov. 21 meeting that the budget might be changed.

"The library board approved our 2023 budget on Oct. 10, 2022. We decreased our levy request by 4.2 percent. We were surprised to learn during the Nov. 21 village board meeting that our levy request was being cut by $16,000," Meltz said.

The overall library budget for 2023 is increasing by nearly 5 percent over the 2022 budget of $228,266, according to Village Administrator Adam Gitter. The library will use money from its fund balance to meet the 2023 budget of $239,154.16.

"The Village of Kewaskum is extremely proud of the work that our Public Works team does. The department has always had strong leadership that operates on a very lean budget. We have a team there that knows how to stretch a dollar, and with rising costs in 2023, this new budget will enable them to continue providing services that residents have grown to expect," Gitter said.

In 2023, the library will receive $84,181 from Washington County, an increase of $16,309 from the county's 2022 contribution of $67,872. The increase is due to a new contract that Washington County Libraries have with Washington County that is based on actual circulation data of county residents who don't have a library in the municipality in which they reside.

lage board meeting that the next step in planning for future facility needs would be for village board members to meet with library board members to discuss the possibility of having a separate library building.

Village Matters

- In other matters at the Dec. 5 village board meeting, Village Administrator Adam Gitter told the village board that the village has received four bids for construction manager for the village's building project.
- Gitter also reported that Amanda Carter will be the village's new treasurer. She is scheduled to begin working for the village on Monday, Dec. 12.

- Following the Plan Commission's recommendation, the board unanimously approved a request from Aaron Nagel Keller Inc., on behalf of the prospective property owner Sara Klasinski, Ponejolic Investments, LLC for a site plan/plan of operation and a certified survey map to construct a 5,500-square-foot dental clinic for Kewaskum Family Dentistry. The proposed development will split a portion of the property currently owned by Froedtert Health into three separate parcels and Tax ID numbers. The proposed dental clinic will have off-street parking and an accessory building, as well as on-site stormwater management. The remaining created parcels will remain vacant until they are sold at a later date for future development. In total, two new parcels will be created on the site, which most recently served as a soccer field for Kewaskum High School.

OBITUARIES

Barbara Steger

Barbara (Vogt) Steger, age 70, who resided at Serenity Villa in Slinger, after a 10-year battle with frontotemporal dementia, went peacefully home to the Lord on Sunday, December 4, 2022, surrounded by her loving family.

Barbara was born to Denis and Marian (nee Weninger) Vogt on March 5, 1952, and grew up on the family farm near Allenton. She was the eldest of nine children in the Vogt family. Throughout her life, Barbara enjoyed living life to the fullest. She was the type of person who didn't sit still much; she was always busy and on to a new adventure! Barb was a proud 1970 graduate of Kewaskum High School, where she was very active in assorted clubs and extra-curricular activities. She was a woman of deep faith and a devout Catholic. Barbara was a wonderful companion, an amazing sister, aunt, great-aunt and dear friend to many. She was an excellent cook and baker; known especially for her delicious, homemade Christmas cookies. She loved to crochet and made many beautiful gifts for her family and friends.

Barb was an avid Milwaukee Brewers fan – with a collection of Brewers memorabilia that any fan would envy! She was rarely without her camera, capturing many special family memories over the years. She loved classic sports cars, hosting wonderful dinner parties in her home, birdwatching, sewing, flea markets and estate sales, gardening, and traveling, especially weekend getaways and road trips. Barb loved learning new things; and with her outgoing and loving personality, she met many new friends along her way.

Barb worked at WI Electric Power Co. (now WE Energies) in both West Bend and Port Washington soon after high school and up to an early retirement in 1994. She was actively involved in her position there, and served as a union steward representative for much of her career. After 1994, she worked several years at the Estee Lauder beauty counter at Boston Store in West Bend.

Having not been blessed with children of her own, Barbara was like a second mom to her many nieces and nephews. For many years, Barb hosted an annual Vogt Family Halloween Bash. Throughout the year, she would gather prizes and decorations for the party and would come up with the most fun games for all to enjoy; these Halloween parties have become cherished memories for all who attended. Barb also liked to take the "little ones" to Brewer games and other fun getaways, and enjoyed spoiling each and every one of them.

Barbara had many wonderful times and memorable road trips with her beloved Randy. When the two met, they were like two peas in a pod; sharing many similar interests and having the same strong faith and optimistic outlook on life. A special thank you to Randy for the unwavering and strong love he showed for Barbara. He remained constantly at her side throughout her illness, providing her with many happy moments along the way.

Barbara is survived by her longtime, treasured companion and the love-of-her-life, Randy Schoenoff; her very best friend since high school, Jane (Fenske) Stueber; her dear siblings, David (Rose) Vogt, Joel (Joyce) Vogt, Linda Vogt Beisbier, Ralph (Lea) Vogt, Mary Kay (Gary) Klink, Caroline Beine, and Kenneth (Jackie) Vogt. She is further survived by 22 nieces and nephews: Katie Vogt Schneider, Goddaughter Kristin Vogt, Goddaughter Nicole Beisbier Fideler, Sarah Beisbier Schalow, Michelle Beisbier Stephan, Angela Vogt Germano, Holly Vogt Kruepke, Jamie Vogt Borghoff, Matthew Vogt, Eric Vogt, Beth Vogt Tupper, Lauren Vogt Seitz, Alex Vogt, Jenna Klink, Bruce Klink, Jodi Klink, Jason Klink, Candace Beine Heinecke, Mitchell Beine, Shaun Beisbier, Joshua Vogt and Ashley Vogt.

She is also survived by 17 great-nieces and great-nephews, as well as many other relatives and friends.

Barbara was preceded in death by her parents, Denis and Marian Vogt; her grandparents, Andrew & Mary Weninger and Nic & Helena Vogt; her brother, Nicholas Vogt; and brother-in-law, Steve Beine.

A Mass of Christian Burial will be held on Saturday, December 10, at 11 a.m. at Resurrection Catholic Church, 215 Main St., Allenton. Visitation will be at the Church at 10 a.m. until the time of Mass. The Very Reverend Father Richard Stoffel will preside. Burial will be after Mass at Sacred Heart Cemetery in Allenton.

Special thanks to the caring staff at Serenity Villa in Slinger along with the wonderful nurses at Preceptor Hospice.

The Phillip Funeral Home has been entrusted with the final arrangements.

passing a snowplow. Plow drivers have limited visibility and the vehicles often create a cloud of snow that can obscure visibility for all.

How to Stay Safe in Winter

Drivers should always be prepared on every trip behind the wheel. If possible, stay off the roads during severe winter weather and wait until conditions improve. Staying home eliminates the risk of a crash and helps keep the roads clear for first responders and snowplow drivers.

The State Patrol recommends the following winter driving tips:

- If you must travel, check 511wi.gov for road conditions or incidents along your route.
- Snow means slow. Allow extra travel time, following distance, and reduce your speed during winter conditions.
- Don't be overconfident in four-wheel or all-wheel-drive vehicles. All vehicles require additional time and distance to stop in adverse conditions.
- Avoid using cruise control in winter conditions.
- Buckle up and put your phone down while driving. Every trip, every time.
- Have a fully charged phone and an emergency kit in your vehicle.
- If you get stranded or slide off the road, stay buckled up in your vehicle and call for help. Getting out of the vehicle is very dangerous, especially in winter weather.

Local 4-H members Hannah Rankin, Katie Koffman, Whitney Barnes, and Rose Hawk represented Fond du Lac County 4-H as delegates to National 4-H Congress, which was held November 23-27 in Atlanta, Georgia. Delegates are selected at the county level through an application and interview process. They are youth who have exhibited leadership skills and share with others what they learn from the conference.

Many business owners from Main Street attended the Campbellsport Village Board meeting on December 10. Each wanted to express his/her concern and discontent with the village's response to the numerous snowfalls that have been endured since the beginning of December. Many questions were raised and fingers pointed, but very few answers were given. The business owners wanted to know why village workers continue to mound snow along the sidewalks on Main Street, near the light poles and tree trunks that border the sidewalks. It was pointed out that the snow piles make for difficult walking. The suggestion of plowing the snow to the center of the street and picking it up later in the day would not happen as the board stated that Fond du Lac County would not approve of that practice. However, the board offered to call the county and get its recommendation. The board made it clear that everyone is responsible for clearing at least a three-foot path on all sidewalks.

The Campbellsport Lions Club held its annual Christmas party on December 1, and took up a collection from the members who attended. The generous donation was then tripled by the club and $1,000 was donated to the Campbellsport Women's Club.

A cottage on Birchwood Drive in the Town of Osceola suffered approximately $10,000 worth of damage to the structure and contents when a fire occurred at the residence. No one was home and a neighbor called in the fire, which was narrowed down to the location of either a microwave or a toaster oven.

Neighbors hooked a chain to a burning car at a residence on Woodland Drive in the Town of Osceola and pulled the car out of the garage. Had the burning car not been pulled from the garage, the fire could have spread to the house, which was only four feet away.

Several Eden Fire Department members were recognized for their length of service to the department: Dick Reilly for 40 years; Dennis Immel and Steve Klumpyan for 25 years; Paul Tibbets, Steve Wilke, and Paul Gellings for 20 years; Chris Hermann and Jesse Birschbach for 10 years; and Maureen Ottery and Dave Grahl for five years.

Stephanie Ballard, science/adolescence and young adulthood teacher at Campbellsport High School, was one of 110 Wisconsin educators who earned certification through the National Board for Professional Teaching Standards in 2007.

Fond du Lac County is pleased to announce that the Allen and Carol Abel farm near Eden will host the Wisconsin Farm Progress Days 2000, which will be held July 11-13. A community effort took place to combine the 400 acres of forage needed for the three-day event, which may draw 100,000 visitors. The following farmers enthusiastically committed their farms to the neighborhood project: Reynold and Marion Blakely; Tim and Jacqueline Murphy; James and Jackie Galligan, rented by Mike Baumhardt and Don Gudex; Dale and Ann Grahl; and Virginia King, rented by Patrick and Marilyn O'Brien. The Abels operate 1,500 acres, with 1,400 tillable. Having recently expanded, the family milks 570 cows and raises all of their young stock.

The Campbellsport School District and Village of Campbellsport are jointly offering a $750 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of individuals responsible for a break-in at the school over the weekend. Doors were taken off their hinges to gain entry and $310 was taken.

An article reprinted from The Milwaukee Journal Sentinel explained why Town of Osceola officials say the state Department of Natural Resources violated its own regulations by failing to notify local residents before pumping more than one million gallons of liquid waste into a wetland at Long Lake Recreation Area in eastern Fond du Lac County. Jerry Leiterman, superintendent for the northern unit of the Kettle Moraine State Forest, acknowledged the public was not informed of the wetland discharge, a step that DNR regulations require of municipalities or industries if there would be significant interest in a proposed change in permitted activities. Leiterman and other DNR officials determined there would be little interest in the agency's actions, and the plan was approved without a hearing or published notice.

A solid defense and big second quarter helped propel the Campbellsport Lady Cougars Basketball Team to a 49-41 victory over Waupun. It was a good game to play before starting the conference season because all 14 players got into the game, with eight of them scoring. Erin O'Loughlin led the scoring attack with 17 points.

Eric Sabish of Campbellsport was struck in the calf by a slug that ricocheted off a tree before hitting the 12-year-old. He was standing on a boardwalk in the Spruce Lake area with other hunters when a group of hunters/drivers chased a deer between them. Both hunters shot at the deer. Sabish was back in the woods the following day.

| KEWASKUM'S DAYS GONE BY |5 Years Ago*December 14, 2017

Approximately 30 people braved cold temperatures late Monday afternoon as they toured the building project that is underway at Kewaskum High School and Kewaskum Middle School. Community members were invited to tour the site, with members of the school administration and C.D. Smith Construction, Inc., explaining the progress made thus far. Visitors were able to get a feel for what the new middle school will look like, with structural walls and steel frames now in place. So far, the project is running on schedule, so students can attend the new middle school in September.

Loggers may begin clearing trees from Reigle Family Park in Kewaskum as early as January. The buffer area between where trees will be cleared and neighboring property lines has been marked. The plan is to develop the cleared area into soccer and baseball fields, as well as parking lots, concession stands, and playground and picnic areas. Village trustees will walk the perimeter of the park at a special meeting and decide if they approve of the area to be cleared.

Werbelow Construction, LLC, held a groundbreaking ceremony December 7 at the company's new location, 150 Second St., Kewaskum. Dan Werbelow has been running the business from his West Bend home. He has been in the construction business since he was 18. He started the company about nine years ago. The business has been growing so large that Werbelow first rented a two-story barn, then another, and five storage units. The new building provides 9,000 square feet and construction is expected to be completed in the spring.

Cade Peterson, the kicker for the Kewaskum football team, made his decision and has committed to North Dakota. He was offered a partial scholarship to play football. Peterson had also considered the University of Sioux Falls and the University of Wisconsin-Whitewater.

The Kewaskum Lady Indians were behind Campbellsport by only one point at halftime, but the Lady Cougars outscored Kewaskum 28-19 in the second half. Still, the Lady Indians had improved their play quite a bit in this game compared to the previous one, which was a 75-18 loss to Kettle Moraine Lutheran. Kewaskum had scored only two points in the first half of that game.

Kewaskum's wrestling team is 2-0 in the young season. The Indian mat men defeated Winneconne to open the conference season with a 62-12 victory over the host team. The non-conference win was a lot closer as Kewaskum defeated Lomira 40-36.

Members of the 1970 Kewaskum High School basketball team included 13 players. The six seniors were not only good players, but good leaders as well. The team had a 13-1 record and won the last conference title that the boys team has. Former players who contributed to the article said the coach and everyone getting along contributed to the team's success. The first ever Alumni Night will be held December 15. All former KHS basketball players - male and female - are invited to attend and be honored before the varsity game.

Richard Allen Keno, 81, Kewaskum, passed away December 9. Richard W. Cochenet, 74, Kewaskum, passed away December 9.

The Kewaskum Village Board approved a raise in salary for incoming trustees and the village president when the group met on December 10. The increase will see the village president receiving an annual salary of $2,000 and each trustee $1,500. Each will continue to receive $30 per diem. State law prohibits elected bodies to give themselves a raise so the increase will take effect for incoming trustees (incumbents or newcomers) in the April election of 2008, the incumbent or incoming village president in 2009, and the remaining three incumbent or newcomer trustees.

The Board of Directors of Kewaskum Youth Scholarships, Inc. has announced that it will award 30 scholarships totaling $89,700 to the Kewaskum High School Class of 2008. This will bring the total dollar amount throughout the years to $913,700 awarded to 313 graduates since 1986.

About five inches of snow fell in Kewaskum on December 11. Department of Public Works Jerry Gilles stated plow trucks have been very busy and the amount of snow has resulted in breakdowns; however, all plows are now up and running.

At the end of the year, the combined years of experience at the Kewaskum Police Department will drop significantly as Officer Tom Bauer retires. He started his career as a special deputy for the Washington County Sheriff's Department. It was there Bauer found an interest in police work and sought a full-time job as a police officer. He started working at the Kewaskum Police Department on December 26, 1973. Bauer worked with a high school buddy, Richard Knoebel, who later became chief of police.

Kewaskum Chief of Police Richard Knoebel announced that 26-year-old Thomas Bishop will begin training on December 17. Bishop was one of 27 people who applied for the police officer's position to replace retiring officer Tom Bauer. The posting was originally for a part-time position to replace officer Al Ratzel, who accepted a full-time position with the department to replace retired officer Bob Buddenhagen. The search for a part-time officer will continue once Bishop is trained.

Ken Soerens, principal of Kewaskum Middle School, was awarded the Region IV Wisconsin Student Council Administrator of 2007 in recognition and appreciation for his outstanding support of student council leadership activities at the local, regional, and state level.

After a 54-21 victory, the Kewaskum wrestling squad has a 7-0 record. Not only is the team record perfect, so are the records of two wrestlers. Cody Seibel at 189 is 6-0 and P.J. Krueger at 215 is 7-0.

The Christmas program at the Kewaskum Public School this year will be a combination of plays, operettas, choral numbers and band numbers. Something really new is the 58-piece band under the direction of Mr. Schabo.

Kewaskum High School cagers dropped their first game in 16 conference starts over the past two seasons when Rosendale nipped the Indians 29-27.

At the Kiwanis Club meeting, Charley Reigle announced that the canvas of the village by the Boy Scouts and members of the Kiwanis Club for the Badger Scouting Council resulted in a collection of $287.

Lehman C.C. Windorf, 45, Kewaskum, passed away December 5. Carl Wehling, 92, Kewaskum, passed away December 7. Herman Eichsteadt, 80, Town of Wayne, passed away December 4.

thing extra.

The Kewaskum Area Chamber of Commerce presented cash awards to the top floats:

First Place: Cub Scout Pack 3744, $150.

Second Place: Geidel’s Piggly Wiggly, $100.

Third Place goes to Hon-E-Kor Golf Course/Jazzercise, $50.

The winning float by Cub Scout Pack 3744 earned all perfect 10 from all the judges. The elaborate float featured a huge erupting volcano complete with smoke, a boat, palm trees, a campfire, fishing poles and lots of lights.

The Cub Scouts have a longstanding tradition of working hard to prepare for the parade. This was the third year in a row that the Cub Scouts have won first place in the parade. Approximately 30 Scouts participated this year.

“Once the theme is announced, we generally have two or three brainstorming meetings and a meeting to have the Scouts work on some project for the float,” said Scoutmaster Gary Butzlaff, who has been with the Scouts since 2014. “We always build the main float the Saturday before the parade and completely tear down right after the parade. Parents build some parts ahead of time, but everything comes together on Saturday and gets decorated. We have an amazing group of parents.”

This year’s parade marshal was Jason

Piittmann, who came to the Kewaskum School District in 1999 and started as a physical education teacher at both Kewaskum High School and Farmington Elementary School. Since 2001, he has been a physical education teacher and athletic director at Kewaskum High School.

Over the years, Piittmann has coached a variety of sports at the high school and middle school. In April, Piittmann was enshrined into the Wisconsin Football Coaches Association (WFCA) Hall of Fame. Piittmann became the head football coach at KHS in 2003. Over the next 16 seasons, he helped lead the program to 140 wins against 39 losses. KHS teams had 10 consecutive years with 10 or more victories and won or shared eight conference championships. Piittmann was honored by the WFCA as a District Coach of the Year three times (2005, 2008 and 2011) and as a Region Coach of the Year once (2011). He also was selected as the Green Bay Packers Coach of the Week in 2008.

At the end of the parade, which was livestreamed on the Kewaskum Statesman’s Facebook page, was the big man himself: Santa Claus. People lined the streets and waved to Santa, excited to bring in the Christmas season.

Parade co-chairs Katie Wood and Jim Wulff extended their appreciation to this year’s judges: Wendi Dreher, Cheyenne Webb, and Jeff and Melissa Drescher. They also were grateful to all the participants of this year’s parade.

“I would like to say thank you to everyone who participated by putting in an entry, and to the entire community for coming out and enjoying the parade. We loved seeing families do the Cookie Hunt earlier that day and then stay for the parade and make an entire day of it,” Wood said.

It can be unsettling when things happen in your life that bring you straight back to your childhood. Things that you have not thought about in a long time because they were either too painful or deemed unimportant. Recently, something occurred that brought me right back to fourth grade and bullying.

In those days, bullying in schools was not on the awareness radar. Mean girls and brutal boys were prevalent in the classroom and were usually the most popular kids. I am not embarrassed to admit that I was not a popular child and along with my friends, were targets of bullies. What did we do about it? Nothing. Tattling was discouraged more than bullying. So, we took it while doing our best to avoid those causing distress in our lives. It was just part of our school day, and we would have never thought to tell our parents or teachers about it.

When my son was in elementary school, one of his classmates bullied him which he told me about immediately. I was outraged and first called the school to report it. They told me to deal with it myself and I contacted the child's parents and discussed it with them. I don't remember the outcome of that conversation but do remember how angry and assertive I became. I knew I couldn't protect my kids 24/7, so I taught them to stand up for themselves without becoming a bully and I see this strength is being passed on to my grandchildren.

I am proud that my children grew up strong and able to speak up for themselves. I didn't do too well with that advice myself and it took me years after my children had achieved that, to allow myself to not be a victim of bullying. I am not sure when the turning point occurred but have found that now I am very competent in speaking my mind and standing up for my beliefs. It could possibly be part of the aging process. I have always had strong women in my life, most significantly my mother. I saw them becoming more outspoken about injustices. I figure I am following in their footsteps.

I am lucky that my husband is very supportive of the person I am. He respects me and my ability to stand up for what I believe is right, even if at times his beliefs don't mirror mine. Not all men are like that; I know from experience. In today's world where gender equality has come so far, I am reminded that it still has a ways to go.

When confronted with intimidation and bullying tactics whether from men or women I think of the book, Cassandra Speaks, where author Elizabeth Lesser states, “Maybe it was the wave of women gathering their strength all over the world that amped up my courage and freed my voice.”

Respect the person you are, be strong and challenge the bullies.

Bringing You the Printed Word

ROB BOWE
CONTRIBUTOR

My dad and mom loved reading. They read the all newspapers and dad loved “funny books” as he called the classic cartoon comic books. Growing up in Hartford, we got the Milwaukee Journal, The Milwaukee Sentinel, Hartford Times Press, The Mayville News and the Oconomowoc Enterprise, so wherever there was a family connection we knew what was happening in that community. In 1956, we got a TV and things started to change.

I was already 9 years old when that square-boxed, 19-inch black and white table TV arrived at our house. America was already locked in on Rin Tin Tin, Roy Rodgers, Gene Autry, The Lone Ranger, Superman, Highway Patrol, Cisco Kid, Paladin, Gunsmoke, John Wayne movies, Ed Sullivan, Mighty Mouse, Tom & Jerry, Walt Disney, Dinah Shore and endless soap operas.

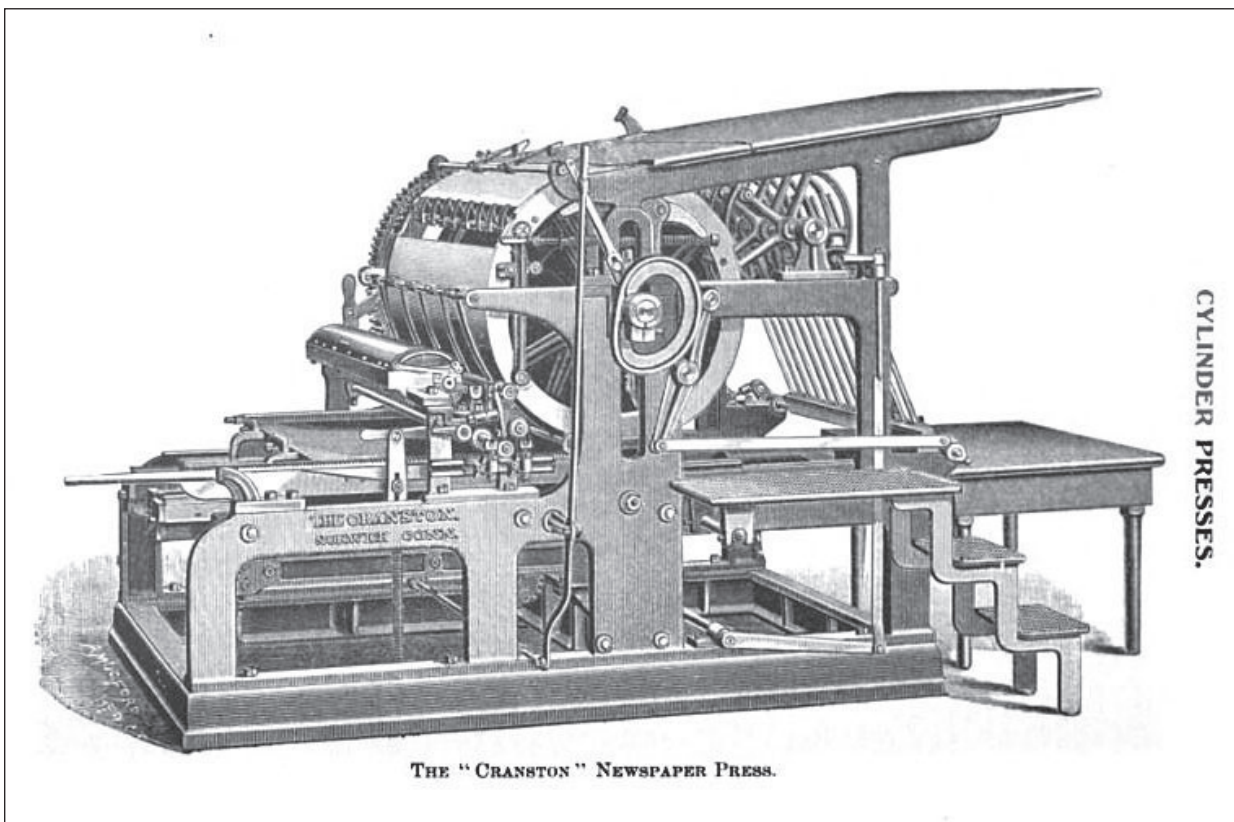

Seems to me as I remember it, there was always a scene in many of the Western TV shows that some poor old newspaper man was in his print shop, printing up “wanted” posters of outlaws or producing the local newspaper on some sort of antiquated, manual printing press of sorts. For a while, I even wished I could have had a little toy printing press of sorts. I saw them advertised in some of the magazines and I wanted one so I could publish my own newspaper, but I never got one.

In high school I wrote a few articles for the school newspaper, but never thought I was much good at it. Started college, got a B in journalism 101, C+ in freshman English composition 101, and began to think of writing as a chore. Then I took a tour of the Milwaukee Journal. That impressed me. Nothing but hustle and bustle and those printing presses ... giant mechanical monsters, two stories high, whirring away at high speed. Those fabulous printing presses were engineering marvels. Next, I toured WTMJ-TV studios and watched “Joe Schott and The Hot Shots Country Music Show” being broadcast. More marveling.

Anyway, I got involved in radio and TV production, so I pretty much gave up on journalism and that kind of writing. But back in some part of me, I wanted to write. Eventually I would write news, shows scripts, stations promos and commercials. Also did some on-air work, not much, but it was fun. Especially memorable was a summer radio stint and a Saturday and Sunday afternoon radio polka show at WTKM in Hartford. At the time I had longer hair and played guitar in a rock and roll band. I liked polka music, but at that time in was more of a rock legend ... in my own mind.

My claim to fame as a polka show radio host was once hosting a live radio broadcast, featuring the PUSH and PULL Polka Band, live and direct from Fireman’s Park in Iron Ridge during the now famous Iron Ridge Fireman’s Picnic. That was more than 50 years ago.

During my last two years in college, I realized broadcasting was a media unto itself, spewing the spoken word out over the airwaves without the depth of a newspaper and magazine’s written word. The media was the message ... not the word. Many have referred to television as being a “vast wasteland.” For me it was mostly about entertaining people.

Currently, social media is destroying the written print media, but local newspapers like the Dodge County Pionier, The Campbellsport News and The Kewaskum Statesman are still striving to bring objective and entertaining journalism to their readers. I still do my part to preserve it. I write an occasional article that the editor likes and publishes and you folks read it. Some of you send comments and all that brings me a great deal of joy and satisfaction. I also read some sort of newspaper, magazine or book every day ... and here in America, I have the freedom to read whatever I want. It’s part of our Freedom of Free Speech and we all have to work at preserving our freedoms.

Johannes Guttenburg, a German, got credit for inventing the printing press in the 1500s but his press was slow, like an ox, one page at a time. Pretty much like the old hand presses in the Old West TV shows.

In time, fast mechanized print presses came along, the product of the of the Industrial Revolution in the late 1800s. The real problem with advancing printing in those early days was handsetting type. It was a slow, laborious task and until the linotype machine was invented by Ottmar Mergenthaler in the late 1870s. Before this all typesetting was done by hand, letter by letter, space by space, word by word, line by line.

Thomas Edison called the linotype machine “The Eighth Wonder of the World”... and it truly was. The linotype speeded up operations manyfold and became the industry standard for setting type until the 1970s and 1980s when photo setting and later computer composition setting came into being. I have no idea when the Dodge County Pionier or any of its sister papers got a linotype machine or how long it was in use, I think is safe to say that hand type setting was likely used until after 1900, maybe even into the 1920s at small newspapers, due to the high cost of a linotype machine.

“[That’s] about 500 more [than] in 2021.”

The math comes out to more than 400 people at the Sabish property off Highway 28 every weekend for the month of October. The overall attendance, when considering the population of the Town of Wayne (just north of 2,000), means just about everyone and their dog made it out for this can’t-miss tradition.

But, it was not just friends and neighbors stopping by.

“People from Stevens Point, Madison, Appleton, Milwaukee, Reeseville, Portage, Wisconsin Rapids and even a group from Chicago that were camping in the Kettle Moraine came,” noted Luan Sabish.

Three individuals led the design and construction team: Hunter Sabish, Kaleb Eggers and Kaden Petersen.

“Kaleb and Hunter come up with all the ideas and how the layout of the haunted house is put together,” said Luan Sabish. “They put many hours in; starting in August putting the walls and props where they need to be. They have a big group of friends and family that volunteer.”

Helping the trio in some capacity, both in the lead-up and throughout the month of October, were more than one dozen teens and pre-teens from the Campbellsport, Kewaskum and Neenah areas. Receiving kudos for their immense help were Abe Otter, Trevor Schanen, Kess, Ryla and Ayvah Nickels, Libby and McKenzie Helsell, Lilly Rhodes, Raina Martin, Connor Waldschmidt, Ashtyn Kreuser, Dominic and Adrian Schuelke, Tiana and Ciara Canady and Nick Koenigs.

That is not counting all the moms and dads, aunts and uncles as well as grandmas and grandpas that pitched in when they could.

More than a half dozen local businesses from the Campbellsport/Kewaskum area also made donations to the cause.

“Thank you to everyone who put their time in to make the Terror Shed Haunted House possible,” said Luan Sabish about the immense community involvement. “Without the support from all that spent their weekends helping with everything... it wouldn’t be possible.”

While the spirit of giving is a big draw for the Terror Shed, the teenage designers and operators take pride in delivering an unnerving performance for the visitors, as well. The reviews online paint the picture of a job done frighteningly well.

“The effects, scares and layout were all incredible,” said a reviewer, adding that they regularly attend haunted houses across Chicagoland. “This was the best haunted house I’ve been to.”

Others noted how impressed they were with the teenage actors.

“[They] were really into it, and the set was well done,” stated a reviewer.

The heart-and-soul of the event – the food pantry fundraiser – however, was not lost on those who arrived just looking for some scares.

“I absolutely love what they do for donations... helping local food pantries!” wrote another reviewer.

In just the last two years, the Terror Shed has brought in more than 5,000 pounds of food and spooked nearly 4,000 visitors.

Those are impressive numbers for any event coordinator, but considering this project is orchestrated by high-schoolers in rural Wisconsin, it paints an even clearer picture of just how valued this mission really is, and how well-run the operation is from conception to finish.

“This group of kids should be very proud of themselves,” said Luan Sabish, who added that there’s no rest of the “wicked” – Terror Shed coordinators are already sketching the 2023 blueprints. “They are already talking [about] ideas for next year’s haunted house.”

While the nuances of next year’s scares will remain a mystery for now, one thing is all but certain: The community – both nearby and from afar – will be there in support and, for that, the Sabish worked for several TV stations which were owned by newspapers and in two cases, the TV studios were in the same plant/building as the newspaper. So I often got to see the mechanics of printing a newspaper as a bit of sideline entertainment. I still have the image of one old fuzzy linotype operator etched in my mind at the Fond du Lac Reporter where I worked back in the late 1960s. The Reporter building was also the home of KFIZ radio and KFIZ-TV where I was on the TV production crew.

I found it fascinating, especially when I watched that linotype operator slugging away at the keyboards. He was balding – a cigar chomping, cigarette smoking, hard-working old fellow. Probably had been running that linotype for years. His typing technique was punch finger typing – pounding away on that keyboard with his two index fingers, driving that big clacking, clinking oddball contraption. He might have been old, but he punched away at that mechanical keyboard fast, doing 25-30 words a minute. It was mesmerizing to watch the process, punch the keyboard and somewhere in that complicated apparatus typeface was being formed, created from melted hot lead and then the hot lead as it was called, cooled, dropped out of the machine into position and created the columns of what would become a newspaper page. It was a noisy, clanking operation with a distinctive, acid hot metal smell and yet, the whole contrivance was amazing.

After that, the printing process continued, making the mattes and the printing plates, etching the photo blocks and then in the bowels of the printing plant the presses rolled and the paper got printed. Lots of work went into producing a printed page in those days. It was amazing ... and it was one of those things, you kind of had to be there seeing it, to appreciate it.

The whole printing process was fascinating me. I loved to watch the blank paper come off the giant feed rolls at high speed, twist and turn down through the line of rollers and inked platens spinning and rotating at blurring speed and suddenly there it was! A folded newspaper that was soon lost in the thousands coming off the line to be bundled and shipped out to the newsboys and news stands.

Anyway here is bit of local history I found about the equipment used at Dodge County Pioneer in 1899 – 123 years ago, right here in the land between the marshes.

Land Use

And why you should pay attention to it

AL WISNEFSKE
 BROKER/OWNER LAND &
 LEGACY GROUP LLC

I'll admit, I talk a lot about land and land use. It's a topic that is constantly floating around in my head. When I check other agent's listings I'm always checking the zoning that's being marketed and the actual zoning. It's very common for there to be mistakes.

Whether it was a coincidence or a symptom of it always being in my head, the Wisconsin Realtors Association (WRA) published a "Legal Hottip" about this exact topic.

Scenario: A Seller and Agent were marketing a property as a conforming use - residential structure that could be used for commercial and industrial purposes. Buyer and Buyer Agent, upon contacting the municipality, learn that it's actually non-conforming and the property can only be used for residential purposes.

Like I said before, this is not uncommon. Most agents will look at what the property looks like (ie. a house - must be zoned residential), they'll look at the tax bill, (ie. assessed residential, must be zoned residential), or even prior listings if it expired out before. There's no deep dive or knowledge about how to find out how a property is actually zoned.

So how should you go about learning about land use? Here are 5 steps you can follow right now:

1. Tax Bill - start with the tax bill(s). Look at how the property is being assessed and also if there have been any changes in the property class the property was a part of.
2. Local Municipality - these offices will have the zoning for each property within their boundaries. Most have this information on their website or you can simply call and provide the property information and they'll send over what it's zoned.
3. Comprehensive Plans - Municipalities will have Comprehensive Plans for growth. Current land use and zoning as well as future land use should be within these plans along with maps showing all of the properties.
4. Brokers/Agents - trust me on this - use a broker that specializes in these types of properties. Personally, I have a system that I follow for each property that get's all tax and zoning information found and put together within 30 minutes.
5. Attorneys - don't be afraid to make a small investment to look thoroughly at a property. Money upfront can save you loads of money in the future.

Do your homework and do it well. There's no time for "C" work in this space. Use resources and dig deep.

You only buy a property once, buy it right.

Vacant Land in Washington County

AL WISNEFSKE
 BROKER/OWNER LAND & LEGACY GROUP LLC

I started talking with Brian towards the beginning of 2022. He was on the hunt for some land to build a house and have a hobby farm.

There were two main problems:

1. Land listings were extremely scarce
2. Zoning needed to align with his proposed use

To tackle the first problem I told Brian what I was doing with letters and outreach to try and connect Buyers and Sellers. Turns out he was doing some of this already and had seen some responses, just not the right property. With months of outreach and watching new listings, some properties came up but they weren't the right fit. One of the contacts Brian heard back from had a gorgeous piece of property near the Washington/Ozaukee County line. It wasn't a quick process but we reached an accepted offer that closed months later after all of the due diligence was complete.

For the second problem we focused our attention on one main township where we knew the zoning code well. With 10 acres or more there was tremendous freedom to build a home and have animals in their A-1 zoning district. The property that Brian found would work perfectly for his proposed use.

I reflected and found 5 main reasons why this deal came together:

1. Clarity - knowing what you want as a Buyer
2. Persistence - keep going even when listings are scarce
3. Intention - taking actions that lead to your goal
4. Creativity - outside of the box ideas
5. Partnership - connecting with the right people

A huge thank you to Brian for reaching out and putting in tremendous work to make this deal happen for you. I hope the property turns out to be everything you dreamed of and more.

Nov. 29 vs. Winneconne

The Lady Indians welcomed in the Wolves of Winneconne.

Although Kewaskum is still working through trying to cut down the number of turnovers, the team is displaying its experience and depth.

The Indians showed signs of mid-season-form along with some shaky moments.

Kewaskum did appear to have an overwhelming paint presence in this contest, as the Indians shot 58% inside the three point line.

Kewaskum led the Wolves, 29-19, at intermission.

Winneconne senior Joey Perry did her best to bring her team back, but her game high 20 points was not enough to overcome the balance of Kewaskum.

The Indians had four players finish in double figures. Grace Leitheiser led the way with 14. Madi Dogs finished with a lucky set of 13 points and 13 rebounds. Morgan Adams contributed 12 along with six blocks.

Julia Steger has been arguably the most consistent performer so far this year. She finished with 10 points to go with five steals.

Dec. 8 at Ripon

Thursday night the Indians had their road conference opener in Ripon.

A Big Day in the Tree Stand

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

This week's column is about opening day of the Wisconsin's gun deer season and our deer camp: The Red Brush Gang.

We live out of a 18x36 foot shack that we put up in The Meadow Valley Wildlife Area, and we hunt the MVA and the Necedah National Wildlife Refuge.

There were 16 of us at camp on opening weekend, and the weather was brutal.

SATURDAY, NOV. 19

HIGH: 21. LOW: 10.

18 MPH SUST. WIND

Last night was the only night I had to cook for the entire season. I fed the gang three elk roasts, three pork roasts and two bear roasts along with onions and potatoes from my garden.

This morning, it was up at 4 a.m. and then a bit of a drive to where my 21-year-old daughter, Selina, 29-year-old stepson, Joey Dushek, and myself had a walk of 1.5, 1.7 and 2 miles to our stands.

A bit of a story is that Joey has never hunted public land on opening day due to the fact that he had a sweet setup on some private land. Our gang is all public, so Joey could not get in our big-buck contest.

Selina was dropped off first, I was next and then Joey vanished in the dark. We all hunted in portable tree stands, it was snowing and the wind forecast was correct: sustained 18-mph wind with gusts to 35.

My view was mostly of a strip of marsh that was maybe 500-yards in width, and I was in the middle of it.

Shortly after dark, I saw a buck that had gotten across and was just about to enter the red brush at 180-yards. I took a shot, and it was easy to see in the snow when I came upon its tracks that I had missed.

No matter what, the story for the individual that hunted in a tree today was the weather.

To stay into the game, you could not over think.

About 10 a.m., I met up with Selina for a lunch break, and even though I had hauled a ground blind and a Mr. Buddy Heater, she did not think it would withstand the wind, so it was never put up.

Shortly after that, I was back up in my tree and it was not 10 minutes later that two of the largest gray wolves I have ever seen came trotting by. I have watched a lot of wolves but their size was amazing.

Selina would also see a bobcat from her stand, and this would be a big year for our entire gang to see lots of bobcat and wolf. I might add that the entire day, I never saw another hunter. I think we are just too far back for anyone to want to walk.

Our group does some texting with each other, and two common texts were: "It's too windy to hit a deer from the tree," and, "it seems like my tree could get blown over with me in it."

As much as I enjoyed this day - my 51st Saturday in-a-row before Thanksgiving hunting here - I was very excited for dark, the walk and the two wood stoves back at our shack.

Joey Dushek had made the decision that it was too windy to shoot from his tree and was doing a very slow walk and stalk.

Joey Dushek and his sister, Selina Walters, after a long, cold but successful opening day of gun deer season.

Joe came across a good buck that turned out to be a 10-pointer and sent it to heaven, and it was incredibly cool to hear his war whoop, which meant he had shot a buck.

This was the beginning of a huge job: removing his stand, dressing his buck and a two-mile drag.

Joe made it to my stand just before dark, which meant we had another 1.7 miles.

No one really knows it, but I have been nursing some injuries from an October elk-hunt that made dragging a large buck in a half-frozen marsh a death march.

I have to admit that Joey did the bulk of the work, but Selina and I certainly helped, as well.

When we made it to the truck at 6:30, no one was talking about how cold it was.

On this day, Joe's buck was the only deer harvested out of 16 hunters and would eventually win our group's big-buck contest the first year that he entered it!

getting to the free throw line. She finished with a season-high 18-points with five steals.

Leitheiser finished with eight points, seven rebounds and six assists while setting the tone in the Indians' best performance with regard to reducing turnovers. The Indians finished with a season-low nine turnovers.

Steger finished with 12 and Adams had 9.

Ripon went into desperation mode late and scratched and clawed to make this contest look closer than what it really was.

Ksioszk pinned his first four opponents to get to the championship before running into Zach Clark of New Berlin Eisenhower/West.

Clark won by technical fall to earn his title.

The Campbellsport Wrestling Season Begins

COACH DAN HEISDORF
CHS WRESTLING

The Campbellsport Cougar wrestlers opened their conference season last Thursday, Dec. 1, with a triangular at Mayville with Kewaskum attending as the third team.

Vs. Mayville

The Cougars beat Mayville 66-3 as the Cardinals only put three varsity wrestlers out on the mat.

At 138, Sam Koth pinned Wyatt Meyrose in 3:52 minutes and Joseph Volz pinned Ayden Grulke in only 4:48.

Vs. Kewaskum

The Cougars followed the Mayville dual up with a 39-32 win over Kewaskum.

Starting at 195, the Indians jumped out to a 6-0 lead.

The Cougars would answer with three straight pins.

In a battle of two returning state qualifiers at 220, Joseph Volz carried a 7-5 lead into the third period when he hit a double leg and took Dylan Soyk right to his back and pinned him in 5:17.

At 285, Kyle Murphy used a lateral throw to pin his opponent and Karsten Krueger pinned his opponent in the first period to give the Cougars an 18-6 lead.

Chris Meyer would lose by major to Jimmy Racer, 11-0.

The Cougars bumped Jake Bowe into the lineup and came up with a big 7-4 decision over Brayden Loehr.

Campbellsport then moved Ostin Blanchard up to 132 who countered by putting in Austin Janz, who Blanchard pinned in 1:04.

Next, Kewaskum moved Ethan Immel up to 138 to wrestle Sam Koth.

Joseph Volz won by fall over Mayville's Ayden Grulke in his first match of the night at the Mayville Triangular. CLARICE CASE PHOTO

Immel used two reversals and a penalty point to take a 5-3 lead into the third period. Immel took Koth down again to make it 7-3 and with under ten seconds left, Koth tried a desperation move to score some quick points and ended up getting caught on his back and pinned.

Brody Nolan and JJ Ksioszk would come back and get the Cougars two more first period pins before Kewaskum would finish off the night with a major decision, a forfeit win, and a pin.

Lady Cougar Bowlers Chalk-up another Win

The victory put Campbellsport back on top of the Flyway Conference standings

CHS BOWLING

On Monday, Dec. 5, the Lady Cougar bowlers traveled to King Pin Bowl in West Bend to bowl a bye in their schedule.

Bowling is a little different than other sports. In bowling, you can actually lose in a bye week.

A team must bowl 90% or better of their yearly-team-average per game.

The Cougar team went into the match Monday evening with a 149 average, which is the highest in the conference.

Even though the Cougars had two athletes at a dance commitment, they still had a great night, winning all nine games and averaging 163 while doing it.

With only five on the roster, the girls pulled off an impressive showing.

Brianna Thompson led the way, filling 17 of 18 frames. Right behind her were Taylor Muraski, filling 15 of 18 frames, and Aubree Koenings – off the injured reserve list – filling 11 of 18 frames.

Olivia Boegel and Hannah Thelen helped out, filling nine of 18 frames and eight of 18 frames, respectively.

The Cougars start their second round of play on Monday, Dec. 12, in Richfield. Stats for the match were as follows (strikes-spares-total frames): Taylor Muraski 6-9-18; Hannah Thelen 4-4-18; Olivia Boegel 5-4-18; Aubree Koenings 4-7-18; Brianna Thompson 10-7-18.
