Cougars Shut-Out Foxes

COACH DAN HEISDORF
CHS SOFTBALL

The varsity softball team lost to third-ranked Winnebago Lutheran (WLA) last Wednesday, 3-2, in a game that came down to the last out.

WLA got a run in the first on a lead-off double and a two-out RBI single.

The Cougars came back with two runs in the bottom of the second. Kaitlyn Goebel singled and Maia Morgan walked. A two-out error allowed both of the girls to score to make it 2-1.

WLA tied it in the top of the third on a RBI ground-out.

In the sixth, WLA got a couple breaks when lead-off hitter Megan Pollack hit a looping line drive to Sam Schodrow. Sam leaped for the ball, but the ball popped out when she landed on the ground. The next batter bunted which was fielded by Alyssa Koelbl. She threw to first to retire the batter, but Pollack tried going to third on the play. First baseman Morgan fired a strike to third and the Cougars appeared to have the runner tagged out, however the ump called her safe. Pollack eventually scored on a RBI ground-out.

The Cougars had runners at first and third in the bottom of the seventh, but could not get the tying run across.

Schodrow ended up with three hits. Kinsley

A Painting is worth a thousand...

Dear Reader,

During his 93 years on earth, Picasso completed about 13,000 paintings. Picasso used many media types in his art, including sculpture, drawing, print-making, and ceramics, but most often he painted. In his earlier days, he painted landscapes, capturing a universal beauty emanating from a magical place that only he could see.

Not long ago I stood staring at one of his landscapes, and I couldn't help but notice a lone figure, a miniature man standing in complete solitude, as if he was buried in the surrounding beauty. I wondered if the painter had seen someone walking by and hastily drew him as he passed. Had he brought one of the local townspeople to that spot and paid him to be there? Or had he placed himself in his painting, as a marker of the desolate human condition?

When I reflected on this work of art, I wondered what he wanted us to see in this particular painting. Was the man mostly invisible, or was he meant to be discovered by the viewer? Were some to walk away with an image of quietude while others with an image of loneliness? Who can say? Picasso is dead, and so are all of the great Cubist painters of his time.

Perhaps when one looks at a work of art, the gift of the artist is that the viewer can fuse their take on its beauty with that which they brought of their own when they first gazed upon its creation.

The Blotter

MITCHELL BRADLEY KELLER
EDITOR

In this week's edition, readers may notice the return of "The Blotter."

Perhaps better known as police logs, sheets or beats, the term "blotter" is probably not the most familiar, but, in North America, it is used specifically to describe a temporary recording book (usually associated with law enforcement). Blotters come in daily, weekly and sometimes monthly formats, and the information within often details each individual call a police department received. Depending on the department, the log may also include information on what action was taken and if anyone was arrested or charged with a crime.

Police blotters, historically, are shared between police departments and newsrooms, and their purpose is to show transparency and accountability, and I am pleased to bring back this tradition as part of our contemporary pages.

As for its name, "blotter" is a common term uttered among journalists and officers, and I wanted to entrench the phrase on these pages for this now regular feature. While somewhat informal, it's hyper-spe-

G.A. SCHEINOHA
CONTRIBUTOR

Dunno about you. But I've seen Old Glory, our Flag at half-mast afterwards far too much in the last year or two. More disturbingly, a list of random shootings in just a few months appeared on social media recently. The sites/incidents numbered well over 20. In a scant few months. Does anyone else find this to be totally insane? Though self-proclaimed, "the greatest nation in the world," we have so much freedom, it's literally killing us.

While Congress struggles to pass an across-the-board federal background check on all firearms purchases, lunacy runs the day. An assault rifle ban, which should never have been lifted, poses an even greater challenge with the so-called nut-case fringe, including leadership in a powerful lobbying group contending that liberals want to take away their guns. As a blue dog, I assure you nothing is farther from the truth.

First, they may be misinterpreting the Second Amendment of the U.S. Constitution, which mentions "a well-armed militia." This does not equate to a single individual, or a small, heavily weaponized group. Such as the one that stormed the Capitol.

I have fired four guns in my lifetime – a Springfield bolt action .22, a .22 repeating rifle, a .36 black powder revolver and a .22 pistol. I understand the empowerment or emancipation it allows the carrier to feel. Even if it's somewhat Freudian by nature.

Let them have their firearms. But let's also admit as stated in Spider-Man, "With great power comes great responsibility." Is there any greater than freedom, on both counts?

No need exists to own either an assault rifle or clips which contain more than 10 rounds. Like machine guns, these serve only one purpose: to kill the greatest number of people in the shortest time. Hence their popularity with early 20th century gangsters and current day drug cartels.

I'll be the first to confess guns aren't the sole problem here. But I will always debate "guns don't kill people." No, they just make the process more efficient for those who use them to do so. Why stab or bludgeon when it's easier to shoot?

The ever-increasing level of violence in movies, sports and on television, in addition to parental displays that it's okay, even normal to aggressively act out hostile emotions is equally to blame.

Here are questions that matter. When is enough enough? How great is our bloodlust? As Kansas sang, "How long to the point of no return?"

Thank You to Our Teachers and Staff

TOM WISSINK
DISTRICT ADMINISTRATOR
CAMPBELLSPORT SCHOOL DISTRICT

This week, May 8-12, the Campbellsport School District is joining with our community to celebrate Teacher and Staff Appreciation Week.

This annual event gives us an opportunity to recognize and express our gratitude for the hard work, dedication and achievements of our outstanding educators. It's also a time to reflect on everything our teachers and staff have done and continue to do to support our students throughout the 2022-23 school year.

Teaching is a challenging and demanding profession, requiring patience, dedication, and a deep commitment to students' growth and wellbeing. Teachers serve all students, no matter their background, socio-economic status, or ability, providing a level playing field for children from all walks of life. They show up every day with enthusiasm and passion for helping our students succeed.

Teachers play a critical role in shaping the future of our society. They are actively preparing the leaders, innovators, and thinkers of tomorrow for the opportunities and challenges that lie ahead. Our teachers and staff make our schools places of hope and joy. They make our community and our world a better place. With this in mind, we ask our community to join the Campbellsport School District in celebrating Teacher and Staff Appreciation Week. Please take a moment to thank a teacher, counselor, para, custodian, coach, advisor or other staff member who has made a positive impact on your life or on the life of your child. Write a heartfelt note, send an email or make a post on social media expressing your gratitude. Every small gesture of appreciation can make a big difference.

We're incredibly grateful for the outstanding efforts of our teachers and staff, each and every day.

Please join us in thanking our teachers and staff for all they do!

What's the Future of Social Security?

MARY KRIEGER
CONTRIBUTING READER

Life was hard for everyone during the 1930's, but especially for older folks.

While the entire nation was reeling from the aftermath of the Great Depression, and many struggled to make a living, more than 50% of all older adults were living below the poverty line.

This was the backdrop for the creation of Social Security.

In 1935, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt signed into law the creation of Social Security, which was designed to permit older people to live out their lives in dignity.

In 1937, the initial lump sum payments were made and payroll deductions were started. In 1940, monthly benefit checks started. In 1937, there were 53,236 seniors receiving social security.

By 2008, the number had soared to over 50 million.

In 1954, payments were established for people who were disabled and, in 1965, Medicare health insurance was started (SSA.gov).

Money collected from workers' pay checks is placed in the Social Security Trust Fund, which is invested in safe government bonds. Workers pay a 6.2% payroll tax into Social Security and employers add

Kewaskum Kiwanis April Students of the Month

Megan Roehrig

As my senior year is wrapping up it's hard to wrap my head around the fact that my high school chapter will be ending. These four years have taught me a lot about myself.

While high school may be stressful with all the AP classes and CAPP classes I took, a lot of memories were made in this small town. In the next couple of months, I will be transitioning from Kewaskum High School to the University of Wisconsin-Stevens Point to pursue a degree in interior architecture, as well as a minor in business.

One of my greatest memories from Kewaskum High School was the amazing opportunity I had to pursue my interests outside of the traditional school day. Rather than sitting in five classes that would not help my future I had the chance to start working at Drexel Building Supply in Campbellsport. Working there has opened my eyes to what my future could potentially look like, and it has been an absolutely amazing experience. All my hard work and dedication throughout these four years have truly set me up for success in my future.

Isabelle Thomas

I am honored to have been given this opportunity of being Kewaskum High School's Kiwanis Student of the Month. High school has taught me many life lessons and experiences I will never forget.

Being involved in sports such as gymnastics, high school tennis and high school softball have shaped me into the person I am today. The accomplishments such as winning multiple conference awards and going to sectionals in high school varsity tennis were unforgettable moments over these past years. I am also involved in various clubs such as Key Club, National Honor Society, Kewaskum Impact Crew, Student Council, and more. I have received an academic letter all four years as well.

In the near future, I will be attending UW-Whitewater to pursue a Bachelor's Degree in elementary education. A memorable experience I would like to share about Kewaskum High School is that I was given the opportunity to be a teacher aide during the school day. I was able to build connections with elementary school children along with the middle schoolers. This experience will stick with me until I have my own classroom. I am looking forward to taking those next steps as I graduate from Kewaskum High School.

S.O.T.H. Student Council Goes 'GaGa for Lemonade'

Several student council members at Shepherd of the Hills participated in Lemonade Day on Saturday, May 6. Although the event was canceled in Fond du Lac County, members of the student council participated to raise funds to construct a GaGa Ball Pit at the school.

"GaGa for Lemonade" was available at two locations, Blue Door Coffee Co. in Campbellsport, and B&B Express in Mt. Calvary.

"The kids were so excited to do this and had a great time planning and executing the event," said a school representative.

Marshfield Clinic Health System, Security Health Plan Now Accepting Behavioral Health Grant Applications from School Districts

Marshfield Clinic Health System and Security Health Plan are now accepting applications from eligible school districts to implement b.e.s.t.® Universal Screening in the 2023-2024 school year.

b.e.s.t. (Behavioral Emotional Social Traits) is an online screening tool designed to help education professionals build the emotional health of students and help identify students who may need additional positive behavioral support. Developed by School Psychologist Eric P. Hartwig, Ph.D., the tool provides educators recommended actions to take with students based on their behaviors.

b.e.s.t is a powerful tool for educators because all students in a class are screened, and teachers are given simple interventions to use, in real time, in the classroom. As a result, all students have the opportunity to receive positive support to help them learn new skills to manage their own behavioral health.

“This differs from typical interventions that are only implemented when there are problem behaviors in the classroom,” said Jay Shrader, vice president of community health for the Health System. “The last several years have increased the attention on student mental health and we are proud to continue supporting the b.e.s.t. program as a universal solution to support students’ well-being.”

Educator training is critical to the success of b.e.s.t. in the classroom and training this year is being approached in a new way. After an extensive survey and considering questions from b.e.s.t. users, a new training model called b.e.s.t. Learning

Connections will be implemented in 2023. The new approach to training will provide meaningful and real time support to b.e.s.t. users with a series of modules that are designed to address specific and individual needs on demand.

“We continue to be incredibly fortunate with Security Health, Marshfield Clinic and our schools on the b.e.s.t. project,” Hartwig said. “We have not only been able to share real time classroom practices for teachers to help individual children, we are identifying trends and matching universal practices to support a healthier school population.”

Schools awarded a grant receive technical support, biannual screenings for students, and training consultation and support for teachers and staff. School districts eligible to receive the grant are located in Dickinson County, Michigan, or one of the following Wisconsin counties: Adams, Ashland, Barron, Bayfield, Buffalo, Burnett, Chippewa, Clark, Columbia, Crawford, Dodge, Door, Douglas, Dunn, Eau Claire, Florence, Fond du Lac, Forest, Green Lake, Iron, Jackson, Jefferson, Juneau, La Crosse, Langlade, Lincoln, Marathon, Marquette, Monroe, Oneida, Pepin, Pierce, Polk, Portage, Price, Richland, Rusk, Sawyer, Shawano, Taylor, Trempealeau, Vernon, Vilas, Washburn, Waupaca, Waushara or Wood.

Kenneth Venton Sabish

Kenneth Venton Sabish, age 34, of Fond du Lac, passed away on Thursday, April 27, 2023, surrounded by his family.

He was born in Neenah on October 31, 1988. Kenny, as he was known as by most, attended school in Campbellsport. It was in his youth that he developed his love for adventure and music that continued to grow throughout his adult years.

After high school, Kenny started out roofing, but soon learned carpentry and began his career building houses. He began working for Karr-Bach Builders, where his boss, Mike, became his mentor and close friend. He worked his way up and eventually became a crew foreman, a position he held until his final days.

Kenny's spare time was spent with his family and friends or working on his Audi with his brother. He also made time for adventures like skydiving and attending music festivals. Affectionately called a walking juke-box, Kenny used music to show his emotions, to help others work through theirs, and, mostly, just to have a good time. Kenny also enjoyed traveling, experiencing new places, and making memories with loved ones.

He is survived by his parents, Dale Sabish and Rana Costello; brothers, Brandon Sabish (Callie Isaac) and Michael Sabish (Hayley Garlow), and their children, Easton, Holden, and Braxson; half-brother, Tyler Meyer; paternal grandmother, Bonnie Sabish; maternal grandparents, Thomas and Sharon Costello. He is further survived by his uncle, John Costello; aunt, Pamela Costello, and her children, Frances and Daniel; his beloved cat, Biggie Smalls; and his former partner, Aubrey Krause and her daughter, Ava.

He was preceded in death by his grandfather, Darrel Sabish.

Kenny was hard-working, selfless, and willing to lend a hand whenever one was needed. If you were lucky enough to have met Kenny, you know he will be remembered by all for his infectious smile and caring personality.

The family has decided a celebration of life will be held at a future date.

Kenny's family would like to thank the St. Agnes Hospital Emergency Staff, with special thanks to Dr. Murphy and his nurses, Heather T and Meg, RN, for their care and compassion.

In lieu of flowers, a memorial fund has been established in Kenny's name.

Twohig Funeral Home is serving the family with online guestbook and condolences at www.twohigfunerals.com.

Earla E. Brantner

Earla E. Brantner (nee Schaefer), 94, of Campbellsport, formerly of West Bend, passed away on Friday, May 5, 2023, at the Serenity Villa.

She was born on May 29, 1928, in Kewaskum, a daughter of Elmer and Ella Schaefer (nee Roehrdanz).

She worked at Haebig Drycleaning in West Bend until her marriage to James Brantner on October 9, 1954, at Trinity Lutheran Church in West Bend. Earla enjoyed gardening, socializing with her friends and family, and cooking and baking.

Those left behind to cherish her memory include her children, Bonnie (Gary) Curreri, Peggy (John) Spartz, and Patrick (Sharon) Brantner; and many nieces and nephews.

In addition to her parents, she was preceded in death by her husband, James; and siblings, Myrtle (Arthur) Duenkel, Mildred (Leo) Schwartz, and Allen (Marie) Schaefer.

Graveside service was held on Wednesday, May 10, 2023, at 2 p.m. at Washington County Memorial Park in West Bend.

A special thank you to Brooklyn and her team at Serenity Villa and also to the nurses from Preceptor Hospice.

Dennis E. Campbell

Dennis E. Campbell, son of Cyrus F. and Laurretta E. (nee Wittemann) Campbell, passed away on Friday, April 7, 2023, at the Tomah VA Residential Living Center in Tomah.

Dennis was born on April 4, 1950, and was raised on a farm in the Town of Barton. He was baptized, went to grade school, and was confirmed at Holy Trinity Catholic Parish in Kewaskum. Dennis was a member of the Kewaskum High School graduating class of 1968. He entered the US Army in 1969 to serve his country as a medic in the Vietnam Conflict, and he was honorably discharged in 1971. He was extremely proud of serving his country and to be a US Army Veteran.

During his working years, Dennis worked at several local companies in various positions as a factory worker. His immense joy in life was family and in particular his daughters, grandchildren, and great-granddaughter. He was an avid sports fan of many different sports, but especially football and the Green Bay Packers. Before a game day, you would hear him say "pray for the Packers". Dennis loved listening to country music oldies and thoroughly enjoyed having burgers, brats, beans, and awesome desserts at family cookouts. Going out to eat was always special to Dennis.

Dennis is survived by two daughters, Brenda (Darryl) Waechter and Jennifer (Scott) Wisniewski; sisters, Kathleen Walker of Scottsdale, Arizona and Sharon (Daniel) Pahl of Horicon. He is further survived by three granddaughters, Kayla Waechter, Camryn Waechter, and Madeline Wisniewski; one grandson, Zachary (Myriah) Waechter of Neenah; and one great-granddaughter, Ellie Ann Waechter. In addition, Dennis is survived by his nephew, Eric Pahl, of El Paso, Texas; two first cousins, Br. Jerome Campbell of Mount Calvary and Janice (Russell) Oelhafen of Kewaskum. He will be deeply missed by three close friends, Jackie Syens, Rose Schweisthal and George Wilson, all of Tomah, and by his many friends at the Strike Zone in Tomah. Dennis said, "Tomah is home to me".

He was preceded in death by his parents; two aunts, Gertrude Campbell and Isabelle Karius; two uncles, Miles Campbell and Henry Wittemann; and two brothers-in law, David Walker and Steven Schmidt.

Visitation: Dennis' family greeted relatives and friends on May 9, at 138 N. Eighth Avenue, West Bend, from 11 a.m. until 12:45 p.m.

Mass of Christian Burial: A Mass of Christian Burial for Dennis followed visitation at 1 p.m. at Holy Angels Catholic Church, with Father Mark Jones officiating. Burial followed at Holy Angels Cemetery with Military Honors. Dennis was buried next to his grandparents, Frank and Catherine Wittemann, and his uncle, Henry Wittemann.

In lieu of flowers, donations to The VFW are requested by his family. Dennis was a lifetime member of the VFW.

Myrhum-Patten Funeral & Cremation Service has been entrusted with Dennis's arrangements. Additional information and guest book can be found at www.myrhum-patten.com.

Nancy C. Mayer Feb. 6, 1956 - Apr. 29, 2023

Nancy C. Mayer of West Bend passed away peacefully on Saturday, April 29, 2023, at the age of 67, after a long battle with cancer.

Nancy is survived by her long-time significant other and loving partner of 26 years, Reid Tock. She was the loving mother of her three sons, Kevin Haim (Jamie), Steven Haim (Brittany), and David Haim (Michelle). She had five grandchildren who she loved with all her heart and meant the world to her, Miles, Kristen, Kyle, Olivia, and Ryan.

Nancy is also survived by her sisters, Julie Goratowski (Jerry), Tammy Gordon, Krissy Potratz; and brother, Thomas Potratz.

She was preceded in death by her parents, Elmer and Marge Potratz.

Services and visitation will be private.

American Legion Poppy Days and Memorial Day Parade

American Legion Auxiliary Unit 384 volunteers will distribute the familiar red hand-crafted poppies honoring America's veterans on Friday, May 19, and Saturday, May 20, at local businesses in the Village of Kewaskum.

Planned to coincide with the Memorial Day holiday, on Monday, May 29, this annual event pays tribute to the sacrifices that our armed forces have made to preserve our freedom and to honor past and current service members.

The poppy also honors the Wisconsin disabled veterans at the Zablocki VA Medical Center in Milwaukee who make the red crepe paper poppies. Wisconsin's red poppies provide financial and therapeutic benefits to these veterans and their families.

In the battlefields of Belgium during World War I (1919-1921), poppies grew wild amid the ravages of war. The overturned soils of battle enabled poppy seeds to be covered allowing them to grow and forever serve as a reminder of the WWI bloodshed.

The Legion Auxiliary reads this poppy story to seven second grade classes in local district elementary schools and also sponsor a Poppy Poster Contest for the students. Awards will be given to first, second and third place winners at the Legion Hall on Memorial Day, May 29.

The American Legion Auxiliary will also present its Flag Garden on the front lawn at Legion Hall.

The Kewaskum American Post 384 urges the public to attend the Memorial Day Parade at 9:30 a.m., on Monday, May 29. The service program follows at 10 a.m. at the Legion.

"Come and enjoy the parade, the service program, food and refreshments served by Legion members. The veterans need your support for freedom in America," said an event organizer.

Kelli Schrauth of Campbellsport has the honor of having her college jersey on display as part of the Women's Basketball Hall of Fame's Ring of Honor in Knoxville, TN. Kelli is a graduate of St. Matthew School in Campbellsport and St. Mary's Springs Academy in Fond du Lac. She is attending college and playing basketball at Cardinal Stritch University in Milwaukee. Following her stellar performance this year at Cardinal Stritch, the school received a request from WBHOF asking for Kelli's jersey. Only 100 jerseys are requested from schools across the country from the top high school and college players each season. Kelli scored 1,387 points this season, which was her junior year.

Grace Krahn has been named the Valedictorian of Campbellsport High School Class of 2018. She will attend Georgia Tech in the fall and major in aerospace engineering. Her dream is to one day work for NASA or SpaceX, designing the rockets and airplanes of the future.

Nicole Jandre has been named the Salutatorian of Campbellsport High School Class of 2018. She will attend Concordia University and major in occupational therapy and minor in Spanish.

Savanah Cousert, Renee Vnuk-Uhrman, Kaitlyn Ebert, Keyanna Schultz, Alley John, Kelsey Sponholz, Annie Skorupa, Kenzie Voigt, Kaylin Hewitt, and Janie Hodney were accepted into the Conference Magazine Perspectives, having at least one piece published in the magazine.

Campbellsport High School Students of the Month for April include Lauren Heisdorf, Joe Krahn, Marinda Zychowicz, and Miya Herrick.

Members of the Campbellsport High School Show Choir, known as the Rhythm Rockers, competed at the State Solo & Ensemble meet recently. The team received a first rating, which is the highest score you can get. Members include Adam Cissa, Savanah Cousert, Autumn Erickson, Ike Grahl, Sam Grahl, Janie Hodny, Joey Jaeger, Ashtyn Jungers, Joe Krahn, Luis Mendoza, Cullen Perron, Lizzy Rindt, Ashlynn Scannell, Annie Skorupa, Roman Skorupa, Simon Strupp, Amber Thompson, Josh Verdien, and Bella Walters.

Campbellsport's softball team beat Plymouth 10-7 and Ripon 14-0.

Calla Loehr, a sophomore making her varsity debut for the soccer team, drilled the ball into the Kewaskum net to tie the game. The final was 1-1.

Robert H. Hatch, 81, Campbellsport, passed away May 4. Johanna M. Runge, 93, formerly of Eden, passed away April 24.

Campbellsport Elementary School students broke another state school record for raising the most money in the entire State of Wisconsin for the American Diabetes Association. Amy Arndt, an American Diabetes spokesperson, was at the school last month and spoke about the need to raise awareness in the school system. CES Principal Connie Strand spoke of her battle. With a goal to raise $4,000, students were given pledge envelopes and three weeks to raise pledges. The goal was surpassed by plenty as the grand total in pledges was $10,445.

Six high school entries and six elementary school entries from the Campbellsport School District were submitted to the Doodle 4 Google contest. Because so many high school students entered drawings, the students were asked to vote for the "doodle" they liked the best and the six top vote-getters were entered. Unfortunately, no Campbellsport design was chosen at the State and Regional level.

Jessica Kleinhans, 14, of Campbellsport, won the opportunity to compete in the National American Miss Pageant this June in Madison.

Members of St. Matthew's School girls cheer team included Brittany Beisbier, Leah Ruplinger, Emily Seideman, Christa Boschert, Becca Ruplinger, Tessa Goulais, and Brooke Martin.

Players for the St. Matthew's School girls volleyball A team included Cassidy Erickson, Katie Knoeck, Sarah Mrochinski, Heather Schrauth, Leslie Parsons, and Emily Seideman.

A daughter, Claire Elizabeth, was born April 28 to Phillip and Kelly Schmitz of Malone. A son, Ethan James Cadeau, was born May 4 to Travis Cadeau and Stephanie Rick of Campbellsport. A son, Hunter James, was born May 5 to William and Jodi Oye of St. Cloud. A son, Parker David, was born May 6 to Brian and Nicole Schill of Campbellsport. A son, Nathan John, was born May 3 to Randy and Betsy Reigle of Campbellsport.

Leon R. Arndt, 84, Eden, passed away May 10.

At the reorganizational meeting Monday, Jerry Ninnemann was elected as board president. Present President Norbert Rentmeester declined nomination for president and vice president. Other officers elected were Vice President Margie Heimermann, Clerk Karen McCarty, and Treasurer Verlyn Grahl.

Oaths of office were given to the following Campbellsport Village Board officials: Craig Gruber, Jim Ninnemann, and Norman Serwe.

It may seem a long way off, but the Badger Classic football clash between the Campbellsport Cougars and long-time rival Kewaskum is just around the corner. The game is scheduled for August 28 at Camp Randall Stadium in Madison. Advance tickets for the game are now available.

The Cougar softball team played its best game of the season, but lost 2-0 to state-ranked Horicon. The two runs scored in the bottom of the sixth inning.

Jennie Walta, a 1996 graduate of CHS, qualified for the National Christian College Athletic Association track and field meet, held May 1-2. She met the qualifying standard for the NCCAA National Meet in three events: triple jump, long jump, and 100m.

Kelly Kleine didn't show any problems coming back from a leg injury as she set a new Fond du Lac County Meet record in the 200m dash with a time of 26.9.

A daughter, Abigail Dolores, was born April 22 to Susan and Darrel Daun of St. Cloud. A daughter, Bethany Rose, was born April 22 to Dawn and Kevin Doll of Mt. Calvary. A son, Chase Michael Koenigs, was born April 23 to Gina Smith of Eden. A son, Matthew William, was born April 25 to Linda and William Sabel of Mt. Calvary.

At its regular meeting May 7, the Board of Jt. School District 23 passed a resolution making it official that the starting age for kindergarten or first grade in the public school will be five and six years of age at December 1 of the starting year.

The remodeling of the former theatre auditorium for use as a Community Center got a boost Monday night when the village board gave the operating committee permission to engage an architect. Pat Twohig, chairman of the 15-member committee developing the plans, outlined the thinking of the group. The area will be kept as large as possible.

On May 6, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Hodorff of Eden were guests of the Town Board and officers of the Town of Osceola at a dinner party. Mr. Hodorff was presented with gifts in appreciation for the 16 years he served the Town of Osceola as town clerk. He did not seek re-election and retired as clerk on April 1.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed an attached garage and its contents at the Frank Thiel residence on Spring Street Sunday. Firefighters were able to keep the fire from spreading to the house.

Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, and parents are scheduled to plant trees at New Cassel Park and at the skating rink on Spring Street on May 12.

For the second year in a row, Dale Theisen won the first place senior trophy at the annual accordion solo contest. Approximately 200 students competed on April 28.

Deborah Senn was the recipient of the John Philip Sousa award this year. The announcement was made at the high school band concert.

Sister M. Laurina Wagner, 82, Campbellsport, passed away May 3.

The annual high school prom on Friday gave Sheriff John Hardgrove and a party of county police and deputies an opportunity to check taverns in the area which allowed minors in their establishments. As a result of this check, three arrests were made. The taverns were all in the Town of Ashford. John Kiwig, who admitted the offense, was fined $80. Andrew Schrauth was released on his own recognizance following his not guilty plea and was instructed to appear at a May 12 hearing. Mrs. Marie Schlamer had her case continued for two weeks. A spokesman appeared on her behalf and reported she was ill.

Another aftermath of the prom was the arrest of five Lomira young men by Traffic Officer George Lemieux for disorderly conduct at the prom. On arraignment, they pleaded guilty and were each fined $10. They were Merlin C. and Marvin Priest, Francis Koenigs, John J. Heisler and Leland D. Schwartz. All in their twenties, the defendants were taken into custody when they attempted to tear down hall trimmings at the prom, according to Lemieux. According to information given the court, each year groups of youths go from Campbellsport to Lomira and vice versa with the intent of destroying dance-hall decorations at the proms.

The meeting held last Thursday for the purpose of forming an Athletic Association proved to be a flop. Only seven businessmen showed enough interest to attend. The purpose was to inform the businessmen what the newly formed association plans to do.

Wisconsin children voted to make the sugar maple the official state tree of Wisconsin. This was announced by William T. Calhoun of the conservation department and chairman of the Centennial state tree committee. The vote was cast by school children and members of youth groups. The sugar maple received 87,253 votes, with white pine coming in at 71,310. The article included the top seven votegetters.

John R. Smith, 71, Campbellsport, passed away May 12.

| KEWASKUM'S DAYS GONE BY |

5 Years Ago

May 17, 2018

Dennis Butz of Smith and Hatch Insurance is looking forward to the new school building and athletic facilities coming to Kewaskum. He thought that with a new facility and new field, which will now also have soccer played on it, a new scoreboard would be nice. Athletic Director Jason Piittmann steered Butz to Daktronics, a sports marketing company that creates scoreboards. Joel Fleischman of Drexel heard about Butz's idea and stepped forward to help cover the cost. Depending on finances, the scoreboard will measure either 11 by 19 feet or 13 by 24 feet. It will be digital with LED lighting and replay capabilities in addition to a sound system.

At the Kewaskum School Board meeting on May 14, the board approved an agreement for the Boys & Girls Club of Washington County to lease the district's school facilities for a total of $200,000 for the next 20 years. West Bend Mutual donated $100,000 toward the agreement. The Boys & Girls Club, which serves approximately 110 to 130 children a day, has been offering after-school care in Kewaskum for the past 10 years.

Memorial Day programs will be held in Kewaskum and Fillmore. The public is invited to each.

Boltonville Rain Days will be held May 25, 26, and 27.

During its May 14 meeting, the Kewaskum Board of Education approved a request for proposal to solicit bids for marketing services. The goal is to hire an individual or firm that would market Kewaskum schools in order to increase open enrollment into the district. The plan is to send the RFP to about eight different agencies, according to Superintendent James Smasal. He expects bids to come in around $25,000 to $30,000.

The third time was the charm. The annual Washington County Golf Tournament had been postponed twice. It was finally held May 12. Kewaskum tied for fifth place out of 22 teams, with most from Division 1 schools. Finishing in the top five at the tournament was one of the goals of the team. The other was to shoot under 320 and Kewaskum shot 310.

Kewaskum's golf team finished first at both the Auburn Bluffs mini-tour and Hon-E-Kor mini-tour recently.

Extra innings were needed when Kewaskum and Waupun met on the softball diamond recently. The Lady Indians had scored one run in the first inning, but Waupun evened the score in the seventh. Neither team scored again until the top of the 10th. Kaitlyn Miller singled to drive in two runs. Waupun did threaten in the 10th when they loaded the bases, but they did not score.

Kewaskum's tennis team improved its record to 8-2. The most recent wins included 5-2 over Ripon, 7-0 over Waupun, and 4-3 over Port Washington.

Both the men and women teams from Kewaskum finished second at the Plymouth Track Meet on May 8. Because the East Central Conference Meet was on the horizon, top-line athletes weren't pushed and others participated in different categories.

Harold L. King, 77, passed away May 13. Anne M. Panzer, 83, passed away May 14.

The Village of Kewaskum is reviewing plans to make one of the largest expenditures to date for the fire department. A plan to purchase an aerial truck costing $800,000 to village taxpayers and townships that contract fire protection with the village's fire department was introduced. The Town of Auburn has now announced it will explore other options for contracting fire services and the Town of Kewaskum will discuss the matter at its May 19 meeting.

Kewaskum Fire Department was at a fire on Saturday that was started by a grill that was left on after grilling and placed next to the garage. Damage estimates were not available at press time for the home at 710 Memorial Drive, owned by Mark and Lisa Landry. The 20 fire personnel were on the scene for approximately 90 minutes.

The Board of Education for the Kewaskum School District accepted the resignation of Curriculum Director Joannie Kalina on May 12. She began with the district on August 13, 2002, and her resignation will become effective June 30. Kalina will not pay the $500 for breaking a contract as she and the board have a mutual agreement.

At the May 12 school board meeting, the 2008-09 budget was accepted with a 25-cent tax rate increase. The budget will now go before the electorate at the annual meeting.

More than 25 women volunteered Saturday to raise the first wall at the Kewaskum Habitat job site at 703 Glacial Lane.

A wine and beer tasting event held May 10 to raise money for the Kewaskum High School Fitness Center raised more than $9,500.

Members of Kewaskum Girl Scout Troop 8622 picked up trash on the Eisenbahn Trail April 26.

Sarah Muench, an eighth grader at Kewaskum Middle School, is embarking on a journey of a lifetime this summer. She will leave June 18 to travel to Western Europe with the People to People Student Ambassador Program, representing the United States. The 20 days of rewarding activities will include meeting people in Wales, Ireland, Belgium, France, England, and the Netherlands.

The Kewaskum FFA held its year-end banquet on May 1. Several photos of award winners were in this week's issue and a statement appeared on the page saying additional photos were on the paper's website.

Former Kewaskum High School athlete Stef Brettingen is currently the starting quarterback for the Wisconsin Warriors, a team in the Women's Professional Football League. This is her second stint playing in the WPFL, having played in 2003 with the Toledo Spitfire.

A daughter, Jadelyn Nicole, was born April 28 to Nicole and Paul Stoltzmann of Kewaskum. A daughter, Elizabeth Grace, was born May 3 to Kimberly and Jason Calliari of Kewaskum.

Edward J. Hawig, 93, Town of Wayne, passed away May 13. Elizabeth Mae Cutsforth, Meilahn, 92, passed away May 4. Harrison J. Jossi, 95, passed away January 18. Edward M. Fechter, 73, Town of Trenton, passed away May 12.

A packed KHS Commons listened silently as school board members voted against reopening Beechwood School; and in a second motion, reaffirmed their position of not sending it to the voters on a referendum, with a definitive 4-3 vote. Community residents and board members had the chance to speak. Previous to the Beechwood discussion and action, the board voted 6-1 to approve building the new proposed Kewaskum Elementary School on the same site.

Kevin Scheunemann is the new owner of Kewaskum Dairy Queen. He began working for the previous owners (Nancy, Jerry and Pat Mehring) in June 1988, working the counter at the former North Dairy Queen and West Dairy Queen. Kevin became the manager of the Kewaskum location when he moved to Kewaskum in August 1996.

Kewaskum Junior Prom was held May 2. Court members included Queen Emma Chambers, King Chris Spears, Jarrod Lecher, Heather Justman, Ally Link, Beth Herriges, Vanessa Current, Amanda Klemme, Krissy Krell, Crystal Herriges, John Warnecke, Nathan Weiss, Josh Gaffke, Eric Wenninger, Keith Novotny, and Andy Luedtke. Adam Donath and Aggie Friedel were the MCs.

With his son-in-law, Erik, Frank Sell built the home he still lives in. Frank cleared by hand the heavy brush from the area and began raising flower and vegetable plants from seed. At 94, Frank still tends the flower garden and tills and plants the vegetable garden. He makes current jams and puts up dills, bakes, cooks, and does the wash.

Kewaskum High School musicians established a very impressive record on May 5 at the State Solo-Ensemble Contest at the University of Wisconsin-Oshkosh. Twenty events with Kewaskum students were given the coveted First Division Gold Medal Award, 15 events received Second Division Silver Medal awards, and three events received Third Division Bronze Medal Awards.

Art classes at Kewaskum High School will hold an Art Show on May 20. On display will be the best work of students in Art 1 through Art IV.

Money raised from a bike hike scheduled for May 19 will be put toward extra athletic equipment for the community.

Robert Heller of Kewaskum has been promoted to foreman of the press room - second shift at Regal Ware.

After five postponements due to rain and wetness, the Kewaskum golfers finally got to play golf, but the meet did have to be changed from Mayville's course to Hon-E-Kor. Kewaskum won and set a new record, shooting a 158 to Mayville's 179. Kewaskum's former record was 160.

A daughter was born May 10 to Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Beisbier of Kewaskum.

Edna Schmidt, 81, formerly of Kewaskum, passed away May 8. Alphonse J. Rinzel, 74, formerly of Town of Auburn, passed away May 8.

At the May 12 meeting of the Village of Kewaskum, the president and clerk were authorized to enter into a contract with Ben Tennes of West Bend for the construction of a pumping station according to the specifications of the McMahan Engineering Co. at the price of $22,951.

The public school band and girls glee club represented Kewaskum at the district music festival and performed well. The glee club performed in the Class C competition and received first place. The band performed in the Class D competition and received second place.

Safety is Everybody's Business was the title of the talk given by Sylvia Matenaer, and it won the safety speaking contest held at the electric company building in West Bend. She will now compete in the district contest. Carol Plaum of Boltonville and Sylvester Hawig of Kewaskum were also contestants.

The Kewaskum High School baseball team won three of four games and now have undisputed second place of the Tri-County League.

William H. Jaehrig, 79, Fillmore, passed away May 7. Sophia Hall, 71, passed away.

cific meaning (of being a police log) fits with this paper's hyper-local mission. Even more so, I kind of just like how it sounds.

Glancing backwards at days gone by, by flipping through archival newspapers, the blotter is one of the most consistent services a newspaper provides; residents of the Kettle Moraine communities likely remember growing up with these regular recordings as a popular feature in their local weekly.

Equal parts for the interest of public safety as it is a resource for the proverbial water-cooler fodder, blotters are important because they display the cooperation of three important groups working together: the residents, the police and the newspaper. The newspaper trusts the police department is delivering accurate representation of their work, and the police department knows the value of showing their effort to the taxpaying residents of the municipality they serve. The residents, of course, can use the information to stay safe, informed or, in some instances, entertained.

The blotters disappeared from these pages due to no singular issue but, instead, a combination of several. In addition to turnover (at police departments and, more so, within our newsroom), the process for obtaining this information simply got lost.

Fortunately, the communities we cover already have transparent police departments and communicable leadership, and I am looking forward to working with all of them on returning this resource to the paper.

While I understand that police matters are sensitive (and this also played into why blotters became less popular over time), the purpose of printing the logs is not to criticize or embarrass anyone. Instead, the blotter shows how your local police spend their time, what challenges they are facing and helps illustrate the services they can provide. Should the blotters ever be too busy or too brief, residents can use that information to inquire exactly what is going wrong (or perhaps right) in their community.

I thank all the readers who have spoken to me about police blotters; your constructive encouragement to bring back this feature was a big reason I've sought to secure these regular details. If you don't see your community's police blotter, don't fret! We will be adding and growing these logs over time.

This newspaper's mission, always, is to educate, engage and entertain, and I think bringing back this service will help with all three.

We're always looking for new ideas, as well, so do not be shy about sharing yours with us! You can reach me at mitchell.keller@mmclocal.com anytime.

See you next week.

an additional 6.2% for a total of 12.4%. Social Security is not funded by the federal government's budget. Money constantly flows into the fund via payroll deductions and, if the amount of money coming in is equal to or greater than the benefits paid out, the fund grows.

If not enough money is coming in via the payroll deductions, some money needs to be taken from the trust fund. This is the situation we are in right now.

Back in 1983, there was an anticipated shortfall in the trust fund and, at that time, the trustees suggested (and congress approved) the full retirement age be increased from 65-67. This change kept the fund solvent, until now.

The trustees recently reported that the fund will be able to pay full social security benefits until 2034, at which time the fund will be exhausted and benefits will need to be paid solely with money coming in each month from payroll taxes. Benefits will continue, but will be reduced by about 20%. This decrease would be significant for many seniors. Forbes estimates that Social Security provides 50-60% of the total income for the average person over 65. Some seniors have nothing to live on except their social security check.

Why is there not enough money to maintain the trust fund?

Experts have pointed to several reasons:

- There are fewer workers in comparison to beneficiaries due to an aging population and low national birth rate;
- People are living longer. Back in 1935, the average life expectancy was 59.9 for men and 63.9 for women;
- Rich people, in particular, are living longer and also have larger benefit amounts;
- Low interest rates on bonds back in the earlier part of this century meant less interest paid to the trust;

- Payroll taxes are paid only on the first $160,200 of income and, after that, high income earners do not pay any more payroll taxes;

Congress has been slow to act on fixing social security. Some would rather abolish it all together, while others have searched to find a solution to keep this essential safety net for seniors solvent. One suggestion would be to raise the amount of payroll tax from 6.2% to 8.1%. This would keep the trust fund intact until 2095, but it would also place an unfair burden on low and middle-income earners while high-income earners continue to not pay their fair share.

Another option that has been discussed is raising the full retirement age from 67 to 70. This measure would result in the average beneficiary losing over $65,000 in retirement income. It would negatively impact lower income seniors who physically cannot work anymore and will be relying on social security to meet their expenses.

Senators Bernie Sanders and Elizabeth Warner have come up with a different plan. They suggest that the payroll deduction cap be eliminated for those who make more than $250,000, and to also apply the payroll tax to investment and business income, which are currently exempt. These measures would keep the trust fund solvent for more than 75 years.

So, what is the bottom line regarding Social Security?

If nothing is done, for the next 11 years there are sufficient funds to continue to pay full benefits and, after that, benefits would be reduced by about 20%. Some simple changes like eliminating the payroll deduction cap would keep social security alive and well for many years.

The question is, do our elected officials have the courage to make those changes?

APRIL 26 - MAY 3

April 26: Welfare Check. KPD responded to a residence to check on a female who reportedly threatened suicide over a family matter. The female was fine and had made the comment out of frustration.

April 28: Custody. A male called police when the mother of his child refused to allow the child to leave with him. A record check on the male showed two active warrants. He was taken into custody on the warrants and transported to the Washington County Jail.

April 28: Assistance. School staff called police for assistance in locating two juveniles who walked away from the school lock-in. The juveniles were located by their parents as they were walking home.

April 29: Suspicious. KPD officer observed a speeding vehicle with an out of state plate. No record came back on the vehicle. The driver turned down an alley and ultimately parked on the street. The driver remained in the vehicle for approximately 10 minutes without going inside. It appeared suspicious so the officer made contact with the male. Everything checked out and the male was explained how his actions appeared suspicious.

April 30: OWI. An anonymous caller reported an occupied vehicle with a subject seated in the driver's seat playing loud music. The odor of alcohol was present. Sobriety testing was completed. The male was arrested for operating while intoxicated, first offense.

April 30: Assist PD. West Bend Police requested KPD make contact with a female regarding a possibly missing debit card. Officers were unable to make contact and West Bend was advised.

May 1: Harrassment. KPD was contacted by a subject reporting their ex was texting and calling repeatedly over the last week. The ex was contacted and warned if the behavior continued that citations or arrest could result.

May 1: Assist PD. A KPD officer was attempting to locate a vehicle for a driving complaint. The sheriff's department located the vehicle and ultimately arrested the driver for operating while intoxicated. KPD stood by for assistance.

May 2: Welfare Check. A store manager contacted KPD for an intoxicated customer. Officers responded and located the subject crossing the road. The subject admitted to drinking, was not driving and accepted a ride to the residence.

the Kewaskum community and the surrounding areas, and has evolved its brand and product line over the years. In the 1960s, Kewaskum Foods expanded its operations to include sausage making, which quickly became popular among locals and visitors alike.

"Coffee is a great way to expand our brand as we're already at the breakfast table with products like bacon, ham and breakfast links," says Brian Schumacher, owner of Kewaskum Foods. "Our partnership with Vennture Brew Co. allows us to bring the same level of quality and commitment to community with our new product line. We believe this partnership will further enable us to reinvest in our business and continue to improve. We see an amazing opportunity in front of us and this is a big step toward significant changes and improvements in our overall business."

With this new partnership, Kewaskum Foods will now offer four new products to its customers. The initial coffees offered will be single origin from Guatemala, Colombia and Brazil at different roast levels along with a Signature Breakfast Blend comprised of all three origins. The coffee will be made from premium, regionally sourced beans and roasted to perfection.

"At Kewaskum Foods, we are committed to quality and community, and our tagline 'Find Yourself' is a reflection of that commitment," Schumacher added. "We believe that our partnership with Vennture Brew Co. and the addition of Kewaskum branded coffee to our product line will offer customers a new way to experience the flavors of our community."

"We're excited to partner with Kewaskum Foods and help craft coffee that meets their needs and helps tell their story," said Vennture Brew Co. co-founders Rob Gustafson and Simon McConico.

Kewaskum Foods currently markets its products in the Sheboygan, Fond du Lac, Kettle Moraine, Lake Country and expanding Milwaukee areas. The Kewaskum branded coffee is expected to be available in May and will initially be sold in whole bean format via retail and wholesale distribution partners with plans to expand in the future.

Greetings from the Campbellsport Library!

On Wednesday April 19, children, youth, and adults visited the library to create diamond art. We had 15 children, and 14 adults join us for the fun. Children created stickers from 3:30-5:30 p.m., and teens and adults created coasters from 6-8 p.m. Great job everyone!

The library staff is busy preparing for our summer reading program. Our theme this year is "All Together Now." We will be celebrating community, kindness and teamwork. Sign up for children, teens and adults will take place the week of June 5-9. At summer reading sign up, children will receive a bag of goodies including a schedule of our Wednesday events and a take home craft. Children will once again use bookmarks to track their reading throughout the summer.

New this year, when children turn in their bookmarks, they will play PLINKO to win a variety of small prizes each week. Larger prizes will be awarded at the end of summer, via a drawing of all the completed bookmarks. Teens and adults will have the chance to fill up punchcards for end of summer prizes as well! Make sure to stop in and sign up during sign up week to get started. The library will be hosting Wednesday events at 10:30 a.m. and 1 p.m., with the first Wednesday event taking place on Wednesday, June 14. Check back here next week for a list of all the Wednesday events.

Make sure to mark your calendar for the library's annual Family Fun Night. This year Family Fun Night will be taking place on Monday, June 26, from 5-7 p.m., in the library parking lot. The night's festivities will include balloon twisters, face painters, games, raffle table, a brat fry and bake sale. We will also be hosting a variety of big trucks including a police squad, fire truck, and DPW dump truck. We hope to see you for this evening of fun and excitement!

Monday Movie of the Month

The Monday Movie of the Month for May will take place on May 22, at 1 p.m. and 6 p.m. (Please note the movie is one week earlier than normal as we will not be open on Monday, May 29, in observance of Memorial Day.) We will be showing the movie "80 for Brady!" "80 for Brady" is a 2023 American sports comedy film. The film follows four lifelong friends (Lily Tomlin, Jane Fonda, Rita Moreno, and Sally Field) who travel to watch Tom Brady and his New England Patriots play in Super Bowl LI in 2017. Popcorn will be provided for both showings of the movie, feel free to bring a cozy blanket or lawn chair.

KEWASKUM PUBLIC LIBRARY

What is a palindrome that spells out WOW if you are reading it upside down? That would be MOM and with Mother's Day is just a few days away, I would like to thank the women I know who helped shaped my life.

Celebrations of mothers goes back as far as the ancient Greeks and Romans, who held festivals in honor of the mother goddesses Rhea and Cybele. In the U.S., it dates to the mid-19th century when Ann Reeves Jarvis from West Virginia started Mother's Day Work Clubs which were organizations that taught women how to care for their children. There were modifications to these clubs as they progressed over time as a call to promoting world peace. Ann Reeves Jarvis' daughter, Anna Jarvis, is recognized as the founder of what we now call Mother's Day. She felt that American holidays were biased towards achievements by men and started a letter writing campaign for this holiday honoring the sacrifices women made for their children. Anna Jarvis, who was unmarried and childless, succeeded, when in 1914, President Wilson enacted the second Sunday in May as Mother's Day.

In celebrating this holiday as children, my sisters and I would give my mom cards and a gift of some sort. Then we would leave the house with our father and buy geraniums from the local nursery. We spent the day with our grandparents, giving her the flowers and staying for lunch or dinner which she cooked for us. I never thought that my grandma didn't get a day of rest while taking care of us.

Mother's Day for me was celebrated with brunch with the family and visiting our moms while they were either still alive or living in the state. For many years I waitressed and with Mother's Day being the busiest day for restaurants, had to work. So, brunch was pushed back to dinner which made for some crabby kids. Now we eschew eating out and for the past several years my kids and I have gone hiking or something equally active. With two small children in the family, going to restaurants is not ideal. I think this year we will just hang out at the campground and anyone, including my moms, can stop in.

I do have two special women in my life who raised me, and I would like to honor them this Mother's Day. My mom taught me to be independent, fight for my beliefs and support those that need help. She has always been a pioneer for women's rights and valued strength in ideas and actions. My other mother figure came into my life while I was a pre-teen. She also taught me independence, but also humility and kindness towards others. I am blessed to have them both in my life and thank them for helping me be the person I am today.

Happy Mother's Day!

On Maple Sugar and a Medicine Man

KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

Very few people could locate the exact location of the Native American maple sugar camp of the late 1930s. It was somewhere north of Turtle Lake and Highway 8 in northern Wisconsin but south-east of where Burnett, Barron and Polk counties converge. Within that frame of reference, go northwest of Cumberland. It was a special place for Misco, an elder of the St. Croix Band of Lake Superior Chippewa. She recalls her Ojibwa upbringing, when Grandma and Grandpa tapped approximately 50 trees near the wigwam, “They called it Little Sand Lake back then, but now, Maple Plain.”

So, she speaks in reflective phrases and contemplative pauses. She looked out her kitchen window on the St. Croix reservation in the Town of Georgetown. “They’re plentiful here in bunches,” she said, surrounded by maples. “Around my yard here, I can count about 20.”

But it is the recollections at Little Sand Lake in 1935 that she honored. It was there where the water was actually fresh, families fit in wigwams, and maple sugaring was filled with anticipation.

A Special Start

The process of living and giving with the maples was rather early. One did not just start tapping the trees in March. “We would start probably in February, making camp and piling up wood. That they were gonna use. Making all the things ready and building their fireplace. And making our wigwam. And then that goes into March – and then he’d start tapping the trees to see if sap is running. Some days it just drips slowly. Then other days its drip-drip-drip-drip-drip,” as Misco sped up her drips, indicating when the temperature warmed in day, but perfectly froze at night.

Grandpa had a way of determining which trees to tap, but Misco was also five when she was taking it in. She recalled many maples that were more than 10- to 12-inches in diameter. Grandpa seemingly avoided very old trees or exceptionally large ones, in what were Grandpa’s apparent rules of thumb. He would tap, for example, “if they had signs of birch bark peeling,” such as residue from last year’s buckets made from what the earth gave. And, “There’s certain signs that they were showing that they were not providing sap anymore.” Grandpa tapped trees that he knew were tapped previously, and he would have picked up other signs from his elders when he was young. Misco said it was a fair assumption that Grandma and Grandpa would stay “somewhat” away from old growth trees and those from pushing more than 200 or 300 years old.

There was much work to be done, as Grandma and Grandpa tapped about 50 trees. So, Grandpa whittled the taps out of sumac. They did not use metal ones yet. She wasn’t sure if they saved them from year to year. It was probably a combination of old taps, and grandpa whittling new ones as needed. Although some sumac is poisonous, they of course used the species that was not.

It is as if the sumac was made to collect sap. Grandpa shaped it by removing the bark off before whittling it into a tap. Sumac looks like a pencil with lead inside, Misco said. “It’s got that inner line that you can push out, and it makes a perfect hole for the sap to run through.”

Meanwhile, the buckets that hung from the trees were all birchbark. “We made birchbark bas-

Although this post card is not of a Native American, it harkens back to the days of old. Misco validated that her grandmother boiled the sap as seen in this postcard here. Grandma had a pole sticking through the kettle’s handle, and the kettle was off the ground, probably 4 feet. “And it hung. The big kettle hung like that.” However, the pole was not braced on a stump. Rather, Misco remembers there were two pieces of wood framed in an “X” and two of those X’s held the pole which held the kettle. SUBMITTED kets all winter long, and that’s what we would use. Just little quart-size baskets. And all the grandchildren would go every morning to go gather it in a big, galvanized pail. Then we would run back to camp with the pails and pour it into a bigger kettle over the fire.” The birchbark baskets were secure for sap with the style in which her family sewed and folded the bark.

‘Go Get a Pail of Snow’

The fire was the elder’s job, “We didn’t do that. My grandma and grandpa did that.” This was blessed. So too were the trees. Prayer was always the first thing Grandpa used with the maple trees. “They put tobacco down before they tapped it.” The offering was spread down at its roots.

Collection lasted, “About two weeks if it was running good,” Misco said. A tree could have up to four quart-sized birch baskets. And the kids ran more than just the morning to pick up the sap. Smiles and peace come to mind when Misco recalled the frantic fun pace of responding to the maples’ bounty. “Everybody would be running when the sap was running, the kids would be running from tree to tree emptying the baskets.” They’d have to check the pails up to three times daily. “And they would do it at morning, and at noon they’d go check – and then at the evening they’d go check.”

Grandpa and Grandma made a lot more than maple syrup. In fact, maple syrup was not the common final product of boiling the sap. There were other forms, she said, and explained what would happen when the sap was collected. “Cause, when we would finish [collecting sap], we would rest and watch. My Grandma would be stirring up the sap that she was boiling.” Once in a while, she would get some type of grease. “I don’t know if it was lard that they bought from the store? Or what? But she’d dip that into the boiling sap, so it didn’t boil over. And then, we would watch her, and she would tell one of us to ‘Go get a pail of snow.’ And, we knew what we were gonna get when we got a pail of snow. So, then Grandpa would come in, and they would get their tobacco offering. He would be saying a prayer for us, then the kids would get a dip of that.” And the boiling sugar was put in the snow. “And that would be our candy. Our taffy. That’s what we’d all be waiting for is the taffy.” She qualified one aspect of the memory: “But we couldn’t eat it until after grandpa had done all his thanksgiving.”

The taffy was a treat cooled in the snow. Grandma always dropped this with a wooden spoon, and the taffy was finished when it hit the snow and droplets would form. Her people call the maple taffy bigiwizigan. Maple sugaring time was a sweet spiritual reward from the forest. Taffy was a blessing after the prayers and the cooking down of the first batch. “We could make it any time after that.” But the fondest memory is the first batch when she’d get the first taffy, and the cue was when the older boy cousins got the snow.

Misco also said the lard was not necessarily related to the taffy making, but rather, “It was used just to prevent the sap from boiling over in the kettle.” Was it used all the time? “No. Not all the time. She was always watching it and stirring it.” If they put too much sap in that kettle, the rolling sap might run over the top. So Grandma would grab a spoon full of that lard – and dip it in there, and it would settle down.” Was it animal fat, or was it like shortening from a can? “I am not sure.”

This seems to match what beer chasers did in the early 1900s. There are interviews on the patrons of Ashford’s taverns in Fond du Lac County. Should some get a pail full of beer from the bar to carry it over to the blacksmith shop, for example, it might foam. To prevent this, the pails were greased at the sides to prevent the beer from foaming. Then to re-foam the beer, they would put an iron rod in the pail of beer. But there has to be something in the properties of the lard that un-foams it. Misco affirmed the similarity with Grandma taming the boiling sap with a lard-like substance.

Maple Medicine Man

The maple sugar tree was tied to good health. “I watched them make medicine with it. They put different ingredients in the maple sugar.” These ingredients were put in little birch bark baskets, “and people would travel miles to come and find them to get the medicine from them for different things.” In her memory, much of the maple sugar was granulated. Very little of the processed sap remained maple syrup, as that would not transcend time nor was feasible.

So, did Grandma and Grandpa make any maple syrup? There was a pause: “If we had to. If we had the tin pails, but otherwise we used all the sugar we could put in birchbark baskets and seal ‘em.” Therefore, the basket storage required the maple sugar to be solid. Because they didn’t use jars, the amount of syrup was limited – at most “one or two pails of it.” That would be used right away because that was not going to store.

She thought half of the maple sugar was used for enjoyment and cooking use, while the other half of maple sugar was medicine. “I’d say 50/50.”

She described what was in the medicine. “There was one time I went with my grandma, looking for certain trees that had been burnt in a forest fire. And she would find a good tree.” Well, when it appeared there was a good selection, a tree would be spotted. In her memory, she didn’t think it was a big tree, maybe a five-foot stump. “They would knock it down and crack it open, and there would be ants in it. And that’s what they would gather is the ants. And they’d kill those ants to mix it in with the maple sugar. That’s the only one I saw them make.”

“But I don’t know what else they put in there.” And Misco also said she didn’t know what the medicine was used for. She witnessed her elders going to the stump with the ants. She recalled that Grandpa had to help Grandma, and Grandpa was in charge of the medicine. However, “They were always together. Making medicine together.”

Then Grandpa would trade both maple sugar and maple sugar medicine. “I don’t remember seeing any money. But there was always something that was needed, like blankets or moccasins or food of different kinds.” Grandma also got fabric and beads and “things that she can make things out of.”

The gift in medicine could provide for friends and those who came to see Misco’s elders; and Grandma and Grandpa’s gifts would also provide necessities for themselves to survive.

Profit is never a part of this story.

And Misco affirmed her grandfather’s title. So, was grandpa a medicine man? “Yea,” she affirmed. How did one become a medicine man in Ojibwe culture? “I think it’s given to you, sometimes you don’t realize it until you get older. That it is a gift.”

These memories were very early for Misco. When Grandpa died, Misco was only four to six years old. She remembered Grandpa helping Misco doesn’t have many pictures of her grandparents, but she holds this one as a reminder of the great elders who influenced her. Grandpa lived long enough to model the process of maple sugaring; Grandma lived into Misco’s teens. SUBMITTED with maple sugaring only two – and no more than four sugaring seasons. When grandpa died, her uncle stepped in to help. Yet there is that element of Misco where it appears the best years of sugaring were the first ones.

Questions for Grandpa and Grandma

She could not explain why Grandma and Grandpa would use a galvanized pail for collecting, but not on the trees. As an observer, it seems honoring the old way of life was a conscious choice in that the maple sap ran into the hand whittled sumac taps into the Ojibwe crafted birchbark basket. What did Grandpa try to modernize in 1935? And what did he value to keep original in the process handed down by his elders?

For example, she was asked if Grandpa had a modern metal-based drill for the hole to be drilled in the maple tree. “I think he used metal; I can’t remember.” If so, where did he get the drill?

In addition, there are more questions on Grandpa’s recipes for medicine. Did he only make one type of maple sugar medicine? “I don’t know that.” Were there other ingredients besides ants and maple sugar?

Plus, what did the sugar camp’s wigwam look like? They had to make a wigwam next to the sugar camp for protection from the elements for rain and snow. “To protect some of the things we had. We had to have a small one for storage. Mostly for storage.” This would be put up, “Before we start tapping trees.” It would be harder to make a wigwam in the winter, and Misco clarified the maple sugaring housing was different. In wintertime, “They didn’t bury the trees two feet down and bend ‘em.” She was referencing the rib-like structure, such as ironwood saplings, that were put in the ground to build the wigwam frame. This would not be an option in February, as it would be for summertime-built wigwams. Because Misco never saw the construction, it would be interesting to know how long Grandpa maintained his seasonal home for maple sugar season. She suggested the housing structure looked more triangular and what some might label teepee like in shape. Others might say that Misco’s sugar seasonal house was not even a wigwam.

Misco doesn’t remember Grandma or Grandpa building the maple sugar structure. “No. I didn’t go out there at the time. I never went out there until they were ready to move in and start tapping trees.” This would make sense, given Misco was a toddler when it was already likely built. This memory might validate that the structure built was multiple years old. Her family burnt the sap down in the same spot every year, and it was likely always the same housing. She was open to the possibility that it had to be re adjusted and fixed. Its size was small compared with the wigwam she was living in as a permanent home. In contrast, this maple sugaring seasonal one was no more than ten by 12 feet.

Another question would be the actual prayers Grandpa said. What did he ask of God, the spirits, and the trees? What did he pray for his grandchildren?

Regardless, her recollections encapsulate a spiritual connection with nature. Misco discussed that heavy collection of sap could last at least a good week. She also acknowledged there was a slowdown period. The grandparents received answers from the tree. “They could tell when it was almost to the end, because there is something in the sap itself that tells you that this is it: ‘This is all you’re gonna get.’” She thought it was probably a darker color. “They’d check the sap to see if there was any of those tattle tale [signs].”

Misco has written some of her experiences with maple sugaring. She penned the importance of the beginning of tapping, “But first grandfather had us offer our tobacco to the Great Spirit, and bless the trees. Thankful that we had survived once again at our sugar bush.” Blessed are those who can work with the forest and family.

Such are the memories in the maples of Little Sand Lake northwest of Cumberland.

JV Defeats KML and Kiel

The Campbellsport JV played Kettle Moraine Lutheran, May 4, and came away with a 12-4 win.

Kaylie Jandre went 4-5 with four RBI. Carleigh Ward had three hits with two doubles, four runs, and two RBI. Ayla Garvey (2 runs) and Olivia McCarty (3 runs, 2 RBI) each had two hits. Brittany Reilly and Izzy Sperflage (double) each had a hit.

McCarty pitched all seven innings allowing seven hits, zero earned runs, striking out seven and only one walk.

On Friday, the JV had their parent’s night and won an exciting 12-11 game against Kiel.

With the game tied in the bottom of the seventh, Garvey hit a walk off home run, her first of her career, to win the game.

McCarty had two hits, including a three run bomb, her second of the season. Ward (2 doubles) and Jandre each had two hits. Aylsa Kutz and Ellie Carbajal each had a hit.

McCarty earned the win while striking out six.

On Saturday, the JV traveled to the JV Chilton tournament.

They won their first game, 12-2, over Sheboygan

North.

McCarty (double, 3 RBI) had two hits. Ward and Kutz (double) each had hits. Paige Jordan pitched all five innings, allowing two hits, zero earned runs, while striking out ten.

Game two, the JV got into a slugfest with Fox Valley Lutheran and ended up losing, 21-14.

Jandre had two hits and three RBI, including her first ever home run. Ward (double, 3 runs), McCarty (2 doubles, 3 runs, 3 RBI), and Jordan (3 RBI) each had three hits. Garvey finished with one base hit.

McCarty pitched six innings, striking out three, while Jordan pitched the final inning, striking out one.

a bases clearing double to tie the game.

The Dutchmen did not go away scoring one run in the seventh, but the Indians defense kept it there. They utilized a wild pitch that bounced right back to catcher Fell who flipped it to Josh Koenig to get the out. Along with a great throw from Curtain in center field who cut down a runner trying to advance home. This was all the momentum the Indians needed.

Fell got hit by a pitch to start the rally. A sacrifice bunt by Curtain got the runner into scoring position with the top of the lineup coming up to the plate. Patient at-bats led to three straight walks before Soyk delivered.

Donny Zillmer started the game and surrendered four runs on three hits over two innings, striking out two. Josh Koenig took the win for Kewaskum. Koenig allowed ten hits and five runs over four and two-thirds innings, striking out three.

Kewaskum totaled 11 hits in the game. Curtain, Soyk (3RBI), and Hunter Loser (3RBI) all managed multiple hits for the Indians. Curtain went 3-3 at the plate to lead Kewaskum and also had stellar defense in both the infield and outfield to help the Indians.

Game Two

Due to daylight, game two only went five innings in which the Indians (11-5) defeated the Flying Dutchmen (12-3), 3-1. After an offensive showing in game one by both teams, game two was more of a pitcher's duel.

Everett Donath led the way for Kewaskum tossing all five innings. He allowed one run (unearned) on four hits, striking out two and walking none.

The Indians' offense started in the first inning when Austin Reichel got a single, Loser doubled and Reichel then scored on a sacrifice fly by Soyk.

The score stayed 1-0 until the fourth inning when Loser started the inning with a double. After a Soyk single (and stolen base) Loser would score on a May sacrifice fly. Soyk was later able to score on an error to stretch the lead to 3-1.

Oostburg would threaten again in the fourth. They got a lead-off double, but a ground-out to Zillmer at third and a fly out to Soyk, who threw a strike to third base to double up the runner, ended the threat. Oostburg would go 1-2-3 to end the fifth inning and, eventually, the game.

The only Indian with multiple hits on the day was Loser who went 2-2 with two doubles and a walk. Soyk and May each had a RBI.

The Indians look to take down the current conference leader, Waupun, Thursday May 11, at home.

Cold Weather Turkey Hunt

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

My plan for the second week of Wisconsin's turkey season was to backpack in The Meadow Valley Wildlife Area in northern Juneau County and hunt with a crossbow.

A forecast of steady rain and strong winds changed that plan to camping in Meadow Valley and hunting from a blind. I camped where my father first bought me 52 falls ago, and my love for this area is why I moved to Necedah.

FRIDAY, APRIL 28
HIGH 62, LOW 35

I have to admit I was very excited for this hunt, much of my time in the forest would be in the area where I harvested a black bear last fall and where I have hunted deer for 51 years in a row. I was well aware that a significant weather pattern was going to hit and so I used my Eskimo ice shack, which I tarped, for my shelter.

I was in a very good mood because in my scouting I had just seen two toms right where I was going to hunt.

I hauled enough gear into the woods to be very comfortable in a blind and basically just watch nature for three days while hunting.

On hunt one, which was in a dark forest with lots of dead trees due to high water, I saw a hen. I did not care, as I did not want to fill my tag right away; I wanted this hunt to last.

At dark I got back to camp, and my mood was excellent. I had forgotten a lantern, so I just sat in the dark on the end gate of my truck, drank a PBR and then hit the rack.

SATURDAY, APRIL 29
HIGH 45, LOW 32

I woke up at 4.15, it had been raining most of the night, and it was very windy. Soldier on boy, your here to kill a turkey.

My blind awaited me, and I sat for six hours without seeing any form of life whatsoever. I did hear some geese that never shut up, as they were on a marsh next to me, and I wondered: what does the other wildlife think of the noise pollution that Canada geese make?

At 11 a.m., I made the decision that I was pulling up the stakes and relocating to another area a couple of miles away. I made the move and was very excited for my afternoon hunt.

It rained the entire time and sometimes the rain changed to snow.

I had a large view, as I was in an oak forest, but I did not see a turkey, deer, other type of bird or a squirrel.

I did receive an excellent text from my good buddy Doug Cibulka. Doug had taken his father, Tony Cibulka, out on family property near Poynette, and it only took seven minutes for Doug to call in a tom and 86-year-old Tony to shoot it. This would be the fourth year in a row Tony whacked a tom.

SUNDAY, APRIL 30
HIGH 39, LOW 30

I was up long before daylight and set up in my office in the woods, it was snow/raining and the wind sounded like a hurricane blowing through the trees.

I hunted until 11 and did not see a turkey, deer, squirrel or any other kind of bird. I might add, after a lot of time in the woods, I had yet to hear a gobble, as well.

My new plan, after 11, was to break camp, go home and hunt my food plot for the last two days of my season.

The wind never stopped, Monday was another rain event and after five days in the woods, I did not see a male turkey, never heard a gobble, saw a squirrel or a deer.

Sometimes you go hunting and kill a big bull elk on the opening morning of the season, and sometimes you go chasing turkey for five days and you do not see one.

That is why it's called hunting.
Sunset

According to Walters, this decoy setup did little to help him fill his tag.

Megan McCarty pitched all seven innings for the Cougars.

On Friday, the Cougars beat Omro, 15-0.

Homuth (grand slam, double, 6 RBI) and Schodrow (3 doubles) led the offense. Kylie Krueger, McCarty and Goebel each had two hits. Paige Jordan, Ava Sippel and Morgan each had a hit.

Peyton Hall got the win going three innings, allowing two hits and striking out five. Sippel pitched one inning, allowing one hit.

On Saturday, the varsity traveled to the Chilton tournament.

In game one, they played Chilton who was 9-2 and in first place in the Eastern Wisconsin Conference.

McCarty started in the circle and after a shaky start allowing three runs in the first inning, she settled down and didn't allow another hit until the seventh inning, while finishing with six strikeouts and allowing five hits.

The Cougars, however, couldn't string together any hits and ended up losing 3-1.

Goebel had two hits. Schodrow, Morgan and Twohig each had a hit.

In game two, the Cougars played sixth-ranked Marshall who is 13-2 and in first place in the Capitol

Molly Freund turns the game around and directs the ball towards Kewaskum's goal.

Sydney Wheaton only allowed Winneconne to score one goal as Kewaskum defeated the Wolves 2-1 on Thursday, May 4.

Ashley Vogt steals the ball back for the Lady Indians tripping up her defender in the process.

With the loss, Kewaskum's record slips to 9-6 overall. The Indians remain in first place in the East Central Conference with a league record of 7-1, clinging to a one game lead over second place Waupun and Winneconne. The regular season winds up over the next two weeks with four conference games left to play.

Autumn Rabe takes the ball away from Winneconne and teammate Jadin Czuppa follows from behind. CLARICE CASE PHOTOS

Indians Defeat Tigers, 14-1, in Six Innings

KHS BASEBALL

The Kewaskum Indians (8-5) snatched the lead in the fourth inning and tacked on insurance in the sixth to defeat the Ripon Tigers (3-6), 14-1, on a windy Tuesday night on May 2.

Ripon was able to strike first, scoring in the first inning on a Henry Willet single. However, the Tigers had no answer as the Indians would use great pitching and defense to hold them scoreless for the rest of the game.

Kewaskum evened things up at one in the top of the second inning on a Sam Ciriacks sacrifice fly.

Kewaskum secured the victory thanks to eight runs in the fourth inning. The offensive firepower by Kewaskum was led by Zach Augustin, Karter Fell, Austin Reichel, Hunter Loser and Austin Loehr, all having RBI's in the inning.

Donny Zillmer (despite forgetting the team helmets and having his parents turn around to get them) earned the victory on the mound for Kewaskum. The right-hander went four and a third innings, allowing one run on six hits, striking out two and walking zero.

Cooper Petermann threw one and two-thirds scoreless innings in relief out of the bullpen.

The Indians tallied 12 hits in the game. Loehr (2RBI) and Derek May (2RBI) had three hits apiece and Zillmer had a pair of singles to pace the Indians offense.

Kewaskum Sweeps Oostburg in Friday Doubleheader

Game One

Kewaskum Indians (10-5) seized victory in dramatic walk-off fashion, thanks to a Dylan Soyk single on the first pitch of the at-bat to hand ninth-ranked in Division 3 Oostburg (12-2) their second loss of the year, 12-11.

The base paths were crowded in this high-scoring game. The Indians collected 11 hits while the Flying Dutchmen had 14.

Kewaskum got on the board in the first inning courtesy of a Dylan Soyk sacrifice fly. However, they fell behind quickly as Oostburg scored four, two, and four runs in the next three innings. The Indians were able to score two in the third, but trailed 10-3 from the fourth inning into the bottom of the sixth.

After a pair of strikeouts to start the sixth inning, scoring one run seemed difficult and scoring seven runs seemed nearly impossible. However, the Indians did just that. Singles by Karter Fell and Carter Curtain followed by three straight walks allowed a pair of runs to score. A Soyk single and Derek May walk scored two runs. This resulted in Zach Augustin coming to the plate with the bases loaded and he delivered

Sabish Throws No-Hitter Against Berlin

KHS SOFTBALL

Sophomore pitcher Macy Sabish was one batter away from a perfect game in the Kewaskum Indians', 11-0, drubbing of Berlin on Tuesday, May 2.

A one-out walk was the only baserunner the home team was allowed in the game which saw Kewaskum play errorless defense behind Sabish's ten strikeout performance working with batterymate Emilia Lang.

Strong northwest winds were a big part of the story as fly balls were an adventure for the Berlin defense. Kewaskum hit a few balls that would have likely been homeruns on most any other day, only to be knocked down or blown into foul territory.

Seniors Mikaela Marquardt and Grace Leitheiser led the offense, combining for five runs scored on five hits, two walks, and driving in three runs. Sadie Clausing drove in three runs in the offensive cause.

Coach Chris Sabish complimented the girls on being focused and taking care of business against a struggling Berlin team in cold and windy conditions.

Lady Indians Win Battle of Top E.C.C. Squads

The Kewaskum Indians completed the season sweep of Waupun in a 3-2 thriller on Thursday, May 4, at the Jerry Medema Fields in Waupun.

Sophomore chucker Macy Sabish allowed only two Warrior hits as the defense behind her made some clutch highlight reel plays. Sabish struck out five and only walked one. None of the Warrior runs were earned.

Waupun's freshman hurler, Addison Braun, gave up three runs - two earned - on seven hits while striking out seven and hitting two batters with pitches.

Offensively, the Indians were led by Lauren Rettler (2-3) and received RBI hits from seniors Sadie Clausing and Aubrey Magray.

The normally efficient Kewaskum defense committed a season high four errors, all in the early innings, to allow Waupun to keep the game close. The pitching and defense tightened the screws on the Warriors over the final three innings by retiring all nine batters, in order.

The Indians now improve to 9-5 overall, and 7-1 in conference play.

Senior Day Loss for Lady Indians

Senior Day did not go as planned for the KHS softball team. A strong hitting team from Hortonville came to town and handed the Lady Indians a 12-4 defeat.

The game slipped away early from Kewaskum as the Polar Bears did most of their damage in the first three innings, scoring nine of their runs. Kewaskum only committed one error on the day, but the Hortonville bats proved too powerful, hit-
