Kewaskum Legion Turns 100 this Sunday

The Kewaskum American Legion Robert G. Romaine Post 384 is celebrating its 100th anniversary, to the day, on July 16

STATESMAN STAFF

"It's a birthday party," said Kewaskum American Legion Commander Jim Dorn at the Legion Hall off Fon du Lac Ave. in the village while preparing for this weekend's party (Sunday, July 16).

A 100th birthday, in fact, as the Robert G. Romaine Post 384 celebrates a century of serving and advocating for local veterans.

Dorn said the public is invited to enjoy an all-day party, which will include music, food, beverage and good company from 11 a.m. to 5 p.m.. He noted, unlike the group's annual Memorial Day and Veterans Day programs, this is a unique community event for the Post.

"This is a special one," said Dorn. "This is a party. A 100th birthday party."

He added that the celebration offers a chance for people to see the Legion Hall facility, a once two-story family residence with an adjacent lumber yard business (which operated out of the now Legion parking lot). The second story was removed to reduce heating and cooling costs, but the main floor has been largely preserved.

Adorning the walls are commemorations to past Legion members, memorials to those killed or missing in action and history of Post 384.

Abbot Pennings Forever

Dear Reader,

In the quiet suburb of De Pere, Wisconsin, Abbot Pennings High School stood as a beacon of education and community spirit for over 90 years. The physical building will be removed this fall, but its foundation, rich history, and deep impact on the local community make it a cherished institution that will be fondly remembered for many years.

The school was established as a college preparatory school in 1898 along with St. Norbert College. Originally known as St. Norbert High School, it was housed in Boyle Hall on the St. Norbert College campus until 1959, when it was renamed to honor Abbot Pennings, the founder of the Norbertine Order's Wisconsin chapter. The school relocated to the former Nicolet High School building at the corner of Third and Reid Streets in De Pere, giving it a prominent location and proximity to the Fox River.

Under the guidance of the Norbertine Fathers, Abbot Pennings High School became a nurturing environment that promoted academic excellence and personal growth. The dedicated faculty and staff fostered a supportive atmosphere that encouraged students to pursue their passions and develop their talents fully.

The school's athletic programs, including basketball, football, and soccer, not only fostered physical fitness and teamwork but also united the community in support of their beloved Abbot Pennings Squires. The school's spirited sporting events were a source of pride and camaraderie, with families, alumni, and residents coming together to cheer on their teams. Pennings teams punched far above their weight, often participating in the playoffs of various sports.

The dedication to faith was an integral part of the school's spirit, with regular Masses, retreats, and religious activities bringing students closer to their spiritual roots. These experiences instilled in them a sense of moral purpose and taught them the value of compassion, empathy, and service to others.

In 1990 Abbot Pennings was merged with St. Joseph's Academy and Our Lady of Prémontré High School to form Notre Dame de la Baie Academy. The new school embodies the foundational principles of the three predecessor institutions. The recent news of the demolition of the Pennings building was met with great sadness and nostalgia within the community. The physical structure that housed countless memories, laughter, and learning experiences will soon be gone, but the impact it had on generations of students and the community will never fade.

As the wrecking ball swings, the spirit of Abbot Pennings High School will live on in the hearts and minds of those who passed through its doors. Best of all, we who went there will always remember, "It's great to be a Squire!"

Kudos to the Volunteers

MITCHELL BRADLEY KELLER EDITOR

What can I really write about our area's Fourth of July celebrations that hasn't already been written?

If you weren't aware, no matter where you live in this readership area, you are close to some of the most highly-regarded Independence Day celebrations in this state, which I'll just go ahead and say puts them up there in the world.

Particularly given the size of our communities, it is rewarding to know that outsiders marvel at our July Fourth celebrations, fireworks programs and community picnics.

From Knowles' impressive parade with a stated population of "Not Many", Kewaskum's historic fireworks show, Mayville's music extravaganza and Campbellsport's two-day bash, there is so much to do and see in our neck of the woods for this holiday. I am, definitely, missing a few as well.

Jumping around between several of these events this year, it really struck me how incredible the volunteer base is that plans, fundraises for and produces these mini festivals. Fire departments, the police, business chambers, public officials, you name it; everyone pitching in to make these celebrations what they are.

On top of it, the money raised at these events also goes toward community causes. With such high attendance year-in-and-out, it's no wonder these things get better each year.

Especially in this summer's heat, I am sure there were moments the food stand volunteers, the beer vendors, the clean-up crew and the fireworks handlers all found themselves grinding through fatigue to deliver on their promises.

It was not lost on me, nor do I think it was on most. So, to everyone who pitched in to make Independence Day a safe and enjoyable holiday: Thank you!

I'm already looking forward to next year. See you next week.

RURAL WRITES

G. A. SCHEINOHA CONTRIBUTOR

Right about now, we expect them to pour in like an army marching steadily northward. Tourists, despite anyone's reckoning otherwise, do Wisconsin a world of good. Already seen license plates from Arkansas, Indiana, Ohio, Michigan, Louisiana, Kansas, Texas, Montana and California.

Of course, we've had the normal in-state visitors, box elder bugs and Japan beetles along with a fairly steady swarm of moths and mosquitos. Throw in fireflies which put on their own fireworks show. Late arrivals are the June bugs. Lately those brown creepers haven't shown up till July falsifying their name. Or in strength of numbers. Once soon as May lapsed, regular as rain you could count on their scurrying inside your kitchen cabinet's built-in, pull-out flour bin.

There went a fresh 25-pound bag just poured in scant days before. Itty bitty critters were mighty bitey too.

What's all the insect nonsense got to do with our usual influx of vacationers? Not much except for a certain invasive horde; often aggravating. Now far be it from this writer to disparage an entire region's population. Just those pesky newcomers from the Land of Lincoln who crowd our highways with rude, frequently dangerous driving habits. Frankly, last thing we need is lots more of what we already own up to the eyeballs – Wisconsin's got her share of speed demons who read a posted limit as the Midwest version of the German Autobahn. Stomp that pedal, draft on the motorist ahead's rear bumper like NASCAR racers. Even a pedestrian walking across a parking lot is scarcely safer from the NHRA wannabe in a muscle car.

What we've all forgotten, resident and temporary refugee alike is that a driver's license is a privilege. Not a right. It's about high time we start treating it as such. Our troopers, deputies, police officers and yes too, citizens don't want anyone to go home in a body bag.

Gov. Evers Delivers Radio Address on 2023-25 Biennial Budget

Gov. Tony Evers delivered a Democratic Radio Address on July 6, regarding the 2023-25 biennial budget he enacted on July 5, with improvements by using his broad, constitutional veto authority. The governor's budget provides a historic increase in support to local communities for the first time in a decade, invests more than $1 billion in public education, makes one of the largest state investments in workforce housing, invests in infrastructure, supports Wisconsin farmers, and provides tax relief to working families, among several other critical priorities.

"Hey there, folks. Governor Tony Evers here. "Yesterday, I signed the 2023-25 biennial budget

Schoemann Statement on Governor Evers' Veto of State Legislature's Adopted Budget Motion in Support of UWM-Washington County Campus Transition

Josh Schoemann, Washington County executive, gave the following statement after Gov. Evers announced his budget vetoes on July 5:

"I am deeply disappointed that Gov. Evers vetoed such a commonsense solution without more than a courtesy call from his staff a few minutes before it was announced, but I greatly appreciate the opportunity we had to work with our partners at UW System, UW-Milwaukee, Moraine Park Technical College, and the Wisconsin Technical College System to try and propose a solution that avoids another UW-Richland."

The Wisconsin State Legislature's Joint Committee on Finance (JFC) recently adopted a budget motion allocating $3.35 million in support of the transition of University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee – Washington County (UWM-WC) from a two-year UWM branch campus to Moraine Park Technical College (MPTC). This action demonstrated support of the findings of the Washington County Task Force on Higher Education that recommended a "community college concept" after determining the two-year campus is unsustainable.

Replying to 'Political Rhetoric'

On a hot and steamy July 4 afternoon, I decided it was time to take a second look at the Campbell-sport News.

I am so pleased that I did.

Being used to quality material from Karl McCarty and Gary Scheinoha, both of whom are former students of mine, I was so pleased that I stumbled, accidentally, upon the contribution called "Political Rhetoric" by Mary Krieger, whom I hope I have the pleasure of meeting some day.

I was very impressed by the depth of the article, as well as its thoroughness, balance and main thesis.

Yes, our political rhetoric has certainly deteriorated, both on social media, live cable TV, talk radio, political interviews, church sermons, even our own family discussions.

I agree with Mary.

Why can't we do better?

Most Americans want "life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness." We also want "liberty and justice" for all. But there are those who want to move us to the far right or the far left.

We can't escape the rhetoric, one way or another. Facebook and other social media platforms are constantly baiting us, as are talk radio, cable TV, and the numerous political flags, posts, bumper stickers, yard signs, et al.

Mary used a helpful website called Ad Fontes, and I, too, have used their site: bigthink.com/the-present/media-bias-chart/.

Does that mean it is foolproof?

Certainly not, but after a person examines the sources on the large chart, it begins to make sense.

Yes, the Associated Press (AP), Reuters, ABC, NPR, CBS, Bloomberg, Forbes, Politico, and BBC are suggested to be the least biased, whereas those noted for being the most biased on the "right" include Fox, Info Wars, Daily Caller, Breitbart, Newsmax, and the Blaze. Known for being the most biased on the "left" include Daily Kos, Occupy Democrats, Slate, Daily Beast, and MSNBC.

Washington Post, CNN and Huffington Post are to the left, whereas the New York Post, Gateway Pundit and Daily Mail are to the right (generally speaking).

Secondly, let's not use expressions like "woke," "liberal," "conservative," "socialism," "communism," or "fascism" unless we actually know what they mean.

Third, let's look at "shades of gray," instead of assuming that everything has a simple answer.

Finally, let's follow Mary's suggestions: Look at both sides of an issue, learn from the lessons of past history and treat others with the respect we give ourselves.

Thank you, Mary Krieger, for your thoughtful contribution.

U.S. Constitution, Pt. I

MARY KRIEGER CONTRIBUTING READER

The Fourth of July means many different things to different people.

For some, it's a day off from work and time to catch a parade and fireworks display.

For others, its picnics and trying not to blow off a finger or two while setting off firecrackers.

For still more, it means battling traffic jams to head off on a summer vacation.

Independence Day should be significant to all Americans because it not only represents the day the Declaration of Independence was signed – listing our grievances with England and taxation without representation – but it also is the starting point for what became a brave new experiment in democracy.

While the Declaration of Independence was written and signed on July 4, 1776, the Constitution, which created our government, was written in 1787 and became law in 1789.

The Constitution created our three branches of government: the legislative, executive and judicial. It established a system of checks and balances for all three. It divided power between the states and the federal government and sought to protect individual rights, including "certain unalienable rights, that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Written primarily by Thomas Jefferson, a wealthy plantation owner, it also states that "All men are created equal...". However, Jefferson and most of the other founding fathers that signed the Declaration of Independence and helped create the government framework, seemingly did not believe that all people were equal, as history shows that statement only applied to white, male landowners.

Most of the signers were slave owners and, Jefferson himself, had more than 600 slaves. After the Revolutionary War, some of the founding fathers, like George Washington, freed their slaves, but Jefferson did not. It wasn't until 1868, with the 14th amendment, that African Americans were defined as being equal under the law.

It took even longer for women to be considered equal. In 1920, a bill was passed permitting women to vote, but other rights for women occurred much later.

Some historians believe that Jefferson was not referring to individual equality when he wrote those famous words. Instead, they believe he was stating that the American colonists were equal and deserving of rights the same as the citizens of any other established nation (Stanford.edu).

Shortly after the Constitution was written, 10 amendments to the document were written by James Madison. This was done to secure the support of some delegates that refused to ratify the Constitution until further rights were established. This document is referred to as the Bill of Rights.

The first amendment protects the right of free speech and freedom of religion. It states, "Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion or prohibiting the free exercise of thereof; or abridging the freedom of the press; or the right of the people peacefully to assemble, and to petition the Government for redress of grievances."

This amendment also prevents the government from creating or favoring one religion over

K.P.D. Wraps 2023 Junior Police Academy

The Kewaskum Police Department (KPD) 2023 Junior Police Academy wrapped at the end of June, and Chief of Police Tom Bishop was thrilled to note that nearly 50 youth students joined the program this year.

"I hope that each and every one of them had a blast and, most importantly, gained valuable insights into public service," said Bishop via a social media post, who also noted this year's class really embraced the content and activities. "What an amazing group of students we had this year. I can't express enough how amazing this group of students was."

Students learned the ins-and-outs of careers in law enforcement or emergency response services. Among the special presentations were officers from KPD and the West Bend Police Department and members of the Kewaskum Fire Department, the West Bend Fire Department, the Wisconsin National Guard, the Wis. Dept. of Natural Resources, the Washington County SWAT team and the Wash. Co. District Attorney's Of-fice.

The group also stopped at the Wash. Co. Sheriff's Office and toured the jail and county courthouse.

"It was definitely eye-opening to all the students," said Bishop.

The program serves as community outreach and as a means to recruit future public service employees.

"We have high hopes we'll be recruiting a few of them someday!" concluded Bishop.

D.H.S Seeks Public Input on Use of JUUL Settlement Funds

Listening sessions and public survey will gather public input on use of nearly $15 million directed toward youth tobacco prevention programs

The Wisconsin Department of Health Services (DHS) will hold three listening sessions and offer an online survey to gather ideas from the public and partners about how to use nearly $15 million over the next five to nine years to reverse the harm caused by electronic nicotine delivery devices, also known as e-cigarettes or vapes. The funds are from a multi-state settlement reached with JUUL Labs, a leading manufacturer of vaping devices.

"Wisconsin has made great strides in keeping kids from becoming addicted to nicotine; however, JUUL's predatory marketing made vaping attractive to youth and has driven an increase in youth exposure and addiction to nicotine," said Kirsten Johnson, DHS secretary-designee. "We are grateful to Attorney General Josh Kaul for securing these dollars for Wisconsin to prevent and reverse the effects vaping has had on our young people."

Settlement funds are required to be used for cessation services, prevention and education programs, research, school-based activities, and/or community-based activities. Wisconsinites who have ideas about how this money should be used can take part in one of three listening sessions that will be held on Zoom. Participants need to register in advance. Registration information can be found on the Tobacco Prevention and Control Program webpage.

Dates and times of the virtual listening sessions are:

- Tuesday, July 25, from 1-2:30 p.m.
- Monday, July 31, from 10-11:30 a.m.
- Wednesday, August 9, from 6-7:30 p.m.

Wisconsinites may also submit recommendations through an online survey, available in English and Spanish. The deadline for submitting the survey is August 16:

- •JUULSettlementFundsSurvey-English-survey. alchemer.com/s3/7385680/JUUL-Settlement-Funds
- Encuesta sobre los fondos del acuerdo de JUUL Labs - español – survey.alchemer.com/s3/7404935/Fondos-del-acuerdo-de-JUUL

The Wisconsin Tobacco Prevention and Control Program's goal is to prevent youth access to commercial tobacco and initiation of its use, prevent exposure to secondhand smoke, and provide free quit services for people who want to stop using tobacco and nicotine products. You

Brian Charles King

Brian Charles "Kinger" King, 48, an enthusiastic and supportive husband, father, son, brother and friend to many, passed away peacefully at his home in Oak Creek on Friday July 7, 2023. He was surrounded by his brothers, sons, mother and loving wife following a 25-month battle with Glioblastoma Multiforme, an aggressive type of stage 4 brain cancer. His wife, Brenda, was honored to be his wife and best friend, in sickness and in health.

Brian means "strong, virtuous and honorable," which are words that have been used to describe Brian over the past two years, if not his entire life. He was known for hosting many backyard fires and being the last to leave a party, and he believed that "the more the merrier," never wanting to leave anyone out of a gathering.

Brian was born on October 5, 1974, in Fond du Lac and raised on the "North Slope" of Eden. He was a graduate of St. Mary's Grade School in Eden, a 1993 graduate of Campbellsport High School and graduated from Milwaukee School of Engineering (MSOE) in 1997 with a Bachelor of Science in Mechanical Engineering.

Brian loved sports from his early days in little league which included basketball, baseball, football, and track & field throughout high school; and he continued playing basketball at MSOE during his college years. As an adult, Brian's athletic passion turned to golfing and coaching his boys in baseball and basketball. He absolutely loved coaching and was so proud of his sixth grade Wauwatosa Catholic School basketball team when they won the league championship in 2017.

Brian achieved the rank of Eagle Scout with the Boy Scouts of America while in high school and he passed his love for scouting along to his sons. He was Cubmaster of Cub Scout Pack 109 in Milwaukee and Cub Scout Pack 221 in Oak Creek, and he took much pride in making each meeting productive and meaningful for the boys.

Throughout his engineering career, Brian worked at Unit Drop Forge, Impact Engineering Solutions, Bucyrus International, Caterpillar and most recently Snap-on Tools, where he received one patent and has several others pending. Brian truly enjoyed working as an engineer and was so disappointed when his cancer progressed and he was no longer able to work. Brian's proudest accomplishment was his family and his boys brought him so much joy. While his illness slowed him down quite a bit, it reminded us what is truly important and he spent the last two years taking trips with friends and giving his loved ones the gift of many great memories to cherish forever.

Brian is survived by his wife of almost 22 years, Brenda (Fritz) King; children, Isaac, Owen and Aidan; mother, Virginia (Gross) King; brothers, Mark King, Timothy King and wife Sara (Schrauth) King, his twin brother, Kevin King and wife Miriah (Thompson) King. He is further survived by his parents-in-law, Mike and Kathy (Smith) Fritz; brothers-in-law and sisters-in-law, Michael and Amy Fritz and Colleen and Joel Nelson; and 11 nieces and nephews.

He is preceded in death by his father, Stephen Jerome (Jerry) King; niece, Sarah Sue King; and nephew, Thomas Michael Nelson.

A visitation for family and friends will be held from 4 p.m. until 7 p.m. on Thursday, July 13, 2023 (with an opportunity for memory sharing at 7 p.m.) at Heritage Funeral Home, 9200 S. 27th Street, Oak Creek, WI 53154.

Funeral services will be held at 12:30 p.m. on Friday, July 14, 2023 at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, 9303 S. Chicago Road, Oak Creek, WI and interment to follow at Forest Hill Memorial Park, 3301 Forest Hill Avenue, Oak Creek. Brian was passionate about his boys' education so memorials may be made to the family to further their education.

Brian was always so gracious in thanking his providers at each visit and his family is so thankful for the amazing care from the teams of doctors, nurses and Vitas Healthcare staff and the support and love of so many friends and relatives who helped his family navigate the last two years.

Life may end, but love does not. May his memory always make us smile.

The money raised was for the Armstrong native's charity, Sarnelli House in Thailand. This was the final year the event will be held; Father Shea said it's "hard to put this on" and "we're all getting older." He's been serving in Thailand since he finished Seminary school 52 years ago.

When the land was rezoned to RD in 1995 to Heberer as land owner, he signed a contract to include the proper drainage. That has not been done, and for years, the property owners have complained to Heberer. The town board says Heberer is responsible for his property and the water issues it is having.

At the July 16 Kewaskum Board of Education meeting, the board passed a resolution to borrow $1,725,000 over 10 years with a 4.25 percent interest rate to help cover the cost of athletic fields. The borrow will not have a negative impact on taxes or the operating budget, according to Michele Wiberg, who has been the district's financial advisor for the past four years.

It was a gathering of some of the most creative minds from around the world. And five Kewaskum Middle School students were in the mix. The global Destination Imagination competition was held in Knoxville, Tennessee with more than 1,400 student teams from 38 U.S. states. Kewaskum's Banana Launchers competed against 85 teams and tied for 10th place in the world.

Teachers in the Kewaskum School District have settled with the board of education on a contract for the 2007-2009 school years. The agreement was accepted by the teachers on June 16 and the board of education on June 23. Four teachers voted against the proposal. Total compensation (salaries and benefits) increased by 4.07 percent each year of the contract. Teachers will now get two personal days instead of one; and for each unused personal days, the teacher will be paid the amount of the substitute teacher rate at the end of the school year.

Another chapter has come to a close in the ongoing saga regarding 33 acres in the Village of Kewaskum's tax incremental finance district. The chapter, however, has ended much like many other chapters: without much action. Improvements to the property required by the DOT have been completed. The property has a selling price of $2,600,000.

Pedestrians are supposed to have the right-ofway when it comes to crossing the street, but that is not always the case. This is why the Kewaskum Police Department has put the yellow crosswalk signs in the middle of streets at busy crosswalks in the village. Schmidt contacted the DOT regarding placing a greenway on the road, and said this was very likely to happen with the greenway starting at Sandy Ridge Road and extending to Badger Road. He said something will be done about the request for arrows on CTH H and USH 45. A plan will be sent to the village from the DOT. The request for turn arrows at Main Street and USH 45 was denied due to the volume of traffic, crash history, and delay time.

The Wisconsin 4-H and Youth Conference was held June 15-18. Twelve youth from Washington County made the trip to have fun and learn ways to improve the community.

It was a frustrating week for the Indians. Kewaskum had the lead a couple times against New Holstein, but lost 7-5. Against Chilton the following night, the Indians and Tigers played 10 innings to a deadlock and the umpires decided the game had to be halted and finished another day. Kewaskum lost in the 11th inning. To add more frustration to the week, no officials arrived for Friday's game against Kiel so that game needed to be rescheduled.

the Legislature sent to my desk, making substantial improvements.

"I'm proud that the budget I signed into law yesterday will provide a historic increase in support to local communities statewide, build on our work to do what's best for our kids with historic budget investments in K-12 education, investing $125 million in addressing and preventing PFAS contamination statewide, make one of the largest investments in our workforce housing in state's history, and make key investments in our justice system, our state workforces, our tourism industries, our farmers, producers, and our veterans.

"And with the help of my vetoes, this budget will ensure $15 million in additional support for our state's childcare providers with additional flexibility, provide school districts with predictable long-term spending authority increases for the foreseeable future, give the UW System the ability to keep 188 positions, and make sure tax relief goes to working families facing rising costs.

"So, I'm glad the Legislature joined me in making critical investments in several key areas the fact remains that this budget, while now improved, remains imperfect and incomplete.

"Of urgent concern to me as governor is that Republicans returned this budget to me without critical components of my comprehensive plan to address the workforce challenges that have already plagued our state for generations and will continue to do so without further action.

"So, I'm giving the Legislature a second chance -I'm using my broad, constitutional veto authority to ensure ample state resources are readily available for the Legislature to complete their work on this budget.

"I am optimistic that our work together can continue - and it must - so we can bolster our state's workforce, maintain our economic momentum, and most importantly, do the right thing for Wisconsin."

I love books, my family loves books, and most people I know love books. Being a librarian and working with these treasured items makes each day special. If you are a regular reader and library user, you should know that libraries are composed of more than books. We lend movies, magazines, and music CDs. Your library card gives you free access to digital services such genealogy resources, electronic books to read or listen to, thousands of crafting how-to-videos, business databases and streaming services. We also let you borrow nontraditional items such as kites, Pilates equipment, and free passes to family friendly venues.

These passes, which we call Adventure Passes, are ways for your family to enjoy visiting places that may be outside your budget. Bringing these items into the library for you to checkout is one way we can achieve our mission in providing access to information, knowledge, and ideas. Kewaskum Public Library does have a limited budget of its own and I do my best to carry out our mission while not overspending. When I want to purchase something that we do not have the funds for, I have relied on donations or grants or gone without.

I have wanted to offer family passes to a local zoo that many other libraries have but the price was prohibitive. I took my request to the Kewaskum Public Library Foundation, Inc. and they generously purchased two family passes for us to circulate! We have not had them for long, but the passes are constantly checked out and the patrons that use them have been very pleased.

The mission of the Kewaskum Public Library Foundation has been to support the library in its mission of providing programs and services to all. This can take different forms. The Foundation was formed originally for a new library building project and continues to work on that effort. However, they have done so much more. Purchasing the pricey zoo passes is just an example of all the Kewaskum Public Library does for the community.

As a non-profit, they rely on donations to help the library with its needs. Making a monetary contribution to the Foundation is one way to ensure the library's future. This can be done through its Facebook page or by sending or dropping off a check here. Another way to assist the Foundation in its mission is to serve on their board. These volunteer opportunities are beneficial, and I believe that giving time and expertise is as much if not more important than financial donations.

Again, I want to thank the Kewaskum Public Library Foundation for all their support for your library and especially for the purchase of the zoo passes that I could not have made available to our users without them. Stop in and let's talk about how you can help the Foundation continue its goal to support your library.

"Come tour our historic post," encouraged Dorn, pointing out some of the collections. Among those honored are Medal of Honor recipient Einar H. Ingman Jr., who joined the Army in 1948 from Kewaskum.

Among others honored with special plaques is the Post's namesake, Romaine. Born in 1918 in Kewaskum to Elwyn and Edna (Guth) Romaine, Robert enlisted and was accepted into the Navy in March of 1942. On December 11 of that same year, the Romaine family was informed that Robert had been killed in action when a merchant vessel he was on was "torpedoed by the enemy."

"Robert George Romaine. That name has gone down in Washington County history as the first man from the county who sacrificed his life in the performance of his duty in the service of his country in WWII," reads a brief history of the Post's namesake inside the main hall.

Also inside is the original charter for the Kewaskum Legion, which was founded on July 16, 1923. Listed on that first charter: Theodore R. Schmidt, Hubert M. Wittman, Edwin A. Miller, Walter J. Schaefer, Clem Reinders, Art Schaefer, Peter J. Haug, Leo C. Brauchle, Aug. C. Bilgo, Fred H. Buss, Louis Bath, Carl F. Schaefer, Maurice W. Rosenheimer, Alex Klug, Geo. H. Schmidt, Wendell C. Petri and Byron Martin.

Romaine, Ingman and others will all be celebrated along with the Legion Post starting with music at 11 a.m., which will play from the hall's back porch. Food will be served from the stand in the parking lot. A bar inside will also offer beverages.

There is some seating available inside, but folks are encouraged to bring lawn chairs if they wish to sit outside.

Dorn also noted the party will align with some recent improvements, including a newly-updated wheelchair ramp and the back deck.

time, there will be something new to see as Kewaskum's American Legion Post 384 looks ahead to the next century.

Kewaskum American Legion Robert G. Romaine Post 384 is located at 1538 Fond du Lac Ave. in the Village of Kewaskum.

The celebration on Sunday, July 16, is scheduled to start at 11 a.m., rain or shine, with music on the back deck.

Brief History of Post 384

Robert G. Romaine American Legion Post 384 was established in Kewaskum on July 16, 1923.

With 17 charter members, meetings were held at Joseph Eberle Jr.'s tavern on Main Street or at the Union Hall on Fond du Lac Avenue in Kewaskum. The organization grew, and by 1945, the post had 45 members.

In September 1945, the post purchased the house at 1538 Fond du Lac Avenue, which had belonged to Katherine Lay and the late Henry J. Lay. The new American Legion hall was dedicated on Oct. 7, 1945. In 1958, the post removed the second and third stories of the building.

Rockin' for a Cause

ANNE TRAUTNER JOURNALIST

Eddie Prochnow and Izak Pintor are Kewaskum High School students who like to rock and roll. And they wanted to do something to help Children's Hospital of Wisconsin.

So, they decided to hold a concert, "Krushing It 4 Kidz!" to benefit Children's Hospital. The event will be held this Sunday, July 16, at Foundry 45, 9480 US Hwy 45 in Kewaskum, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m.

Admission is free for the concert. There will be a silent auction and 50/50 raffle, with all proceeds going to the Children's Hospital of Wisconsin.

Many of the silent auction items are rock-androll items, such as a snare drum donated by Pat Morris and Kiss sign autographed by the person who started the Kiss Army fan club in the 1970s. There also will be Brewers and Packers items, as well as gift baskets.

Eddie's and Izak's band, called "The XI Project," will be one of the four bands performing rock music. Also taking the stage will be Illusion, Good Gravy and Fallback.

Eddie, 16, and Izak, 15, started their group about six months ago. They got the name because Eddie's nickname was "X," and Izak's name starts with "I."

Eddie, who will be a junior this year, plays bass, but he also performs vocals and plays guitar as needed for the band. Izak, who will be a sophomore in the fall, plays drums.

They play anything rock, from the Beatles to Metallica, with a lot of classic rock in the mix. The two have performed their music twice at Kewaskum High School, and they raised $121 for Children's Hospital when they performed during the Wine Walk held in Kewaskum this year.

With only two players, their band is not complete. They believe that eventually they will have a full band, but for now, as part of the "project," they have other musicians perform with them.

On Sunday, bassist Brian Schenk, who has performed in Kiss tribute bands and at Summerfest,

Eddie Prochnow and Izak Pintor of "The XI Project" will present "Krushing It 4 Kidz!" to benefit Children's Hospital of Wisconsin on Sunday, July 16, at Foundry 45 in Kewaskum, from 1 p.m. to 7 p.m. ANNE TRAUTNER PHOTO will be perform with the XI Project. There will be some other musicians join them as well.

"Since it is a project, we want to get some other people up there too, so we will have a couple guest appearances," Eddie said.

They are especially glad they can do something for Children's Hospital. Eddie, who has Crohn's disease, has been a patient at Children's Hospital over the past two years. Izak's brother was a patient there after being hit by a car when he was a child.

This isn't the first time Izak has organized a fundraiser for Children's Hospital. When he was 7, he ran a toy drive for the hospital.

"One day I ended up at Children's, and I saw they didn't have a lot of toys. I thought, 'I have to try to get them some toys,'" Izak recalled.

Now, years later, both Izak and Eddie still want to make a difference.

"We believe anyone can donate to good causes that they want, any age, race, or gender, it really doesn't matter. Anyone can do something if they really put their mind to it," Eddie said.

The Best Days of Our Lives

MARK WALTERS COLUMNIST

A man would be a fool to admit in front of friends and his wife at a party that the happiest he is in a years' time is when he is at deer camp or on an annual fly-in fishing trip, but I am telling you, I think there are a few people on this planet that would agree that I may have a point.

This week's column is the second part of what was a Saturday-to-Saturday fly-in fishing trip to Shultz Lake, which is 55 airmiles northwest of Red Lake, Ontario, Canada. We're at Chimo Lodge and Outposts, a place I have a whole ton of my adult history and it is all positive.

THURSDAY, JUNE 22 HIGH 78, LOW 51

What is peace and tranquility?

Staying at a cabin that is literally in the middle of nowhere for seven days with people that you 100% get along with. Even if there is a bit of negativity, this group of nine never, ever, has a history of dragging out an issue. Our unwritten code is no slackers, complainers or tight wads and it works.

Peace is ending a great day of fishing with your brother and his grandson and then taking a short hike to a rapids on a river and watching the two of them catch 20-inch walleye on just about every cast.

The same can be said when I think about the two fires that have burnt the bush here, one back in '95 and the other in '99. Most people think a forest fire is the most horrible thing in the world; now, the bush that used to be mature jack pine, spruce and aspen, is alive with new growth and the moose are loving the tender feed that has been created as they browse and live a much easier winter.

Happiness is seeing the joy on Roger Frank's face after he caught a 29.5-inch walleye and literally kept smiling the entire rest of the trip. Roger's walleve had a huge head in comparison to its body, and I am guessing it was on the downward cycle of its life, kind of like the antlers on a buck as they begin to get smaller after the aging process takes place. Both Roger's big walleve and my big gator of the week were released.

Joy is having your day to cook for the entire gang over with. In other words, on that day, you do all the cooking and dishes, and, after that day, all you have to do is watch and be served.

Satisfaction is seeing everyone's hands in the group, after the fourth day, that are now covered in small cuts because the fishing was so incredibly good that it seemed we were always taking fish off the hook.

The size-average here on the walleye has always been about 16-18 inches, this year it was about 19.5 with dozens of 21s and 22s.

Joy is sitting around in the cabin at night, watching the cook, enjoying adult beverages, never running out of things to talk about and always

My dad, the late Robert Walters, was the man that found this place; my brother Bobby's ashes are placed in a special place we call Bear Creek. When my brother Tom and I hunted when we were kids, we harvested two bear on it as they were harvesting spawning suckers.

At night, we have a tradition when we come into camp of doing war whoops as we get near the cabin and do a couple of circles with the boat before we make it to the drive-on for this same business.

Victory is seeing six members of this same gang get off the plane to replace us at Shultz lake as we simply have that many people in our super cool group.

Make your own adventure, push yourself, enjoy life while you have the option!
