Campbellsport Wrestling Introduces First Girls' Program Starring Freshmen Duo

CLARICE CASE JOURNALIST

There is a new era starting for Campbellsport Cougars wrestling.

Freshmen Izabella Pickering and Emma Batzler are excited to be the first two female wrestlers to participate in Campbellsport High School's first girls wrestling program.

Pickering began wrestling in kindergarten because of her cousins who she would wrestle with when she was young.

And Batzler started in sixth grade thanks to Pickering.

She said, "It started as a joke between me and Bella (Izabella) because she needed a partner, so I told her I would try it just once but I ended up really liking it."

Campbellsport wrestling Coach Dan Heisdorf explained why this is the first year Campbellsport introduced a girls' program.

"We haven't really pushed for a girls' program, but girls' wrestling has really taken off the last couple years, and it will continue to get bigger," he said. "This is the third year it has been recognized as a WIAA (Wisconsin Interscholastic Athletic Association) sport. It went from 452 girls the first year to 744 last year."

While Heisdorf is thrilled to field a pair of female wrestlers this season, he added that there was room for more to join the team.

"Once we knew for sure Emma and Bella were going to wrestle in high school, we started asking other girls who were not doing a winter sport if they would give it a try," explained Heisdorf. "There has been some interest, but no others have taken the step of trying it out. We are hoping the success Emma and Bella are having will give other girls the urge to give it a try."

Head Coach Alex Costello said, "My hopes for this first season of girls' wrestling are that they continue to have fun and grow numbers. I hope we can have our very first girls' state qualifier this year, as well."

Both girls agreed they believe the season has been going well

Defining South Eden

KARL MCCARTY
CONTRIBUTOR

Do you know where South Eden is? It was (and is) a land surrounded by Floods, hollowed out by hills, and might go as far as northern Ashford Township.

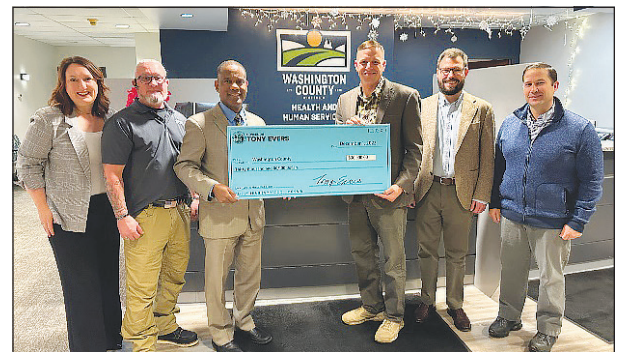

Nothing is more subjective than concluding where an unincorporated entity should be on a map. It's even more difficult when it was never put on a map (that we know of) to begin with. An exception is a 1990s map of old post offices which proves one existed in South Eden in 1878.

The following merges more than three-plus years of discussions, interviews and arguments for trying to define "South Eden." The most significant reason to put South Eden on the map is our ancestors who made it.

Dream Avatars: Navigating the Uncharted Realms of Self

Dear Reader,

In the realm of dreams, a fascinating phenomenon unfolds – our dream avatars, alternate expressions of ourselves, embark on extraordinary adventures. As we sleep, these avatars traverse uncharted landscapes with friends and acquaintances, weaving tales that linger in our waking consciousness.

Consider the notion that each nocturnal escapade contributes to the richness of our being. The dream avatar, a vessel of our desires and subconscious whispers, returns with memories that transcend the boundaries of the dream world. These experiences, though born in the realm of slumber, leave an indelible mark on our waking selves.

Imagine a night where your dream avatar engages in a grand adventure, surrounded by familiar faces and unknown landscapes. The emotions felt during these dream exploits linger upon waking, infusing your reality with a newfound sense of fulfillment. It's as if your dream self has unlocked hidden dimensions within you, enriching the tapestry of your existence.

Exploring this concept further, one can't help but wonder how these dream avatars shape our identities over time. Could they serve as a reservoir of untapped potential, influencing our choices and perspectives as we navigate the waking world? Perhaps, in the silent hours of the night, we are not merely passive observers of our dreams but active participants in the ongoing narrative of self-discovery.

Dream avatars, with their ephemeral existence, beckon us to question the boundaries between the conscious and the subconscious. What if the lessons learned and memories forged in the dream realm are not confined to the night but seep into the daylight, altering our perception of reality?

As we delve into the enigma of dream avatars, we find ourselves standing at the intersection of who we were, who we are, and who we aspire to become. The dream world becomes a canvas where the threads of our past, present, and future are woven together, creating a tapestry of enriched life experiences.

In embracing the concept of dream avatars, we invite a profound exploration of the self that transcends the limitations of waking existence. For in the dance between dreams and reality, we discover that our nocturnal odysseys are not mere escapades but transformative journeys that help mold us into the architects of our destiny.

Not long now. Before you know it, we'll be at crunch time. The Super Bowl is coming. Only question left at this point is who they will be – the NFC vs. AFC Division Champs. Rather miss the old NFL/AFL rivalry. Seemed more like a real contest (same as dueling leagues in baseball) instead of an inter-squad rumble.

Saw a photo of a house with Lambeau Field in its backyard on the front page of the Reporter. Place is for sale. Real bargain too at just $899,000. Talk about a blast from the past. One of Dad's brothers worked for Hoffer Glass and lived just a few blocks from the stadium. During football season, he earned extra $$'s by charging game goers to park in his driveway.

Despite no great personal love for the sport, I had a thick deck of trading cards. Featuring guys like Joe Namath and Johnny Unitas. Teams were different. For example, they were the Baltimore Colts then. Shows you how long ago that was. A sight more appropriate the city's franchise is now the Ravens. With the Poe angle and fact he's buried there.

So, who are you rooting for to attend the big dance?

A great-nephew is a Cowboys fan. Gotta admit they're playing like it was the Tom Landry's era. Another tough year for us Packers backers. But it's a young group. Once they get a smidge more experience, watch out! Love's got the chops to be a real good quarterback.

Ideal game, leastwise for this writer would be 49ers against the Ravens. San Francisco is vaguely reminiscent of their Montana/Rice run. Got a vested interest as I've visited Baltimore twice and taken a liking to that town.

No matter where I watch the contest, somebody's gonna have to explain the basics about downs, yardage, etc. Still haven't a clue.

Boost Your Mood with Fragrant Indoor Plants

MELINDA MYERS
CONTRIBUTOR

There's no need to visit a spa for a bit of soothing aromatherapy. Grow fragrant plants indoors to improve your mood and promote a sense of relaxation.

Gardenias may be the first fragrant flowering plant that comes to mind. They can be challenging but are worth the effort. Grow them in moist acidic soil, in bright light, and surrounded by other plants or on a gravel tray to increase the humidity.

Jasmines are known for their sweet fragrant flowers. Arabian jasmine (Jasmine sambac) will flower indoors several times throughout the year if it receives sufficient light. Consider adding artificial lights to boost flowering. Grow this plant in a warm draft-free location and allow the soil to dry several inches below the surface before watering again.

Citrus are valued for their fruit, but they also produce fragrant flowers. Give them bright light and keep the soil slightly moist for the best results.

Stephanotis floribunda was frequently used in wedding bouquets. Grow it in a sunny window and watch for flowers to appear in spring on new growth. Complete all necessary pruning as soon as the plant stops flowering.

Plumeria are the fragrant flowers often used in Hawaiian leis. Provide bright light, moist well-drained soil, and fertilize throughout the summer to promote flowering. Allow the soil to go a bit drier during the winter. Don't panic if the plants go dormant and drop their leaves in winter. New leaves will appear as temperatures warm.

String of pearls (Curio rowleyanus) is a trailing succulent with leaves that resemble peas. Grow these in a brightly lit location that is a bit cooler in the winter. This along with slightly drier soil in winter can promote flowering. Its cinnamon fragrance is one you'll remember.

Another succulent that may reward you with flowers is hoya. Keep the soil a bit moister during the summer when the plant is actively growing. Allow the soil to dry slightly when the plant is resting during the winter. High humidity in spring and summer followed by cooler temperatures and drier soil in winter will encourage potbound plants to flower.

Fragrant plants, like gardenias, add beauty indoors, boost mood, and promote relaxation.

Watch for fragrant flowers to form on the long leafless stems.

Give the leaves of scented geranium (Pelargonium) a pet and enjoy the lemon, rose, apple, peppermint, or pine fragrance. Although grown for their scented foliage they also produce pretty but less showy flowers. Place the plants in areas where you brush past the leaves or can easily give them a pat to release and enjoy the fragrance.

Find a cool spot in your home away from drafts of hot and cold air for your lavender plant. Make sure the plant receives plenty of sunlight from a south-facing or similar window. Consider adding artificial lights to increase your success. Water thoroughly when the top inch of soil is dry to the touch. Pour off any excess water that collects in the saucer.

Visit your local independent garden center or reputable online plant retailers that are more likely to sell these in winter. Then clear out some space on a sunny windowsill or invest in a few plant lights and start growing some fragrant plants.

We will offer our normal lunch, which includes ham sandwiches, choice of fruit, milk, coffee and the special "Home Made Cookies!" For walk-in donors, we recommend you to make an appointment. If the Red Cross has a full schedule, walk in donors may not be able to donate as there would be no room. To fit you into their schedule, please make an appointment at redcrossblood.org; or call 1-800-RED-CROSS (1-800-733-2767). Thank you for your continued commitment to the Red Cross and our lifesaving mission.

Please bring along your blood donor card, or an identification card. If you have any questions, or need additional information, please call the Red Cross, at 1-800-733-2767, or Mike Serwe at 920-533-8114. Hope to see you at the drive.

Certified Environmental Health staff will be handing out the kits and answering questions at the following times and locations:

- Friday, Jan. 12 and 19, from 9 a.m. to 1 p.m. at both Washington Ozaukee Public Health Departments – In West Bend at 333 E. Washington St., Suite 1100; and in Port Washington at 121 W. Main St., Room 246.

Health Department Offers Radon Test Kits for Radon Action Month

During National Radon Action Month the Washington Ozaukee Public Health Department is encouraging citizens to test their homes for radon by offering free test kits to residents. We are asking residents to bring a non-perishable food item that has not expired to our department in exchange for a free short-term test kit. One discounted test kit per household. Without the donation of a non-perishable item a short-term test kit costs $7 and a long-term test kit costs $20. All items collected during outreach events will be donated to a local food bank. Please note that postage on the test kit is not included.

Radon is a naturally occurring odorless, colorless gas found in rock and soil. Radon is the second leading cause of lung cancer, claiming the lives of an estimated 20,000 Americans each year. In Wisconsin about one out of 10 homes contains high radon levels.

The radon test kit is easy to use and only takes a few minutes to set up. Once you open it, the kit stays in your home for two days. Then you will package it and mail it to the lab for analysis. The United States Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and the U.S. Surgeon General strongly recommends all homes be tested for radon. Homes with radon levels of four picocuries per Liter (4 pCi/L) or higher should be remediated. If you choose to have a mitigation system installed, it is recommended that the system be installed by a certified mitigation professional.

Kits may be obtained at locations at the dates and hours listed below.

An additional date and location are being offered this year. Kits and information will be provided on Friday, Jan. 26, at the Village of Jackson Municipal Complex from 9 a.m.-1 p.m., located at N168W19851 Main St. in Jackson.

More information as well as a list of certified radon contractors can be found at www.low-radon.org, Certified Environmental Health personnel are available at 262-335-4462 or 284-8170 to answer your radon questions.

D.N.R. Angler Recruitment Grants Available

-Apply by Feb. 15-

WIS. DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is encouraging individuals and organizations to submit grant applications to build the community of anglers through community and school-based fishing programs. This grant is supported by the federal Sport Fish Restoration fund, which is generated by an excise tax on fishing equipment and motorboat fuel. The deadline to apply is Feb. 15, 2024.

Past grant recipients have used this grant to support in-depth Angler Education and Learn to Fish programs at schools, nature centers, parks, community centers and camps. They have delivered fly-fishing classes for women and veterans, trainings for people who work with anglers who are disabled and built capacity for family and youth fishing programs in their neighborhoods and statewide.

Grant Cycles, Priorities

Grant cycles are for two years, and funding is available to the recipient when a grant agreement is signed by all parties, approximately one year after the application is submitted. As a reimbursement grant, only expenses incurred after the grant agreement is signed will be covered. The amount of available funding totals $30,000 with a cap of $5,000 per grant. Applicants are required to provide 25% matching funds for their project, either in cash or in-kind.

Priority will be given to projects that concentrate on groups that have been underrepresented in the fishing community. Programs for other adults who never learned how to fish as youngsters will also be considered as well as youth programs that will go beyond one-day events.

Help is Available

If you have an idea, give us a call to talk it over! Visit our Angler Recruitment, Retention and Reactivation (Angler R3) grant program webpage (dnr.wisconsin.gov/aid/angler.html) to learn more.

Born in England on March 8, 1936, to Harold Stanley Copland and Gertrude (Herbert) Copland, Shirley survived the Blitz in WWII and traveled the countryside due to military obligations of her dad, who was a Royal Air Force Officer. Shirley loved sports and excelled in field hockey and table tennis, winning a doubles tennis championship in 1956. She worked at Baker Perkins before meeting the love of her life, Albert Gerald Gillard, a Campbellsport native, who was a military policeman in the U.S. Air Force. After their wedding on February 14, 1959, they relocated to an Air Force base in Minot, North Dakota, began to grow their family and relocated back to the Campbellsport area. After raising their five children, Shirley became a paraeducator for the special needs students at Campbellsport School District and eventually drove a bus for these children as well. She was a member of Immanuel Lutheran Church, where she and her family sang in the choir until she moved to be closer to family in Waterloo, where she attended and sang in the choir at St. John Lutheran Church and School. In addition to singing, mom loved to read, draw, dance, travel and laugh.

Shirley is survived by her five children, Claire (Duane) Cina, Lorna Hargarten, Kerry (Pedro) Lozano, Lynnette (Phil) Phillips, and Brian (Melissa) Gillard; 14 grandchildren (whom she taught to love tea and biscuits!); and 10 great-grandchildren; as well as her five brothers and sisters in England.

She is preceded in death by her loving husband; mother; father; and stepfather, Bob Hunt; as well as her mother and father-in-law, Chester and Mary Gillard; and brother and sister-in-law, Jim and Bette Gillard.

Shirley's funeral will be held Saturday, January 20, 2024, at 10 a.m. at St. John Lutheran Church and School at 413 E Madison St., Waterloo, WI, with a luncheon immediately following. Her burial will take place at Union Cemetery in Campbellsport, in the afternoon.

Her family is eternally grateful to the staff at Rainbow Hospice in Johnson Creek for their loving care and attention in her final hours, as well as Pastor Adomeit for his commitment to mom and family, as he provided spiritual support for her as well as comfort for her children in her final days. Her family is at peace, knowing that mom is Home and living in eternal joy.

In lieu of flowers, memorials may be made to Rainbow Hospice Care at 1225 Rammel Drive, Johnson Creek, 53094, or St. John Lutheran Church and School.

(WDVA) to provide no-cost mental health services to Washington County veterans. The check was presented on December 6, by WDVA Secretary James Bond at the county's Behavioral Health clinic. The department's outpatient clinic currently services those in the community who have Medicaid or are under or uninsured.

Many veterans in the county do not have access to mental health services outside of the VA, which is in Milwaukee. Improving access to services for veterans is the first goal of this pilot project, which aims to serve 10-20 veterans in the first year.

Regardless of personal health insurance coverage, the grant will provide weekly-to-monthly therapy sessions, and medication management, as necessary, to interested veterans who are struggling with any number of life stressors.

"Local access to mental health services is critical for our Veteran population in the fight against substance abuse and suicide," said Kurt Rusch, Washington County Veterans service officer. "This partnership has great potential in our effort to meet Veterans where they are, and help them to transition back home successfully."

A second goal of this grant is for the department to obtain credentialing with the VA Community Care Network. This will allow the veterans who are linked with the counties outpatient clinic to continue services and expand access to many more veterans who may need support and services.

Josh Schoemann, county executive said, "We appreciate receiving the state-funded grant to serve the mental health needs of more of our county's veterans. Rates of trauma and mental health challenges are disproportionately high among our veterans and our role can help remove barriers to help provide access to treatment that will guide them to a healthy recovery. It also allows us to highlight important services available from the county Veterans Service Office to ensure the veterans get the help they may need."

The Washington County Health & Human Services Department's outpatient clinic has four full-time therapy providers and four part time prescribers on staff. Clinic hours are Monday and Wednesday 8 a.m.-6 p.m., and Tuesday, Thursday and Friday 8 a.m.-4:30 p.m.

Information and access to care information is available by contacting Rusch at 262-335-4457, during normal business hours.

The winter of 1998-99 changed as quickly as the numbers following the arrival of the new year. December 1998 came to a close with a promise of a blizzard and 1999 delivered on that promise. It began innocently enough with light snow flurries on New Year's Day; but the stormy weather conditions intensified early January 2 and continued until late the next morning. Due to the gusty winds, it was difficult to know how much snow fell during that time, but everyone agrees the accumulation reached somewhere between 15 and 20 inches. High winds continued, making conditions almost impossible for snow removal. Temperatures dipped into the single digits late Sunday and into the week. Wind chills were unbearable. The best advice was to stay inside.

Patrick Twohig, chairman of the Community Center remodelling committee, and member Charles Algiers reported to the Campbellsport Village Board on Monday that work had begun on the remodeling of the Center. Citing errors in his bidding and higher material costs, Bachman Electric of Fond du Lac will not sign his contract unless he can add $2,000 to the bid. Because the next lowest bidder was still $1,600 higher than the bid with increase from Bachman Electric, the board agreed to the change.

The Village of Campbellsport is offering a $100 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the person or persons guilty of vandalism against private or public property in the village.

William Bauman and Joe Baumhardt, school bus contractors, met with the board of Jt. School District 23 to work out new contracts for the per mile costs. Rising gasoline prices have made it impossible to operate the buses at the old rate of 13¢ per mile. A price of 15¢ per mile was negotiated.

Twenty-four women showed up for the first Women's Recreation Night in the old gym. Divided into four groups with a captain in charge of each, the women are to take turns planning different Monday night activities. Volleyball and dodgeball were played Monday night. There was free time for shooting basketball, using the trampoline and skateboards, and doing general exercises.

Last Friday night's surprise 50-46 victory over Laconia was a good way for the Cougars to start the new year. For three quarters Campbellsport had the advantage, but being outscored 8-13 in the final frame almost cost them the game.

The article included Ramthun's verbal explanations to the board of his actions of the two instances in question.

The school day will change again for Kewaskum students. Superintendent of Schools Michael Krumm informed the board of education that with the beginning of the second semester, they will extend the time students are in session on Wednesdays and start earlier in the middle and high schools. The Wednesday switch would be permanent for the 2009-10 school year. Classes will be held June 12 instead of ending on June 11. These changes are to make up for snow days. Second semester begins January 28.

Washington County's first traffic fatality of 2009 occurred in the Town of Wayne. On January 13, a 27-year-old Racine woman passed a semi tractor-trailer on a snow-covered and slippery US Highway 41. Her vehicle drifted and she lost control, striking a guard rail and sliding back into traffic where it was hit by the semi, which attempted to avoid the crash. Her passenger was not injured, nor was the semi driver.

Growing up in Kewaskum, George Martin entered Carroll College after his 1968 graduation with the intent of tackling a double math/physics major. One semester of calculus and six weeks of physics had George deciding there was no way in the world he wanted to continue. He became interested in geography. At Michigan State University for his Masters in geography, George met with a CIA member who was there to talk to students. George initiated his career in 1974 analyzing the geography of the Soviet Union. He learned the Russian language to read newspapers and documents. He's written papers on intelligence analysis. Still a member of the CIA, George is married with four children. His wife was a CIA employee for 19 years.

Kewaskum School District Superintendent Clark Pearson and Business Manager/Curriculum Coordinator George Allmann have announced they will retire in June. Clark has been with the district for 27 years and George for more than 30 years.

Mark Groeschel, Kewaskum's fire chief, informed the Kewaskum Village Board on January 4 that he has formed a committee to look into purchasing a new ambulance to replace the 1979 Chevrolet. The total cost of the new ambulance the committee chose is $89,556. The money is already available for this purchase, according to Mark.

Village President Charles Miller has announced that he is interested in a recycling project for the Village of Kewaskum. Seeking a local organization or civic group to take charge of collections, Miller said he is thinking mainly of paper in view of the acute paper shortage and the price being paid for it.

Kewaskum firemen were almost taken by surprise last Friday afternoon when they received their first fire call in exactly five months. Frank Heppe, postmaster, announced that postal receipts for the Kewaskum Post Office set an all-time record in 1948. Kewaskum will advance to a first-class office effective July 1 because post offices are required to become a first-class office if there are receipts of $40,000 during the year.

Thieves forced their way into the Bauer feed store and Brittingham and Hixon Lumber Company office in Campbellsport during the night Wednesday and escaped with loot estimated at $100. It's reported two young men were in a Kewaskum tavern and left, headed toward Campbellsport. Later they drove toward Dundee, where one of the men assaulted the elderly man they had taken along with them.

LORI KREIS, DIRECTOR KEWASKUM PUBLIC LIBRARY

Happy New Year to all. I have returned from my international travels and am ready for all the excitement that 2024 is set to bring. I hope you had a safe and pleasant holiday.

Two thousand twenty-three was an eventful year for us at the library. We welcomed many new opportunities in services, staff and materials. Here is a recap of last year at Kewaskum Public Library.

We started out the year with a new book club, Banned Books Club, and encouraged readers to celebrate their freedom to read. We also began an end-of-life series featuring decluttering, advanced directives, and funeral planning programs. A couple of new databases were added to our collection including Universal Class, a valuable resource which promotes our mission to support lifelong learning.

In early spring, we had a staff in-service day and had training in mental health from NAMI and dementia training from the ADRC which has made us a dementia-friendly library. Also, in early spring we introduced create at home check out craft kits for all ages. Every month there is a new kit for kids, teens and adults to keep for a week and create an amazing craft. Each kit includes instructions and most of the supplies needed.

Besides the create at home check out kits, the library welcomed another new feature that began in 2023 – Adventure Passes. These passes allow families to attend area attractions for free.

Venues are Schlitz Audubon, Fond Du Lac Children’s Museum, Above and Beyond Children’s Museum in Sheboygan and Kettle Moraine YMCA. Furthermore, with a generous donation from Kewaskum Public Library Foundation, Inc. we were able to offer county zoo passes. We hope to add to our adventure passes in 2024 and your generous donations will enable that.

Summer saw another amazing program to alleviate summer slide; “All Together Now – Bee a Summer Reader.” We met with local beekeepers, saw a magician disappear inside a balloon, hula-hooped on the lawn and created not one, but two community quilts which are hanging in the library and will be on display in our new location this year. The summer program ended with nearly 280,000 minutes read by our participants. Great job Kewaskum!

September brought us Library Card Sign-up Month with a record amount of new card registrations. I think one of our most favorable achievements in September was going fine-free for kid and teen items checked out at our library and reducing some other fines for adult material.

Technology-wise, in 2023 we replaced computers for the public (and staff) as needed and began using RFID pads. You may have seen these in the library and essentially, RFID tags are machine-readable labels that allow materials to be checked out without a barcode scanner; bringing us one step closer to self-checks at our new location.

All in all, 2023 was a great year for Kewaskum Public Library. We checked out nearly 47,000 items physically and electronically, had 177 programs with 4,900 attendees and had more than 23,000 people walking through our doors. Looking forward to 2024!

Kewaskum Kiwanis December Students of the Month

Abby Gerhartz

My name is Abby Gerhartz. I have been involved in athletics my whole life, but in high school, I participated in cross country, basketball, and track. I qualified for state three times in both cross country and track. Last year my basketball team and I won the D3 Girls State Basketball Championship.

In school, I am involved in student council, Peers4Peers, HOPE club, Kewaskum Impact Crew (KIC), and National Honor Society (NHS). My favorite classes in high school have been AP Biology, AP Psychology, and Spanish 5.

Outside of school, I enjoy playing guitar and piano or spending time outside with my friends. Beyond high school, I am hoping to attend UW-Madison to double major in nursing and Spanish.

Macy Fleischman

Throughout my time in high school, I have been involved in many various clubs and activities. I am the senior class president, and also the president of our school's NHS. I have been on the executive board of our student council since sophomore year. I am also involved in Key Club, academic bowl, Hope Club, KIC mentoring, tutoring, and Peers for Peers. My sophomore year, I was the Kewaskum representative at the Wisconsin Leadership Seminar.

When I am not at school, I work at Blue Door Coffee Co., and I enjoy playing sports such as volleyball and track and field. I also like to read and go on hikes with friends and family. I love learning, so I use the various AP courses offered at Kewaskum to fulfill this passion. Even though I am going to study chemistry, I enjoy taking courses such as psychology and literature to better understand other subjects.

After high school, I am planning on attending a four-year university to study chemistry in the hopes of one day pursuing research in this field. I am still undecided as to where I want to go to school, but my top choices are University of Wisconsin-Madison, University of Michigan, and University of Notre Dame.

The last article explained in what fashion South Eden was used as a reference point. In this piece, South Eden will be defined by using credible sources such as the people who live or once lived within Eden Township's borders who can vouch for South Eden.

From the North

To define South Eden, let's first knock off areas in Eden Township which do not qualify. When defining something, sometimes it's best to start with figuring out "what it is not." I once ask Bob Meier, "What was South Eden?" Giving me an answer that as generic, somewhat correct, and not offensive, he answered, "Anything south of B." This (I think) was a joke, or a way to avoid a difficult question from a man raised in Empire. Either way, it was a start. So when looking at an Eden town map, this wipes off the northern third (Sections 1-12) as not even remotely qualifying.

This was seconded by Carol Murphy, Eden Town treasurer and preservationist of family, Eden, and surrounding area history. Carol said South Eden "didn't go as far as B." In fact, all those sourced on South Eden research concluded the lands touching Hwy B and to the north of the township should be excluded.

From the East

Then what is excluded out of South Eden on the east? When asked where South Eden was, Dick Guell said, "Probably from V, west." This was an interview at Anne Koenig's kitchen table, and both suggested where they were standing was not South Eden. Mr. Guell, town chairman, aptly noted V as a good slice through the township separating South Eden's vicinity. And this is seconded by others, including Marvin Heimermann (1934-2023), who attended Lafayette School west of V around 1940. Marvin then lived on V, but on the east side south of F.

Carol Murphy also said South Eden "Probably goes up to V," and that anything east of Hwy V is not considered. Looking at Hwy V as a diagonal line through Eden Township, this essentially excludes half the township running down from Marblehead en route to Campbellsport through the township (which ends at Sunset Drive).

Using V as a divider, this excludes most of the Section 16, 22, 27 and 35. I say "most" because those sections have slivers of land west of V that could qualify as South Eden. However, full sections excluded from South Eden — beyond the ones mentioned north of B, are Sections 13-15, 23-26, and 36. In committing to V as a divider, routes out of South Eden's range include Meadow Road and Middle Road.

From the West and Leo Reilly

When asked about the topic of South Eden, nobody said Byron Township has any stake in South Eden. Most agreed that K serves a stout barrier as South Eden's western borders. This is easy, because K forms the Byron/Eden town line.

One clearly defined western portion of South Eden was Hilltop Drive. Ann (Lloyd) Grahl grew up in South Eden, and attended Burroughs School where Hilltop and Campbell Drive converge. Hilltop Drive runs parallel and east of K, and both hit Hwy F. Ann is proud of her roots in South Eden, and notes from her perspective that the area between the old Burroughs School to Ethan Allen School (where Hilltop Drive ends at F) was central to the definition of South Eden.

Even more west of Hilltop was Leo Reilly, whose farm again and again came up as a South Eden location. His original farm was on F and K but in

The intersection of Scenic and Timberlane Drive is near the heart of South Eden. The road signs have the old farm of the Harlan's (Tommy and Frannie) in the background. Kitty-corner to where the photo was taken is the location of the old Vandergrinten farm, eventually owned by Jack and Irene Majerus until the late 1960s. Their memories in the vicinity stay with the Majerus family today, and were with Irene on her license plates ("South Eden") as long as she drove. PHOTO CREDIT: KARL MCCARTY

Eden Township. However, whether K and Campbell Drive's intersection at the bottom of Eden counted as South Eden was less obvious. However, Ann's perspective on Hilltop Drive north of Campbell is a credible definition within South Eden.

Please recognize it was easy agreeing on excluding what was north of B and excluding what was east of V when it came to defining South Eden. It is harder to conclude what is the southern most portion of South Eden. It was easier to say Leo Reilly's farm was as far west as you could go for South Eden. However, some sources indicated southern South Eden extended into Ashford Township, but hugging Campbell Drive (or what some used to refer to as Cty Y). It was much easier to regard what was too far west of South Eden than what was too far south.

Leo and Fern Reilly's farm was both as far west and as far north as South Eden went. Going back to the point that sometimes it is easier to define what is something by "what it is not," this is the case with Hundertmarks and South Eden. The Hundertmark Farm on K is not South Eden because it is between the old Leo Reilly Farm on F and Hwy B. And although it's technically the next farm on K to the north of Leo Reilly, Carol Murphy concludes it was Leo Reilly who was South Eden. But recognize too that Leo Reilly was Irish, and went to St. James, and his 17 siblings grew up on Timberlane Drive south of Scenic. It's interesting had Leo not settled on that farm by the 1940s if it would still be considered South Eden.

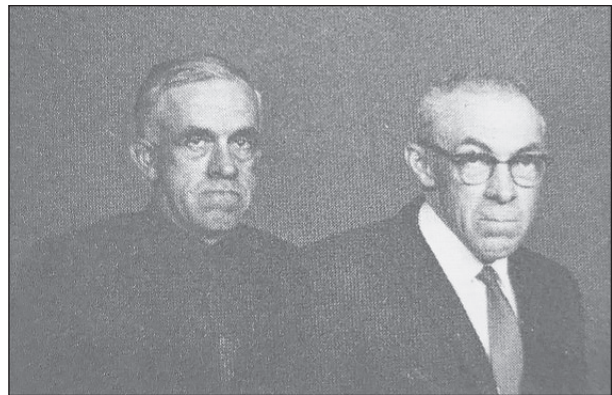

Carol said Leo Reilly qualifies because he's on F. Then Carol made a mental map down F from Leo Reilly's at midcentury, "And John Murphy would be, but he's on the other side of F [north side]. And Vince Ryan/Mary Ann Ryan." Carol was looking at the 1950s plat when she was explaining what South Eden was, and the numerous farms on F it included.

Hollows and Hills – Narrow Definition

Now, other features of South Eden were its hills. For example, one of the reasons Hundertmark's is out of South Eden is it is removed from the elevation and dips that define it. Recognize that the Hundertmark farmstead is on a downhill line to the F and K intersection, but the location and the slope is very different than land by Scenic and Timberlane Drive's intersection.

The importance of the topography in defining South Eden was seconded by Phil Majerus. So where is South Eden? "Well, South Eden was the Majerus farms in there and Ryans and Maurice Ryan and Isadore Flood." Phil's definition prioritized Timberlane Drive and Scenic Drive.

When asked for names just outside of South Eden, Phil said, "George Johnson would be out of there." George Johnson would be out of it? "Yea,

There are many people who came from South Eden who are gone. A pair that came up again and again were the Harlan Brothers – Francis, left, and Thomas. They farmed from the northeast quadrant of Timberland and Scenic Drive. This image comes from the 1970s St. Mary's Parish Directory. PHOTO COURTESY: KARL AND FERN RYAN he wouldn't be in it." Other names came to Phil. "Norbert Pietz [1924-2006]. He would be out. He'd be out on the flat ground. Vincent Ryan was out." Phil was more firm that Pietz and Vincent Ryan were too flat. Understand Vincent Ryan (1931-2000) likely would claim to be in South Eden, but his land contrasts to Baumhardt's Hill on F, or the farm Jack and Irene Majerus worked on the corner of Timberlane and Scenic Drive.

When Phil was asked to verify if South Eden was defined by the hollows, he reaffirmed that South Eden is hills. "Yea. Go through the hollows. And the Vandergrinten farm is right down in the bottom of it, I always thought of it. And Harlans are on the edge of it." So what is the appropriate place for South Eden? "I think Jack's old place down on the bottom. Right where [Lou Anne] Daniels lives – the Vandergrinten Farm." This puts Phil's definition of the heart of South Eden on the corner of Timberlane and Scenic, as the Vandergrinten Farm and Harlan's (Tommy and Frannie) were kitty-corner on that intersection.

Phil was particularly respectful of the Harlan Brothers, and the fact that if they were still alive, they would be some of the best ones to interview on the history of the area.

Broader Definition

While Phil Majerus's definition of South Eden is narrower, Bob Flood's is broader. Could he define South Eden by old Eden standards in 1940? "Timberlane Road. And F. All the way down to what's now Campbell Road. South of that wasn't, but north of that was. The McCarty's were very farthest south you would get in South Eden."

To Bob, it basically followed the area for the Flood Oil route. This was validated by former Ashford chairman Joe Koch, whose old neighbors (the John and Katherine McCarty homestead) were north of him at the end of Rolling Drive. McCarty's used Flood Oil; Joe's family had a different fuel serviceman.

Still, Bob concluded even portions of Ashford Township were considered outlying areas of South Eden. But he was firm Campbell Drive (or what old plats called Y) really was a dividing line. So was the Johnson farm considered South Eden? "I don't know if we ever considered them South Eden." Bob's point was that many would consider that the base of the farm is on the south side of Campbell when it comes to the Johnsons. In con-

Washington County Fair Park Names New CEO

Washington County's Agriculture and Industrial Society (AIS), which operates the Washington County Fair Park and Conference Center, appointed Stacy Holland (formerly Indermuehle) as its new chief executive officer. The announcement follows an unveiling of the organization's new mission and strategic plan last September. Holland attended the Society's annual meeting in December and officially will assume the role on January 14.

Stacy Holland

"Our Board agreed that Stacy has the skills and abilities to execute our vision for the county's facilities for elevating the County Fair, expanding agriculture and industry and connecting the community," said Phil Dahlberg, AIS president. "Her extensive communication and leadership skills will be a welcome addition to our team at Washington County Fair Park."

Holland has a strong background in strategic growth initiatives, acquisitions, cost management and continuous improvement and is a proven business leader with an emphasis on sales expansion and operational efficiency. She has held leadership positions with Deloitte, Rockwell Automation, and Waukesha Bearings, and most recently served in CFO positions for several emerging pharmaceutical research companies through her own business. As a finance executive with global management experience, Holland is well positioned to execute the strategic goals set forth by the AIS Board. Holland grew up in the nearby Pike Lake area, later raising her children in Germantown, and her roots in the community extend back to her grandparent's farm in the Town of Hartford until their retirement.

Incoming CEO Stacy Holland expressed her appreciation to the AIS Board upon selection, saying, "I enthusiastically look forward to advancing AIS's strategic vision by increasing use of the Fair Park in ways that impactfully serve Washington County's residents, agricultural interests, and businesses."

AIS's outgoing executive director, Kellie Boone, submitted her resignation effective December 1. "I extend my thanks to Kellie Boone for her service, and we wish her success in her future endeavors," added Dahlberg.

Questions can be directed to AIS President Phil Dahlberg at phil@dahlbergglawgroup.com. To learn more about Washington County Fair Park and Conference Center, interested individuals may visit wcfairpark.com.

The fee is $35.00 for twelve (12) dogs or less and additional $3.00 for each dog in excess of twelve (12).

Dog licenses may be obtained from your local town, village or city treasurer or designee during the course of any given year. Dog owners should notify their treasurer if their dog is given away or has died, so that you will not be considered delinquent. An affidavit of death is available.

PENALTY

Every owner of a dog 5 months of age or older who fails to obtain a license by April 1, will be assessed a late fee of $5.00.

trast, Bob pointed out McCarty's "are on the north side."

Other associations to South Eden included extensions by the bottom of Eden township, but west of V. For example, Bob continued, "And then probably like Wheel Road, was as far southeast." This was getting into the vicinity of the old McNamara Farm. However, when you get to the old cheese factory, Bob said that was a little too far to the southeast of South Eden's definition. "Joe Bertrem's Cheese Factory we called it. Somewhere down there, they might be a little too far southeast."

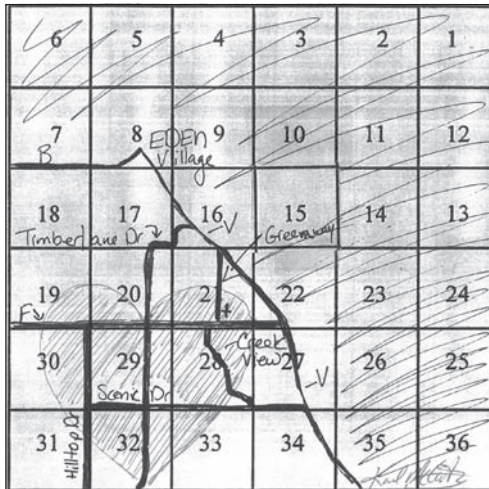

Still, Bob brought it back to many key elements of his definition, that South Eden was north of Campbell Drive, and anything on Timberlane Drive north of Campbell Drive. Then St. James? "Oh yeah. It was definitely St. James." But V stopped it? "Yea. V stopped it."

Bob's definition might be expansive, but he did narrow the heart of it. "Tom Flood was definitely South Eden." So it includes Scenic Drive. And what about the Harlan Brothers? "Yeah. I'm thinking Harlans was in the middle of it. They were right dead center of South Eden."

South Eden Expanding

What is noteworthy in studying South Eden was the fact that it was an area that both stayed small as well as expanded. Most interviewed agreed the location's center was around Scenic and Timberland Drive's intersection.

Here are some examples of how South Eden borders broadened. Take for example a position such as Bob Flood's that South Eden was to the northern end of Timberlane Drive just off of its connection to V. For one, that point on Timberlane Drive between V to F could have been "Floodville" looking at 1800s plat maps. There were many Floods, but one was Isadore Flood, who farmed on the corner of F and Timberlane, but note in time his son Tom Flood Sr. would settle his farming life on the east end of Scenic Drive. Because the Floods are synonymous with South Eden, this is one of many examples of how the defined area

A map shows the heart of South Eden, which revolves around the intersection of Scenic and Timberlane drives. The vicinity also includes portions of Highway F and Hilltop Drive, and according to some, even a sliver of Ashford Township. SKETCH BY: KARL MCCARTY broadens. And there were many other Floods in the South Eden vicinity besides the ones mentioned in this article.

It's just like the Reilly 17 of Kit and William Reilly. They farmed south of that intersection of Scenic and Timberlane and are closer to the heart of South Eden. So when their son Leo Reilly settles by F and K, a key South Eden name moved the outer edges of the definition.

Carol Murphy aptly pointed out that South Eden is defined by St. James. But even that church moved. The first Catholic church was built on what today is referenced as "Murphy's Hill" west of the intersection of Scenic and Timberlane. However, by 1865 that first log church was no longer in use, and the base of the congregation moved to Highway F where St. James cemetery still remains.

In time, many people's roots were in South Eden, and their children may have stretched the borders. My conclusion is that Vincent Ryan is South Eden, not as much in geography, but certainly in character. He too had bloodlines of Harlans and Clarks that push closer to the defined center of South Eden. In addition, the Irish Catholic small farmer demographic makes Vincent qualify.

What was special about those from South Eden is they never lost that admiration for South Eden. Any old timer will tell you the old cabin in Skunk Hollow is South Eden, but Herman Rehorst could not stay there as much as he'd like as he aged and is more known by elders as the man who lived with Emmy Knickel well east of V and south of F in the Town of Eden around 1950. This caused many neighbors on that side of Eden Township to be well aware of this South Eden tie, even if Herman no longer lived in Skunk Hollow. There was and is a respect for South Eden and its history on that side of the Township that partially is related to the stories of Herman. Likewise, folks like Harold Flood and Ray Ryan grew up in South Eden, but moved to Eagle Road. Although they did not die as South Eden residents, their respect for that location never left them. That respect for South Eden continued in Harold's two children, Mary (Dwyer) and Dave. In addition, Ray's daughter Joan (Wettstein) uses the term South Eden too.

Overall, there is something different about South Eden. Was it the stories of the old priest Fr. McFarland, or the story of Herman Rehorst's cabin? Maybe it was just how the Irish farmed. Somewhere in a conversation about the old days and the old St. James Church, Anne Koenig said it best. She was not from the area. When she settled by F with her husband Mark, she was still not in South Eden but it was very apparent her neighbors knew the stories of South Eden. One cannot understand it unless they heard it themselves nearly 70 years ago. When it came to old South Eden, she said, "It was almost like a legend."

She's right. And that's why it's right to support South Eden's permanent place on the Fond du Lac County Map. The fixed location will insure these stories shared will remain in the future. I support South Eden being put on our maps out of respect to my ancestors and their faith, a faith not only in God but in their friends and fellow farmers.

King Pin Bowler Cashes in Big on the Lanes

KING PIN LANES

On December 13, Travis Schumacher hit the Strike it Rich Jackpot to the tune of $1,364 while bowling in the Tuesday Five Star League. Schumacher struck in all the correct frames in his average division to win the Jackpot.

The Strike it Rich Jackpot was created to help fund scholarships for high school bowlers. It is funded by league bowlers who pay just .35 cents to enter the Jackpot every time they bowl. A dime and a quarter can go a long way.

There are currently two bowling centers participating in the Jackpot – King Pin Lanes in Campbellsport and Pla-mor Lanes in Chilton.

The Strike it Rich Jackpot has been operating for 27 years and has awarded over $64,000 in scholarships.

The Strike it Rich Jackpot is average based to five divisions. Bowlers with lower averages need fewer strikes but as the bowler's average goes up more strikes are needed to win.

On December 13, Travis Schumacher won $1,364 in the Strike it Rich Jackpot while bowling in the Tuesday Five Star League. The Strike it Rich Jackpot helps fund scholarships for high school bowlers. SUBMITTED

Experience Winter in a New Light with D.N.R. Candlelight Events

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) invites the public to celebrate the outdoors this winter at any of the several candlelight events happening across Wisconsin. These events kick off on Jan. 6, 2024 and are scheduled at different locations through March 2024.

“Winter candlelight events are some of the most popular activities at Wisconsin state parks, forests and trails,” said Steve Schmelzer, DNR Parks and Recreation Management Director. “Many events have become a long-standing tradition at some of our properties, with hundreds or even thousands of attendees.”

These free-to-low cost events typically begin around sunset and offer a variety of ways to enjoy the winter scenery after dark, including hiking, snowshoeing and cross-country skiing. Many will include activities such as bonfires, hot chocolate, cider and other refreshments available for sale or by donation, and some will have open warming shelters.

Share your candlelight adventures using the hashtag #OutWiGo on social media.

Those who would like to participate by hiking and snowshoeing do not need to have any experience. These events offer no-commitment opportunities for first-timers and can help build connections with other outdoor enthusiasts, those you can learn from, during the time of year when many people stay indoors.

Although the amount of gear needed varies, warm clothing with layers is recommended for all events. Trekking poles are optional. A headlamp or flashlight is recommended. Some properties may have other equipment, such as snowshoes or an outdoor track chair, available to check out. Contact the property to see what is available and to make reservations.

Most properties will require a 2024 Wisconsin state park admission fee and/or a state trail pass unless otherwise noted. A state park daily admission pass may be available to check out for free at participating libraries.

Thanks to the Friends groups of the parks, who organize many of the events and provide many of the volunteers to make these events possible.

2024 Candlelight Events

Additional events may be added.

PRESENTS Athlete Spotlight

Chloe Feucht – Campbellsport Cougar

Name: Chloe Feucht

School: Campbellsport High School

Sport: Dance

What is a challenge you have had to overcome?

A challenge I have had to overcome is my mental health and time management combined. With dance, school and work, it was quite a struggle to make time for myself. As I had no time for myself, I had felt unimportant to myself and others. More recently, I was able to overcome this feeling of unimportance by learning what time management actually is. Now, with this knowledge, I created a schedule for myself with a little bit of time for self care.

What is your greatest high school accomplishment?

My greatest high school accomplishment, so far, is having the opportunity to go to state every year with my team. Going to state every year is a goal that many sports teams don't reach, but with my amazing teammates and talented choreographer, we are able to hopefully continue this trend.

What other clubs activities do you participate in?

Throughout my high school career I have participated in dance, track, art club, Spanish club and book club. Not all these clubs were necessarily for me, but it is always a good thing to try new things and find new hobbies.

What are your college aspirations?

For college, I plan to attend UW-Green Bay to receive my degree in dietetics. I also plan to be very active in the school community and continue my dancing career.

What is your dream job?

My dream job is a dietician. Sometimes people struggle with having a balanced diet. My ultimate goal is to help those that are in need.

Who is your favorite coach?

I currently have four coaches and I can't choose. They are all amazing and have a great understanding of the sport. My coaches Mariah, Karlie, Becky and Amber are very selfless in the way that they modify their schedules just for us as a team. I wouldn't trade any of them for the world.

What is your pre-competition ritual?

Our pre-competition ritual is holding pinkies and listening to the song

"Dancing in the Sky." This song is very important to us because we dedicate it to all of our dancers in the sky. Last year, this song had a new meaning due to the fact that one of our coaches had sadly passed. We would listen and continue to listen to the song every night before the competition so we know that all of our dancers in the sky are watching over us at our competition the next day.

Do you have any pets?

I currently have two dogs named Mowgli and Raava and one cat named Bane. My dog Mowgli is a hyper Alaskan Malamute, Raava is an anxiety-filled Red Heeler, and Bane is just my lazy cat.

What is your favorite location in Wisconsin?

My favorite location in Wisconsin is 100% Holy Hill in the fall. Seeing the color change in the trees and visiting the little coffee shops bring me so much joy.

so far. Pickering's personal highlight was placing fifth out of 16 girls at a recent tournament, and Batzler placed second at a tournament in Menasha.

"They were both pretty nervous their first matches, but they continue to improve," noted Heisdorf. "Both have set a goal to make it to state. They practice as hard as anyone else and Emma even does private lessons with her AWA (Askren Wrestling Academy) coach. They want to learn and ask questions and they aren't afraid to wrestle the boys. They have had a great start to the season.

"Bella is 11-4 and Emma is 10-4," he continued. "They have three more girls' tournaments coming up in January and then will wrestle in the Campbellsport sectional February 17 to try and earn a trip to state."

It should also be mentioned that Pickering is not only wrestling this winter but also playing basketball, as well.

She said, "I love both sports and I couldn't pick which one to do. Even though it's hard to balance both and academics, what I do is - when I have late practice for basketball - I will go to wrestling practice at 3:45 and then to basketball practice at 5:30."

Pickering also mentioned that she enjoys the physical aspect of wrestling while Batzler named a few more things she enjoys about the sport.

"I enjoy the pressure of big matches [and] the struggle at practice because it is a constant reminder that not everything is just handed to me, and I enjoy the team and community around me," she said.

As for how the team has adjusted to the addition of the two freshmen girls, Heisdorf said, "The team has been very accepting of the girls from day one and they help them out in practice and are willing to drill or wrestle live with them."

When asked if it matters to them if they wrestle a boy or a girl, Pickering and Batzler had similar opinions.

Pickering said, "Wrestling a boy is a little more difficult because they are stronger."

Batzler added, "Sometimes I truly believe I am a better wrestler and I just get out-muscled. That could happen with a girl, but I think it just happens more with wrestling the boys."

Despite sometimes feeling "out-muscled," Batzler had this to say to other girls that might be interested in the sport.

"It's so much fun," she encouraged. "Everyone talks about how the practices are hard, they don't want to cut weight, or how it's awkward to wrestle boys or even girls, but honestly it feels so much better to win knowing you truly worked as hard as you could. The thing with wrestling boys, I would say... you honestly don't notice... so to me there's nothing really awkward about it."

Pickering wanted to remind the girls how she got Batzler involved.

"In sixth grade, I convinced Emma to try wrestling and she loved it! So, for other girls, I would say if you are thinking about it, try it. It will only help you physically and mentally," she said.

As of right now, Costello said there are no girls currently interested in eighth grade, but there is interest in the sixth and seventh grades.

Costello concluded, "I don't think you could have a better duo to kick off our girls' program than having Emma Batzler and Bella Pickering representing Campbellsport girls' wrestling. Both these girls are great advocates for the sport!"

Batzler wanted to add, "I am so grateful for the community that cheers me on every match, my teammates and coaches that keep me wrestling, and my family that has been supportive the last couple years even when the matches are rough for me."

The Indians weren't done yet, as Czuppa hit another three-pointer with 50 seconds left to bring the score to 45-43 in favor of the Lions.

Lomira made three key free throws to seal the game for a 48-43 victory.

"We played hard and battled to the final seconds of the game," said Kewaskum Head Coach Jacob Steger. "The game was extremely physically, which will make us better going forward."

Czuppa's 12 points and Boelte's 10 points paced the scoring. They were supported by Brooke Gruen's 10 rebounds and Ashley Vogt's six assists.
