Kewaskum School District
 "Exceeds Expectations"
 on Report Card

KEWASKUM SCHOOL DISTRICT

The Wisconsin Department of Instruction has released the 2032-24 District Report Cards, and once again the Kewaskum School District achieved the Exceeds Expectations category.

"It's fantastic to see how well students are doing in our district. We are focused on preparing our students for their next step in life, whether that be continuing their education at a four-year university, technical school, the military, or entering the workforce. Our vision is to make the Kewaskum School District an exceptional place to learn and work, and this is just one more example of how we are making that happen," said Dr. Mark Bazata, Superintendent of the Kewaskum School District.

The Department of Public Instruction (DPI) generates a School Report Card and District Report Card for every publicly funded school and district in the state. The Report Cards are intended to help schools and districts utilize performance data to target their improvement efforts so that students are ready for their next educational step.

"The Kewaskum School District is thrilled to celebrate the ongoing achievements of our students. We extend our gratitude to the students, educators, parents, school board, and community members whose dedication and hard work make it possible to offer exceptional educational experiences for the children in our district," said the Director of Student Learning and Services, Jody Heipp.

The report cards have four priority areas including student achievement and student growth in English Language Arts and mathematics. These reports also score districts and schools in how well they are closing achievement gaps in specific student groups and the postsecondary readiness predictors of how many students are on-track to graduate.

As a district, the Kewaskum School District performed above the state average in the areas of Student Achievement and On-Track and Postsecondary Readiness.

The priority area scores are aggregated into an overall accountability score, from 0 to 100. This score is displayed in the top left corner of the School or District Report Cards. Based on its score, a school or district receives one of five rating categories, from Significantly Exceeds Expectations to Fails to Meet Expectations, as well as corresponding one to five stars.

All public report cards can be found online at <http://dpi.wi.gov/accountability/report-cards>.

Village of Campbellsport Approves
 2025 Proposed Budget

CLARICE CASE
 EDITOR

On Monday, Nov. 11, the Village of Campbellsport held a 2025 budget hearing and regular meeting.

Charlie Kudy, village administrator, discussed a few highlights of the budget during the hearing. The total revenues budget is 7,475,623.09, which takes into account the general, library, capitol projects, debt service, fire and ambulance, TID #1, and TID #2 funds. He also shared the mill rate will be $9.80 per one thousand.

More information was provided on the budget during the regular meeting that followed the hearing, and Kudy encouraged citizens to contact village hall if they wanted more information than what was provided, as well.

Since it was Veterans Day, two members of the Campbellsport Memorial American Legion Auxiliary Unit 222 came to lead the Pledge of Allegiance at the start of the meeting.

During department reports, Chief Andrea Dowland shared the police department is looking for a family to adopt for Christmas.

There were several citizens comments throughout the evening regarding planters downtown, speed limit/school zone signage going east-bound by St. Matthew, questions on UTV/ATV rules, Ladwig St., open for business signs during construction, and parking concerns.

There were four presentations planned for the evening. The first was from Fond du Lac County Executive Sam Kaufmann who spoke on the county's budget and other news. The other three came from Strand Associates, USG Water Solutions, and Ehlers on the village's water plan and system capitol improvement plan. Strand Associates presented the water system evaluation they performed to determine the needs of the village's system now and in the future. USG talked about their water tower asset management program. Ehlers discussed the financial side of things.

Board Matters:

- The board approved resolution 24-24, allowing Kudy to reapply for the 2025 Vibrant Spaces Grant that would be used for Firemen's Park.
- The board approved a 2025 proposed sewer rate of $17.80 per thousand gallons, a nine percent increase from last year.
- The board approved the 2025 general fund operating budget in the amount of 1.319 million dollars.
- The board approved the 2024 capital budget in the amount of 4.191 million dollars.
- The board approved the 2025 utility operating budget. Kudy said the sewer budget for next year is 949,000 and the water budget is 816,000.
- The board approved the 2025 TID #1 budget in the amount of $102,082.86 and the TID #2 budget in the amount of $152,396.
- The board approved the 2025 library budget in the amount of $224,693.

The True Measure Of Success

Dear Reader,

In the grand tapestry of existence, we each play a fleeting role, our lives but a brief flicker in the vast expanse of time. As we age and eventually face the inevitable end, we are often compelled to ponder the true measure of success and the meaning of our existence. What purpose does our journey serve? Why are we born to live such a brief span of life?

Traditionally, success has been quantified by wealth, status, and achievements. These tangible markers, while significant, often fail to capture the essence of a fulfilling life. True success lies not in material accumulation but in the quality of our relationships, the kindness we extend, and the impact we have on others. It is reflected in the love we give and receive, the dreams we pursue, and the resilience we exhibit in the face of adversity.

Viktor Frankl, a renowned psychiatrist and Holocaust survivor, emphasized that the search for meaning is a fundamental human drive. He argued that meaning can be found in every moment of life, even in suffering. Our purpose is not a single, grand mission but a series of small, meaningful acts that contribute to a larger whole. Whether it's through our work, our passions, or our connections with others, we create meaning daily.

Understanding that life is finite can be both daunting and liberating. It encourages us to live with intention, to cherish each moment, and to prioritize what truly matters. Our awareness of mortality can inspire us to live more fully, love more deeply, and strive to leave a positive legacy, however modest it may be. The brevity of life makes our actions more precious and our experiences more profound.

In the end, the meaning of our existence is often found in the legacy we leave behind. It's not about monumental achievements but the simple, everyday acts of kindness and the memories we create with others. Our legacy is etched in the hearts of those we touch and the positive changes we inspire. It is in the laughter shared, the wisdom imparted, and the love that endures beyond our physical presence.

The true measure of success and the meaning of life are deeply personal and often intangible. They are found in the authenticity of our journey, the depth of our connections, and the courage to live in alignment with our values. As we navigate the transient nature of our existence, let us remember that every moment holds the potential for meaning. In embracing our ephemeral nature, we discover the profound beauty of our brief, yet significant, speck of life.

Time to face the music. We've turned a corner. The long days are come and gone. DST is over. As Bob Golen said on Twitter, "When the moon hits your eye like it's 5:45, that's November."

While young, the 11th month always filled juvenile souls with excitement and exuberance. Advent is coming became the mantra. Lived through weekend rehearsals for the Christmas Eve church service. Fussing up school classrooms with trees, paper chains and cutout snowflakes.

Now as adults, the onset of dusk drags a spirit down. Not quite a disassociative fugue. But down none the less. Especially for the seasonally affected. Common experience for depressives. It's called sundowning. As darkness looms, our joie de vivre also vanishes.

It's something eternal optimists can't understand. Perhaps often wonder why are they so gloomy? We don't willfully choose to shuffle around with occluded brows. Probably be hog tied or tongued to answer. Just a mood.

Which runs exactly counter to the heap of happiness a person's suppose to feel as the holidays rush upon them. And each anum, we slip behind the facade, a fake, plastic smile, the malleable as clay, everything's okay, emotional display. It's called masking and one becomes quite adept at striking a pose, affecting airs. Appears the same as everybody else. Normal functioning human beings. Because there's a tangible uneasiness towards those who don't quite measure up to the metric of a steady, dependable cheerfulness. They're half a bubble off plumb.

What's needed is an unsinkable but utterly unattainable, hopeful outlook. Isn't as if we want to pull others into the mire. Just something going on in our head. A chemical imbalance. Lack of specific neural enhancers; dopamine and/or serotonin. Slap a handy label on us. Mentally ill. Therein lies the stigma. Almost as bad as that long night's journey into day.

POLITICAL DISCOURSE

What Would You Do With 31 Million Dollars?

MARY KRIEGER
CONTRIBUTING WRITER

For the last several months, we have been inundated with almost constant political advertising. Whether in the form of fear mongering and often misleading television ads, mail flyers that all ended up in the garbage, or the never-ending phone calls, emails and texts, we have been under constant attack by political advertisers. But do you know how much money was spent trying to woo you to one candidate or another? According to U.S. News, as of one week before the election, over 16 billion dollars was spent on political campaigns throughout the U.S. In Wisconsin, 31 million was spent on the presidential campaign alone. As astronomical as 31 million is, the senate race in Wisconsin cost even more, with a whopping 76 million dollars spent to try to sway our opinions.

You might wonder, where on earth did the campaigns come up with such ridiculously large sums of money. Just 10 families alone donated almost one billion dollars to political campaigns nationwide this year. Elon Musk personally donated 133 million and the Wisconsin based Uihlein family donated 132 million (opensecrets.org).

When the extremely wealthy contribute so much money to a campaign, it doesn't just translate into more annoying TV ads. When huge donations occur, it opens the door to a quid pro quo or "I give you money, you owe me some favors" type of situation.

It wasn't always like this. Prior to 2010, there were some limits on political contributions. The Supreme Court ruling in the case of Citizens United v. the Federal Elections Committee changed all that. In a 5-4 decision, the justices decided that corporations and individuals could spend unlimited funds in elections by creating political action committees or PACS. The only requirement was that the PACs couldn't coordinate directly with the political campaign (brennancenter.org).

Most people believe spending such huge amounts on a political campaign is not good for our democracy. A poll conducted by the not-for-profit Brennan Center for Justice found that 94% of Americans agreed that wealthy political donors made our government more dysfunctional.

With each new campaign cycle, the amount of money spent continues to increase. What can voters do if you are tired of having your voice drowned out by a few very wealthy families? You can contact your elected representatives and demand campaign reform. The Freedom to Vote Bill is a bipartisan piece of legislation which passed in the House of Representatives but has been stalled in the Senate. This bill protects equal access and opportunity to vote for all American citizens, prohibits partisan gerrymandering and attempts to curb the unlimited influence of big money donors in campaigns (americanprogress.org). To encourage the passage of this legislation, you can contact Senator Tammy Baldwin at www.baldwin.senate.gov and Senator Ron Johnson at www.ronjohnson.senate.gov. If your congressman is Scott Fitzgerald, he can be reached at www.fitzgerald.house.gov and if your congressman is Glenn Grothman, he

ANNE TRAUTNER
WASHINGTON COUNTY SUPERVISOR, DISTRICT 7

If you have not been to the new Kewaskum Public Library, I recommend you check it out.

The library moved into the old PNC Bank building last year. The new, larger space provides access to the library's collection, with dedicated spaces for computers and seating.

It also offers new areas the old library did not have. A community room is used for a wide array of activities and events for people of all ages. A conference room is available for meetings. The Kewaskum Historical Society is setting up a history room in the old bank vault. And three small, quiet study rooms are available.

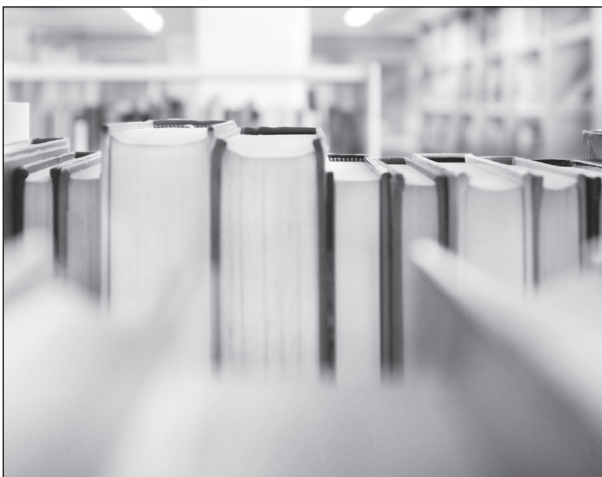

One of those small work areas recently was a lifesaver for me. Over the summer, I had been gathering information as town clerk to apply for a $3 million grant to redo one of the area's greatest treasures: a town road.

The Kewaskum town roads go through what is arguably some of the most beautiful countryside in the nation. People like to take leisurely rides on these roads through the Kettle Moraine area. Many villagers became familiar with the town's country roads as construction took place on Hwy 45 this summer.

Local farmers know firsthand about the views the roads offer. They also know that some of the roads need improvements, especially when it is planting and harvest time.

On Sept. 30, I was all set to apply for a $3 million grant to help improve an agricultural road in the Town of Kewaskum. I took out all my handwritten notes and sat in front of my computer to fill out the online application.

Unfortunately, when I clicked the button to connect to the internet, I was not able to connect. There was an outage throughout the area.

Kewaskum Schools were without internet. Homes and businesses in the area were without internet. I was without the internet.

The grant application was due at 5 p.m.

Panic started to set in, but then I remembered I have a hotspot on my phone. I turned that on and was able to connect to the Wisconsin Department of Transportation website!

However, about 30 minutes later, my hotspot stopped working. Verizon, which happens to be my cell carrier, was having a nationwide outage.

After trying desperately (and unsuccessfully) to fill out the long application over the next several hours, I was able to call the grant coordinator and explain my predicament. I told her I would try to somehow find an internet connection so I could submit my grant application.

I contacted the Kewaskum Public Library, and the internet there was working!

I packed up my laptop, gathered all my papers and notes, and headed to the library.

When I got there, I walked quickly past the other patrons. Even though I was tempted to stop and talk, I walked straight into one of the study cubicles and shut the door.

It was completely silent inside the cubby. I needed that silence to concentrate. I plugged in my laptop and got to work. I was able to complete and submit the grant application!

I won't know until the end of December if the Town of Kewaskum will be awarded the $3 million grant. I am just so grateful that the town had the chance to apply, thanks to the Kewaskum Public Library.

It is now budget season in Washington County. One of the items on the county's annual budget is public libraries.

In 2024, the Kewaskum Public Library received $97,671.79 from Washington County. The funds paid for various services, programs and capital expenses, as well as reimbursed the library for items checked out by patrons who do not have a library in their municipality or who live in a neighboring county.

Overall, in 2024, the county covered 40 percent of the Kewaskum Public Library's total budget of $244,450.49, while the Village of Kewaskum covered 43 percent. The remainder was provided by donations, grants, cross-county reimbursement and payment for services.

I look forward to Washington County continuing to support the Kewaskum Public Library in 2025.

SSM Health Names Experienced Team to Lead its Operations in Fond du Lac

Team builds upon tradition of collaboration to provide exceptional continuity of patient care

SSM Health is pleased to announce a strong, new leadership collaboration for SSM Health St. Agnes Hospital and its operations in Fond du Lac. The health care organization has tapped Dr. Brent Meier and Shane Smith for expanded roles in service to SSM Health's commitment to an exceptional patient experience.

Shane Smith

and Waupun Memorial hospitals. Since joining SSM Health in December 2022, Dr. Meier has served as Vice President of Surgical and Acute Care Programs. He held previous leadership positions with ThedaCare in Neenah.

"We're incredibly blessed in the Fond du Lac area to have a hospital and clinic that offers a wide variety of quality health care services, some that you can generally only find in larger facilities within larger communities," according to Dr. Meier. "We know this is important during any recovery process as individuals heal more quickly surrounded by family and friends."

The two new leaders will partner in bringing additional support to what has been a long-established tradition of collaboration among physicians and clinical and operational teams in SSM Health's hospitals and clinic settings in Fond du Lac. They are eager to continue their collaboration with the Fond du Lac Regional Clinic Board and Community Council to meet the changing health care needs of the people of Fond du Lac.

Shane Smith is stepping into a new role as president for SSM Health's Fond du Lac market, assuming leadership responsibilities for St. Agnes Hospital. Since first joining the organization in January of 2024 as vice president of Medical Group Operations for the Fond du Lac Regional Clinic, Smith has been an engaged and effective partner with the clinic's physicians and operational leaders as well as the care teams at St. Agnes Hospital. He brings to his new role more than 20 years of health care experience as a system leader and administrator, including his previous experience with Mayo Clinic Health System and ThedaCare in Neenah.

"It has been gratifying to be out in the community getting to know local leaders and residents, and gaining a solid understanding of what businesses, individuals and families are looking for from their local health care provider as it relates to their health and wellness needs," Smith says. "I welcome the opportunity to continue supporting the Fond du Lac area community and bring forward programs and services that keep as many services at a local level as possible."

Dr. Brent Meier will oversee SSM Health's northern region as Clinical Vice President and Market Physician Leader and will serve as Vice President of Medical Affairs for SSM Health's St. Agnes Hospital in Fond du Lac and Ripon Community

The Campbellsport School Board held its Monday, Nov. 15 meeting at the Eden School Library. The realignment of WIAA Schools continues to cause problems for Campbellsport. Because the Campbellsport school day ends later (3:25 p.m.), than any other conference school the problem is further emphasized.

Plans are in place to construct a 40' x 60' three-level addition on the north end of the present school building. The basement would allow space for a kitchen and cafeteria. The main floor would provide for a computer lab and offices for the parish, school and administrative areas. The second floor would add two classrooms. There were five representatives of the Johnson School Bus Company at the School Board meeting held at the school business office on Monday, Nov. 18. They had been invited by the School Board to give the members some first-hand information on the school bus disciplinary problems. Erv Gorecki, the supervisor of the Johnson School Bus Company here in Kewaskum, stated that there was only a small percentage of children that were the troublemakers on the buses, but these were the ones that endangered the lives of the drivers and the other students by distracting the driver.

Ruben Oppermann, 57, of R. 2 Kewaskum passed away on Wednesday, Nov. 13; Michelle Lee Volm, one-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Volm, of R. 2 Kewaskum, passed away on Wednesday morning, Nov. 13; Emil W. Schmidt, 80, of the Town of Addison, passed away on Monday evening, Nov. 18.

75 Years Ago

November 25, 1949

Just about everyone who went north and could hold a gun bagged a deer during the season which closed Wednesday. The season was open on everything, but bucks with antlers more than two inches long, just the opposite of past years. Does and fawns were taken with little effort and the kill is believed to be the heaviest ever.

The Rev. Walter L. Strohschein, pastor of the Dundee Trinity Lutheran church and the Immanuel Lutheran church at Campbellsport for the past 19 years, is preaching his farewell sermon on Sunday, Nov. 27, at both churches.

Children who have received their first and second immunization against whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus at the county centers are asked by the county nurse, Gladys Salter, to return for their third and final injection.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hirsig of Kewaskum on Wednesday, Nov. 23.

Free turkeys were given away at Wink's miniature bowling alleys in Kewaskum the past week for the highest team series in league bowling and the highest individual series in open bowling. Duffy's Tavern of the Monday night men's league won the league high series turkey with a 3240 and John Gruber "got the bird" for individual open bowling with 793.

Gust Hoff, who formerly managed the bowling alleys at Brownsville for two years and the bar four years, has taken over Harry's Bar at Waucousta from Harry Maaske. Mr. Hoff took possession of the tavern on Wednesday of this week and moved to Waucousta from Brownsville with his wife and two children the same day.

Square dancing lessons will be given at the Legion clubhouse at 8:30 p.m. Tuesday evening, Nov. 29. No admission charge. All young and old interested in square dancing are cordially invited.

Harry H. Opper, 82, of the Town of Auburn passed away on Tuesday, Nov. 22.

Holiday Cacti Add Weeks of Color and Enjoyment

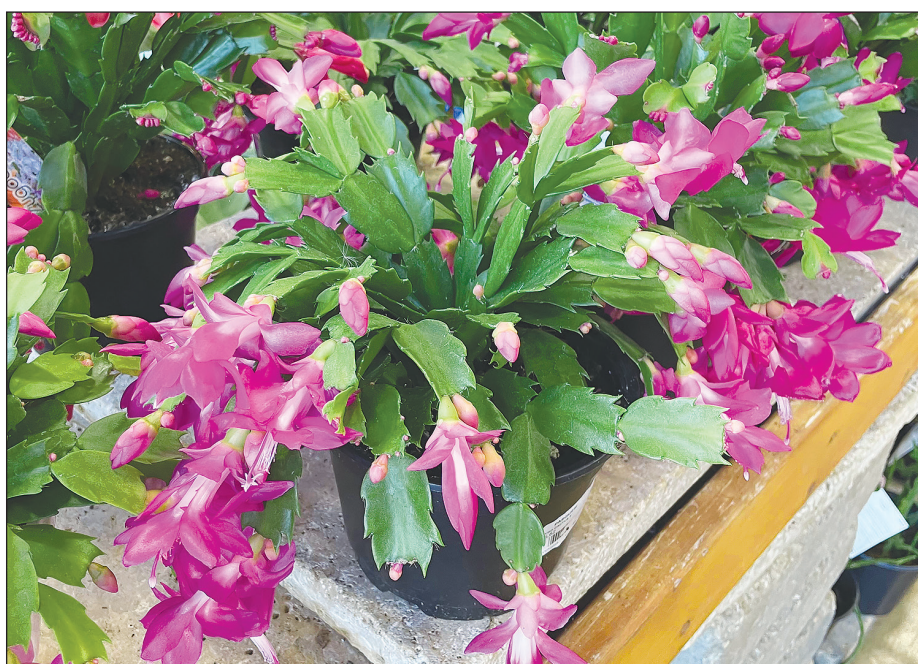

MELINDA MYERS
CONTRIBUTOR

Add weeks of colorful flowers and decades of enjoyment to your indoor plant collection with holiday cacti. Dress one up with a decorative basket, container, or foil wrap and give it to a favorite gardener or holiday hostess. You'll find a variety for sale at your local garden center or florist.

The plant sold as a Christmas cactus may in fact be a Thanksgiving cactus. The true Christmas cactus blooms later and has small segments with rounded edges. The Thanksgiving cactus, though often sold as the Christmas cactus, has toothed or jagged segments and typically blooms earlier. To add to the confusion, there are hybrids of the two that bloom in between these.

Fortunately, their growing requirements and care are essentially the same so the plants will do fine no matter the name on the label. Keep your flowering holiday cactus in a cool bright location to extend its bloom time for as long as four to eight weeks. Avoid hot and cold air drafts, moisture stress, and other environmental changes to reduce the risk of bud and flower drop.

These holiday cacti are epiphytes that naturally grow on trees in the rainforests of Brazil. They all prefer bright indirect light, high humidity, and thorough watering when the top few inches of soil begin to dry. Don't overwater but don't let the soil dry completely. Water a bit more often when the plant is in bloom.

Grow them in an organic well-drained potting mix for best results. Water thoroughly and pour off any excess water that collects in the saucer to avoid root rot. Reduce maintenance and improve the growing conditions with the help of gravel trays. Place a layer of pebbles, decorative stones, or marbles in the saucer or bottom of the foil wrap or basket. The pot will be elevated above any excess water collecting in the pebbles. As this water evaporates it increases the humidity around the plant.

Fertilize with a dilute solution of flowering houseplant fertilizer once it finishes blooming and throughout spring and summer as needed. Grow your cactus in a north-facing window or back from an east- or west-facing window where it receives bright indirect light throughout the year. Too much sun turns the leaf segments dark red.

Don't be anxious to move these plants to a bigger container. They prefer to be somewhat pot-bound and can remain in the same pot for years.

Encourage a new flush of flowers with cooler night temperatures around 55 to 60 degrees and slightly drier soil. An uninterrupted dark period will also help promote flowering.

Next fall, start the dark treatment in early October to get holiday flowers. Cover the plants or move them to a location free of artificial light, indoors or outside, each night for 14 hours and provide bright, indirect sunlight each day. Any interruption in the dark period from outdoor, street, or reading lights can delay or prevent flowering.

Make this the year you add holiday cacti to your indoor plant collection and consider purchasing a few for friends and family. These easy-care flowering beauties will brighten indoor holiday décor and everyone's mood.

Kewaskum Kiwanis November Students of the Month

Eden Korth

My name is Eden Korth and I am a senior at Kewaskum High School. I highly enjoy participating in and leading clubs and activities within the school. Currently, I am on the executive board for Student Council, one of the leaders for Spanish Club, and the president of National Honors Society. I am also on the volleyball team. This year, we had a super successful season as we were Conference Champions and Regional Champions.

During my sophomore year, I developed a deep interest in chemistry which continued to grow as I challenged myself with AP chemistry the following year. I intend to pursue a major in Chemistry at UW-Madison.

Though I have a busy school life, there are many things I enjoy doing outside of school. I love painting/drawing, horseback riding, walking my dogs, hiking, and hanging out with my friends. My favorite hobby is playing the piano, which I have been doing since I was 7.

Haley Wollemann

My name is Haley Wollemann and I'm a senior at Kewaskum High School. I'm honored to have been chosen for student of the month by the Kiwanis Club. I've received high honor roll every year in high school, and I've been awarded the AP National First-Generation Recognition Program award

I've participated in Mock Trial and Debate for two years, and this year, I'll also be competing in Academic Bowl. I've played in band for all four years of high school, and I've competed in Solo and Ensemble for two years, in which I made it to the state-level both times.

Additionally, I've had the honor of being accepted into UW-M's High School Honors Band this year. Outside of school, I enjoy snowmobiling, traveling, and playing guitar.

Lady Cougar Bowlers Notch Second Win of the Season

CHS GIRLS BOWLING

The Lady Cougars pushed their season record to 2-0 with a 7-2 win over the Hartford Orioles in Richfield at Pioneer Bowl this past Monday, Nov. 18.

This week's lineup saw Taylor Muraski as lead off, Abby Jarmuz in the second spot, Lillee Thorn in the third spot, Capri Constantineau in the fourth and Olivia Boegel in the cleanup position.

The high humidity from a rainstorm in the afternoon made for some challenging lane conditions for all the teams. The Cougars had a good start for the first four games averaging 169 and winning the first four games. The Cougars typically try to break down the pattern as a team, but the humidity caused the oil to migrate rather than break down. The lanes got a little squirrely in the second four games but the Cougars started picking off wins to a young Hartford team.

Hartford won two games with a 131 and a 197. The Cougars were led by Taylor Muraski who was 13/18 in fills followed by Lillee Thorn, Capri Constantineau and Olivia Boegel who all filled 11/18, and Abby Jarmuz filled 9/18 frames.

The Cougars will be back in West Bend next Monday so come on out to cheer them on.

Stats for the match were as follows (strikes-spares-total frames): Taylor Muraski 5-8-18; Abby Jarmuz 3-6-18; Capri Constantineau 6-5-18; Lillee Thorn 5-6-18; Olivia Boegel 6-5-18.

School from 2012 to 2023 and at Cedar Grove-Belgium School District from 2000 to 2006. His coaching experience also includes time as an offensive coordinator, giving him a comprehensive understanding of the game. Throughout his career, he has consistently emphasized team development, discipline, and a commitment to sportsmanship.

Coach Rondorf's coaching philosophy focuses on creating a positive and enthusiastic environment both on and off the field. He believes every student is unique and deserves tailored opportunities for growth, both athletically and personally. By setting high expectations and providing positive reinforcement, Coach Rondorf aims to instill responsibility, accountability, and a love for football in his players.

"I am honored to join the Kewaskum community and excited to lead the Kewaskum football program," said Coach Rondorf. "My goal is to create an environment where players can excel on the field, in the classroom, and as active community members. Together, we will build a program that emphasizes hard work, discipline, and pride in representing Kewaskum High School."

Athletic Director Halopka expressed confidence in Coach Rondorf's leadership saying, "Jeff's extensive experience and dedication to developing student-athletes make him an ideal fit for our football program. We are thrilled to welcome him to Kewaskum and look forward to the positive impact he will have on our students and the community."

Having grown up in the West Bend area, Coach Rondorf is excited to return to a community close to his roots. He looks forward to continuing to build on Kewaskum's football tradition and collaborating with the athletes, parents, and fans who make the program special.

Campbellsport, Kewaskum, Lomira and Neenah schools. Family and friends come together to make Terror Shed Haunted House a successful and reputable haunted house.

People from all over the state such as Stevens Point, Madison, Antigo, Sheboygan, Jefferson, Green Bay and Appleton, as well as Chicago, came to this 4.9 star haunt. This year it was visited by two known YouTubers, including “Road Trips by Yogi” and “Is It Scary Wisconsin,” which rated Terror Shed Haunted House as one of the best home haunts in Wisconsin.

Terror Shed Haunted House received high praise with all positive, five-star reviews this season.

Some of the reviews read as follows:

“Awesome! Absolutely recommend this place. We went on a Blackout/Glow Stick night. Great overall ambience, with music, games and activities while you wait for your number to be called. And just the nicest people running it. The horror design is so creative and the maze is an absolute blast to navigate. The scare actors were SO good and really made sure you had fun. Complete with a bonfire to warm up around! Perfect. Put this on your list!”

“GREAT EXPERIENCE. The wait was not bad with the fire and outside games. Super fun atmosphere and really kind employees. During the haunted house immediately my adrenaline was high and they kept it high all the way through. And always love the charity part of it. Definitely will be coming back next year.”

“Wow! This was GOOD! My very critical haunted house husband told me to write this review because he liked it so much. I am now following on social media & we WILL be back next year! Excellent job!!”

“Third year in a row coming here and we are never disappointed! Best haunted house hands down. Have not been to any other haunted house since discovering this place.”

Terror Shed Haunted House would like to thank all of this year’s sponsors: Laatsch’s Piggly Wiggly, Sabish Sales, Sabish Construction, Hair on Main by Nicole, Salem UCC and St. Bernard’s Animal Medical Clinic and all those that came to help support the Terror Shed and local food pantries.

If you missed the chance to come during the Halloween season, there’s one more chance. This December, Terror Shed Haunted House is fired up to bring you a little terror to the dark side of the holiday season! Experience the thrill of the holidays with a terrifying twist with KRAMPUS. Holiday of Terror will be open December 13-14, 6:30-10 p.m. for a special, one-weekend event of holiday terror featuring a redesigned, haunted Christ-

Hardcore Elk Hunt

Selina Walters taking a break on one of the days of hunting elk and mule deer in Montana, near Bozeman.

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

Hello friends,

This week, I am going to write about a very challenging and fun Montana elk and mule deer hunt that I recently returned home from. For myself, the entire trip with travel lasted 13-days, six of those days I was fortunate to have my 23-year-old daughter Selina Walters join me. Selina is a biologist for USFWS based out of Missoula. This is one of those stories where I have to be brief as there is so much to write about.

Saturday, October 26

High 62, Low 29

Today was opening day of Montana's elk and deer season with a gun. I left home five days ago and have been building camps, scouting and enjoying life in the mountains. Selina joined me two days ago.

Both of us were confident that we would harvest something today as there were plenty of elk in the area and an August scouting trip was really looking like it was going to pay off.

Long story short, we left camp in the dark at 5:00 this morning and got back to camp in the dark at 7:30 tonight, one small mule deer buck and one doe is all that was spotted and both were passed up. Both of us figured it was the warm weather that kept the elk from moving as neither of us heard a shot the entire day.

A huge part of this trip was our camp life, which for me was 10 nights. In Montana, anything to do with camping involves grizzly bear precautions. Here are some examples, carrying bear spray is basically mandatory. Many Montanans carry a pistol and bear spray, but bear spray is proven to be a safer bear deterrent than pistols. In the area we were hunting, there have been four grizzly, hunter/camper attacks this summer/fall. The last two were with bowhunters who were injured but killed the grizzly with pistols. In no way is it cool to kill a grizzly, they are protected, and so, caution is protocol unless a pistol is your last option. In most cases, bear spray saves the day as it did with one of Selina's coworkers.

We had two tents, both Eskimos, one for cooking and hanging out, the other was for sleeping. Not a bit of food or trash was left in the cook tent, and that required Selina and I to hike from camp before our morning hunt, after our days hunt and before we went to bed to our stash. This was always in the dark. I bought Red and Ruby and had them chained on two sides of camp, they were excellent prevention and toughed out some rough weather.

There was not snow the first five days of this adventure and it seemed like there were a gazillion snowshoe hare. The snowshoes, like the local weasel population, had turned white and would try to hide but really stuck out, which I am confident makes them easy prey.

It snowed on Monday, which was the third day of hunting, we were confident this would turn our luck around. We saw wolf tracks and some deer tracks and were starting to realize that despite hunting over a large area with snow on the ground, something had changed.

Nighttime for Selina and I at camp was incredible, we cooked great meals, listened to music (her playlist is the best), and had a drink or a beer. For me to listen to her stories as a young biologist were interesting and eye opening. I think if people could just hear what a biologist with a degree in fisheries and another in water resources sees and experiences it would be very good for the world.

On Wednesday, I took Selina down the mountain to her vehicle and we said goodbye. For me, it was very difficult, but a part of life for every parent. I hunted hard for three more days and covered many miles on foot with snow on the ground. Over that entire period of time, I only saw one set of elk tracks, where just one week earlier there were tracks, beds and droppings everywhere.

I had the pleasure of speaking with Montana hunters on two separate occasions and both told me the same thing. The season started late this year, where we were hunting is an area where the elk either migrate south or north. Both told me of numerous road kill experiences happening this week near Bozeman and Big Sky.

For myself and Selina, we had a blast. Our relationship is very unique in that we are fun and never run out of things to talk about. The elk migrating literally just before the season opened was a very bitter pill to swallow, and at first, we just thought they were bedded down because of warm weather.

Life sometimes throws you a curve ball, we shall adjust!

Sunset

This snowshoe hair will blend into it's mountain background much better once there is snow on the ground.
