Knights and Unicorns Childcare Center Opens

Bringing Quality Care to Kewaskum

BREANNA RICE
 JOURNALIST

Local families have a new option for childcare with the opening of Knights and Unicorns Childcare Center on Monday, January 20.

Owned and operated by Audra and Mike Beyer, longtime Kewaskum residents and experienced childcare providers, this center builds on their decades of experience in early childhood education.

The Beyers are no strangers to Kewaskum or the childcare industry. In 1997, the couple purchased the "My Little Friends" daycare center in town and renamed it "Tuttle Creek." Since then, they have dedicated over 24 years to providing quality childcare.

While operating Tuttle Creek, the Beyers expanded facilities, launched before- and after-school programs and served countless families in the area.

After selling Tuttle Creek in 2021, the couple has returned to their passion with the launch of the Knights and Unicorns Childcare Center, three-and-a-half years later.

"We've been a part of this community for over 25 years," shared Audra Beyer. "It feels great to come back and bring something new and exciting to the families here."

The name of the center, Knights and Unicorns, reflects the couple's shared love of fantasy and Renaissance themes, offering a whimsical and unique identity to the center.

"We thought it would be fun to incorporate some of what we like into the name," Beyer explained. "I think it stands out as something different."

Knights and Unicorns is licensed for up to 46 children; the center serves multiple age groups

Campbellsport High School Artists Creating Smiles

GRACIE SCANNELL
 CHS ART STUDENT

Campbellsport High School art students and Campbellsport High School Art Club members are back at it again trying to make an impact through their art.

The Campbellsport Art Department partnered with the Memory Project for the seventh year in a row to bring smiles to kids around the world. The inspiration for this year's portraits and identity art comes from the children in India, a country where poverty and homelessness is widespread. The massive rate of poverty has caused many kids to be separated from their families and leaving them to face extreme hardships.

The Campbellsport art students enjoyed creating portraits of the children from India and are excited for them to receive these personal gifts through the Memory Project.

Has the world gotten noisier? Or is this just the impression sounds make on someone who gone three-quarters deaf? Doesn't take a pair of undamaged ears to realize most music these days is over amplified racket. Walk into any watering hole and you're besieged by excessively high volume.

Does everybody else suffer from the ailment? Gone to rock concerts, and like the musicians themselves are now devoid of hearing. Perhaps if they didn't get so roaring drunk and voices raised to shouts, a body could actually make out something other than foolishly rambunctious, cuss word laced conversations. Dial it back. Not talking about only the juke.

A lot of 'em mock when first thing I do is jam a plug in the good ear. It's too loud, I'm too old and ain't afraid to admit it. Joke's on them when they're completely deaf and can't drive.

Kind of ironic, isn't it? Because back in the early 70s Brad Butschlick and I did a presentation in Tom Meyer's biology class about... noise pollution. They began to notice the world might have a bit of a problem then. What with Concorde flights, the sonic boom and all. Seems they've forgotten. Hasn't improved any since.

Worse offense must occur in public restrooms. Yeah, times were toilets didn't have an adequate flush. A careless customer might block up the plumbing and walk away without saying anything.

The solution? Install a greater water pressure commode. Blow out any potential overflows. Along with an eardrum. The next worst is the hot air hand dryer. Never mind most start out cold and work up to heat. In the interest of proper sanitation and conservation, paper towels are disappearing. Replaced by roaring boxes which take forever to dry your mitts but not long to stir tinnitus.

Small wonder a normal chat often brings a common response. "Huh?"

Celebrate 125 Years of the Wisconsin State Park System in 2025

WIS. DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is previewing a year-long celebration of the quasiquintennial anniversary of the Wisconsin State Park System in 2025.

The public is invited to participate in the 125th anniversary celebration of the Wisconsin State Park System by spending time on public lands, attending commemorative events throughout the year and learning about the park system's history.

"More than 20 million people visit Wisconsin's state parks and forests every year to enjoy the great outdoors," said Steve Schmelzer, DNR Parks and Recreation Management director. "Wisconsin is a recreation destination, and we are excited to provide a special experience to our visitors this year."

Over the last 125 years, the state park system has shown commitment to natural resource stewardship and providing high-quality outdoor recreation opportunities to the people of Wisconsin. A broad spectrum of property types, including state parks, forests, recreation areas and trails, provide scenic, accessible and affordable spaces for visitors to recreate and enjoy the outdoors.

In 1899, the Wisconsin state legislature approved an act providing funds to acquire land for what is today Interstate Park. The state park was established in 1900, with land acquisition beginning in September of that year. The establishment of Interstate Park also marks the founding of the Wisconsin State Park System, which has since grown to include state parks, forests, trails and recreation areas comprised of over 307,000 acres of public land.

"This anniversary celebration is not only a chance to acknowledge the contributions the Wisconsin State Park System has made to natural resource stewardship and outdoor recreation tourism over the last 125 years. It's also an opportunity to look to the future and highlight the investments that we are making to expand access to public lands and maintain a state park system that serves the health and wellbeing of the people of Wisconsin long-term," said Diane Brusoe, DNR Fish, Wildlife and Parks division administrator.

Since 1900, Wisconsin has established 50 state parks, 44 state trails, 15 state forests, 9 state recreation areas and 8 river and resource areas. Today, the DNR continues to invest in programs and initiatives that ensure this statewide system of outdoor recreation properties remains an accessible connection to Wisconsin's natural resources for visitors.

Over the next 125 years, the Wisconsin State Park System will prioritize investments in programs that:

- Provide relevant and innovative enhancements that benefit the customer experience, planting of native species and integration of web-based technologies such as the online pass sales platform.

Looking Past; Looking Forward

Dear Reader,

When the love of your life dies, the impact is profound and life-altering. The grief can feel as though it will never subside, and the absence of that person—your partner in all things—casts a shadow over even the smallest moments of your day. The process of losing them, from illness or sudden tragedy to the final goodbye, is one of life's greatest challenges.

After the funeral is over, the loneliness often sets in deeply. Friends and family may surround you for a time, offering kindness and support, but eventually, their lives pull them back to their routines. And there you are, left to grapple with the silence.

Many who experience such a loss have shared how the grief feels inescapable. The memories you shared with your spouse linger everywhere—in your home, your daily habits, and even in the way you think about the world. The ache is particularly acute when something good or bad happens, and you instinctively want to share it with them.

There is no one-size-fits-all answer to coping with such loss. Each person's grief is unique, shaped by the depth of the relationship and the individual personality of the one left behind. However, here are some thoughts that may offer comfort and guidance as you navigate this painful journey.

First, take it one day at a time. It's simple advice, but it holds profound wisdom. In the early days, just getting out of bed and facing the world can feel like a monumental task. Allow yourself to move at your own pace. Don't rush the grieving process or feel pressured to "move on" too quickly. Healing is not linear, and it's okay to have days when the sorrow feels overwhelming.

It's important to lean on others—but also seek to rebuild. Family and friends can provide crucial support, but their lives will naturally continue, and you may find yourself needing to rebuild parts of your own. Consider joining a grief support group where others who've experienced similar losses can share their insights and struggles. Knowing you're not alone in your feelings can be deeply reassuring.

Over time you can find new meaning and purpose. Though it feels impossible at first, try to slowly re-engage with the world. Take up an activity or explore something you've always been curious about. Join a class in art, writing, or history. Volunteer with an organization that aligns with your values. If you're physically able, activities like yoga, gardening, or walking in nature can offer both physical and emotional relief.

You may find some healing in honoring your loved one's memory. Create a ritual or space where you can remember and celebrate your spouse. It might be a small garden, a photo album, or even a weekly moment of reflection. This helps keep them present in your life in a way that feels healthy and comforting, rather than overwhelming.

But don't remain in a constant state of sorrow. Your loved one wouldn't want that. While they may no longer be physically by your side, their love and influence live on in you. Embracing life doesn't mean forgetting them; it means carrying their memory with you as you find joy again.

Take heart, dear reader. Though the journey of loss is painful, it's also a testament to the love you shared. Grief is a long and winding road, but it does not mean your own story is over. It's a new chapter—one you didn't ask for, but one in which you can still find meaning, connection, and even hope.

Annual Candlelight Ski/Hike on the Zillmer Trails

Break your winter cabin fever by traveling to the Kettle Moraine State Forest – Northern Unit for the annual Candlelight Ski/Hike on the Zillmer Trails (located at W833 County Road SS, Campbellsport, which is between Hwy 67 and County Road G near New Prospect). This event will be held on Saturday, Feb. 1, from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m.

We encourage people to carpool due to limited parking space and no parking along County Road SS. If the parking lot is full and you need to wait for an open spot, why not stop in one of the local restaurants for a warm beverage, tasty snack, or a delicious dinner.

The Zillmer 1.2-mile brown loop will be lighted by the soft glow of candle luminaries. If there is enough snow, the trail will be groomed for cross-country skiing. This is a perfect trail for the whole family to ski with no sharp curves or steep hills. There will also be plenty of room for hikers to travel through the enchanting candlelit dark winter woods.

Warm up at the roaring campfire or venture into the heated shelter building. To further chase away the chills, enjoy refreshments provided by the Friends of the Kettle Moraine.

The event will happen snow or no snow. It would only be canceled due to extremely cold temperatures or unsafe trail conditions. Pets are not allowed at this event.

A Wisconsin State Park System vehicle admission sticker is required at Zillmer. If you do not already have your 2025 sticker, you may purchase one that night.

C.H.S. December Students of the Month

CAMPBELLSPORT HIGH SCHOOL

Congratulations to Mason Noren, Olivia McCarty and Payton Temperle for being selected as Campbellsport High School “Students of the Month” in December.

Mason Noren

“The Math Department would like to nominate Mason Noren as the student of the month. Mason is an excellent math student and exhibits all of the traits that we wish that all students would have in a math class. Mason works hard to understand math and doesn’t let challenges stop him from persevering in his learning. He is willing to help others as needed and isn’t afraid to seek help from his peers or teachers. He wants to learn and pushes himself to figure out even the most difficult problems. He is also a student that can be trusted to go about his work in the right way and hasn’t shortcut his way to success. It is our pleasure to nominate a student of Mason’s caliber to be the student of the month.” Submitted by Mr. Boss

Olivia McCarty

“The Social Studies department would like to nominate Olivia McCarty for December student of the month. Olivia undoubtedly is a wonderful student who puts 110% effort into anything she does in Social Studies and beyond. Olivia is the first in the class to ask clarifying questions, and she always participates as much as she can in class. Olivia is friends with anyone she works with, and she takes the time to work with students around her that need help. Olivia is an asset to any class she is in, and we are proud to nominate her for December student of the month.” Submitted by Ms. Mann

Payton Temperle

“Congratulations to Payton Temperle for being selected as the CHS Student of the Month for the PE Department. I am Mr. Batzler and I teach strength and conditioning at Campbellsport MS/HS and I selected Payton as our December PE student of the month. Payton has been one of the hardest working students in my strength and conditioning class. I appreciate how she comes to work and gives me 100%. She is the type of student that makes it fun to come to work everyday. Keep up the hard work Payton, and thank you for being you!” Submitted by Mr. Batzler

All high school students are eligible for this honor. Students are nominated by their teachers and then chosen by department.

Teachers make their selections based upon attitude, effort, character, interest, and achievement, as exhibited in the classroom and school community. Administration, faculty, and staff are committed to developing future leaders in our community. We want to honor those who are striving each and every day to be those future leaders, who demonstrate this by their positive actions and behaviors.

Macy Sabish Awarded $5,000 Don & Corrine Mlodzik Family Scholarship

GARY MLODZIK

Kewaskum High School senior Macy Sabish was recently awarded the sixth annual Don and Corrine Mlodzik Family Scholarship. Macy plans to attend Rock Valley College in Rockford, Ill., to major in Political Science. Academically, Macy has a stellar 4.0 GPA and is a two-year member of the National Honor Society. Athletically, Macy is a two-year, second team all-conference recipient, along with a first team award, conference player of the year award, and all-district award recipient. In addition, Macy is a member of ten different clubs and activities and holds leadership positions in six of them. Volunteerism is very important to the Mlodzik family and it must be noted that Macy completed about 150 hours of volunteer service in her last two years of high school.

Political science was Macy’s undergraduate choice not only because it will help her become a lawyer, but also because she finds politics interesting. “There is so much that goes into the political views of another from their upbringing and environment to personal experiences. There is something very noble in caring about your government and being civically active to influence and change things you care about. My Grandpa always made sure I knew how blessed I was to be born into a country where my freedom was guaranteed, and studying political science and understanding the inner workings of politics and our government was fueled by the beliefs and values he instilled in me.”

KHS National Honor Society Advisor and Social Studies teacher Luke Piwoni spoke very highly of Macy. “As a teacher, coach and advisor, I have been able to learn about many students both in and out of the classroom. Macy is a tireless worker, cares deeply about others and is one of the best Kewaskum High School has to offer. She is simply an exceptional person and will excel at whatever she does in the future. I know Macy will have a profound impact on whoever she comes in contact with. Wherever she goes, she makes it a better place.”

The Mlodzik family offers their congratulations to Macy and wishes her well in her academic journey and pursuit of a fulfilling career in law. “It is a pleasure to lighten the financial burden of education for someone who comes so highly recommended,” noted Gary Mlodzik, son of Don and Corrine Mlodzik.

Spoonlickers Café is more than just a new, local business—it’s a revival of a beloved brand with a rich history. Originally founded in 2009 in Ada, Michigan, Spoonlickers became an instant success, offering self-serve ice cream and a focus on customer satisfaction. Under the leadership of founder and CEO David Darling, Spoonlickers expanded to four locations and even ventured into corporate catering and retail. Despite its potential, the brand faced challenges during the pandemic as self-serve models struggled to remain open.

Now, Christina Fox and her family are bringing Spoonlickers back to life in Campbellsport. “We’re so honored to carry on the Spoonlickers legacy,” says Christina. “The brand’s emphasis on quality, family, and community aligns perfectly with our vision for the café.”

The café’s Licker License rewards program invites customers to earn free treats with repeat visits.

“We’ve worked hard to create a space that’s welcoming, family-friendly, and full of delicious offerings,” adds Christina. “We’re excited to share this new venture with our community.”

The Fox family invites everyone to visit, enjoy their offerings, and be part of Spoonlickers’ exciting new journey.

At 157, Erich Cappozzo used a couple takedowns and a near fall to earn a 9-0 major decision over Cyle Zinner and Conner Sitzberger used a beautiful fireman's carry to pin Alex Binkelman in 45 seconds at 165 to close the gap to 22-16.

Lomira sealed the deal as they sent out sixth-ranked Jordan Lisiecki against Jacob Allickson at 113 pounds where he would earn an 8-0 major decision.

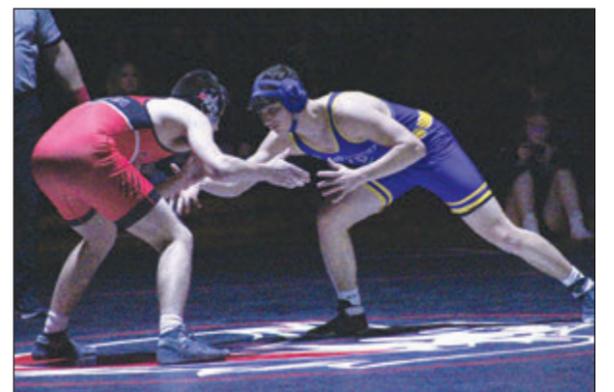

Lomira forfeited to Garrett Pickering to finish the dual.

Campbellsport Girls Basketball Battles Against Flyway Conference Foes

BEN PRIESGEN
JOURNALIST

On January 14, Campbellsport girls basketball lost 52-33 to Springs on alumni night.

Campbellsport (2-12, 1-7) came out as an inspired team after receiving a pregame speech from players of the 1999 Campbellsport Cougars' state runner-up team.

The Cougars got four points from Brittany Reilly to put the score at 8-4 in favor of Springs (12-2, 7-1) early in the first half.

The Ledgers were ahead 15-6 when Reilly and Mackenzie Helsell scored back-to-back baskets for the Cougars to make the score 15-10, with Springs in the lead.

Ava Sabish splashed a jump shot through the net and Helsell made a free throw to close the gap to 17-13 for Campbellsport.

Campbellsport got a steal by Sabish, which was caused by ball pressure from Ellie Heider which she converted for two points, to make the score 21-15.

The Cougars strong first-half play continued when Josie Twohig made a finish in the paint with a layup to make the score 26-17 at the halftime break, with the Ledgers leading Campbellsport.

Springs started the second half on a 10-2 scoring stretch before the Cougars got their offense going again, with Reilly finishing an offensive rebound for a basket and getting some quality post finishes by Kiera Laverenz for four points, to tighten the game back up at 36-25.

The Ledgers went on a 9-0 scoring stretch to give themselves some breathing room in the game with a 45-25 lead.

The teams traded points for the last nine minutes of the game with the Ledgers going home with a 52-33 victory in a hard-fought game between the two Flyway teams.

Brittany Reilly led the Cougars on the night with a double-double of 12 points and 14 rebounds.

At Mayville

On January 17, Campbellsport girls basketball lost 40-33 to their conference rival, Mayville.

Mayville was holding a 7-2 lead when Brianna Bobb converted an offensive rebound into two points and Mackenzie Helsell hit a three-pointer from the top of the key to tie the game at seven.

Helsell scored three points to stop a 10-0 scoring stretch from the Cardinals, to put the score at 18-10 in favor of Mayville.

The Cougars closed the half with four straight points, highlighted by an offensive rebound conversion from Kiera Laverenz, to make the score 20-14, with Mayville in the lead at halftime.

Campbellsport scored the first three points of the half, featuring a deep two-point make from Ellie Heider, to the close gap at 20-17.

Ava Sabish drained a three-point shot for the Cougars for a 24-20 score, with Mayville ahead in the matchup.

The Cardinals scored five consecutive points when Brittany Reilly scored in the post, which was followed by a technical on Mayville guard Ellie Wojahn, to help the Cougars score six straight points resulting in a 29-26 Mayville lead.

Bobb made a basket for Campbellsport with the clock showing a 31-28 Mayville lead over the Cougars.

Campbellsport couldn't finish off their second-half comeback by falling short on the road with a 40-33 loss to the Cardinals.

The Cougars were led by Ava Sabish's nine points, and Brianna Bobb, Brittany Reilly, and Kiera Laverenz each had over ten rebounds in the game

"Our young team continues battling together and we are building a new culture of Campbellsport girls basketball brick by brick which will be the foundation of our success going forward," said Head Coach Ray La Batte.

The Campbellsport girls basketball game against WLA was rescheduled to January 22, and then they travel to Ripon on January 24 at 7:15 p.m. The Cougars will then host Washington County Home School on January 27 at 6:30 p.m.

Lady Cougar Bowlers Drop First Match of the Season

CHS GIRLS BOWLING

This past Monday, January 13, the Lady Cougar bowlers traveled to King Pin Bowl in West Bend to take on the Kewaskum Indians. The Indians and Cougars have always had a good rivalry and tonight was not going to be any different.

The Indians came out swinging and blasted a 189 at the Cougars, to the Cougars 137 start.

In game two, the Cougars' Olivia Boegel clutched a spare and strike to win the game for the Cougars 157-149. The match was now tied 1-1.

In game three, the Indians blasted out another big 186 to the Cougars 146.

The Cougars came back in game four with a 174 to the Indians 123; the match was 2-2.

Game five saw both teams struggling to get a mark and the Indians snuck the game out 125-121.

In game six, the tide turned once again, Capri Constantineau tossed two strikes and Kendall Boegel came off the bench to throw a strike and a spare to lead the Cougars to a 173 game, beating the Indians 143. The match was 3-3.

Game seven saw the Indians bounce back again with a 170 to the Cougars 147 game.

Game eight saw the pendulum swing once again, the Cougars filled 9 of 10 frames for a 170 game to the Indians' 125 game.

The match was tied four to four with one game left.

Many spares were missed by both teams in game nine, going into the tenth frame Kewaskum had a six-pin lead. Kewaskum anchor bowler Sarah Zeman got up and threw a good ball but left a 4-9 split. The Cougars still had a chance, Campbellsport anchor Olivia Boegel got up and threw what looked like a good ball, but it must have been a little fast as she left a 5-8-10 split. The match was not over, if either anchor converted the split, they would win the game for their team. Both anchors gave it a good shot but neither converted and the Cougars fell to the Indians for their first loss of the season.

Olivia Boegel and Taylor Muraski led the Cougars filling 11 of 18 and 10 of 18 respectively.

Stats for the match were as follows (strikes-spares-total frames): Taylor Muraski 4-6-18; Abby Jarmuz 1-6-14; Capri Constantineau 6-3-18; Lillie Thorn 4-4-12; Olivia Boegel 6-5-18; Kendall Boegel 2-2-4; Genna Grahl 0-2-6.

“A fascinating TALE of dedication that will inspire fans and readers alike. If you love football, community and tales of grit, this book is a must-read. ”

The story of the beginning of the Green Bay Packers and the life of Earl Louis “Curly” Lambeau are so intertwined that it is hard to imagine one without the other.

From the streets of Green Bay, Lambeau developed a passion for football and grew that yearning into a football team that would exist long past his lifetime.

Like the Packers, Lambeau's story is a tale of adversity and challenge, but also a story of triumph and perseverance. While his personal life and professional career were wrought with challenge, his legacy continues to resonate in the Green Bay community, including a massive structure along Lombardi Avenue that shines a light on his contribution to the professional team.

The Cougars were led by Jace Goebel and Noah Bobb scoring 14 points apiece with Trent Schladweiler chipping in 13 points in the conference road victory.

Vs LCCA

On January 18, Campbellsport boys basketball lost 43-42 in overtime to Lake Country Classical Academy (LCCA) in their non-conference matchup.

LCCA's (8-6) hot shooting got them an early 8-2 lead over Campbellsport (4-10) before the Cougars' defense fueled an 8-0 scoring run, featuring two steals from Jace Goebel resulting in fast-break layups by Goebel, to take a 10-8 lead.

The Cougars got back-to-back three-pointers from Goebel and Bothe to push their lead to 16-11 with less than seven minutes on the first-half clock.

by Emmett Gonnering to get the lead back for the Cougars at 37-36 with less than two minutes left in regulation.

The game was tied at 37 when the Cougars called timeout with ten seconds left on the second-half clock.

Campbellsport's offense wasn't able to make a shot to end the game in regulation which resulted in the two teams going into overtime.

LCCA held a 39-37 when Bobb made a basket and Gonnering converted a free throw to give the Cougars a 40-39 lead in overtime.

Campbellsport got a layup from Goebel to close the gap to 43-42 late in overtime after LCCA missed both of their free throws giving the ball back to the Cougars.

Bothe was able to get a deep three-point shot off a few feet inside in the halfcourt line for the Cougars when the shot hit the backboard and bounced off the front of the rim at the buzzer in overtime resulting in a 43-42 overtime loss.

Campbellsport was led by Jace Goebel's 12 points in the non-conference matchup.

At Kewaskum

On January 20, Campbellsport boys basketball lost 69-40 to Kewaskum on the road in the rivalry matchup.

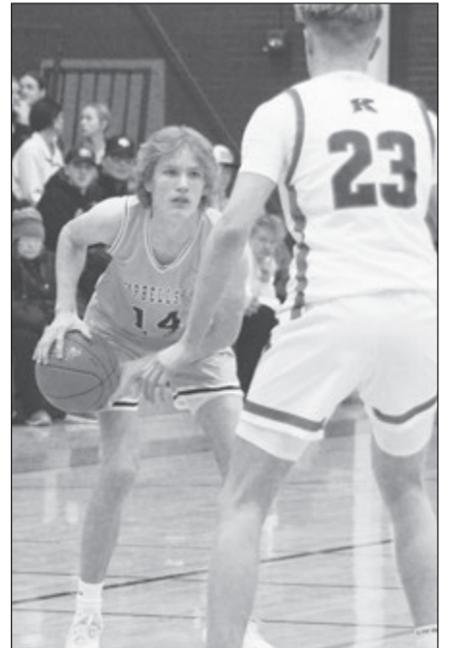

Kewaskum (5-8) held a 39-16 half-time lead over Campbellsport (4-11) in the non-conference contest.

The Cougars were able to cut into Kewaskum's second-half lead by going on a 14-0 scoring run to get the score to 50-37 in favor of the Indians.

Campbellsport wasn't able to get any closer in the game after their impressive stretch of play which resulted in a 69-40 win for Kewaskum.

Emmett Gonnering's 14 points and Noah Bobb's 12 points paced the Cougars on the evening.

Campbellsport travels to Laconia on January 24 at 7 p.m.

Braden Bothe (#14) waits to make his next move against Kewaskum.

Jace Goebel (#11) scrambles for the ball to keep possession with the Cougars.

Monday Movie of the Month

The Monday Movie of the Month for January 27, is "Here". "Here" is a drama film produced and directed by Robert Zemeckis, who co-wrote the screenplay with Eric Roth, based on the 2014 graphic novel by Richard McGuire. Echoing the source material, the film is told in a nonlinear fashion; covering events of a single spot of land and its inhabitants, spanning from the distant past to the 21st century. During the film the screen is often subdivided into multiple panes, presenting events from different time periods simultaneously. The film stars Tom Hanks, Robin Wright, Paul Bettany, and Kelly Reilly, with digital de-aging being used on much of the cast to have them portray their characters over the course of the different time periods. This film will show at 1 p.m.

Check It Out!

LORI KREIS, DIRECTOR
KEWASKUM PUBLIC LIBRARY

There is a commercial on one of the streaming platforms I subscribe to about New Year's resolutions. I am sure you have seen it. It claims that by the second Friday of January, most people concede their goals and resolutions. It is called "Quitter's Day." What a horrible concept. I don't usually agree with the idea of making resolutions just because it is a new year. But this year, I went with it. However, my resolutions are ones that I know I will succeed with.

First, I resolve to read. Not more than usual and not anything different from what I have been reading, I just told myself that in 2025 I will read. I have done well so far this month. I have checked out 23 items, which included both books in print and electronic items from Libby including audiobooks. Most have been read or listened to by this date. And I have a whole bunch more on hold. Finding the time to read can be difficult but I set aside at least 20 minutes a day for reading.

Another activity I have resolved to better myself with is to learn more about things that interest me. I have been found to pull out my phone and look something up when reading a book, watching something on TV or just in conversation with someone if I want to explore more about the subject. Now I keep a notebook and write things down for later. Then I give myself about 20 minutes a day to research the topic of my choice.

I have a grandchild growing up in South America so her first language will be Spanish. I have made a goal to spend time becoming more fluent in the language. I immerse myself in the language for about 20 minutes a day. I do this in various ways. There are language audiobooks through Libby I download and practice with to or from work. I also stream channels in assorted languages. I will check out books in Spanish, not language texts, but some of my favorite reads can be found in our system not only in English. Spanish isn't the only language I have been immersing myself in recently which is my next resolution.

Traveling has always been high on my list of cultural activities, and I resolve to travel more internationally this year. Possibly Chile, but this resolution will be met as I have confirmed travel plans to Europe. I will be visiting places I have never been and am blessed to be accompanied by my daughter. I can say my resolution is to travel more in 2025 and that I will.

That is about it for my list of goals for this year. They are nothing earth-shattering and very easily attainable. I know I will achieve them, as I am already on my way. I wish you a year of meeting all your goals.

Our Mission

Our Mission is to Spread the Gospel of Jesus Christ, to Provide a High-Quality Education, and to Guide Children in Living the Catholic Faith.

Our Strength

Where you send your child to school has a lasting impact on their entire life. Naturally you want to give your child the benefit of excellent academics.

For Holy Trinity School, that is only the beginning. We offer a unique balance between academics and faith. We prepare your child for future success while simultaneously shaping your child to lead a Christ-centered life.

FOSTERING FAITH & LEADERSHIP

Last year, all of our grades tested significantly over state averages in the IOWA Assessments, which are achievement tests that assess students' skills in Reading, Language, Mathematics, Social Studies, and Science.

Last year, over 70% of Holy Trinity graduates at KHS made the Honor Roll or High Honor Roll.

A large number of server and altar guild members at Holy Trinity and St Michael parishes are students or graduates of Holy Trinity School.

This year, in the first four months of this school year, three Holy Trinity School graduates were named Kiwanis Students of the Month in Kewaskum High School for their academic, extracurricular, and leadership accomplishments.

Most of the Steubenville Teen Conference attendees are Holy Trinity graduates seeking to grow in their faith.

This year, four Holy Trinity graduates were inducted into the prestigious National Honor Society.

- Maintain and improve public access and recreational facilities on DNR-managed lands throughout the state.

- Expand access to public lands and outdoor recreation through universal and adaptive recreation equipment and amenities, community-based partnerships like the Check Out Wisconsin State Parks At Your Library program and a focus on beginner-friendly skill-building programming from industry experts.

The DNR will commemorate the 125th anniversary with celebrations and special events led by state park system staff and partners. Visitors are encouraged to visit the DNR Events calendar (dnr.wisconsin.gov/events) to find details on events happening throughout the year. Contributions by Friends Groups, volunteers and community partners are vital to the success of event offerings. Learn more about how to get involved on the DNR's Volunteer Opportunities webpage (dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/parks/volunteer).

Wisconsin State Park System visitors are invited to try something new in 2025. Equipment rentals allow customers to participate in outdoor recreation activities that require extra gear, such as kayaking, canoeing or bicycling, without needing to buy equipment. This is an excellent option for beginners or those looking to develop their skills.

The public is encouraged to participate in the 125th anniversary celebration by purchasing their 2025 Wisconsin state park and forest vehicle admission pass early in the year. Both daily and 12-month vehicle admission and trail passes are available for purchase online. Customers who order their 12-month vehicle admission pass online will have it shipped directly to their preferred address. In 2025, the 12-month state park and forest vehicle admission passes will be valid until the date marked on the pass rather than expiring at the end of the year.

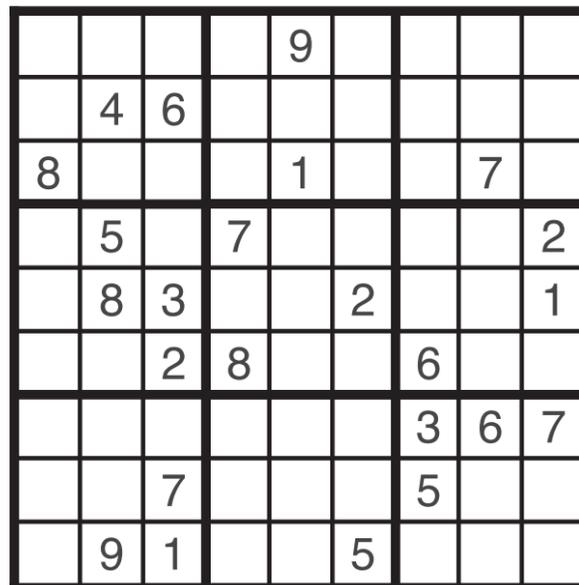

Over the last several years, interest in camping in state campgrounds has remained high. More than 6,000 Wisconsin State Park System campsites offer a range of camping experiences, including standard, group, backpack and water access sites; accessible campsites and cabins for persons with disabilities; indoor group camps and equestrian campgrounds.

All Wisconsin State Park System campsites require a reservation. The DNR recommends customers make reservations for the 2025 season early, as reservations are subject to availability. The reservation site's "notify me" feature can alert customers when a site meeting their selected criteria becomes available.

Information regarding the 125th anniversary celebration of the Wisconsin State Park System will be added to the DNR's OutWiGo webpage (dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/OutWiGo). OutWiGo is a statewide initiative that encourages everyone to improve their health and wellness by getting outside and active outdoors.

Applications for Wild Turkey, Pheasant and Waterfowl Stamp Funding Due Feb. 14

WIS. DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR) is now accepting applications for Wild Turkey, Pheasant, and Waterfowl Stamp funding. Applications will be accepted through Feb. 14, 2025.

Stamp funds are available to non-profit conservation organizations, tribes, academic institutions and government units focused on habitat management for wild turkeys, pheasants and waterfowl. For turkey and pheasant stamps, funds are also available for outreach, education and research. The funding for successful applicants will be available during the DNR's 2026 and 2027 fiscal years.

For the 2026/2027 competitive grant cycle, $500,000 is anticipated to be available for turkey projects, $300,000 for pheasant projects and $650,000 for waterfowl projects. Funds are generated from the sale of state wild turkey, pheasant and waterfowl stamps and a portion of conservation patron license sales. While stamps are required to hunt these species, collectors and nature enthusiasts can also purchase the stamps to help support wildlife habitat across the state.

By state law, 60% of pheasant stamp funds are reserved for game farm pheasant production, while 33% of waterfowl stamp funds are reserved for habitat projects in Canada, where a significant proportion of Wisconsin's fall ducks are reared.

"Wisconsin's wildlife stamp programs have been a cornerstone for conservation funding and delivery in Wisconsin for over 40 years," said Eric Lobner, DNR Wildlife Management Program director. "The DNR encourages conservation partners to apply and compete for funding through these grant programs to deliver quality habitat for populations of game birds and other wildlife species."

For eligibility information and criteria, application guidance, funding priorities and further information, visit the Stamp Grant Opportunities and Application webpage at dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/WildlifeHabitat/StampGrant.

Recycling Wind Turbine Blades: A Farmer's Ingenuity

TOD BOWMAN CENTER FOR RURAL AFFAIRS

Wind turbine blades play a crucial part in clean energy generation, but their disposal poses a growing challenge. Luckily, innovative solutions provide new ways to keep them out of landfills.

As the wind industry grows, there is an increasing need for replacement of older wind turbine blades with larger, more efficient ones. With a lifespan of approximately 25 years, the sheer number of blades and other components that will eventually need to be decommissioned will strain current repurposing and recycling capabilities, leading to increased landfill waste if new solutions are not developed.

To address the challenge, developers and rural communities have explored various recycling initiatives. One approach, mechanical recycling, typically uses a shredding facility to break down turbine parts. Companies, like REGEN Fiber in Iowa, use the resulting product to create construction materials such as concrete by mixing fiberglass with rock or plastic.

Greg Birkhofer, an Iowan with a passion for conservation, has taken blade recycling a step further by repurposing the most challenging section—the eight-foot base—into fence posts for agricultural use.

According to Greg, the recycled posts are stronger and more durable than traditional fence posts, and they are fully insulated. His innovation eliminates the need for constant maintenance, including replacing insulators.

If they can be mass produced, Greg believes the blades will prove less expensive than current fencing materials. His vision extends beyond fence posts alone; he believes recycled blades have the potential to be used for a wider range of products, such as dock posts.

Pioneers like Greg lead the way in finding new life for decommissioned wind turbine blades. Distinctive vision and creativity will be crucial in shaping the future of wind energy and responsible waste management.

with tailored care and learning opportunities for each:

- Infants (6 weeks–1 year): 8 spots
- Toddlers (1–2 years): 8 spots
- Two-year-olds: 12 spots
- Three- and Four-year-olds: 18 spots

The center is also planning to revive its before- and after-school program at Kewaskum Elementary School and offer summer care for families.

In preparation for the center’s opening, the Beyers made thoughtful upgrades to the facility, including replacing over 400 square feet of ceramic tile with vinyl plank flooring, revamping the office space with new paint and countertops, and creating a fresh, welcoming environment.

Additionally, many staff members from their Tuttle Creek days have returned to join the new center.

“Most of our staff have years of experience and we’re so thankful to have them back with us,” Beyer said.

The response to the new center has been overwhelmingly positive, with local families excited to see the Beyers back in action.

“We want to thank the community for their warm responses when we announced we would be opening the center,” said Beyer. “If you’re looking for childcare in the Kewaskum area, please consider Knights and Unicorns. We’d love to be a part of your child’s life.”

Currently, Knights and Unicorns is accepting enrollment for all age groups. Families interested in learning more can schedule a tour by calling 262-477-1015 or emailing Knightsandunicorns1623@gmail.com.

Invasive Species Action Award Nominations Due Feb. 16

WIS. DEPT. OF NATURAL RESOURCES

The Wisconsin Invasive Species Council is accepting nominations for the 21st annual Invasive Species Action Awards now through Feb. 16, 2025.

Award recipients are Wisconsin residents and organizations who have made significant contributions to prevent, control or eradicate invasive species that harm Wisconsin's native wildlife, wetlands, forests, prairies, lakes and rivers. Nominees can be individuals, groups or organizations that have demonstrated exemplary efforts to address issues surrounding terrestrial and aquatic invasive species.

The Wisconsin Invasive Species Council, an advisory council to the Wisconsin Department of Natural Resources (DNR), presents Invasive Species Action Awards for volunteer and professional categories. A panel of judges selected by the council will review the nomination materials and select the award winners. All nominators and winners will be notified in April, followed by an award recognition ceremony in June to celebrate Invasive Species Action Month.

To submit a nomination, download and fill out the form available on the Wisconsin Invasive Species Council's webpage (dnr.wisconsin.gov/topic/invasives/InvasiveSpeciesCouncil). The deadline for submissions is midnight on Feb. 16, 2025.

Invasive species are nonnative plants and animals that cause ecological or economic harm, and some can affect human health. Once an invasive species becomes established in an area, it can be difficult to control.

Wisconsinites are encouraged to protect native plants and wildlife from invasive species by avoiding moving them or the materials that might harbor them to new places. To learn more about preventing the spread of invasive species, visit the DNR invasive species prevention webpage.

AN OUTDOORSMAN'S JOURNAL

Big Storm in Mississippi

MARK WALTERS
COLUMNIST

Hello friends,

There is some adversity in this column but all you can do when bad luck hits is do your damage control, take care of business and be happy that you still have a heart beat...

This is the second and last column on a nine-day adventure that I took to Delta National Forest near Rolling Fork, Mississippi, where I camped with my brother, Tom, and took part in a trophy whitetail and hopefully, wild boar hunt.

Sunday, December 29
High 65, Low 49

Last night, this part of Mississippi was hit by some hard storms and not very far away, a tornado did some damage and took someone's life. Tom and I have a regular way we start our day. He sleeps in his toy hauler; I sleep in mine with Ruby and Red. Long before daylight, we get up and I leave camp by duck skiff for my hunt and Tom drives to his.

Today would be day five of our adventure and on day one, I passed up two bucks that I probably should not have. To harvest a buck here it has to have a 15-inch inside spread or an 18-inch antler. Both bucks were that big, but I was two minutes into my first hunt when they came by and I was not confident.

Tom has seen one shooter but could not get a good shot as these deer spend most of their lives in what the hunters here call thickets and there is no way you can get a shot in a thicket, much less walk through them. Thickets are generally surrounded by massive oak and cypress forests and that is where you have your best shot opportunity.

I have written several times about the very good friends that I have made from the Dustin Hariel deer camp. This gang numbers maybe 25 hunters ranging in age from 6 to 70, and they are the toughest group of people that I have ever met. They are from Poplarville, Mississippi, and have a large cabin that is built eight feet off the ground due to flooding.

Dustin and his gang hunt deer with dog's, beagles, in the morning and hunt in the afternoon. They are strong Christian men and have welcomed Tom and I into their group.

The dog season began on Christmas day, which was my first day on my seven-day license, and this year as much as I love every bit of this type of hunting, there were too many hunters.

On average two to three groups a day would come through wherever Tom and I were hunting and just so it does not sound like I am whining, even the dog hunters felt there were too many dog hunters.

A lot of the groups use beagles as they are slow and methodical; each dog is given a collar with telemetry. One

Every dog used to run deer wears telemetry so the hunters know where it is during the hunt and when the hunt is over. MARK WALTERS PHOTOS

Mark Walters' good friends from Poplarville, Mississippi, were a huge help in getting his truck back on the road for the trip home to Wisconsin.

Tom Walters on the inside of a massive cypress tree.

to three hunters run the dogs and the rest of the group scatters out over what might be at least two square miles where they think the deer might run.

Tom and I did this one day, and the deer pretty much seemed to stay ahead of the slow-moving beagles and no deer were harvested. Like I said, I love the dog-hunting option and are privileged that we were given the chance to take part in but next year, Tom and I are going to come a week or so later as most dog hunters and every other type of hunter take off the week of the 25th to the 1st.

I said earlier, I do most of my hunting by paddling to it, much of it in the dark. There is a very large population of flying carp, and it is insane to be paddling in the dark and have one of these monsters from the deep jump and fly by you in the air.

Back to this morning and the storm, I keep my Bar 300 in my truck at night, and this morning when I went to get it, I could not believe that I had left my driver's side window open. I hadn't. During the storm, the top section of a tree had fallen and blown over and onto the cab of my truck causing massive damage, $17,000 to be exact, and my windshield had a hole and was shattered, a lot of dents, both door frames were toast and the cab had a new shape.

Tom went on his hunt; I got in my skiff and could not do it. That would be the only hunt I missed. I pulled on my big-boy pants and lived large for the next three days. My friends from Poplarville picked up plexiglass and lots of Gorilla tape.

The GMC Hotel was a mess with shattered glass everywhere. Pulling my 7,000-pound toyhauler, I made the 952-mile journey home without being pulled over, and the estimated date to get my truck back is 2/28/25!

This all bites in a very large way, but we are already working on a new plan for next year's hunt!
